Red Sabotage Schools Described By Philbrick

Speaker Says Agents Use Violent Means

Midwest America received a warning Thursday night not to relax its vigilant attitude toward the Red menace in this country. Although Communist party membership may not exceed 25,000 in the U.S., even one card-carrying, dues-paying operative may do great harm, Herbert A. Philbrick told a summer lecture audience of several hundred on the west approach to Old Capitol.

The former FBI agent described Communist methods as "violent and bloody." "And the blood (Communists may spill) is your own," he said.

Tells of Secret Schools
Telling of the super-secret training schools the Communists have set up in this country to train saboteurs, Philbrick graphically described how "power plants, bridges, conduits and express trains" can "easily" be wrecked by these expertly trained Communist agents. He attended such a school himself in 1947, he said.

Philbrick's association with the Communist party began in 1939, when he observed Red infiltration in a Cambridge, Mass., youth group to which he belonged. He took his information to the FBI, and became a voluntary counter-spy for the bureau.

Reds Rigged Elections
Active in many Communist front groups in Boston and Cambridge from 1939 to 1949, Philbrick told of how the Reds rigged "democratic" elections in such organizations to get their picked man in. Although "95 per cent of the members" of these groups were "loyal, sincere Americans," who would have been shocked had they realized they were Communist dupes, clever tactics kept the Communists in virtual control.

Fund raising activities carried on by the Communist party, largely through apparently innocent front groups, brought in some $50 million a year to party headquarters, Philbrick said.

Reds Converted Members
Members of front groups were sometimes converted to communism, he explained. Meeting in private homes, likely-looking men and women were indoctrinated by superbly trained Red speakers. They brought with them abundant Communist literature, spreading it out on the floor.

Among the material used, Philbrick said, were books by Marx, Lenin, Stalin and pamphlets issued by the Institute of Pacific Relations, which Owen Lattimore headed.

Philbrick said this was "significant," since the Communists chose only that literature which followed the party line.

He went on to say that "most of the young people" left the organizations once they suspected the Communists were running the show.

Philbrick said that despite much talk of the "fear-ridden" atmosphere of U.S. colleges and universities, he has seen little evidence of such fears. He said "apathy rather than fear (of investigation)" is characteristic of institutions of higher learning.

HERBERT A. PHILBRICK, former FBI counterspy, is greeted at the Iowa City airport by Prof. Orville Hitchcock, as he arrives to deliver a lecture Thursday night. Hitchcock is director of the SUJ summer lecture series.

Sees Need for Probes

Ex-FBI Agent Says Jenner Committee Does Good Job Investigating Reds

By DRAKE MABRY

Herbert Philbrick, who spent nine years inside the U.S. Communist party as an FBI agent said Thursday afternoon that Communist investigations are necessary and valuable as long as they remain accurate, fair, and direct.

Philbrick, in Iowa City for a lecture Thursday night, cited Sen. William E. Jenner (R-Ind.) and the U. S. senate internal security subcommittee as a good example of what he meant by a "careful, non-hysterical" accurate approach to the problem of Red infiltration.

He said, "The Jenner hearings are accurate and fair. The newspapers haven't played them up because nothing sensational takes place. But they do a good job, quietly digging away for facts. And they play it straight."

Agrees With Hoover
Philbrick feels that FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover was right when he refused to make investigation files of Communist activities public information during the recent McCarthy-Army hearings.

"The FBI works from within an organization," he said, "and the information it gathers should not and can not be made public. Such a move could easily ruin a part of the bureau's counter-spy ring that has taken years to build up."

When asked about Communist party feelings toward Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.), Philbrick replied that during his stay with the Reds McCarthy wasn't in evidence. "But," he added, "the Daily Worker seems to promote the McCarthy hunts in order to add to the confusion about Communist infiltration in the U.S."

Work Often Frustrating
During his nine years as an FBI counterspy, Philbrick became accustomed to the feeling of tenseness and frustration that constantly haunted him.

"The feeling of discovery was always with me," he said. "I never knew who a Red informer was and had to be careful at all times. I was always tense. Of course the Red police were a constant problem."

"In addition, I had the feeling of frustration many times. Of the wealth of material and evidence that we gathered, it seemed to me, and to my contacts with the FBI, that little was being done with it."

"But that has changed now," Philbrick said. "With the recent arrest and conviction of 11 top members of the party, the Reds aren't feeling so frisky."

Only Summer Lecture
Philbrick, who turns down four or five speaking engagements a day, said that this Iowa City lecture is the only one he will give this summer.

"We felt that the University of Iowa was one of the better areas for my lecture. The audiences here are always among the best in the country."

Philbrick is currently on leave of absence from the New York Herald-Tribune where he writes a syndicated column about combating communism.

Philbrick lives in Rye Beach, N. H. He operates a small country store there, and in his own words, spends time "dipping ice cream and opening pop bottles. It's great."

Maximum Sentences Given 4 Puerto Ricans
WASHINGTON (AP) — Four Puerto Rican terrorists drew the maximum sentences Thursday for what a federal judge called the "atrocious" crime of shooting up the house of representatives March 1.

The three men involved each were sentenced to serve from 25 to 75 years in prison, while fiery Lolita Lebron 34-year-old brunette, was given a term ranging from 16 years and 8 months to 50 years.

Five house members were felled by bullets fired at the visitors' gallery. All have recovered.

Appeals Court Vote Favors Lattimore

WASHINGTON (AP) — The key charge in a perjury indictment against Owen Lattimore—that he lied when he said he had never been a Communist sympathizer or promoter of Red interests—is too vague to be considered, the U.S. court of appeals ruled Thursday.

The court, by a vote of 8-1, upheld dismissal of the charge by U.S. District Judge Luther W. Youngdahl in May, 1953. At the same time it reinstated, on 5-4 votes, two lesser charges Youngdahl had thrown out, and upheld the dismissal of still another on an 8-1 ruling.

Lattimore, controversial Far East specialist, called the net result "clearly a major victory."

Attorneys Comment
Lattimore's attorneys, former Sen. Joseph C. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.), and Thurman Arnold, a former judge of the appeals court, said the decision "has destroyed any substantial case" against Lattimore.

Lattimore, a one-time occasional state department consultant, has been on leave of absence as a lecturer at Johns Hopkins university since his indictment in December, 1952.

The indictment followed by almost a year 12 days of stormy testimony by Lattimore during an investigation by a senate subcommittee of the Institute of Pacific Relations, a private research organization.

Lattimore Answers McCarthy
The subcommittee called Lattimore "a conscious articulate instrument of the Soviet conspiracy," Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) once called Lattimore the top Soviet espionage agent in this country. "Pure moonshine," Lattimore replied.

Youngdahl let stand three of the indictments' seven counts, but expressed doubt they would "pass the test of materiality so as to present a jury issue." This ruling was not before the appeals court.

The decision presented the justice department with the choice of putting Lattimore on trial on the two reinstated counts, plus the three Judge Youngdahl let stand or asking the supreme court to put the key count back in force.

Armas Named Head Of Guatemala Junta; Led Anti-Red Revolt

GUATEMALA (AP) — Col. Carlos Castillo Armas emerged Thursday as the head man of a three-man junta ruling Guatemala.

The leader of the recent anti-Communist revolt was elected to the junta's presidency Wednesday night but the action was announced only Thursday by the junta secretary, Rodrigo Robles, Col. Elfigo Monzon, head man of a five-man junta since last week, remains a member of the ruling committee along with Maj. Enrique Oliva.

Two members were dropped—Lt. Luis Mauricio Dubois and Jose Luis Cruz. Robles said both resigned after Castillo Armas' election and refused to reconsider their action after being urged to do so. They were given a vote of recognition for their services since the junta was formed last Friday.

Castillo Armas led the invading exiles into Guatemala from Honduras June 18 in a move that led to the ousting of President Jacobo Arbenz Guzman's Communist-supported regime.

At a peace conference in neighboring El Salvador last week, he agreed to join forces with the anti-Communist junta headed by Monzon which was then in control of the capital.

U.S. Ambassador John E. Peurifoy played an important part in bringing about the agreement. Castillo Armas agreed to take second place in this temporary government, which was to hold office until the election of a permanent president of Guatemala by July 17.

Castillo Armas flew into Guatemala City Saturday and received the welcome of a national hero. He had been regarded as the most likely choice for president, although he had said he did not want the job.

Potent Atom Force Found In Upper Air

SEATTLE (AP) — An atomic particle apparently from outer space, capable of annihilating ordinary matter in hair-raising fashion, has been captured at the top of the earth's atmosphere, a widely known cosmic ray scientist reported Thursday.

Moving at the incredible speed and energy of 10 million billion volts, the particle converted matter into energy and the energy turned back into another form of matter.

Nothing remotely approaching this energy ever has been reported before from direct observation of a single particle.

By comparison a fissioning uranium atom is a pipsqueak at about 200 million volts. The most powerful atom-smashing machine produces particles with energies not much above six billion volts.

May Aid Understanding
This strange visitor may be a long-sought bit of "reverse" matter—something that would give researchers a tremendous boost in their efforts to solve the remaining mysteries of the atom.

This in turn could add enormously to man's understanding of matter and perhaps to unheard-of new benefits from nuclear science.

The new find was made by Dr. Marcel Schein of the University of Chicago and reported by him to a meeting here of the American Physical society. The project was sponsored by the office of naval research.

Although the final proof is lacking, the supposition is that the particle is an anti-proton. This would be the counterpart or "opposite number" of a proton. The proton, as we know it, is the core of a hydrogen atom and one of the components of every kind of matter.

Behavior Poses Question
The behavior of the particle and the circumstances of its discovery pose the question, "What else can it be if it isn't an anti-proton?" Schein said he had no other explanation at present. He offered his findings to fellow scientists for their opinions.

The particle was caught in a pack of special photographic plates carried in a high-altitude balloon over Texas last winter. It tore into the pack of films like a bullet through a deck of cards. In so doing it struck squarely an ordinary proton in the aluminum covering the film pack and produced a scientifically thrilling picture. To a non-scientific eye, it appears only as a few broken lines of dots on the photographic paper.

There is no possibility that scientists will ever collect a lot of these particles and cause any damaging annihilation. They are too scarce and hard to get. It is barely possible, Schein said, that the biggest atom-smashing machines will produce them, but mainly to complete nuclear theories, which hold that if you have positive particles you also have negative counterparts to balance the picture.

Dulles Doubts Peiping Could Win UN Seat

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Eisenhower-Dulles pledge to fight to the end against a United Nations seat for Red China Thursday apparently headed off a congressional proposal for automatic withdrawal from the international organization in case it admits the Peiping regime.

Sen. William F. Knowland of California, the Republican leader who was spearheading the drive, softened his proposal. He offered legislation which would:

1. Place congress on record anew against the seating of the Communists as representatives of China in the U. N.
2. Want Congress Informed

2. In the event of Red China getting into the U. N. general assembly or security council, request President Eisenhower to inform congress of the international implications of such a development and recommend a course of action.

Knowland said the new proposal would be formally introduced as an amendment to the 3½ million dollar foreign aid authorization bill when it comes up in the senate later this month. He said it would have wide bipartisan backing.

The proposed amendment, giving the President the opportunity to call the signals, is a far cry from Knowland's first demands. Originally he called for prompt American withdrawal from the U. N. if Red China came in, with the policy established by congress beforehand.

Apparently the administration urged him to change his approach to the problem.

Plans Not Affected
Knowland has served notice that he will resign as the Republican leader and fight to get this country out of U. N. if the Reds are admitted. That notice is not affected by his softened amendment.

The development came as Secretary of State John Foster Dulles declared the U. S. still has powerful cards to play and that "I do not believe Communist China is in fact going to be seated."

"I don't think there is going to be any American withdrawal from the U. N. or any occasion for it," Dulles told a news conference.

Expect Approval Today
Knowland's new amendment was outlined by acting chairman H. Alexander Smith (R-N. J.) of the senate foreign relations committee, who said he expected the committee to approve it today.

Even to assume that Red China will obtain admittance to any of the principal U. N. organs, Dulles said at his news conference, "weakens our case and strikes a note of defeatism which I think is entirely unjustified."

"The United Nations was not set up to be a reformatory," he asserted. "It was assumed that you would be good before you got in and not that being in would make you good."

Says Reds 'Disqualified'
"The Communist regime is disqualified by its consistent record of opposition to the principles of the United Nations," Dulles pointed out that the regime carried on war against the U. N. in Korea and continually denounced the international organization at the Geneva conference.

In Southeast Asia it promoted aggression," the secretary went on.

"All of these facts combine to make such a case that we do not believe that the requisite votes can be found to admit the Communist regime to represent China in the United Nations."

Dulles said he thought a two-thirds vote would be required to admit the Reds into the 60-nation general assembly and that the votes just weren't there. As for the 11-member security council, he said the U.S. would exercise its veto to bar them there.

DEATH FOR SPYING
WASHINGTON (AP) — The house voted Thursday to make peace-time spying punishable by death as it passed and sent to the senate a bill drastically stiffening the espionage and sabotage laws.

Ike Names Board To Probe Strike of Atom Plant Workers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government Thursday put in motion emergency procedures aimed at stopping a two-day strike at plants producing key atomic and hydrogen bomb materials.

President Eisenhower named a three-man board of inquiry to get the facts on the strike of 4,500 CIO union workers at Oak Ridge, Tenn., and Paducah, Ky. The President has said the strike could hurt this country's race for atomic supremacy.

Production is continuing at the two plants.

The inquiry board went right to work, taking testimony in closed-door sessions from representatives of the Atomic Energy commission and the company and unions involved in a wage dispute.

Promises Quick Report
Thomas Keith Glennan, Cleveland, president of Case Institute of Technology, was made inquiry board chairman and he promised that the board will have a full report on the situation quickly for President Eisenhower.

The board's report is necessary under the Taft-Hartley law before the President may take the next emergency strike step. This is an order to the justice department to apply in federal court for an 80-day, back-to-work injunction.

The government may apply for the injunction today, because chairman Lewis D. Strauss of the AEC has said the strike is affecting all of this country's facilities for separating U235 from uranium. He said the U235 is "essential to the production of atomic weapons, both fission and thermonuclear types."

Only the CIO Gas, Coke and Chemical Workers are on strike.

AFL Not Striking
An equal number of members of the AFL Atomic Trades and Labor council, although involved in the same wage dispute, have not struck two other Oak Ridge facilities, the National Laboratory, which is a research center, and the Y12 plant, a production and development plant.

The employer operating the four plants, for the AEC is the Carbide & Carbon Chemicals Co. It has refused to go beyond a six-cent hourly wage increase recommended by a government board several weeks ago but rejected by both unions.

The unions are asking for increases ranging from 19 to 21 cents an hour. Present hourly scales range from $1.58 to $2.40.

House Passes Bill Expanding Insurance Coverage for Jobless

WASHINGTON (AP) — The house Thursday voted 309-36 for a bill expanding unemployment insurance coverage, after beating down a Democratic drive to increase weekly benefits.

The bill, which now goes to the senate, would add about 4 million workers to the 36 million already covered by the federal-state jobless insurance program.

It adds about 2½ million federal government employees for the first time, and extends coverage to firms hiring four or more employees for 20 weeks in a year. The present law, enacted in 1935, covers firms hiring eight or more employees for 20 weeks.

President Eisenhower had requested coverage for six million more persons, including firms with one or more workers without regard to length of service. The ways and means committee trimmed down the President's proposal before bringing it to the house floor.

A determined band of Democrats denounced the house bill as inadequate and fought for amendments to increase payments to the jobless and extend payments for at least 26 weeks.

They were beaten on a roll call vote of 241-110. Supporting the move were 18 Republicans, 91 Democrats and 1 independent. Against were 173 Republicans and 68 Democrats.

Polio Workers Discuss Financial Emergency
CHICAGO (AP) — Polio workers from throughout the nation met Thursday to discuss plans for coping with a financial emergency which officials said threatens the work of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. Basil O'Connor, foundation president, told about 200 state and city representatives that a minimum of $20 million must be raised in the emergency March of Dimes this August to continue polio work without interruption. O'Connor said insufficient funds were collected in the last March of Dimes to carry on the program of polio prevention and patient aid.

International Harvester Urges 4-Day Week
CHICAGO (AP) — A four-day work week in lieu of layoffs was proposed Thursday by International Harvester Co. to unions at "a number" of the firm's farm equipment and truck manufacturing plants. The proposal brought a quick rejection from the independent Farm Equipment Workers, which represents many Harvester workers. A company spokesman said CIO-UAW representatives, which also represents a large number of Harvester workers, were meeting in Indianapolis to discuss the proposal. Current contracts between the unions and Harvester provide for a five-day week. The four-day week was proposed because of a continued drop in sales of farm equipment and trucks, the company spokesman said. He said the only alternative is a layoff of some workers at "a number" of plants.

Teachers Can Enter Politics Through Classroom: Porter

Teachers should encourage discussion of controversial political issues in the classroom, Prof. Kirk H. Porter of the SUI political science department told a group of educators Thursday at the Iowa Memorial Union.

It is the teacher's job to bring current controversial issues into light, to study all sides of the problem, and to draw conclusions, Porter said.

Speaking to members of the Phi Delta Kappa professional education fraternity on "The Teacher's Place in Politics," Porter pointed out three ways teachers can enter politics: by holding office, campaigning or in the classroom.

Office-Holding Impractical
Porter said that holding a political office was "utterly impractical" for teachers, who would have to assume a dual teacher-senator role.

"But there is one spot where it is not impractical; this spot is on the city council," he explained. "It is very proper for a teacher to hold a job on the city council if he wants to," Porter said, "but he should also respect the requests of authority."

If, for example, the president or superintendent of the institution requests teachers not to devote their time and energy to council work, such requests should be respected," Porter said. "However," he added, "I think it is a good idea for the educational branches to be represented on the council."

Campaigning Discouraged
The second way to enter politics is by campaigning, but Porter rejected this theory because teachers will lose their objectivity in supporting one candidate, party or cause.

The easiest and most likely place for a teacher to enter the political role is in classroom discussion. "Study and discuss the problems thoroughly from all sides," Porter urged. "Don't try to suppress your own personal opinions, but minimize them."

Interpreting the News

By J.M. ROBERTS JR. Associated Press Foreign Staff

Students of world affairs are accustomed to depend heavily on geopolitics, history, cultures and traditions and a lot of other intricate things for their evaluation of events.

Less ponderous but probably no less an important factor, may be a pound of meat of the kind bought by a British housewife without rationing restrictions.

Oddly enough, the end of meat rationing in Britain came when the United States was celebrating her own Independence Day, marking freedom from British rule. It was also a time when Britain was displaying greater independence of the U. S. than at any time in the past half-generation.

Doesn't Kowtow to U. S.
That is not to insinuate that Britain has kowtowed to the U. S. when Britain needed help and is now disposed to thumb her nose when she is pretty close to standing on her own feet. They aren't that kind of folks.

In fact, when the point is put directly, Britishers are inclined to deny the well known fact of resentment against the United States, parrying with a question: "How come there be, for a nation which has done so much for us?"

Nevertheless, it is less impolite to differ with a friend when he is not actually holding you up, and the British have taken more and more advantage of that since their economic recovery hit a good pace.

Has Money in Bank
Britain has pulled together the economic pattern of the silver bloc which she heads and now has money in the bank. She will go to the currency conference in Paris in a few days willing and able to work out a convertibility arrangement.

All Europe is of the belief that such an arrangement is possible now.

That means British considers herself in position to let the pound, chief measure of trade with the dollar area, find its own level.

She's a different Britain from what she was just two or three years ago. If her returning strength makes her feel that she is entitled to express herself a little more loudly, it need not be too disturbing to Americans who want their allies strong.

WSUI Completes Family Recordings

Forty Iowans from 15 towns have acting roles in a 13-program radio series, "How's the Family?," being produced at WSUI. Recordings, which began in March of this year, are scheduled for completion within the next week.

Family life attitudes and behavior problems are being dramatized in the programs, according to James Wehr, assistant program director for university radio station WSUI and director of the series. The recorded series will receive nationwide broadcast later this year, Wehr said.

Both child and adult actors and actresses have been used in the series, which is being produced under a $5,000 grant to WSUI from the Ford foundation's Fund for Adult Education.

Lee Eitzen, WSUI program director and producer of the programs, said that it is hoped the series "will entertainingly make a serious point: that our families are very important to us especially when we're young, and that in today's fast-moving world some ideas about the family ought to be changed and others ought to be defended against change."

New Kind of Operation Developed by Surgeon

SEATTLE (AP)—A new kind of operation for coronary heart disease has been developed by a surgeon at the University of Washington school of medicine.

The surgeon, Dr. Franklin R. Smith, connects a part of the left lung to the outside wall of the heart. Blood from the lung seeps into thousands of little arteries of the heart muscle, augmenting the supply which comes to the heart by way of the coronary arteries.

Role of Weak Communication In History Told by Brigrance

Communication weakness, particularly in business and professional leadership, was charged Thursday with altering the course of American history.

Addressing an SUI roundtable on speech communication, Prof. W. Norwood Brigrance declared that "business has been 'soaked' by good laws and bad laws because its leaders have been unskilled in communication." Until 1952, he said, the American Medical Association had actually helped its "socialized medicine adversaries by fighting it out rather than talking it out."

"No matter how good your performance, you will suffer if you can't explain your performance in a free society," Brigrance said. He noted that freedom and willingness to exchange facts and ideas are basic to our society and that the Modern American public can't be convinced as to "the value of performance without clear communication as to the what, the why and the how of it."

Brigrance is the author of 12 books on speech education and has served several government agencies as a consultant on speech problems. Now on the faculty of Washburn college in Indiana, he earned the first Ph. D. in speech to be awarded at SUI.

During the roundtable school administrators and speech teachers discussed the pros and cons of speech class instruction as compared to learning to speak in other classes. Roundtable members agreed that parents,

Stamp Honoring Explorers To Go On Sale July 29

Iowa City Postmaster Walter J. Barrow announced Thursday that a three-cent stamp commemorating the 150th anniversary of the Lewis and Clark expedition will go on sale July 29 at the Iowa City post office.

In Sioux City where Sgt. Charles Floyd, a member of the expedition died and was buried, the stamp will go on sale July 28. A monument has been erected at Sioux City in his memory.

The local post office will receive an initial order of 40,000 of the brown stamps Mr. Barrow said.

The stamp design shows the landing of Lewis and Clark on the banks of the Mississippi river preparing to go to the expedition's winter quarters.

Headquarters Moved For Iowa State Fair

DES MOINES (AP)—The operational headquarters for the centennial Iowa state fair was moved Thursday from the Statehouse to the fair grounds. The fair board office personnel will return to the statehouse after the close of the exposition.

Lloyd Cunningham, board secretary, said more than $10,000 is being spent in improvement and repair of exhibit buildings.

Twirler Ellen Moody To Go to Chicago

Baton honors don't come easy, even for a champion twirler like Ellen Moody, A2, Picayune, Miss., who was awarded top honors in the July 4 Hawkeye music festival at Cedar Rapids.

"There's a lot of work involved in becoming a winner," she indicated. "I practice two hours every day, trying to discover and perfect routines."

Miss Moody out-twirled four other girls in the senior division at the Hawkeye meet and gained the right to represent Iowa at the Chicagoland music festival August 21 at Soldier's field.

The 19-year-old majorette said she was surprised that she won, and added, "I was embarrassed, too. I was the only performer that was wearing regular clothes. The other contestants wore uniforms, but I had sent all mine home."

Winning contests is not new to Miss Moody. She was awarded a first place in drum majoring and twirling for four consecutive years at Mississippi state music contests. In 1932 she was named "Miss Majorette of Mississippi." She also appeared for two years as a special solo twirler with the Mississippi all-state band.

"I became interested in twirling while taking dancing lessons; the routine required some twirling. I was 11 then," Miss Moody commented.

Most students who attend SUI during the regular school year are acquainted with the 3-minute routine performed by Miss Moody at football and basketball games as specialty twirler for the SUI band.

Miss Moody, a journalism major, confided that her secret ambition is to write for the New Yorker magazine.

IOWA'S REPRESENTATIVE to the Chicagoland music festival at Soldier's Field next month will be Ellen Moody, SUI sophomore from Picayune, Miss. Miss Moody earned the right to represent Iowa by taking top honors in the senior division of girl baton twirlers at the July 4th Hawkeye music festival in Cedar Rapids. She is a specialty twirler with the SUI football band.

String Musicians To Play Wednesday

Four faculty members and a graduate student in SUI's music department will be heard in a concert of chamber music Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the main lounge of the Iowa Memorial Union.

Two string quartets will be performed by a group comprised of violinists Stuart Canin and James Niblock, violist Claude Carlson and cellist Hans Koebel. They will play Haydn's string quartet, opus 76, No. 4, and Bartok's second string quartet, opus 17.

The same group, together with clarinetist Thomas Ayres, will perform Mozart's "Quintet for Clarinet and Strings," k. 581.

Canin is head of violin instruction in the music department. Niblock is an East Lansing, Mich., graduate student. Koebel, Carlson and Ayres are professor and instructors respectively in the department.

The concert will be open to the public without admission charge. It will be broadcast over university radio station WSUI at 910 kilocycles.

Senate Group Votes For Grain Supports

WASHINGTON (AP) — The senate agriculture committee took another slap at the Eisenhower farm program late Thursday by ordering mandatory government price supports in oats, barley, rye and grain sorghums, all important livestock feed crops.

Chairman George D. Aiken (R-Vt.) said the 8-7 vote reversed a decision earlier in the day that rejected the proposal offered by Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) by a 9-6 margin. Aiken said the new proposal would require government supports on the four feed crops "at near the level of supports on corn."

The committee previously had lined up 8-7 in favor of extending 90 per cent of parity supports on wheat, cotton, corn, rice and peanuts for another year.

This would be contrary to the flexible price support program approved by the house under urging of President Eisenhower and Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson. The house bill calls for supports ranging from 82 1/2 to 90 per cent of parity.

Frosh Gym Coach Takes Tulsa Job

Clair W. Jennett, SUI freshman gymnastics coach and graduate assistant in the physical education department for the past two years, has accepted a position as a physical education instructor at Tulsa University, Tulsa, Oklahoma.

The appointment was announced by the TU board of trustees and Dr. C. I. Pontius, TU president.

Jennett, 26, will replace Col. J. B. Miller, long-time member of the physical education department at Tulsa, who is retiring. Robert M. Holmer, head of the department, reported.

The new TU instructor is completing work for his master's degree in physical education at SUI this summer. He was an officer with the U. S. army in Korea.

New York Beats Brooklyn, 11-2; Mays' 2 Homers Drive in 5 Runs

BROOKLYN (AP) — Willie Mays, the New York Giants spectacular "Say Hey Kid," drove in five runs with his 29th and 30th home runs Thursday as the Giants took their sixth straight from Brooklyn, 11-2, and stretched their National league lead to 6½ games.

The collapse of the defending champions was complete with the Giants knocking out Carl Erskine, the Dodger's ace, and slamming the ball to all corners of Ebbets field in a 16-hit attack. The Giants now lead the Brooks 9-3 for the year.

Mays was the big noise. He homered in the first inning with Don Mueller on base and then slammed No. 30 off Russ Meyer with two men on in the seventh.

Whitey Lockman hammered his 12th homer and Monte Irvin hit his 14th in the fourth.

Ruben Gomez pitched a seven-hitter, making his record 8-4 for the season.

The Giants never let the Dodgers up all afternoon after they scored three in the first inning on Lockman's double, Mueller's scoring single and Mays' 29th homer. The Brooks came back with two in their half of the first, both runs scoring when Lockman let Roy Campanella's grounder go through his legs for an error with two on.

The amazing Mays who says he isn't even thinking about breaking Babe Ruth's home run record of 60, reached the halfway mark three games ahead of the Bambino's pace. Mays hit his 30th in the Giants' 80th game, July 8 while Ruth hit his in game No. 83 on July 12, 1927.

'4-Minute Mile To Be Common,' Cunningham Says

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The four-minute mile, subject of worldwide awe right now, won't draw a ripple of comment within 20 years, a onetime king of the milers said Thursday.

Glenn Cunningham, the barrel-chested marvel of the 1930's, says within two decades "the four-minute mile will be as common as the 4:10 mile today."

Cunningham is in Minnesota to help the Easter Seal society prepare a new camp for crippled children.

He recalled that in 1938, when he predicted the mile could be run well under four minutes, "people thought I was crazy." Cunningham's legs were burned so badly doctors believed he would never walk again.

Detroit Whips Chicago, 2-0

By The Associated Press Steve Gromek allowed the White Sox only seven hits Thursday in winning his 10th game against eight losses.

Gromek's solid pitching dropped Chicago seven full games behind the league-leading Cleveland Indians.

Starting today, the White Sox entertain the Indians in a vital four-game series in Comiskey park. Last weekend Cleveland dealt the Chicagoans four staggering setbacks in succession.

The Tigers, who finally beat the White Sox in Briggs stadium this season after seven straight losses, scored an unearned run on Ray Boone's single and two errors in the second inning. They clinched the game in the sixth on a single by Jim Delsing and Boone's double to left.

Sandy Consuegra, 33-year-old Cuban, suffered his third loss against 10 wins.

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Mayor Joseph S. Clark Jr. Thursday asked Philadelphia area businessmen to "pick up the ball" and help keep the American league baseball Athletics in Philadelphia through a "community chest kind of drive."

Clark threw cold water on reports the city might provide some form of subsidy to pull the Athletics out of its financial mire.

He said he is "not interested in creeping socialism" and added that the city is not going to put up any money to keep the A's in Philadelphia.

The mayor addressed some 75 business and civic leaders at a meeting he called last week after the A's management told him the club must draw another $200,000 paid admissions this season or give up the franchise.

Following the meeting, the club received pledges of $55,000 in tickets.

NEW YORK (AP)—Rotund Freddie Fitzsimmons, who off and on during the past 3 years has been pulling on and off a uniform in service of the New York Giants, says this may be the greatest of all Polo grounds teams.

"This bunch reminds me more of Bill Terry's 1933 club than any I've seen, and I've always rated that one as the tops," said the well-fell Hoosier, a serviceable righthanded pitcher for more than two decades and present mound coach for Leo Durocher.

"But I figure this team has got more power. Any man in the lineup can break up the ball game. That's the difference."

Around Since 1920 Fitzsimmons' career, begun in Muskegon, Mich., in 1920, spans the Giant eras of John McGraw, Terry, Mel Ott and Durocher.

"I can't exactly put my finger on what it is that makes this present team click," the portly coach said. "It's an intangible something—but whatever it is we had the same thing back in 1933."

"It's not a team of individual stars. Willie Mays is a spark-plug—just as Ott was—a sort of inspiration, but the fellows keep him pretty well in line by kidding him. He won't get the big head."

Great in 1933 The 1933 Giants were one of the memorable teams of baseball who were likened to the 1914 "miracle Braves" by the late John A. Heydler, league president. They won the pennant and then defeated Washington in the World Series.

Once in midseason the team won a doubleheader from the Cards, 1-0, in 18 innings and 1-0 in nine. Its spirit was typified by shortstop Johnny Ryan who got off his sick bed, wired the team, "They can't beat us. En route. J. C. Ryan," then caught a train to St. Louis.

"This team never thought it could be beaten—never for a second," recalled Fitzsimmons. "Our present bunch has caught some of that same spirit."

Dallas Oilmen Want Major League Ball; Campaign for Cash

DALLAS (AP) — A campaign was launched Thursday to raise $5 million with which to bring a major league franchise to Dallas.

R. W. Burnett, president of the Dallas club of the Texas league, who will be one of the men contributing a half million dollars to the enterprise, said he anticipated that the campaign to raise the money would be completed by weekend.

Burnett and E. E. (Buddy) Fogelson, like Burnett a Dallas oilman, met Thursday afternoon and mapped the plan under which 10 persons will be asked to purchase a half million dollars each in stock.

The remaining $2 million, which they estimated will be necessary to bring the franchise here and enlarge the present Texas league park, will be obtained from the general public.

Burnett said, however, they would go ahead and obtain the franchise as soon as the $5 million is obtained and would not wait to raise the remainder.

He said that major league franchises were available, but did not name them.

Cards Tip Reds, 2-1; Haddix Wins 13th of Season

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals bunched four singles in the second inning Thursday night to defeat Cincinnati, 2-1, and gain a tie with the Redlegs for fifth place in the National league as Harvey Haddix chalked up his 13th victory.

Haddix, in his first start since being hit on the leg by a batted ball in Milwaukee a week ago, needed help from Gerry Staley in the final two innings when his injured leg tired. He has lost four.

Indians Defeat Orioles; 4-1; Bob Feller Earns 6th Win

CLEVELAND (AP)—Jim Hegan and Wally Westlake hit home runs and Bob Feller gave up only seven hits Thursday as the Cleveland Indians beat Baltimore's Orioles, 4-1 and moved four games ahead in the American league race.

Hegan, collecting Cleveland's first hit from pitcher Lou Kretlow, homered in the third inning.

Feller, winning his sixth straight victory against a single defeat, struck out six and was in trouble only in the seventh when Baltimore got its only run.

The victory gave the Indians a sweep of a three-game series and pushed them another half-game ahead of the idle second-place New York Yankees.

Paroled To Play Ball, Injury Returns Him

McALESTER, Okla. (AP)—Billy Joe Moore, 24-year-old Oklahoma state penitentiary baseball star, returned "home" Thursday, beaten by an injured knee in his attempt to make good in professional baseball.

Moore left the prison June 2 on a 60-day leave of absence granted by the pardon and parole board after he was signed to play first base with the Grand Forks, N. D., club in the class C Northern league. He got the $250-a-month contract through the efforts of New York Yankee scout Tom Greenwade.

Moore had been in the prison since 1948 for a 141 total, five under regulation figures for the par 73, 6,837-yard Royal Birkdale Seaside course.

DeMaret, colorful pro from Kiamesha Lake, N. Y., former American PGA champion, also turned in subpar 72's to wind up with 144's and a five-way tie for seventh in this wide open tournament.

Three other Americans, amateur Frank Stranahan of Toledo, Ohio, and veteran pro Al Watrous, Birmingham, Mich., and Gene Sarazen, Germantown, N. Y., also qualified for Friday's final 36-hole round.

Bobby Locke, three-time winner of the open and the pretourney favorite, was in the contention with a 145 on 74-71.

Cub Rookie Takes 1st Major Win, Tips Braves, 9-8

CHICAGO (AP)—Randy Jackson's pinch single with two out in the 14th inning scored Gene Baker with the winning run as the Chicago Cubs snapped a five-game losing streak with a 9-8 victory over Milwaukee Thursday.

A big weekday crowd of 21,203 was thrilled by five homers—three by the Cubs and two by the Braves.

Baker walked with two out in the Cub 14th and sped to third on Dee Fondy's single. Then Jackson connected to give rookie Bill Tremel his first major league victory.
