Introduction

Introduction

If you are going to take the TOEFL®, you will find the vocabulary exercises in this workbook very helpful. They will help you to review, practice and acquire a lot of the words and expressions that you might need to use in the Writing and Speaking sections, or that you might come across or be tested on in the Listening and Reading sections. A greater command of vocabulary is one of the key factors that will help you raise your TOEFL® score.

Structure of the workbook

The workbook is divided into 2 sections. The first section deals with general vocabulary, including synonyms, idioms and phrasal verbs. The second, smaller section is topic-specific, and focuses on some of the topics that regularly appear in the TOEFL®. Each topic is accompanied by a typical TOEFL® Writing question, which will give you the chance to use the key vocabulary in an essay.

There is a comprehensive answer key at the back of the book.

How to use the book

You should not go through the exercises mechanically. It is better to choose areas that you are unfamiliar with, or areas that you feel are of specific interest or importance to yourself. Remember that you should keep a record of new words and expressions that you learn, and review these from time to time so that they become an active part of your vocabulary. There is a vocabulary record sheet at the back of the book which you can photocopy as many times as you like. Use this to build up your own personal vocabulary bank.

It is essential to have a good dictionary with you when you are doing the exercises. For basic vocabulary, we recommend the American English Study Dictionary (ISBN 978 1 9016 5969 6). For a more advanced and in-depth coverage of vocabulary, the Macmillan English Dictionary (ISBN 978 1 4050 2628 4), from which many of the sample sentences in this book are taken, is ideal.

Extending your vocabulary

Also remember that there are other methods of acquiring new vocabulary. For example, you should read as much as possible from a different variety of authentic reading materials (books, newspapers, magazines, etc).

Practicing for the TOEFL

There is a lot of TOEFL material available, but we particularly recommend Barron's TOEFL iBT (ISBN 978 0 7641 3374 9), which provides comprehensive practice for all sections of the exam, as well as offering essential language skills development and useful studying strategies. It also gives lots of vital information on the test itself and how it works. The book has been written for the Internet-based TOEFL, but is also useful if you are going to take the older, standard computer-based TOEFL.

Information about the TOEFL®

The purpose of the TOEFL® is to evaluate a non-native English speaker's proficiency in the English language. Almost one million students every year from 180 countries register to take the TOEFL®: the majority of universities and colleges in North America as well as in other English-speaking countries require official TOEFL® score reports for admission. The test is also used by institutions in other countries where English is the language of instruction. In addition, government agencies, scholarship programs and licensing / certification agencies use TOEFL® scores to evaluate English proficiency. An acceptable score depends on the particular institution or agency involved.

Addition, equation, and conclusion

This exercise will help you to review more of the important words that we use to join ideas in an essay, a verbal presentation or sometimes in everyday speech.

Exercise 1

Put the following words and expressions into their correct place in the table depending on their function.

to sum up briefly • along with • as well as • it can be concluded that likewise • similarly • also • too • in addition • besides • to conclude in brief • in the same way • thus • what's more • furthermore moreover • along with • to summarize • therefore • correspondingly

Addition (For example: and)	Equation (For example: equally)	Conclusion (For example: in conclusion)

Exercise 2

Complete these sentences with one of the words or expressions from above. In most cases, more than one answer is possible.

1. Tourism brings much needed money to developing countries. _____, it provides employment for the local population.
2. _____ bringing much needed money to developing countries, tourism provides employment for the local population.
3. Tourists should respect the local environment. _____ they should respect the local customs.
4. _____ industrial waste, pollution from car fumes is poisoning the environment.
5. In order to travel, you need a passport. _____, you might need a visa, immunization shots, and written permission to visit certain areas.

10. Your grades have been very poor all year. _____ you need to work really hard if you want to pass your exams next month.

American English

This exercise looks at some common "American" words (words which are used in the U.S.A. and Canada). You might find it useful if you have been learning "British" English (the English which is spoken in the United Kingdom and in other countries around the world). Generally, "American" words are understood by "British" English speakers (largely as a result of imported television programs and movies), but many North Americans are unfamiliar with some "British" English words. As a result, it is important to use the "American" words rather than the "British" words in the TOEFL.

Look at the sentences below, which all contain a "British" English word in bold. Decide what word North Americans would normally use in the same context. In some cases, the word will remain the same, but there will be a difference in spelling. Write your answers in the crossword grid on page 7. To help you, the word that you need has been put at the end of each sentence, with most of the letters removed, but with some of the letters included.

Idioms and colloquialisms 1

Idioms and colloquialisms (spoken expressions) are a common feature of the TOEFL Listening Comprehension. There are a lot of them, and each one has to be learnt individually. Often, but not always, it is possible to identify the meaning of an idiom or a colloquialism from the context in which it is being used.

The idioms and colloquialisms exercises in this book focus on some of the most commonly-used expressions.

Exercise 1

Complete the dialogs with an expression from the box.

I couldn't agree more. • I couldn't care less. • I really don't mind. It's up to you.
 It does nothing for me. • Let me sleep on it. • Never mind. It can't be helped.
 No way! Not a chance! • You've got to be kidding! • Why not? Go for it!
 Wow! Way to go! • You should really get a life. • You're welcome, but it was nothing really.

Metaphor

A metaphor is a word or phrase that means one thing and is used to refer to another thing in order to emphasize their similar qualities. For example, in the sentence “Picasso was the father of the Cubist movement”, the word father is not used in its usual sense to mean someone's male parent. It means that Picasso was the person who started the Cubist movement, or that he was the first one to do it successfully. Father is being used in a metaphorical way. Metaphors are a bit like idioms (see pages 15 – 22), because the words and expressions are not being used with their literal meaning.

The following exercises look at some common metaphors that are used in different situations.

Exercise 1: achievements, ideas, and theories

Metaphorically, achievements, ideas, and theories are often seen as buildings, with an idea or the process of achieving something being similar to the process of building, and the failure of something being similar to the destruction of a building. Metaphorically, ideas are also like plants, and developing an idea is like getting plants to grow.

Complete sentences 1 – 20 with a word or expression from the box. In several cases you will need to change the form of the words. The first one has been done for you.

Don't forget that many phrasal verbs can have more than one meaning. Try to develop your own written "bank" of the phrasal verbs you learn. This should show as many different meanings as possible for each phrasal verb. You should then try to remember these so that they become a part of your "productive" vocabulary.

Phrasal Verbs 3

- The verbs and particles in the two boxes below can be combined to make phrasal verbs, which can then be used to complete the sentences underneath.
- Decide which phrasal verbs go into each sentence, and write the answers in the crossword grid, which you will find on page 42. In many cases, you will need to change the form of the verb (e.g., past or present participle, third person "s", etc.). The meaning of each phrasal verb is in italics at the end of each sentence.
- Don't forget that some phrasal verbs need two particles.
- Do not put a gap between the verb and the particle(s) in the crossword grid.

Prefixes

Prefixes such as dis-, im-, un-, etc., can be used to make opposites of many verbs and adjectives (see pages 32 and 35). Other prefixes can be used to add meaning to a base word or word root. Some of these prefixes can be used in more than one way, depending on their context. The exercises on the next two pages look at some of these.

Exercise 1

Match the prefixes on the left with their meaning(s) on the right. Two of these prefixes have one meaning (although used in different ways).

Prefix	Meaning
1. auto-	(a) After or later than.
2. bi-	(b) Between.
3. circum-	(c) Exactly half / partly but not completely.

Presenting an argument

Exercise 1

Read the text below, in which somebody is trying to decide whether to go straight to university from school, or spend a year traveling around the world. Put their argument into the correct order, using the key words and expressions in bold to help you. The first one and last one have been done for you.

- A. (1) I'm really in two minds about what to do when I leave school. Should I go straight to university or should I spend a year traveling around the world?
- B. It is often said that knowledge is the key to power, and I cannot disagree with this.
- C. On the one hand, I would experience lots of different cultures.
- D. Unfortunately, another point is that if I spent a year traveling I would need a lot of money.
- E. And I'm not alone in this opinion. Many consider a sound career and a good salary to be an important goal.
- F. However, it could be argued that I would also meet lots of interesting people while I was traveling.
- G. Secondly, if I go straight to university, I'll learn so many things that will help me in my future life.
- H. First of all, there are so many benefits to going straight to university.
- I. But I believe that it would be easy to make a bit while I was traveling, giving English lessons or working in hotels and stores.
- J. Moreover, I'll be able to take part in the social activities that the university offers, and meet lots of new friends who share the same interests.
- K. The most important point is that the sooner I get my qualifications, the quicker I'll get a job and start earning.
- L. Nevertheless, these inconveniences would be an inevitable part of traveling and would be greatly outweighed by the other advantages.
- M. In my opinion, starting work and making money is one of the most important things in life.
- N. On the other hand, I could end up suffering from culture shock, homesickness, and some strange tropical diseases.
- O. Furthermore, if I spent a year traveling, I would learn more about the world.
- P. (16) All right, I've made my mind up. Now, where's my nearest travel agency?

Exercise 2.

Using the key words and expressions in bold from the last exercise, present an argument for one of the following issues, or choose one of the essays from the Topics section of the book:

Exercise 3

Complete this case study with appropriate words and expressions from the box in Exercise 1. You may need to change the form of some of the words.

Bob's problems began during his (1) _____. His parents got (2) _____ when he was young, and neither of his parents wanted to raise him or his brother and sister, so he was (3) _____ by a (4) _____ chosen by his parent's social worker. Unfortunately, his foster-father was a strict (5) _____ and often beat him. Bob rebelled against this strict (6) _____ and by the time he was eight, he was already (7) _____ stealing from shops and playing truant. By the time he reached (8) _____ sometime around his thirteenth birthday, he had already appeared in court several times, charged with (9) _____. The judge blamed his foster parents, explaining that children needed (10) _____ parents and guardians who would look after them properly. The foster father objected to this, pointing out that Bob's (11) _____ – his two brothers and sister – were (12) _____ children who behaved at home and worked well at school.

This has raised some interesting questions about the modern family system. While it is true that parents should not be too (13) _____ with children by letting them do what they want when they want, or be too (14) _____ by sheltering them from the realities of life, it is also true that they should not be too strict. It has also highlighted the disadvantages of the modern (15) _____ where the child has only its mother and father to rely on (or the (16) _____, in which the mother or father has to struggle particularly hard to support their (17) _____. In fact, many believe that we should return to traditional family values and the (18) _____ family: extensive research has shown that children from these families are generally better behaved and have a better chance of success in later life.

You are never too old to learn. Do you agree with this statement?

Education is a long process that not only provides us with basic (1) _____ such as (2) _____ and (3) _____, but is also essential in shaping our future lives. From the moment we enter (4) _____ as 5-year-olds, and as we progress through (5) _____ and (6) _____ education, we are laying the foundations for the life ahead of us. We must (7) _____ ourselves to work hard so that we can (8) _____ exams and gain the (9) _____ we will need to secure a good job. We must also (10) _____ valuable life skills so that we can fit in and work with those around us. And of course (11) _____ helps us to develop our bodies and stay fit and healthy.

For most people, this process ends when they are in their mid-to-late teens and they (12) _____ from high school. For others, however, it is the beginning of a lifetime of learning. After they finish school, many progress to (13) _____ education where they will work towards a (14) _____ in a chosen (15) _____ at university. After that, they may work for a while before opting to study at a (16) _____ for a Masters degree, or a (17) _____. Alternatively, they may choose to attend a (18) _____ after work or, if they have a sympathetic employer, obtain (19) _____ so that they can study during the week. And if they live a long way from a college or university, they might follow a (20) _____ using mail and the Internet. In fact, it is largely due to the proliferation of computers that many people, who have not been near a school for many years, have started to study again and can proudly class themselves as (21) _____ students.

We live in a fascinating and constantly changing world, and we must continually learn and acquire new knowledge if we are to adapt and keep up with changing events. Our schooldays are just the beginning of this process, and we should make the best of every (22) _____ to develop ourselves, whether we are eighteen or eighty. You are, indeed, never too old to learn.

“Despite the huge variety of foods in our supermarkets, it is becoming increasingly difficult to eat a healthy diet. Do you agree? Support your opinion by using specific reasons and examples.”

Most children enjoy eating (1) _____, but scientific tests have shown us that burgers and pizzas can lack essential (2) _____ and (3) _____ which are essential for health and growth, while simultaneously containing large amounts of (4) _____ and (5) _____ which can result in obesity and heart problems. Many children end up suffering from (6) _____, since they eat too much of the wrong sort of food. In fact, in many areas of the developed world, a lot of children show similar symptoms to those in poorer developing countries, where (7) _____ of food causes thousands of deaths from starvation, especially in the wake of natural disasters which ruin crops and in some cases totally destroy the annual (8) _____.

Exercise 3

Complete this essay with appropriate words and expressions from the box in Exercise 1. You may need to change the form of some of the words.

"The media plays a valuable role in keeping us informed and entertained. However, many people believe it has too much power and freedom". Do you agree?"

Barely a hundred years ago, if we wanted to stay (1) _____ about what was going on in the world, we had to rely on word of mouth or, at best, newspapers. But because communication technology was very basic, the news we received was often days or weeks old.

We still have newspapers, of course, but they have changed almost beyond recognition. Whether we choose to read the (2) _____, with their quality (3) _____ of news and other (4) _____ by top (5) _____ and acclaimed (6) _____ or if we prefer the popular (7) _____, with their lively gossip and colorful stories, we are exposed to a wealth of information barely conceivable at the beginning of the last century.

We also have television and radio. News (8) _____ let us know about world events practically as they happen, while sitcoms, chat shows, and (9) _____, etc., keep us entertained and informed. And there is also the (10) _____, where we can access information from millions of (11) _____ around the world which we can then (12) _____ onto our own computers.

However, these forms of (13) _____ and (14) _____ (or "infotainment" as they are now sometimes collectively called) have their negative side. Famous personalities frequently accuse the (15) _____ (and sometimes even respectable papers) of (16) _____ by camera-wielding (17) _____ who are determined to get a picture or a story regardless of who they upset. Newspapers are often accused of (18) _____ by angry politicians who dislike reading lies about themselves, and there are frequent accusations of (19) _____, with (20) _____ newspapers paying people lots of money for stories about crime and famous people. Of course, it is not just the papers which are to blame. Sex and violence are increasing on the television, and many complain that there is increased (21) _____ of news and current affairs programs, with major stories being presented in a simple and attractive way, but with very little detail. Others argue that too much time is being given to (22) _____ shows, in which ordinary people are put into artificially created environments and situations for our entertainment. Meanwhile, anyone with a computer can go (23) _____ to find undesirable material placed there by equally undesirable people.

Some people argue that the government should impose stricter (24) _____ to prevent such things happening. But others argue that (25) _____ and media is the keystone of a free country. Personally, I take the view that while the media may occasionally abuse its position of power, the benefits greatly outweigh the disadvantages. Our lives would be much emptier without the wealth of information available to us today, and perhaps we are better people as a result.

Note that many of them can have more than one grammatical function without changing their form (for example, balance can be a noun and a verb). Also note that some of the words can have more than one meaning (for example, a bill is a banknote, and it is also a piece of paper showing you how much you have to pay for a product or service).

Exercise 3

Complete this conversation with appropriate words and expressions from the box in Exercise 1. You may need to change the form of some of the words.

“Financial advice from a father to a son”

In the play “Hamlet” by William Shakespeare, a father gives his son some financial advice. “Neither a borrower nor a lender be”, he says. He is trying to tell his son that he should never (1) _____ money from anyone because it will make it difficult for him to manage his finances. Likewise he should never give a (2) _____ to a friend because he will probably never see the money again, and will probably lose his friend as well.

The play was written over four hundred years ago, but today many parents would give similar advice to their children. Imagine the conversation they would have now:

Jim: Right dad, I'm off to college now.

Dad: All right son, but let me give you some sound financial advice before you go.

Jim: Oh come on dad.....

Dad: Now listen, this is important. The first thing you should do is to make sure you balance your (3) _____ – the money you receive from me and mom – and your (4) _____ – the money you spend. If you spend too much, you will end up with an (5) _____ at the bank. Don't expect me to pay it for you.

Jim: But it's so difficult. Things are so expensive, and the (6) _____ goes up all the time. (7) _____ is running at about 10%.

Dad: I know, but you should try to (8) _____. Avoid expensive stores and restaurants. Also, leave your money in a good local (9) _____ account . They offer a much higher rate of (10) _____ than banks. Also, avoid buying things (11) _____.

Jim: Why?

Dad: Because some stores charge you an (12) _____ amount of money to buy things over a period of time. It's much better to (13) _____ a little bit of money each week so that when you see something you want, you can buy it outright. Try to wait for the sales, when stores offer huge (14) _____ and you can pick up a (15) _____. And try to get a (16) _____.

Jim: How do I do that?

Dad: Easy. When you buy something, ask the store if they'll lower the price by, say, 10%. Next, when you eventually get a job and are earning a good salary, try to (17) _____ the money in a good company. Buy (18) _____ in government organizations or (19) _____ in private companies.

Jim: OK dad, I've heard enough. Thanks for the advice. It's been (20) _____.

Dad: Well, it's true what they say: there are some things that money just can't buy.

Exercise 3

Read this essay and complete the gaps with one of the words or expressions from the box in Exercise 1.

"Environmental degradation is a major world problem. What causes this problem, and what can we do to prevent it?"

There is no doubt that the environment is in trouble. Factories burn (1) _____ which produce (2) _____, and this kills trees. At the same time, (3) _____ rise into the air and contribute to (4) _____ which threatens to melt the polar ice cap. Meanwhile farmers clear huge areas of (5) _____ in places such as the Amazon to produce feeding land for cattle or produce wood for building. Rivers and oceans are so heavily (6) _____ by industrial waste that it is no longer safe to go swimming. Cars pump out poisonous (7) _____ which we all have to breathe in. (8) _____ and overfishing are killing off millions of animals, including whales, elephants, and other (9) _____. In fact, all around us, all living things large and small which comprise our finely balanced (10) _____ are being systematically destroyed by human greed and thoughtlessness.

There is a lot we can all do, however, to help prevent this. The easiest thing, of course, is to (11) _____ waste material such as paper and glass so that we can use it again. We should also check that the things we buy from supermarkets are packaged in (12) _____ which decomposes easily. At the same time, we should make a conscious effort to avoid foods which are (13) _____ (at least until someone proves that they are safe both for us and for the environment). If you are truly committed to protecting the environment, of course, you should only buy (14) _____ fruit and vegetables, safe in the knowledge that they have been naturally cultivated. Finally, of course, we should buy a small car that uses (15) _____ which is less harmful to the environment or, even better, make more use of public transportation.

The serious (16) _____, however, do much more. They are aware of the global issues involved and will actively involve themselves in (17) _____ by making sure our forests are kept safe for future generations. They will oppose activities which are harmful to animals, such as (18) _____. And they will campaign to keep the (19) _____ around our towns and cities free from new building.

We cannot all be as committed as them, but we can at least do our own little bit at grass roots level. We, as humans, have inherited the earth, but that doesn't mean we can do whatever we like with it.

Exercise 4

Now try this essay. Use words and expressions from Exercise 1, and any other words or expressions that you think would be relevant.

Some people think that the government should spend as much money as possible on protecting the environment. Others think this money should be spent on other things such as education and healthcare. Which one of these opinions do you agree with? Use specific reasons and details to support your answer.

 traffic school transport strategy turnpike

1. Rush hour is the time of day when there are not many vehicles on the road because most people are at home.
2. If a service such as public transportation is subsidized, all of its running costs are paid for by the government or a local authority.
3. A traffic school is a school for people who want to learn to drive a motor vehicle.
4. An expressway is a wide road (usually in a city) where people can drive quickly, and is the U.S. equivalent of a British dual carriageway.
5. Road rage is anger or violent behavior by one driver toward another driver.
6. Traffic calming measures are fines and other penalties imposed by the police on bad or dangerous drivers.
7. In the U.S.A., the interstate is part of the national public transportation system (including trains and buses) which people use to travel around the country.
8. Someone who has been accused of joyriding has stolen a car in order to drive it for pleasure, usually in a dangerous way.
9. A turnpike is a main road in the eastern part of the U.S.A. that drivers must pay to use.
10. Someone who backs out in a vehicle drives it very quickly and dangerously, usually in a busy or built-up area.
11. A cycle lane is a part of the road that is set aside for people on bicycles, and which may not be used by drivers of motor vehicles.
12. A traffic-free zone is a main road between major towns and cities that drivers do not have to pay to use.
13. Fatalities (in this context) refers to people who are injured in accidents on the road.
14. A black spot is a place on a road where a lot of car accidents happen.
15. A mile is a measure of distance equivalent to 1.609 kilometers.
16. A sidewalk is a part of the road in a town or city where drivers can park their vehicle.

Exercise 2

Use your dictionary to check the meanings of the other words and expressions in the box.

Exercise 3

Complete this article with appropriate words and expressions from the box in Exercise 1. You may need to change the form of some of the words.

(1) _____ and (2) _____ on our roads are increasing from year to year: last year, 2,827 people were killed and almost 300,000 hurt in traffic-related accidents in the state. Most of these were caused by drivers (3) _____ in built-up areas, where many seem to disregard the 30mph (4) _____, or (5) _____, especially around July 4th and Thanksgiving, when more alcohol is consumed than at any other time. In many cases, it is (6) _____ who are the victims, knocked down as they are walking across the street at (7) _____ by drivers who seem to have forgotten that a red (8) _____ means "Stop".

But these innocent victims, together with the help of the highway patrol and local safety groups, are fighting back. In New Stockholm, a city plagued by (9) _____ and (10) _____ caused by traffic, and a notorious accident (11) _____ for pedestrians and cyclists, the city council has recently implemented its new (12) _____, which has improved the flow of traffic to the benefit of those on foot or on two wheels. (13) _____ measures such as speed bumps have slowed traffic down. (14) _____ programs have helped reduce the number of cars in the city, as office workers and shoppers leave their cars outside the city and bus in instead. Harley Street, the main shopping thoroughfare, has been designated a (15) _____, closed to all vehicles during the day. There are more (16) _____ on main routes into the city, making it safer for the huge number of students and residents who rely on bicycles to get around. And (17) _____ public transportation has helped to keep down the cost of using buses. Meanwhile, the police and the courts are coming down hard on drivers who misuse the roads, handing down large (18) _____ or even jail sentences on selfish, inconsiderate drivers who believe it is their right to (19) _____ the roads; for these people, (20) _____ is not offered as a softer alternative.

Exercise 4

Now try this essay. Use words and expressions from the box in Exercise 1, and any other words or expressions that you think would be relevant.

Do you agree or disagree with the following statement?: It is time we all relied less on private motor vehicles to get around, and instead used other forms of transport. Use specific examples and details to support your answer.

Science and technology

Exercise 1

Complete definitions 1 – 15 with words and expressions from the box. You will not need all of the words and expressions from the box.

Exercise 2

Use your dictionary to check the meanings of the other words and expressions in the box.

Exercise 3

Complete this essay with appropriate words and expressions from the box in Exercise 1. You may need to change the form of some of the words.

"Science and technology have come a long way in the last 60 years, and our lives have become better as a result. Do you agree with this statement?"

The second half of the twentieth century saw more changes than in the previous two hundred years. Penicillin has already been (1) _____ and used to treat infections; there have been many remarkable advances in medicine that have helped to increase our average (2) _____ way beyond that of our ancestors. Incredible (3) _____ such as television have changed the way we spend our leisure hours. Perhaps the most important (4) _____, however, has been the microchip. Nobody could have imagined, when it was first (5) _____, that within a matter of years, this tiny piece of silicon and circuitry would be found in almost every household object from the kettle to the DVD recorder. And nobody could have predicted the sudden proliferation of computers that would completely change our lives, allowing us to access information from the other side of the world via the (6) _____ or send messages around the world by (7) _____ at the touch of a button. Meanwhile, (8) _____ into other aspects of information technology is making it easier and cheaper for us to talk to friends and relations around the world. Good news for (9) _____ who love modern technology, bad news for the (10) _____ who would prefer to hide from these modern miracles.

But everything has a price. The development of (11) _____ led to mass automation in factories, which in turn led to millions losing their jobs. The genius of Einstein led to the horrors of the atomic bomb and the dangerous uncertainties of (12) _____ (we hear of accidents and mishaps at nuclear power stations around the world, where (13) _____ to prevent accidents were inadequate). The relatively new science of (14) _____ has been seen as a major step forward, but putting modified foods onto the market before scientists had properly (15) _____ them was perhaps one of the most irresponsible decisions of the 1990s. Meanwhile, pharmaceutical and cosmetic companies continue to (16) _____ on animals, a move that many consider to be cruel and unnecessary.

Of course we all rely on modern science and technology to improve our lives. However, we need to make sure that we (17) _____ it rather than the other way round.

Exercise 4

Now try this essay. Use words and expressions from the box in Exercise 1, and any other words or expressions that you think would be relevant.

What, in your opinion, has been the single most important scientific or technological development of the last fifty years? Use specific reasons and details to support your answer.

Exercise 2

Use your dictionary to check the meanings of the other words and expressions in the box.

Exercise 3

Complete this essay with appropriate words and expressions from Exercise 1. You may need to change the form of some of the words, and one of the words you will need is the extra word you revealed by doing Exercise 1.

“Describe a place where you live or have lived, outlining its good points and bad points”.

For seven years I lived in Singapore, a (1) _____ of almost three million people. Like London, Paris, and New York, Singapore is a (2) _____ city, with people from different parts of the world living and working together. I enjoyed the (3) _____ lifestyle I led there, and made the most of the superb (4) _____, ranging from the excellent stores to some of the best restaurants in the world. In the evenings and at weekends there were always (5) _____: with such diverse attractions as classical western music, an exhibition of Malay art, or a Chinese opera in the street, it was difficult to get bored. Perhaps most impressive, however, was the remarkable transportation (6) _____, with excellent roads, a swift and efficient bus service, and a state-of-the-art subway system which could whisk (7) _____ from the suburbs straight into the heart of the city (this was particularly important, as the government banned private cars from entering the (8) _____ during the morning and afternoon (9) _____ in order to reduce (10) _____ on the roads and (11) _____ from the exhausts).

Of course, living in a city like this has its disadvantages as well. For a start, the (12) _____ can be very high – renting an apartment, for example, is very expensive. And as the city is expanding, there are a lot of (13) _____ where new apartments are continually being built to deal with the (14) _____ which is a direct result of the government encouraging people to have more children.

Fortunately, Singapore doesn't suffer from problems that are common in many cities such as (15) _____, which is partly the result of the government imposing very severe penalties on anyone bringing narcotics into the country, so it is safe to walk the streets at night. In fact, the (16) _____ housing estates there are probably the safest and most orderly in the world.

Singapore wouldn't be ideal for everyone, however, especially if you come from the countryside and are used to a (17) _____ lifestyle. The traditional villages that were once common have disappeared as the residents there realised there were no (18) _____ for their future and moved into new government housing in the city. Nowadays, there is very little (19) _____ around the city, which means that Singapore imports almost all of its food. And despite a “green” approach to city planning, the (20) _____ which has eaten into the countryside has had a detrimental effect on the (21) _____.

Exercise 4

Now try this essay. Use words and expressions from Exercise 1, and any other words or expressions that you think would be relevant.

Some people prefer to live in the countryside or in a small town. Others prefer to live in a big city. Which place would you prefer to live in? Use specific reasons and details to support your answer.

Travel

Exercise 1

Look at the words and expressions in the box, then answer questions 1 – 16. Some of these questions ask you to explain what a word or expression means, and some of them ask you to complete a sentence with the appropriate word(s) or expression(s).

12. If someone has been repatriated, what has happened to them?
13. What is a cruise? What is a safari?
14. Why might someone want a green card?
15. If someone is trafficking something, are they doing something that is legal or something that is illegal?
16. Complete this sentence: A person who has been _____ has been forced to move from one part of their country to another (often because of a war or other threatening situation).

Exercise 2

Use your dictionary to check the meanings of the other words and expressions in the box.

Exercise 3

Read this essay and complete the gaps with one of the words or expressions from the box in Exercise 1. You may need to change the form of some of the words.

"There are two types of traveler: those who do it because they want to, and those who do it because they have to. Discuss this statement, using specific examples".

Most of us have, at some point in our lives, experienced the joys of travel. We go to the (1) _____ to pick up our brochures. We book a two-week (2) _____ with flights and accommodations included, (or if we are (3) _____, we make our own way to the country and travel around from place to place with a rucksack on our back). We make sure we have all the right currency, our passport, and any (4) _____ that are necessary to get us into the country. We go to the airport and (5) _____. We strap ourselves into our tiny (6) _____ aircraft seats and a few hours later we (7) _____ from the aircraft, strange new sights, smells, and sounds greeting us. Nowadays, it seems, the whole world goes on vacation at once: the age of (8) _____ is in full swing!

But for the great majority of people around the world, travel is done in the face of great adversity and hardship. They never get to indulge in an (9) _____ vacation in a luxury hotel with all meals and drinks included. They never get to explore the lush Amazon rain forest or the frozen wastes of the Arctic on an (10) _____ vacation. For them, travel is a matter of life and death. I refer, of course, to all the (11) _____ escaping from their own countries, or the (12) _____, moved from one part of their country to another by an uncaring government, or (13) _____ forced to find a job and seek a living wherever they can.

Can you imagine anything worse than the misery these people must face? Let's not confuse them with those (14) _____, who choose to live in another country and often have nice houses and high salaries. These people are simply desperate to survive. As well as losing their homes because of war or famine or other natural disasters, they must come to terms with their new environment: for many, the (15) _____ can be too great. And while many countries with an open policy on (16) _____ will welcome them in with open arms, others will simply turn them away. These people become (17) _____, unwanted and unwelcome. Even if they manage to get into a country, they will often be (18) _____ or repatriated. Their future is uncertain.

Something to think about, perhaps, the next time you are (19) _____ to your five-star hotel by a palm-fringed beach or sitting in a coach on an (20) _____ to a pretty castle in the countryside.

Exercise 4

Now try this essay. Use words and expressions from the box in Exercise 1, and any other words or expressions that you think would be relevant.

What are the good things and bad things about traveling? Use specific examples to explain your answer.

Exercise 1

Look at the words and expressions in the box, and answer questions 1 – 14. You may need to change the form of some of the words.

adverse working conditions applicant application form be laid off blue-collar worker boss candidate commission demanding dismiss dismissal repetitive strain injury (RSI) resign retire rewards and benefits salary self-employed semi-skilled service industry sick building syndrome sickness benefit skilled a steady job stress supervisor unemployed unemployment union unskilled unsociable hours wage (on) welfare white-collar worker workaholic

1. Replace the word in bold in this sentence with another word from the box which has a similar meaning: "A lot of people wanted the job, but she was the best candidate".
2. What is the difference between a wage and a salary?
3. Complete this sentence: _____ is a painful condition of the muscles in the hands and the arms caused by doing the same movement many times (for example, using a computer over a long period of time).
4. Replace the word in bold in this sentence with another word from the box which has a similar, but less formal, meaning (you will need to change the form of the word): "When he was caught stealing from the company, he was instantly dismissed".
5. Complete this sentence: The word raise in the box is similar in meaning to _____ (which is also in the box).
6. What is the difference between a blue-collar worker and a white-collar worker?
7. True or false?: When a company downsizes its work force, this means that it pays its workers less than before.
8. Complete this sentence: _____ are extra payments or benefits that you get in your job (for example, free meals, health insurance, company car, etc.).
9. What do you think sick building syndrome is?
10. Complete this sentence: If you have _____, you have work which is reliable and will last for a long time.
11. True or false?: retire and resign have the same meaning.
12. Complete this sentence: Banks, hospitals, and hotels are examples of _____.
13. Would you be happy if you had adverse working conditions?
14. Complete this sentence: A person who is _____ is not permanently employed by one company, but sells their services to more than one company.

Exercise 2

Use your dictionary to check the meanings of the other words and expressions in the box.

Exercise 3

Complete this essay with appropriate words and expressions from the box in Exercise 1. You may need to change the form of some of the words.

"Some people live to work and others work to live. In most cases, this depends on the job they have and the conditions under which they are employed. In your opinion, what are the elements that make a job worthwhile?"

In answering this question, I would like to look first at the elements that combine to make a job undesirable. By avoiding such factors, potential (1) _____ are more likely to find a job that is more worthwhile, and by doing so, hope to achieve happiness in their work.

First of all, it doesn't matter if you are an (2) _____ worker cleaning the floor, a (3) _____ (4) _____ worker on a production line in one of the (5) _____, or a (6) _____ worker in a bank, store, or one of the other (7) _____: if you lack (8) _____, with the knowledge that you might lose your job at any time, you will never feel happy. Everybody would like a (9) _____ in which he or she is guaranteed work. Nowadays, however, companies have a high turnover of staff, (10) _____ new staff and (11) _____ others on a weekly basis. Such companies are not popular with their workers.

The same can be said of a job in which you are put under a lot of (12) _____ and worry, a job which is so (13) _____ that it takes over your life, a job where you work (14) _____ and so never get to see your family or friends, or a physical job in which you do the same thing every day and end up with the industrial disease that is always in the papers nowadays – (15) _____.

With all these negative factors, it would be difficult to believe that there are any elements that make a job worthwhile. Money is, of course, the prime motivator, and everybody wants a good (16) _____. But of course that is not all. The chance of (17) _____, of being given a better position in a company, is a motivating factor. Likewise, (18) _____ such as a free lunch or a company car, an (19) _____ plan to make you work hard such as a regular (20) _____ above the rate of inflation, (21) _____ in case you fall ill and a company (22) _____ plan so that you have some money when you retire all combine to make a job worthwhile.

Unfortunately, it is not always easy to find all of these. There is, however, an alternative. Forget the office and the factory floor and become (23) _____ and work for yourself. Your future may not be secure, but at least you will be happy.

Exercise 4

Now try this essay. Use words and expressions from the box in Exercise 1, and any other words or expressions that you think would be relevant.

"It is more important to have a job you enjoy doing than a job which pays well." How far do you agree with this statement? Use specific reasons and examples to support your answer.

Addition, equation, and conclusion (page 4)

Exercise 1

Addition:	and along with as well as also too in addition besides what's more furthermore moreover along with (this could also be equation)
Equation:	equally likewise similarly in the same way correspondingly along with (this could also be addition)
Conclusion:	in conclusion to sum up briefly it can be concluded that to conclude in brief thus to summarize therefore

Exercise 2

1. Furthermore / Moreover / In addition / What's more (this is less formal than the other expressions) 2. As well as / Besides 3. Likewise / Similarly / In the same way (the verbs in both sentences – i.e., respect – are the same and refer to the same thing, so we can use a word of equation here) 4. As well as / Along with 5. In addition 6. Likewise / Similarly 7. Likewise / In the same way / Correspondingly 8. In brief 9. It can be concluded that 10. Therefore (To sum up, To conclude and To summarize are usually used to conclude longer pieces of writing – e.g., at the end of an essay. Thus is slightly more formal than therefore, but has the same meaning)

Note: It is important that you are familiar with the way these words and expressions are used, including the other words in a sentence that they “work” with. Use a dictionary to look up examples of these words and expressions, and keep a record of them to refer to the next time you use them.

“American” English (pages 5 –7)

Across

2. intermission 6. over (in the context of repeating something completely only. In other contexts, again is used in the same way as it is used in British English) 8. mail 9. recognize (note that in British English, this word can be spelt recognise or recognize)* 11. theater* 13. underpass 16. gas 18. elevator 20. realtors 24. highway 26. raise 27. recess 29. guy 30. faculty 32. fall 35. sedan 36. store 37. defense* 38. round-trip 40. alumnus 41. cellphone

Down

1. zip code 3. through 4. movies (movie theater is also used) 5. bill 7. labor* 10. gotten 12. apartments 14. travelers* 15. first 17. sidewalk 19. movie 21. freeway (expressway is also used) 22. this 23. dialog* 25. drugstore 28. subway 31. attorney (lawyer is also used) 33. eraser 34. vacation 39. bathroom

* Note the following spelling differences between British and American English:

- Words which usually end in -ise in British English end with -ize in American English (recognize, realize, itemize, etc.)
- Words which end with -re in British English usually end with -er in American English (theater, center, liter, etc.)
- Words which end with -our in British English normally end with -or in American English (humor, labor, color, etc.)
- Words which end with -ogue in British English normally end with just -og in American English (dialog, catalog, etc.)
- Words which end in -ence in British English end with -ense in American English (pretense, defense, offense, etc.)
- Words which end with -amme in British English usually just end with -am in American English (kilogram, program, telegram, etc.)
- Words with a double L in the middle in British English (such as traveller or travelling) usually use a single L in American English (traveler, traveling, etc.), but some words that use a single L followed by a consonant in British English use a double L in American English (skillful, installment).

There are other spelling differences which do not follow any particular “rules”, and these words have to be learned individually (for example, judgement in British English can be spelled the same way in American English, but many North Americans also spell it judgment). Also see the note on practice in the answer key for Spelling Exercise 2 on page 120).

 This is one of several words which are used in both British and American English, but which have a different meaning (often depending on the context in which they are used). In this case, faculty is usually used by North Americans to talk about the people who work in a school, college, university, etc., while in British English it is used to talk about a particular department in a university (e.g., the Humanities Faculty). Gas (see 16 across) in American English is a short form of gasoline. The word gasoline is also used in British English, but the word petrol is more common: British-English speakers normally use the word gas to talk about a substance that is used to heat the house or cook food. To make things more complicated, it also has the same meaning in North America.

Idioms and colloquialisms 2 (pages 17 – 18)

Exercise 1

1. I'd be glad to (this is a polite way of agreeing to do something). 2. Be my guest (this is a polite way of giving somebody permission to do something). 3. A little bird told me (we say this when we don't want to say who said something to us). 4. My lips are sealed (we say this when we promise to keep a secret, or when we refuse to tell someone a secret). 5. I'm keeping my fingers crossed (we say this when we are hoping that something will happen). 6. Rather you than me (this means that we are glad we are not doing something that somebody else is). 7. Fire away, I'm all ears (this means that we are ready to listen to something). 8. Now you're talking (we say this when somebody suggests something that is more acceptable or enjoyable than something else they have already suggested). 9. I'm having second thoughts (this means that we will probably change our mind about something we have already agreed to). 10. That'll be the day (this means that we don't believe something will happen. We can also say "And pigs might fly!" or "I'll believe it when I see it") 11. Who let the cat out of the bag? (we say this when we want to know who revealed something that was supposed to be a secret, a surprise, etc.) 12. That'll teach you! (this means that the person who is complaining has only themselves to blame)

Exercise 2

1. Oh, this is on me (we say this when we are offering to pay for something). 2. Congratulations (this is another way of saying "Well done"). 3. I'd love to (we say this when we are accepting an offer to do something) 4. You're welcome (this is another way of saying "Not at all" or "Don't mention it"). 5. Thanks. Make yourself at home (this is an expression we use when somebody visits our house). 6. Hold on (an informal expression which means "Wait"). 7. Yes. Take care and keep in touch (an expression we use when we will not see somebody for a while). 8. Couldn't be better (this means that we are very well). 9. I'd rather you didn't (this is a polite way of telling somebody that you don't want them to do something). 10. Oh, that's too bad (this is another way of saying "Hard luck", "Bad luck", or "Tough luck", and we use it to sympathize with someone) 11. The name doesn't ring any bells (this means that you do not recognize the name) 12. Sure, touch wood ("Touch wood" is an expression we use when we hope that something will, or won't, happen)

Exercise 3

Exercise 2

(These are suggested answers, and you might choose other words which are equally suitable)

1. argument 2. intelligence 3. assist 4. important / unimportant 5. effort 6. knowledge 7. opportunity
8. discover 9. life or career 10. force 11. intelligence 12. conversation / discussion 13. problem 14. enthusiasm
/ excitement 15. successful / failure

The Macmillan English Dictionary for Advanced Learners, from which many of the definitions and sample sentences in this exercise have been taken, has very useful sections on metaphors under the following entries:

achieve, afraid, aim, angry, argument, busy, communicate, confused, conversation, criticize, deceive, difficulty, discover, effort, enthusiasm, feeling, force, friendly, guilty, happy, hate, help, honest, idea, illness, important, intelligence, interested, knowledge, language, life, love, method, mind, mistake, money, nervous, opinion, opportunity, organization, people, power, problem, proud, quantity, relationship, responsibility, search, secret, self, sensible, simple, situation, strange, success, time, tolerance, understand, want, win.

Make a note of those that you think are the most useful, and try to use them in your English. Note that the words and expressions that come towards the end of each metaphor box are more informal and idiomatic than those at the beginning, and would normally only be used in more informal spoken situations.

23. predetermined 24. bilingual 25. autonomy 26. transient 27. subordinate 28. semi-precious (note that some words which are modified by semi are hyphenated: semi-skilled, semi-permanent, semi-conscious, etc.)

Note: Rather confusingly, a biweekly magazine can either be a magazine that is published once every two weeks, or twice a week. This also applies to publications which are bimonthly. To avoid confusion, we can say that magazines that are published twice a week or twice a month are semi-weekly or semi-monthly.

Presenting an argument (page 45)

Exercise 1

The best order is: 1. A 2. H 3. K 4. M 5. E 6. G 7. B 8. J 9. F 10. O 11. L 12. N 13. L 14. D 15. I 16. P

When you are asked to present an argument (e.g., in an essay), you should always look at it from two sides, giving reasons why you agree and disagree before reaching a conclusion. It is usually best to present your strongest argument in favor of something just before you write the conclusion.

Other words and expressions which you might find useful include:

I believe that despite this in spite of this also thirdly I think finally in conclusion nonetheless admittedly on the contrary at any rate notwithstanding for all that even if

19. implication / suggestion 20. reflection / sign

Note that many of the words in this exercise might have another meaning if used in a different context. Use a dictionary to check which ones.

When you keep a written record of words that you learn, you might find it useful to put them into related groups. This would include putting words with the same or a similar meaning together. Remember that you should also record words in context (in other words, you should show how they work in a sentence with other words)

Similar meanings: Verbs 1 (pages 54 – 56)

Across:

2. direct 4. assume 5. attain 6. detect 11. reveal 12. assert 13. resist 14. refine 15. evolve 16. convey
19. settle 21. relate 23. submit 25. change 27. baffle 29. answer 32. verify 33. enrich 35. remove
36. exceed 37. derive

Down:

1. accuse 3. handle 7. create 8. elicit 9. forbid 10. hasten 12. affect 14. refuse 17. gather 18. oblige
(usually used in the passive form: "Under the college rules, students are obliged to refrain...") 20. endure 22. obtain
24. misuse 26. assist 28. launch 30. mirror 31. demand 34. permit

Note that some of the words above could have a different meaning in another context. For example, in number 8 down, elicit has a similar meaning to obtain. In another context, it could mean "to make someone react in a particular way" (for example, "His comments elicited a positive response from everyone in the room"). This is one reason why you should always record the new words that you meet in context, and with an example that shows how they are used. That way, when you use these words yourself, you use them correctly. A good dictionary with sample sentences is extremely useful in this respect.

9. manage 10. examined 11. remove 12. supposed 13. produce 14. achieve 15. settled 16. build

Answer key

Note that while all of these words have a similar meaning to the underlined words in the sentences, not all of them could be used to replace those words without partly changing the meaning of the sentence.

Spelling (page 60)

Exercise 1

Apart from condemning tobacco companies and raising the price of cigarettes, the government's anti-smoking campaign has failed to have any long-term effects, and the only people benefiting from it are the Treasury Department. Meanwhile, the some doctors have said that they may refuse to treat persistent smokers. Of course, this hasn't prevented the big tobacco companies spending vast amounts of money on advertising.

Exercise 2

It is arguable whether good pronunciation is more important than good grammar and vocabulary. Conscientious students balance their acquisition of these skills, hoping to achieve both fluency and accuracy. Teachers should encourage their students to practice* all the relevant language skills.

* Practice is a noun and a verb in American English. In British English, practice is the noun and practise is the verb.

Exercise 3

It is becoming increasingly difficult for many to find decent accommodations in Los Angeles at a price they can afford. To put it simply, most people just don't have the necessary funds. Organizations such as Home Front can offer advice, but it is widely agreed that the situation is no longer manageable. The fact that the LA city council is building cheap, temporary housing for lower-paid professionals is the only official acknowledgment of this problem.
