FREAR TO RESIGN NEXT?

Attorney-General Leaves Public Life To Practice Law—Governor Intimates He Will Re-enter Private Life Shortly After Wilson Is Inaugurated—Early Retirement Indicated.

Attorney General Alex. Lindsay tendered his resignation to Governor Frear this morning, to take effect Jan. 1. It has been accepted. Following the spread of this news through administration circles, the Governor, in answer to a direct query, intimated that his resignation to the incoming Democratic president may be expected coincident with or shortly after the inauguration of Woodrow Wilson.

While Judge Lindsay's resignation at this time was unexpected generally, he said this morning that he had been contemplating the step for the last six months, and that the Governor and he had discussed it at various times during the last three or four months. Lindsay returns to the practice of law and has already selected his office.

Judge Lindsay has been serving the Territory as attorney general since Feb. 1, 1910, nearly three years. Neither he nor the Governor will discuss the possibility of a successor, the executive merely saying that he has no one in mind for the job at present. The present deputies in the office, Arthur G. Smith and Leslie Scott, will continue serving however until a new head of the department is appointed. Should the appointment be left to another Governor it is considered likely that Scott will be retained, as he is a Democrat of the old Virginia school, acquiring his political views in the same manner as he did his religion.

Colleges May Reach Working Agreement For The Public Good

A suggestion of long standing, that the colleges of Oahu and Hawaii come to a working agreement, whereby the courses taught in each institution shall be so arranged as to enable each to develop along lines originally laid down for it, has come to the fore once more, since the resignation of President Gilmore of the College of Hawaii, and is being seriously considered by the Boards in control of the two institutions.

Terms of The Agreement Between the Turks And Allies not yet Made Public But Vienna Hears Good News From Authentic Sources -- Diplomats Believe That Danger of General European War Will be Minimized By Action of The Two Rival Powers

VIENNA, Austria, Nov. 30. According to information that reached here through official channels this morning, the treaty of peace between Turkey and the Balkan Allies, which the world has been looking for for days, will be formally signed Monday morning, unless something unforeseen at present turns up during the remaining negotiations.

RESUME BOMBARDMENT

RIEKA, Nov. 30.—The Montenegrins today, began again their bombardment of the fortress at Scutari, having been reinforced by heavy artillery and siege guns. King Nicholas himself is directing the efforts of his gunners.

THINK WAR AVERTED

LONDON, Nov. 30.—The diplomats here declare today that they believe that if the treaty of peace between the Turks and the allies is signed Monday as dispatches from Vienna indicate, the danger of a general European war will be averted. It is said that pressure will be brought to bear upon Austria-Hungary and Serbia in an effort to get both sides to yield to a compromise.

Brown Hurries To London To Start Immigrants Here

One and possibly two immigrant steamers will be rushed from Europe to Hawaii in the next three months, bringing Spanish and Portuguese labor here, according to the present plans of the board of immigration. After a delay of several days, the board has succeeded in getting in touch with Raymond C. Brown, European agent, by cable, and has instructed him to hurry to London and charter a vessel.

SHOWS HOW EVEN LUAUS CAN FAIL TO BRING IN THE VOTES

Illustrating how the bet laid plans gang aft a-glee, and that even luaus provided by G. O. P. pocketbooks did not always catch votes at the 1st campaign is the story that is being told of the investigation conducted by the Democratic pacification committee that visited the Koolauloa district Thanksgiving day. The story also shows the "rancher the traitor," and how vaulting ambition o'er leaps itself, also a lot of other widely known and familiar quotations.

Army's Team Crumples Under Fierce Assault Of The Middies And The Scoring Behind In The Last Period Of Brilliant Game—Annapolis Cadets Make Five Abortive Attempts To Gain Ground Before They Finally Put The Pigskin Over The Line

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., November 30.—Navy 6, Army 0. Such was the unexpected score at the end of the hard-battled, brilliant game between the West Pointers and the Annapolis cadets this afternoon, at Franklin Field. All the scoring was done in the last period of the game, a period that brought the crowds of spectators to their feet time and time again as the balance swung now this way, now that.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., November 30.—Captain Rhodes, back at his quarterback position after being out of the game on account of injuries played a wonderful game today. Not only did he kick a goal from placement, but his generalship was superb, and time and again he steadied his team under the grueling of the fierce Army line-bucking, and held the Army backs until the West Pointers were forced to kick. Capt. Devore of West Point and Capt. Rhodes of the Middies were two of the day's brightest stars.

'Bridgie' Webber Flees N.Y.

NEW YORK, November 30.—Fearing the wrath of the "gangsters" whose secrets he revealed by his confession to the district attorney Bridgie Webber, go-between for the police and gamblers, whose testimony did so much to convict the slayers of Herman Rosenthal, has fled from the city. He sailed on a Ward liner for Havana this morning.

Lucille Cameron Disappears

CHICAGO, Ill., November 30.—Lucille Cameron, the girl whose mother brought the first charges that led to the arrest and indictment of Jack Johnson, the pugilist, on accusations of being a "white slave," has disappeared from her home in Milwaukee again. Her mother believes that she has rejoined Johnson, at liberty on bail, and has given up all hope of rescuing her daughter.

Establishes Football "Course"

MADISON, WIS., NOVEMBER 30.—The University of Wisconsin has established a "football course." The new study will be on the technique, including general principles, the theory of offense and defense, team play, and other matters pertaining to the game. The idea is to fit students for positions as coaches, and to develop a better set of rules.

CITY HALL CLERK PURSUED BY WOMAN

A game of tag, in which a fragile Chinese woman strove to make a junior city hall clerk "it" caused a lot of diversion to many onlookers at Fort and Merchant streets this morning. HUGHES COMPANY VERSATILE AND REALLY FUNNY

Merrymakers Wake Up Even Tired After-Thanksgiving Audience

"Bob" Hughes has brought a good bunch with him this time!

That was the friendly verdict of a big crowd that attended the opening performance last night of the Hughes Musical Comedy Company at the Liberty Theater. There were minor notes of dissatisfaction with some parts of the show, and minor criticism that at "popular prices" which in Honolulu means nothing over fifty cents—the show would go better, but the verdict of the big majority of those who saw the company in its debut is that it will "go" in Honolulu.

It took the Hughes company a whole act last night really to get their show over the footlights. In the first place, the crowd was a typical after-Thanksgiving crowd, with a big turkey dinner of the night before still leaving dyspeptic reminiscences with half of the audience, the other half sleepy from late hours. It was "dead bunch," to use the expressive language that typifies the show. A chorus of milkmaid and by-heck house-play in the first act got some faint applause from friends of the victims. It didn't look as if there were a smile or a real hearty laugh in the house.

BERT LA BLANC
Hebrew comedian with Hughes
Musical Comedy Company

Then along came Dave Nowlin and sang a song to be memorably known as "Buckwheat Cakes." Mr. Nowlin hitherto had appeared to be a handsome elderly gentleman correctly attired for the most part in evening clothes and a high hat. Suddenly he transformed himself into a darky singer that brought back to memory the days of everybody from George Primrose to Billy Kersans. It was a song about buckwheat cakes, and he sang it with an appetizing unction that aroused even the jaded palates of the Thanksgiving grouches. You could fairly taste the cakes and "lasses that an imaginary Rastus was implored to pass along.

That woke up the sleepers. It also slipped the show up to the fourth speed and thereafter it was a complete reversal of form. Not that Mr. Nowlin's fellow-conspirators on the stage hadn't done their part—it was simply that it took time for the tired audience to catch the spirit of the thing, and Mr. Nowlin had "put it over" at the psychological moment.

"Spedelbunder's Dream," the bill in which the company made its debut, is a cross between all the rural comedies you have ever seen and all the musical comedies you have ever seen. And some you haven't. It concerns "Malaria Center," which is some place outside New York, and real estate operations thereat. Spedelbunder, owner of the farm, falls asleep and dreams that a great city has sprung up in his potato patches and cornfields. When he awakes, the skyscrapers vanish and he finds himself sitting under his old oak tree with his irate wife sailing into him. The rural settings allow milkmaids and farm-hands to stroll around en masse, while the city scene gives the open-face clothes a chance to work.

Bert La Blanc is the only one of the former Hughes company back again, and he is the same funny Jew. The Dutch comedian is Frank Vack, who takes the part of Spedelbunder. Vack is better as a rough-and-ready comedian than the Dutchman here with the Hughes aggregation before, and he is refreshingly free from his predecessor's taste for coarseness, with the exception of one tiresome scene where he loses his hat repeatedly to the accompaniment of epithets that are not funny even when reiterated some twenty times.

The musical things about this company is that almost every member is strong on specialties. Carlton Chase, the near-tenor, sings more than a little and carries himself with the ultra George Cohan air that is the popular idea of Broadway youth. He shows signs of dancing but never quite does it. Miss Teddy Martin is clever and cute in urchin make-up. Harry Burgess carried a small "rube" part well, Miss Anna Clarke was a farmer's scolding wife to the queen's taste and Miss Caroline Phillips had an engaging role that was well done. Miss Eugenie Le Blanc is a real acquisition to the ranks of merry-makers. Her role last night was that of Amanda Skaggs, help at the farm, a sort of Sis Hopkins part. Her real hit, however, was in a dancing medley toward the close of the show. She step-dances with untiring industry and much effect and deserved all the bounteous applause she received.

Miss Gertrude St. Clair, who appeared as Mazie Grace, a New York widow, is possessed of a good mezzo-soprano voice. The biggest specialty feature last night was a grand opera burlesque by Mr. Nowlin and Miss St. Clair. Nowlin is a versatile chap, and underneath all his exaggerated minstrel-like performance there is genuine humor and a more than ordinary voice. The grand opera burlesque gave the audience ten minutes of almost continuous laughter.

The chorus is small, too small, in fact, but the seven lassies who made it up, dance well and can stand criticism on the ground of anatomical pulchritude. The scenery is new and bright, carrying out the promises of the advertising, and "Bob" Hughes is always to be relied on as a musical director. He was given a pat of applause on his appearance last night.

The next change of program is Monday night, December 2, when "The Grafters" will be put on.

RECITAL MONDAY EVENING WILL BE UNIQUE

It is a rare occurrence when two people as talented as Mrs. Howard and Mr. Laraway come together in one evening and give a recital as diversified in its program as will be heard on Monday evening at the Young Hotel Pavilion. A. A. rule a similar entertainment possesses only one feature—music, singing or reading. The Howard-Laraway recital, depart from the usual custom, however, and combines all three. Piano solos, readings, and songs alternate with each other, giving the audience a variety instead of one continual form of entertainment.

Mrs. Howard, in relating her experiences in Europe, speaks of an interesting incident of her student days at Lousanne, which is most characteristic of her, in that it shows her individuality and tenacity of purpose. The incomparable Sarasate was announced to give a recital which all musical Lousanne had resolved to attend. Finding all the tickets sold and no standing room Mrs. Howard with another student called on Sarasate to see what could be done. The violinist who was out at last returned with his accompanist and singer and a few intimate friends. Mrs. Howard went forward and after introducing herself explained the tragic situation to the violinist. The composer, however, was not in the mood to listen to troubles and waved her aside unceremoniously. Immediately he relented and sent his accompanist to make arrangements. A few minutes later the two young Lousanne students were seated comfortably at the side of the stage; and in the end won the sympathetic smiles of the violinist who seemed to consider it quite an amusing incident.

Mr. Laraway in reading Shakespeare, understands his work thoroughly as can be seen in his conversation. He says:

"In dramatic reading, the reader puts before his audience the passions in life experienced by the characters. He may do this in several ways, but in accordance with tradition he must use much judgment in not overstepping the bounds of convention established by custom. The great actors of the past have laid the paths whereby Shakespeare is read; it is traditional and must be preserved. In reading the great dagger scene from Macbeth, Mr. Laraway uses the interpretation of Henry Irving, also of Mr. E. H. Southern. It is a final law from which there is no appeal and the true artist will recognize the greatness of the past masters in that their work still holds the stage with the great author."

Mr. Laraway spent the whole of one afternoon with Mr. E. H. Southern and Miss Julia Marlow in talking over Shakespeare.

Although he follows the interpretation of Mr. Southern to a great extent nevertheless, Mr. Laraway has his own original and artistic method of reading.

Following is the program for Monday evening:

- PART I.
1. Allegro Moderato—Italian Concerto Bach

COMING OF MAUD POWELL UNUSUAL MUSICAL EVENT

Who that knows anything of music does not know of Maud Powell?—that marvelous artist—the greatest American violinist. What a world of genius emanates from her soul. Steadily

MAUD POWELL
Premier American Violinist

As the years have mellowed, ripened, broadened the art of this remarkably gifted player. Long ago she became recognized as the greatest among women violinists. Today what critic will venture to rank any man above her? Whether she plays the master pieces of the seventeenth century or the most exacting works of the modern masters, Madame Powell is ever the genuine artist who approaches her task with a sincerity of purpose worthy of the highest admiration. Her playing is marked by the virility of a man and all of the tender and delicate feeling and sentiment of a woman, making her place unique among the great virtuosos of the world. Honolulu music lovers will have the opportunity of hearing Madame Powell during the latter part of December when she will appear at the Hawaiian Opera House. She will give two concerts between Christmas and New Year's, the dates to be announced later. Miss Powell will arrive from the coast during Christmas week.

W. G. SMITH'S WORK STIRRING UP INTEREST

The Edmonton (Canada) Journal of November 16, devotes considerable space to the report of a stereopticon lecture on Hawaii which was given in that city by Walter G. Smith on November 15. The article is, in part, as follows:

"Several hundred people attended the cinematograph and lantern lectures by Walter G. Smith in the Methodist Church last evening. The lecture was under the auspices of the Men's Association connected with that body. Mr. Smith is speaking on behalf of the Hawaiian commercial bodies, who desire that more should be known of that delightful winter playground. The object of Mr. Smith's mission here has nothing to do with selling land or getting home-seekers, but it is designed to encourage the use of Hawaii as a convenient winter resort. Mr. Smith spoke of Hawaii as the most beautiful islands in the Pacific. "Mr. Smith next visits Saskatoon, Winnipeg, other Canadian cities, and the States, but at no one place will he receive more applause than he did here in the city of Edmonton."

TRIP OF PICKED TEAM TO MAUI MAIN EVENT IN SCOUT CIRCLES

The main event in the Scout circles of this week is the trip of the picked patrol of scouts which has been on Wednesday morning under the command of Scout Commissioner James A. Wilder for a trip to Maui for the purpose of demonstrating scout activities on that island.

The whole of the next morning was taken up with scout drills and stunts in the courtyard and in the afternoon the boys were the guests at a real old-fashioned luau. Before leaving Lahaina the patrol was presented with a contribution from the citizens of the old capital.

Catholic Boy Scouts Outing

Early Thanksgiving morning the three patrols of Catholic Boy Scouts under the command of Father Reginald, Captain James Thompson and A. V. Keoho assembled at their headquarters at the Catholic Mission.

Before pulling away from the boat landing, Father Reginald proposed three cheers for Admiral Cowles for the signal favor accorded the scouts in the use of his private launch.

Throughout the trip the boys enjoyed the many interesting sights; the day being clear and warm and the water smooth all the way down north of the boys were sick. Much useful data was collected which will materially assist the scouts when visiting Pearl Harbor again in the future.

After a short rest, lunch was prepared under the direction of the Scoutmasters; the patrol leaders being detailed to do the necessary work in the kitchen.

Sunday afternoon, the scouts will be called out to take part in the dedication of the Sacred Heart Statue at the Convent at Kaimuki.

SCOUT NOTES

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—A gathering of Boy Scout leaders and workers will be held at the National Headquarters of the Boy Scouts of America in the Fifth Avenue Building tomorrow and Wednesday.

These conferences, made necessary by the rush of boys to join scout patrols and to enjoy the innumerable advantages of scouting, deal with the method of selecting scoutmasters for the boy, and with the question of developing the scout organizations in the different cities and towns.

A Clever Scout

Frank Beard, 14 years old, member of the Beaver Patrol of the Boy Scouts of America in Burlington, Iowa, is not only one of the first, but also one of the youngest boys in his state to obtain the distinction of first class scout.

Boy Scout Band Leader

Charles Tuma, Jr., 12 years old, member of the West Park Patrol, Boy Scouts of America, in Chicago, is one of the youngest and youngest band conductors in the United States. He not only has organized a band among his troop of Boy Scouts, but he has been conductor of a band of adult musicians. His boy scout band is unusually clever. Charles has charge of the band in stunts ranging from 12 to 18 years.

Boy Scout Gardeners

Boy Scouts of Clarence, Mo., whose scoutmaster is Charles O. Ransford, planted two flower beds this summer. The larger bed, he writes contained cannas, geraniums and foliage plants, the smaller was the scout lodge in design with white and red crushed stone bordered with foliage plants.

New Financial Secretary for Boy Scouts of America

Berkeley G. Tober, who for two years has been Financial Secretary of the Society for Organizing Charity in Philadelphia, Pa., has become Financial Secretary of the Boy Scouts of America. His selection for the position by the leaders of the Boy Scouts of America is preliminary to a big financial campaign that will be carried on throughout the country to collect money to aid both the National Headquarters of the Boy Scouts of America and the organizations in the different towns which supervise the activities of the boy scouts.

WILSON A WISE DOCTOR FOR ILLS OF BODY POLITIC

Indicative of the way in which the eastern business men are regarding the election of Woodrow Wilson is the following letter from F. K. Anderson to his father, Dr. R. W. Anderson.

"The great trouble is that every condition that is named as a cause of trouble can truly be said to have a hearing on the case and almost every remedy suggested would do some good."

lows that have all the money. These big guys with all the big business of the country have got the right idea, but they don't loosen up enough. I'll get 'em to loosen up, but don't stop their game. We'll referee, that's all."

"We little fellows in business see no hope whatever in legalizing and regulating the existence of complete monopolies. It simply means the opportunity for the gift of more 'special privileges' and the finding of more 'exceptions to the law' by the government or governing individuals in favor of those who, in the opinion of our small men, tarreten to get a strangle hold on every little branch and twig of business."

"The tariff, the manipulation of stocks and bonds to produce fictitious valuations, as Tom Lawson claims in Everybody's Magazine, is undoubtedly an economic outrage; the tremendous increase in population must have its effect on the way we are treating our natural resources is showing in the cost of living. Moreover, our tastes and desires have changed; we insist on things better and so on there's enough reason that have tended to produce a mixed up condition of economic life to fill a book."

LIPTON FINDS COAST WATERS YACHTING IDEAL

By ERNEST N. SMITH

San Francisco, Nov. 21. San Francisco, since she officially began to plan to play host to the world...

He came out to the Coast in response to an invitation from the Exposition officials to confer with them...

He hadn't been here two days, and looked the waters over, and learned of conditions before he told the yachtsmen...

As I heard that announcement that brought every diner to his feet cheering I couldn't help wondering whether there was a millionaire in the Hawaiian Islands...

But no answer came—from Honolulu—but it is not too late yet.

The very next day at a luncheon a challenge was read from Thos. L. Miller of San Francisco...

Where, oh where is that Honolulu boat? Sir Thomas was given the surprise of his life—he confessed it—at the quickness with which his challenge was answered.

It wasn't all beer and skittles, or perhaps I should say tea and tea for Lipton, but he got right down to business with the Exposition officials...

Just as soon as Lipton's visit to San Francisco was assured word was sent out of a meeting of representatives of yacht clubs all over the country.

"I will give a trophy—a valuable trophy—to the San Francisco Yacht Club, to be held originally by the city, competed for by all the world every year, and to be defended by boats built in San Francisco.

What a pleasure to let the imagination play with such an idea. It is too bad that Lipton couldn't visit Honolulu and see what an ideal yachting world he has missed.

Since the above was written in San Francisco, sportsmen of the islands have launched the movement to enter a yacht in the big Exposition regatta.

GETTING READY TO OUST G. O. P. POSTMASTERS

The postoffice department is even now beginning to plan for filling the places of the presidential postmasters in the Territory with good Democrats...

The two big postoffices in the Territory worth while to the incumbents are, of course, Honolulu and Hilo. Postmaster Joseph G. Pratt was renominated as postmaster at Honolulu, February 25, 1910, which is less than two years ago.

The four year term of Postmaster George Desha at Hilo will expire April 1, 1913, about a month after the new Democratic administration comes in.

John N. S. Williams, Kahulu, Maui, April 1, 1913. A. J. Stillman, Kohala, Hawaii, February 18, 1913.

Charles A. De Cew, Waialua, Oahu, February 18, 1913. Moses T. Lyons, Wailuku, Maui, December 16, 1912.

Whether the department will name postmasters at Waikolu, Kohala and Waialua, at all three which the four year terms will expire before the new administration begins, is yet to be demonstrated.

There are several desirable federal offices at Honolulu and in Hawaii, including the collector of customs, the collector of internal revenue, both of which are comparative recent appointments...

ALL-CHINESE ARE GOING TO PLAY IN CUBA

Arrangements Just Made to Include Trip to Havana at the Eastern End of the 1913 Schedule—Comparisons Interesting

A chance to compare the baseball of Hawaii with the brand of ball put up in Cuba, will be one of the interesting features of next season. Word has just been received from Nat C. Strong, booking agent of the All-Chinese team, that he has included a trip to Havana in the itinerary of the local team, and that already the announcement of the coming of a Chinese aggregation of ball tossers has caused a stir in the West Indian republic.

Cuba has been baseball mad for some years past, and the result has been the development of some exceptionally good players. The Cuban all-star aggregation won the majority of games from the champion Athletics a couple of years ago, although by the time that "Comie Mack's" men landed on Cuban soil they were quite a different crowd from the team that had just won a world's championship. The Cuban trip of the local boys will probably not take place until the latter part of the season.

The All-Chinese team are figuring on arriving in California next year about the end of March. From then on they will play their way across the continent, their schedule including games with all the principal college teams in the country, and many of the best semi-pro aggregations. The long lay-offs between games, and extended railroad jumps, which at up profits last season, will be eliminated this year by systematic booking and routing, and the team looks for a season of first class ball, which should be better than an even break

Promoters Are Trying To Tempt Frank Gotch Out Of Retirement

Soldiers Will Lose Real Goat If Chinese Win Sunday's Game

Said goat being the mascot of the Lei-lehua aggregation, The Thanksgiving Day game was a walk over for the Chinese, in spite of the earnest beratings of the doomed quadruped.

Sergeant Guyon, manager of the post team, did not feel like making any wild predictions after the two disastrous defeats at the hands of the Chinese youngsters, but he promised to give the sportsmanlike bunch captained by A. Akana the time of their lives, as the few thousand soldiers are very anxious to take a glimpse of the mask himself.

WHIFFS FROM THE OLD SPORT BIKE BY Redington

Willie Ritchie's acquisition of the lightweight title Thanksgiving Day, although a big surprise to the rank and file of the Honolulu sporting fraternity, has a peculiar interest for a number of ring followers here who have never even seen Ritchie in action. For Ritchie had a first class press agent in the Islands, even before his name was being printed in mainland papers as a fighter of special merit.

Willie's booster in this locality was that versatile gentleman, Mr. Benjamin Brunns, better known herabouts as "Brother Benjamin," and Ben certainly handed it out in large, strong doses. Ritchie is a sort of protege of his, and even before the fight with Welsh in Los Angeles, when the Frieco lad was pitchedforked into the ring on three days notice to substitute for the stricken Wolgast, Brunns was touting him to friends here as about the niftiest thing in the lightweight line.

Before he left Honolulu early in the year, Brunns told me that if Ritchie could keep down his weight he was sure to become lightweight champion in the near future. That was before the four round affair with Wolgast on Decoration Day, and after that mill Brunns wrote several letters to friends here, telling them just how good Ritchie was, and what he had done to Ad in the brief space of time he had him inside the ropes.

MOTOR CAR GOSPIP

TWO CARLOADS OF MACHINERY FOR KERSHNER'S IS SENSATION

Two carloads of machinery, consigned to the Kershner Vulcanizing Co. were the cause of much excitement and incidentally a little amusement while being hauled by Alakea street the other morning.

The machinery, which is to be installed in Kershner's fast-growing shop, came in pieces crated up and one little insignificant-looking piece, which afterwards turned out to be the most important, as it was the principal wing to the new re-tying machine, started the excitement.

It slid off the dray and as the second wagon was following it closely the team of horses of the latter took exception to the public highway being so treated and immediately reared and bolted for the store on Alakea street where Kaho and his colleagues held forth prior to the Republican convention.

The frightened driver yanked the reins and uttered unspeakable epithets to the horses and the other driver for his wanton neglect as he hurried, only in language a la Kakaako.

The horses being pacified, an argument arose between the drivers as to who should pick up the piece of machinery that caused all the excitement. The repartee was fast and heavy for awhile, but the driver of the second dray insisted that he did his share by preventing the fractious horses from connecting with the large plate glass window in the before-mentioned store.

that his flow of eloquence was falling on deaf ears, wiped his perspiring brow, sign on his hands, and with the assistance of his helper had the machinery lifted back into the dray, and giving the second driver a defiant look started up the street.

It was amusing to see the second driver keep his dray over fifty feet behind the first; he evidently didn't want a repetition of the affair.

ANOTHER HUP ROUND WORLD

Joseph R. Drake, globe trotter, left Detroit a few days ago for a second comprehensive tour of the world in a Hippomobile. He will shoot big game in India, cast for rainbow trout in the streams of New Zealand and incidentally renew his acquaintance with Dr. Sun Yat Sen, Aguinaldo, the Sultan of Sulu and other notables of the Orient.

Drake is the treasurer of the Hup Motor Car Company, and naturally his trip will have a business object as well as one of pleasure. One of his objects will be to cement the friendly feeling toward the Hippomobile gained on his former trip and to study the special conditions that American manufacturers have to contend with in the struggle for foreign trade.

On the former trip around the world, which started in November, 1910, and ended in January of the present year, Drake's itinerary took the western route across the continent, winding up in a spectacular dash through the snow from New York to Detroit. On the present trip Drake will sail from New York to London, remaining in England long enough to take in the British National Automobile Show at the Olympia. Then he will tour the principal cities of Europe and then sail for India. Next his route will take a course through China, Japan and the Philippines, finally crossing through into Australia and New Zealand—practically a re-

ADJUSTABLE REAR SEAT IS AUTO NOVELTY

An adjustable rear seat is the motorcar novelty this fall. It is probably the greatest single advance toward increased comfort that could have been made; for however easy riding a car may be, the passenger's enjoyment depends a great deal on his sitting position. And that is a matter of leg-room and seat-angle.

The ordinary type of seat is built with the "average person" in mind. Just who this average person is, few people have ever been able to tell; but it is in the experience of nearly everybody that what fits, or suits, the "average person" won't do so well for ordinary mortals.

In designing their new car which they intend for an epoch maker—the Stevens-Duryea engineers gave special attention to ease, and J. Frank Duryea got the idea of the adjustable rear seat into his mind. You pick out one particular chair in a room because it "rests your back most," or "fits your legs best."

What could add more to your enjoyment of motoring, when you haven't the same opportunity to "set up and move around," than a seat you could adjust in whatever position you liked best? A seat you could make into any kind of a chair, as it were, without even getting up out of it—just by turning a little wheel handle, down out of the way but within arm's reach!

The result of Duryea's ingenuity is a feature of the new C-Six Stevens-Duryea, which has just made its appearance. It is one of the features which make builders point to the C-Six as the easiest-riding car ever produced. It is another example of Duryea's "pioneering," for it's the first thing of the kind. In the opinion of motor car experts, it's the most important automobile novelty for a long time.

verse of the route taken on his first voyage.

In addition to his own touring car, Drake will carry across the ocean with him a polished chassis for the London show.

MOTOR MAGNATE CIVIC LEADER

Ordinarily the task of directing an industrial organization that employs 6000 men and that turns out 15,000 high-grade motor cars in one year would be sufficient to occupy one man's energies, yet Henry M. Leland, advisory manager of the Cadillac Motor Car Company, Detroit, finds time to take a very active part in civic affairs. Mr. Leland has always been keenly interested in municipal government and the conduct of a city's business. His most recent activities in this direction were the formation of the Detroit Civic League, League and Voters' Information Bureau, of which he is president. The league's purpose is to present to the city's officials and agencies information on civic matters and to advise them on the best way to handle them. It is the belief of the league that the automobile is the best of all tools for this purpose.

Detroit, as every one knows, was the first city to have a motor car. The first car in which it is worth the name. The year of the Detroit Motor Car Show, when Mr. Leland is promoting it, is a very important one for the city. It is the first time that the city has had a motor car show.

The motor car is a very important part of the city's life. It is the best of all tools for this purpose. It is the first time that the city has had a motor car show. It is the first time that the city has had a motor car show.

Frankfort substations. The machine is driven by a small electric motor, it has two receivers, which can be operated by one official. Mail matter is placed in piles on the receivers, where it is gathered up by an endless chain and carried into the machine. The machine contains four magazines holding strips of stamps, which are torn off, moistened, and pasted on mail matter, which then passes on to a stamp which cancels the postage stamp. The machine can handle 300 to 400 pieces of mail matter per minute. A register attached to the machine counts the number of pieces franked. Only similar matter can be franked at one time. Mail matter ranging from an ordinary post card up to pieces 15 1/2 inches long, 11 1/2 inches wide, and 1 1/2 inches thick can be franked. At least 500 pieces of mail matter of same form in same wrapping and subject to same rate, must be pre-sorted, tied in bundles of 100 pieces each. This system of franking is highly suitable for mailing circulars, catalogues, etc., which can be delivered at post office unattended with amount necessary to cover postage. No charge above normal postage rates is made for this service, known as "Barfrankierung" (cash franking). For the present only matter to be transmitted at following rates is accepted: 2, 5, and 10 pennings (0.7, 1.2, and 2.4 cents). The machine is being tested preparatory to its adoption by the imperial postal authorities.

CANNING LABORATORY IN SAN FRANCISCO

A most practical and interesting work is being done at the United States Government laboratory in San Francisco, where Dr. A. W. Pittendrigh, food technologist of the Bureau of Chemistry, is conducting experiments in the canning and processing of fruits. The building at 617 Sansome street has been fitted up with all the apparatus necessary for commercial canning on a smaller scale than in the big factories, but with capacity for a greater range of varieties than is to be found in most of them. The laboratory is equipped for canning fruits, making jellies, jams, and catsups, condensing milk, preparing baked beans, and in fact for doing almost anything in the canning line, and is furnished with retorts, large and small, sterilizers, exhausters, preserve kettles, machines for washing cans and bottles, a machine for exhausting and capping the cases, a vacuum pump, a refrigerator, thermometer, and other necessary apparatus. All of the work is conducted with the exactness of experimentation in pure chemistry and complete record is kept of the various processes. Commercial canners are making use of the laboratory, to find out the results of the various processes, and the same exactness in large commercial plants as at the laboratory is observed every step of the work is noted and recorded by scientific observers.

GERMAN MACHINES FOR POSTAL WORK

The question of facilitating the franking of mail matter is given particular attention in Germany by postal authorities and business circles, writes Vice Consul General William Dawson, Jr., from Frankfort on the Main. Machines which simply stamp mail matter which does not have to be provided with postage have been in use for some time in the Bavarian postal administration, which is independent of the imperial administration. These machines are used for large amounts of similar mail matter and tender pays at usual rate in money. The imperial postal authorities consider, however, that this system does not offer the necessary safeguards against postal fraud. Furthermore, such mail matter not having postal stamps is not a credit to international mails. A Frankfort firm has recently constructed a machine which does not possess these drawbacks and which is being tried in one of the

This, of course, is what Wolgast wants, for with the championship zone, he has everything to win and nothing to lose by another meeting. Besides which, another fight in the near future would prove about the best drawing card that could be staged, and while the fallen champion cannot expect to make anything like the advantageous terms that he secured last time, he will still be able to lay aside his share of a goodly purse, and that, after all, is what he is in the game for.

The Onlooker
Neglected Opportunities

"If I had only thought of it in time, there was a fine chance to accumulate wealth with some degree of certainty in the vulgar phrase, get rich quick—in the peison just past," remarked the veteran hunter at Nolte's.

"What was it? Oh, nothing much. Only but a dozen turkeys on the wing and about five pounds of bird shot in the crop of each, then sell the live bird—forty-five cents the pound, you know."

"But why bird shot?" exclaimed another "teed" between bites of veal friassee. "Bird shot costs money. Same is the thing. Don't you remember old Barker's case? He used to bring down bags on the decks of windjammers? Well, p r e s e n t, you remember the story of how he was done on the coast. A stockholder sold him a herd of goats, but before delivery, of the lot he took three or four, mixed half and half with sand."

"Yes, but you took the rear of the story. Barker had his legs killed immediately in a volcano and sold the lot to a hatter's son, who was a plain, why a cent in bird shot, but street always emits squeals when it rains."

In the meantime some of the old guard — sharpshooters of the defunct Hawaiian Rifle association — were thinking hard and acting quickly. Jim Pratt, Joe Fisher and Charlie Wilson, each with a high-power service rifle, climbed unseen to the roofs of their respective houses and began popping at the monster of the air.

The aeroplane was just passing the foot of Kaimuki hill, having descended a matter of 300 yards, when, zip! a bullet smashed its propeller. Down it crashed into a grove of cacti or prickly pear, the trees being loaded with ripe fruit, and mingled with the ruddy life juice of the daring aeronaut was the blood of the fruit, scattered over a radius of 100 yards. First to reach the spot, in fact the only ones near who dared to show themselves, were the members of the Wai-alea road picket of the enemy.

"It is the brains of Buddha!" they yelled in dismay as they saw the red soil of Kaimuki doubly reddened with the gory debris.

With a howl they skeddaddled in all directions, screaming between gasps of agonized dread, "Buddha is dead!" When the chief of the nearest field signal station heard of the supposed calamity, he tapped it out to the chief of the filibusters on Tantalus. Then, as if by magic, the lately unprintable filibusters all over the island threw down their arms and begged for quarter as prisoners of war.

Now a second aeroplane, however in sight, quickly appeared over the scene and flew back to the fleet like Apollo chased by Michael. Down sank the fighting tops below the western haze, and the Japanese invasion was a closed incident.

It was the shortest war in history—an affair of four hours from the first overt act of a tangible nature. Details and incidents of the event are preserved for tomorrow's issue, as our columns are crowded today with a report of last night's caucus of the county commission, dealing with the important question of whether the flower-sellers should be removed from Hotel street after the widening is completed, which is now expected not later than next June.

Japanese Armada Foiled; Or, The Brains Of Buddha

(From the Star-Bulletin, July 4, 1915.)
 At last the blow has fallen. Happily it has been foiled, and that so simply as to make the deliverance appear providential. Like the undoing of the Spanish Armada in the days of good Queen Bess, the ludicrous retreat of the Japanese navy from our island coast, within four hours after its sighting this morning from Diamond Head reservation crowsnest, will be a fruitful theme for schoolbooks throughout the ages.

For ten years the Japanese residents of Honolulu had been secretly preparing to act in cooperation with the invading fleet of their country when it came. They had established suburban settlements at strategic points on the roads leading from town to the forts on either hand. Secretly they had supplied themselves with small arms, together with a few machine one-pounders, and their part was to block the roads against the militia and citizens' guard to prevent them from rallying to the defense of the public buildings and banks, while the army garrisons were busy keeping off landing parties. Also it had been arranged that the Japanese should keep in signaling touch with their country's scouting aeroplanes, to tell them of conditions on the island and, at the supreme moment, inform the ships just beyond the horizon that everything was ready for the grand assault.

At 4 o'clock this morning the sentry in the Diamond Head lookout described titful flashes of pink light upon the skyline to the westward, in such number and at such graduated distances as to leave no room for doubt that the faint illumination came from a fleet. There was no question as to what fleet, because for three months past Japan has been strongly worked up over the expulsion of a Nipponese child from a Barbary Coast school in San Francisco for failure to bring a clean nose-rag to school as the teacher had ordered.

Instantaneously the alarm was flashed to all the army posts and forts and, quicker than it takes to toll, Uncle Sam's forces had every pass guarded and every coast defense gun shotted. The plans of the local Japanese were almost as promptly put in motion. Members of the national guard and the few citizens who were not absent at the Panama exposition in San Francisco grasped their guns and started out of their homes for the highways, only to find themselves mannaed by armed pickets of Japanese in every direction, who, denouncing them with unmistakable motions, made them decide that the inside of their dwellings was the safe side to avail at least.

There was a tense time of waiting for the appearance of the fleet, the suspense being relieved at 5 o'clock by the appearance of the fighting tops of two-score dirigible balloons, visible through ordinary bird glasses, say about twenty-five miles in the offing. Just then appeared sailing across the reef, at an altitude of 2,000 feet, like a bird of ill omen an aeroplane, the sunburst banner streaming above it. As it passed the Y. M. C. A. bearing for Tantalus, where the Japanese held a masked signal station and dynamite depot, its portable wireless operator could be seen working like one possessed. All at once the airship swooped toward Fort Ruger and its purpose was guessed to be that of dropping a bomb into the mortar battery there.

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

Save the Babies.

INFANT MORTALITY is something frightful. We can hardly realize that of all the children born in civilized countries, twenty-two per cent, or nearly one-quarter, die before they reach one year; thirty-seven per cent, or more than one-third, before they are five, and one-half before they are fifteen! We do not hesitate to say that a timely use of Castoria would save a majority of these precious lives. Neither do we hesitate to say that many of these infant deaths are occasioned by the use of narcotic preparations. Drops, tinctures and soothing syrups sold for children's complaints contain more or less opium, or morphine. They are, in considerable quantities, deadly poisons. In any quantity, they stupefy, retard circulation and lead to constipation, sickness, death. Castoria operates exactly the reverse. It causes the blood to circulate properly, opens the pores of the skin and allays fever.

The signature of W. D. Hoagland guarantees genuine Castoria. Physicians Recommend Castoria.

DO THE FLYING FISH FLY?

This is a mooted question is discussed by William Augustin in the Natural Magazine. The orthodox scientific opinion is that the wings of flying fish merely serve as a parachute to keep the fish for a brief period in the air after he has jumped from the water. The water is a great impediment to the movement of the fish, and a jump of any length after he has left the water is a waste of energy. Mr. Augustin, who is a naturalist, is of the opinion that flying fish do not jump from the water, but glide from it. He points out that the wings of flying fish are not attached at the base of the body, but at the top of the dorsal fin. This arrangement allows the fish to glide from the water, and to land without making a splash. He also points out that the wings of flying fish are not used for propulsion, but for gliding. This is a very interesting theory, and it is worth noting that it is supported by some of the most experienced fishermen in the world.

SUGAR FACTORIES IN THE PHILIPPINES

The new era of modern cane sugar manufacture seems to have its last reached the Philippines, and most of the best of the old misero-vivo plantations are rapidly being changed into small centrifugal houses, grinding one to two hundred tons of cane per day.

We mentioned several of these last month, and there are a number more such changes now going quietly forward of which little will be known until after the next campaign is opened or ended.

Besides these, the large Mindoro mill is now completed and will soon begin grinding the next crop, while contracts have been awarded for two other large centrals, one at San Carlos Island of Negros, and the other at Calamba, in Laguna Province, Island of Luzon, which are scheduled to begin for the 1913-14 crop. At this rate it will not be many years before the low grade Philippine sugars are a thing of the past.

The location of the San Carlos central has been so selected that large ships can be loaded directly, this doing away with the present trans-shipment necessary at Iloilo, which it is claimed will save P. 0.50 per picul.

According to latest press advices almost all the local planters have signed contracts for selling their cane to the new central.

It is said that Welch, Havemeyer & Fairfield, Inc., will act as agents for San Carlos as well as Mindoro. The press reports that a sugar laboratory which was established at Iloilo by the government several years ago did practically no work during its first year, and its abolition was suggested. However, instructions were given to keep the laboratory open and let the officer in charge, in the absence of polarization work, go into the field and devote himself to chemical and other work likely to be of practical value.

AT LAST THE CRYLESS BABY

Following in the footsteps of the man who devised the mute for the cornet and the sound deflexer for the piano, an Indiana woman has invented a silencer for the baby. Hereafter, fond mothers may carry their infants to the theater and to the church without danger of disturbing the peace.

The Hoosier mother has fashioned a sort of a shock and noise absorber of light rubber, which is fastened over the baby's chin and mouth. Inside this is a silk gauze lining through which the child can breathe. This gauze is changed frequently in the interest of sanitation.

By using deslanted rubber and silk, the inventive mother has been able to make the silencer harmonize in appearance with the child's face, and the device is not noticeable except at close range.

Of course the cryless baby was bound to come in this age of the "lesses." The hoarseless carriage, the driverless motor, the oilless onion and the noiseless pistol made it imperative that somebody find a way to demure the baby. Nashville Ten. lesson.

Sanatogen Guards Your Nerve Health

DO exacting business demands and exhausting social duties find you tired out and run-down at the very time of year you most require the sustaining aid of a sturdy nervous system?

Lassitude and lack of ambition betoken nerve exhaustion. They are danger signals warning you that your nerves are tired and hungry. And if you would forestall more serious troubles you must be prompt to respond with a satisfying answer—a food answer. Mere stimulation is dangerous—at best it merely urges you on for a while—leaving you more jaded and exhausted than ever.

But there is a food- tonic that will rebuild—revitalize and renew nervous energy—a food- tonic that has been tried and proved in the experience of 15,000 physicians, who have heartily and enthusiastically endorsed it. Sanatogen is a natural, healthful food- tonic containing nothing to burden digestion—no false stimulus to cause reaction—just concentrated purest protein and organic phosphorus—a combination gratefully and quickly digested—every particle being converted into energy, building up and revitalizing the nerve cells. Sanatogen feeds the nerves with their own food.

That Sanatogen does this is attested by 15,000 physicians and a multitude of grateful men and women who have experienced its remarkable revitalizing powers.

THE BAUER CHEMICAL COMPANY 25F Irving Place, New York

of Thomas B. Stillman, M.S., Ph. D.
The well known research chemist of Stevens Institute writes:
"The chemical union of the constituents of Sanatogen is a true one, representative of the highest skill in the formation of a product containing phosphorus in the organic phosphate condition, and so combined that digestion and assimilation of Sanatogen are rendered complete with the greatest ease."
John Burroughs, the distinguished naturalist and author, writes:
"I am sure I have been greatly benefited by Sanatogen. My sleep is fifty per cent better than it was one year ago, and my mind and strength are much improved."

HEALTH LEAGUE PLANS ACTIVE WORK FOR GREATER HONOLULU

The proposed Health League which was organized last night by the local branch of the Young Men's Christian Association, and which will be a branch of the National Health League of North America, will prove to be one of the biggest features ever launched by the local association. It will be conducted in cooperation with the board of health, and its chief aim will be in the improvement of the sanitary and social conditions of the city of Honolulu.

Physical Director Lau, of the association, under whose department the work will be carried on, made the following statement when asked to give his opinion on the value of the league:

"Are the citizens of Honolulu interested in the health of their city? Can they, with pride, call a stranger's attention to some notable action that the city of Honolulu has taken relative to health matters and have they played an active part in ridding the city of its so-called social evil? These are pertinent questions but they are vital and the city's welfare depends on the citizen's active support in matters of health education. Legislation will, in a measure, control the evils of a city, but it never will eradicate them. The only salvation seems to be in educating the men, women, and children as to how they should go about the business, then let them make it so.

"In this day and age the prevalence of disease is increasing instead of decreasing as it ought to be. Are you going to sit aside and allow conditions to go on which you know are detrimental to the health of the people about you? The time is here that man should take a personal interest in the welfare and health of the city as well as those with whom they are intimately associated. Now is the time for every serious minded man to identify himself, definitely with, matters pertaining to health and health education. Do not leave yourself out of the present day health movements. Many men see conditions which they know are absolutely unhealthy, yet, instead of cooperating with others who are endeavoring to rid the city of the unwholesome condition, they merely shrug their shoulders, shut their eyes, or hold their noses while in the vicinity of the offensive condition whether it be a vice-den or a stagnant pool, a garbage can or a filthy yard.

"If we wish to reform our municipalities, with their congested sewers and smoke nuisances, are literally left after our own pattern. We are miniature municipalities. When, as individuals, we have become perfectly sanitary in our personal practices and purposes, without a doubt, the sanitation of the city will follow. Man, individually, can do an immense amount for himself and an immense amount for others by force of example. In China, we recognize that opium smoking is an evil, but what do we think in our own country of the use of tobacco and alcohol, and other vicious practices? It is time that the people cease following the unhygienic customs and habits of the people of yesterday, but start today to seek the enlightenment concerning scientific and healthful living. Let the older man set the example of right living, and his boy, together with other boys and men, will be influenced to a correct and healthful life.

"If the men of this city earnestly desire a better knowledge of general health and are anxious to promote clean, healthful living among the people of Honolulu, they should without delay become identified with this new health league which stands for all that is wholesome and encourage men to live their best at all times. Let us begin by securing the most thorough and general health education possible through this new phase of the association's work.

"If the Health League is willing to furnish the tools and the methods for extending health instructions, surely every fair-minded man who has the interests of the city at heart, will actively give his support and cooperation. Will men reject this opportunity in receiving instructions in hygienic living, and will they stand as an obstruction to the prevention of disease so that there may be a diminution of the death rate from unnecessary transmissible diseases? Indeed they will not.

THANKSGIVING PROGRAM AT CHURCH FOR KOREANS

A large audience was present at an interesting Thanksgiving service which was held in the Methodist Korean Church, on Punchbowl street, Thursday evening at eight o'clock. A program consisting of songs and recitations by the students was given, including several numbers by the children of the Susannah Wesley Home, and short addresses were given by John A. Wadman, Rev. C. P. Hong and others.

At the conclusion of the services, those present partook of a feast which had been prepared for them and baskets of good things were sent to the home, while the students of the boarding school were not forgotten. The spirit of an American Thanksgiving, and all nationalities seem willing to observe the day in some appropriate way.

JOHN THE BAPTIST AS BIBLE CLASS SUBJECT

History affords no more unique character than John the Baptist. He was in many respects one of earth's truly great men. Jesus once said of him: "Among all that are born of women there is none greater than John the Baptist." At the Sunday morning Bible class at Kilohana Club rooms tomorrow morning an effort will be made to analyze this character by gathering together all the data we have in the gospel records, to see wherein his greatness lay.

This class is open to all young men and young women. One hundred and thirteen have already enrolled—49 young men and 64 young women. There is room in the Kilohana Club room for others, and tomorrow is a good time to start in. A most cordial invitation is extended.

The class meets promptly at 10 o'clock and dismisses in time for those who wish to attend church service to do so.

Thought will find books and magazines by all the prominent New Thought authors in the library at the home, to which we welcome all visitors and investigators.

A cordial invitation is extended to all.

'ADAM' AND 'EVE' LEFT OUT OF THIS REVISED BIBLE

CHICAGO, Ill., Nov. 18.—Chicago's clergy was stirred today by the contents of the revised Bible, in which seventeenth century diction gives way to modern language. The publication, which has just been issued by the American Baptist Publication society, with headquarters in Philadelphia, eliminates obsolete words and replaces them with terms in general use. Many of the ministers in uttering their protests argue that the bible has been modernized too much already.

"Adam and Eve," named as the founders of the human race in the King James version, give way in the new bible to the terms "man" and "woman."

Such words as "loveth" and "leadeth" are replaced by "love" and "lead." Where hell is referred to in the sixteenth chapter of St. Luke, the word "underworld" is substituted. Portions written in poetry in the old bible are printed in their verse form. Other changes in the new version are:

Use of the phrase "carved image" instead of "graven image" in the first commandment.
Placing of the word "immerse" in parentheses beside the word "baptize."
Substitution of the phrase "great fish" for the word "whale" in the story of Jonah and the whale.
Editor J. S. Dickerson of the Baptist Standard said:

"The phrase 'Baptist bible' is ridiculous. The new translation which has been under way for a generation was a task imposed upon the American Baptist Publication society by a convention that met in Saratoga, N. Y., in 1883.

"The King James version with all its statelyness and dignity of phraseology is known to contain errors of translation based in some instances on a faulty original text.

"Many of these errors have been noted in the present revision of the bible. The first copies were published some months ago, is another attempt to oblige the people a translation which is correct and which omits obsolete English words. The work has been performed largely by noted Baptist scholars, but it is no more a Baptist bible than the revised version is an Episcopal bible because the work of translation was managed by Episcopalians and the meetings of the revisers were held in Westminster abbey."

Here is the new version of the Lord's prayer:

Our Father who are in heaven, hallowed be thy name. Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done, as in heaven so on earth. Give us this day our daily bread. And forgive us our debts as we also have forgiven our debtors, and bring us not into temptation, but deliver us from the evil one.

KAULUWELA CLUB HOUSE OPENED

Thursday afternoon at one o'clock the doors of the Kauluwela Club house were thrown open to two hundred men, women and children—principally to the latter—when a bounteous feast was served to them by the Kauluwela Young Men's Club.

The club house was tastefully decorated for the occasion with cocoanut branches and ti leaves, and an orchestra, composed of fourteen members of the club, rendered music during the dinner hour. Owing to the absence of Sam Hopp, president of the club, James Crockett acted as master of ceremonies, and short speeches were made by Harry Allen, who read the President's proclamation; Clinton Hicks, Wayne Brown and several other members and guests of the club. Rev. R. E. Smith making the Thanksgiving prayer.

The dinner was planned by the Young Men's Club, who raised the necessary funds, and the girls of the Kauluwela Sunday School acted in the capacity of waiters. The entertainment committee, which is composed of Frank Kalua, Henry Kikahuna, and James Crockett are to be complimented on making the affair a huge success.

KRYPTOK LENSES

Why Look Older Than You Are?

The gentleman to the right of the reader (sketched from life) is wearing old style or pasted double-vision lenses. The lines of the reading wafers are noticeably prominent and he has difficulty in adjusting his eyes to the lenses. The cement used to join the two lenses has become clouded and has made his glasses misty.

The two figures to the left (sketched from life) are wearing Kryptok double-vision lenses. There are no seams on these glasses, because the reading lenses are fused invisibly within the distance lenses. These latter two persons are at ease, look dignified and comfortable.

SPIEGELMYER COMMENTS ON LESSONS OF THE ELECTION

Mein Lieber Adolph: Well, you bet as how I am so glad to see all other, and all off dem fellers what was going to safe der country try off der vote vent der way dey was voting, or iff der country vent der other way it was shure going by der ki-iss, can now shtand on der corner and think as how it will all turn out. Ten by one dey will neffer know der difference, and another ten to one it would make no difference to dem if Satamoto was president.

I see in der Star-Pulletin der other offening as how der Turkish army was going to take der offensive purty quick. Dot must be der name off a steamboat what runs across der Poss-forus to Asia.

Shpeaking off Turkey recollections me as how der Thanksgiving is close at hand and we must get ready to think up der things we iss thankful for. Dere iss not much in dot line dot gets into my head right now except we iss thankful as how dot soap-box feller don't got to spiel any more, and Captain Berger iss coming back soon, and der campaign cigars are all gone. A feller what lifts in der same house by me in der next room he shnokes dem kind off cigars all der time. Sometimes they smell like a glue factory, and dere iss another brand what smells like a lard refinery. One night, when a friend was visiting mit me I guess he got a smell off one off dem cigars for he said to me, "Spiegelmyer, for why don't der people around here burn up dere trash in der daytime?"

I see as how dey was going to haff a picture off der board off supershinzers took so as to hang alongside off der others what iss hanging on der wall in der room where dey meet. It would be a goot idea to get up a contest after awhile and see who off der supershinzers can get his fizz in der different boards der most number of times in ten years. It would be a hot one all right.

Say, Adolph, von't it be nice when Capt. Berger gets back and we can haff a musical program one night out off der voek dot don't get a "soul kiss" or a "goot kiss" or a "soul-night kiss" or some old kind of a kiss in it? Dot feller what makes up der music program, iss a dead-game shpart when it comes to kisses in der music.

Here iss a lot off auto speeding going on in and about der city often now mit all off der arrests as has been made. But dere iss a big improvement by dese auto-speeders lately. Nearly all off dem haff got so dot dey take dere shteps to der hospital instead off beating dem in der shtrout, and often now der people are not satisfied. What do dey want, anyway?

Los Angeles Man Goes to Congo Hunting for Gold and Finds Only Thrills

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—Eight months spent on the Congo river, among cannibals, gorillas and hippopotami, Robert Taft of Los Angeles, 60 pounds of flesh and muscle, left at 100 pounds today on the East London route to Southern California. Taft said he and a Southern-raised hunter Campbell were lured to the Congo by wild stories of gold finds. He hired ten negroes, he said, built a raft and started down the river on a hunt for the yellow metal. They ate as a rule three or four raw eggs, then the raft drifted into a cove of impassable and dangerous rapids. The latter were in the center of the river, and Taft and Campbell made a meal of flesh of the gorilla, Taft said, and ate it with the remaining bones and bunched gorilla tails. One of the cannibal negroes was seized by the expedition and a number killed and eaten. Campbell, he said, was once attacked by the natives and the raft had several holes made in it. Taft said when he got to the Congo he had a very bad cold.

SAN FRANCISCO PHYSICIAN MAKES SCIENTISTS STIR

Announces Cure of Appendicitis and Bacterial Diseases by New Method

CHICAGO, Nov. 22. Dr. Albert Abrams of San Francisco made a startling announcement before the annual convention of the American Association for the Study of Spontaneous Recovery.

He claimed to be able to cure appendicitis without an operation and also to have discovered the function of the spleen, which has puzzled the medical world for centuries.

Both discoveries were made in the practice of physiotherapy of the spleen, a method of treating diseases which Abrams has practiced in San Francisco for some ten years.

It consists in the tapping of the spinal nerve centers and the arousing to greater activity of the corresponding internal organs.

At will Dr. Abrams can produce and remove heart murmurs and stimulate or reduce the action of the spleen.

It was in this way that he discovered that the spleen plays an important part in regulating the number of white corpuscles in the blood.

As these leucocytes are the main defense of the body against the action of disease germs the ability to produce an increase in their number has made it possible to cure tuberculosis and other germ diseases by this method.

The treatment of appendicitis consists in the straightening of the loop in the upper part of the large intestine by means of spinal concussion and the subsequent cleaning of the intestine by the usual method.

By stimulating the nerve centers controlling the appendix any existing inflammation can be reduced and cured. These are the claims of Dr. Abrams as set forth at the convention and also in a book published recently under the title "Spontaneous Recovery."

Dr. Abrams, who received his medical education at the University of Heidelberg, has created a great deal of attention, especially in England and France. He has practiced his method successfully as consulting physician of the Mount Zion Hospital in San Francisco.

NEW JERSEY'S SPLENDID DIRECT PRIMARY PLAN EXPLAINED FOR BENEFIT OF HAWAIIAN VOTERS

Allan Herbert Tells of Law
Which Has Revolutionized
Wilson State Politics

In the first article of the series of two, published last week, Mr. Allan Herbert discussed New Jersey's public utilities commission plan. In the following article he discusses the same state's splendid direct primary law. It will be found of particular interest to Hawaii at this time.

The former direct primary law only provided for the nomination of municipal officers, assemblymen and senators by the people. Now it has been extended to every elective office, including the governor, congressmen, members of the county and state committees, and delegates to the national convention.

The State conventions of both parties are held at the same time, one week after the primaries. Instead of being composed of delegates selected by no one knows whom, they are made up simply of the candidates named by the primaries. Those nominated for senators and assemblymen with the hold-over senators of each party constitute the members of each convention. The governor is a member of the convention of his own party. By this plan the number of delegates in each of our State conventions is cut down from nearly one thousand to less than eighty.

Presidential Preference primaries are provided. New Jersey was the first Eastern State to adopt this kind of primary.

Candidates for the Legislature must file with the County Clerk one of two statements: either that the candidate will vote for that nominee for the United States Senate who receives the highest number of votes in the candidate's party in the primary preceding the election of a United States Senator; or that he shall consider the vote of the people for United States Senator as a recommendation, which as a member of the Legislature he may disregard if he sees sufficient reason for so doing.

Personal registration is required in Municipalities containing more than five thousand people. No one is allowed to vote at the primary until he registers for the general election. Registration involves the answering of a series of questions by the voter regarding his identity. Voters who can write must sign their statements. If a voter cannot write he must make a secret identification statement at the time of his signature. The same day's primary ballots are mailed to voters, but these ballots cannot be voted. Ballots to be voted at the primaries are given to the citizens at the primary polling places on primary day by the election officers. None of these ballots is allowed outside the polling place.

The same process is used in regard to the distribution of ballots before and at the general election. On election day the voter must sign his name on the pollbook that it may be compared with the signature on the registration book. He must sign before he receives a ballot. Illiterate voters who cannot write must here make answers to questions concerning their identity and the answers are compared with those which were made when they registered.

Separate Party Ballots. At the primaries there are separate ballots for each party. At the general election the single or blanket ballot is used. Party emblems are abolished. The voter votes for individual candidates whose names appear in alphabetic order, with the party to which each belongs indicated by its name, at the right. He must vote a ballot, not a ticket.

The new Election Law is strongly reinforced by the Corrupt Practices Act. All committees designated by candidates showing every receipt and pledge are required to file itemized statements and each candidate must file a sworn statement of his personal contributions. There is also a limit to the amount which candidates may spend, in seeking nomination and elections. This varies according to the salary paid by the office. Any candidate who fails to comply with this feature of the law must forfeit the office to which he shall be elected.

All campaign literature must bear the inscription of the writer's name. No money may be spent for transporting voters to the polls, unless they are physically unable to go, in which case the expense is paid by the county.

There are various specific acts designated which constitute violations of the law. Candidates are protected from solicitations of private individuals for churches, clubs, charitable institutions, and other organizations. Corporation contributions in any form are positively forbidden. Pay envelopes must not bear political inscriptions. No political hand-bills containing threats of coercive statements can be posted in factories under penalty of forfeiture of the charters possessed by the corporations guilty of such misdemeanor. Any person violating this provision is also guilty of a misdemeanor.

Secrecy Of Ballot Guarded.

The secrecy of the ballot is strongly safeguarded. The records of corruption in the conduct of elections in this State in previous years have been most disgraceful and extraordinary. Accordingly, the new law makes fraudulent voting and ballot-box stuffing practically impossible. The destruction of records in the recent Atlantic County election frauds, where Judge Samuel Kalich, appointed by Governor Wilson, the first Hebrew in the State, ever elevated to the Supreme Court Bench, so admirably applied the law to the offenders, led to most stringent legislation for the punishment of such notorious lawbreakers in future. Altogether, with these measures of protection we are pretty well entrenched against repeaters and crooks of all classes. Already it has been discovered in carrying over the primary registry lists from 1910 that thousands of voters, who resided on vacant lots at that time, have moved away, evidently because they did not like the new election laws; or possibly because New Jersey winters are getting colder. Wagonloads of anti-ballots mailed to "spook" voters have been returned to the post-offices. "One thing is sure," as the governor says, "only flesh-and-blood men will vote in this State, in future."

Another step forward in progressive legislation was taken by the enactment of a statute which gives cities and municipalities of the state the privilege of adopting the commission form of government, under what was known originally as the "Galveston

Plan, which provides for the complete abandonment of nomination of candidates for office by political parties; the abolition of ward boundary lines; the reorganization of the legislative commission; the right of the recall of elective officers; and the initiative and referendum.

Many Other Reforms.

Add to this list of reforms the regulation of cold-storage, the substitution of indeterminate sentences for criminal offenses, the rectification of abuses in connection with false weights and measures, the reorganization of the state's school system, the abolition of contract labor in our penal institutions, the legislation in the interest of the blind, the regulation of the age, employment, safety, health, and work-hours of persons employed in mercantile establishments, an act for the safeguarding of business buildings against fire; a law compelling all railroad corporations to pay their employees twice monthly, and a law extending the civil service to employees of the state, counties, and municipalities, and we have one of the most remarkable records of legislation that has ever distinguished a single legislative session in this country.

Was not New Jersey really the first of the three Eastern States "to get out of the hole?" Did not J. Lincoln Steffen's prophesy come true?

IF CONSTIPATED OR BILIOUS—"CASCARETS"

No Biliousness, Headache, Sick, Sour Stomach, Indigestion, Coated Tongue or Constipation.

Furred Tongue, Bad Taste, Indigestion, Flatulency, Skin and Miserable Headaches come from a torpid liver, and clogged bowels, which cause your stomach to become filled with undigested food, which sours and ferments like garbage in a swill barrel. That's the first step to untold misery—indigestion, foul gases, bad breath, yellow skin, mental fears, everything that is horrible and nauseating. A Cascaret tonight will give your constipated bowels a thorough cleansing and straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist will keep you feeling good for months. Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then to keep their stomach, liver and bowels regulated, and never know a miserable moment. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing, too.
