NEW YORK: Pakistan's Permanent Representative to the United Nations Munir Akram demanded the immediate opening of the Aid Corridor to Gaza. Addressing the Security Council meeting, he said that Pakistan demanded an immediate and unconditional ceasefire. He warned that Israeli aggression could lead to a wider and more dangerous conflict. Muner Akram lamented that the ceasefire resolution could not be passed, placing heavy responsibility on those responsible for escalating the conflict. "Continuation of the Israeli campaign in the Gaza will lead to further massive civilian casualties and could trigger a wider and more dangerous conflict," the Pakistani envoy told the meeting addressed by a total of 86 speakers from countries and regional groups – including more than 20 ministers – that pushed the conflict to the centre of world geopolitics. In his speech to the Security Council, Ambassador Akram conveyed Pakistan's full support and solidarity with Palestinian brothers and sisters in these tragic and challenging times. Israel's relentless and indiscriminate bombardment of Gaza over the last 17 days has killed more than 5,000 people and injured another 15,000, the Pakistani envoy said, "strongly and unequivocally" condemning Israel's air-strikes and military actions in Gaza, particularly attacks on schools, residential buildings and hospitals. "These Israeli attacks on civilians, civilian objects and infrastructure, blockade of water, food and fuel as well as the forced transfer of people from the occupied territory, are flagrant

Addressing the 12th All Pakistan Camp of Pakistan Girl Guides Association (PGGA) here at its National Headquarters, he said emergency aid on disaster management, first aid, and CPR could increase the survival rate of a person. The president stressed that the message of the emergency response plan, which was an integral part of girl guiding, needed to be spread at the levels of schools and colleges. President Alvi said by being able to provide basic aid, one could stabilize a patient or injured person in case of accidents, earthquakes, or other medical emergencies such as cardiac arrest, until the medical services arrive. He lauded the vision of the girl guides for positively contributing to society by being ready to offer help to others. He advised them to also play their role in creating awareness among communities on breast cancer, mainstreaming persons with disabilities, environmental protection, and physical and mental well-being. He expressed satisfaction that the Pakistan Girl Guides Association was focusing on the character-building of girls to become useful members of society. women as a strong anchor in a family stressed that educated and healthy women not only raised good generations but also played a vital role in the progress of the country. He called upon the girl guides to also attain financial empowerment and mentioned that information technology had opened doors of opportunities to earn money through online businesses. He mentioned that the Chief Guide of PGGA, Begum Samina Alvi who remained

The volunteer movement, she said, was started in 1947 on the desire of the country's founder Quaid-e-Azam Muhammad Ali Jinnah with his sister Fatima Jinnah as its patron. She mentioned that seven branches of PGGA in four provinces besides others in AJK, GB, and ICT were functioning actively. As per the plan, he said around 100-kanal space available adjacent to Jinnah Road (City Saddar Road) would be commercialized, besides uplifting the railway station. However, the Victorian-era building depicting 'Indo-Saracenic' architecture will remain intact. He said the main purpose of the plan is to redevelop the Rawalpindi Railway Station as a business hub and multi-modal network; expanding platforms and creating separate cargo platforms; bringing inside the retail space; service apartments and motels; connecting it to all transport services; ensuring energy as well as water efficiency and commercially and financially viable interventions on the adjacent land. The official said the main building of Rawalpindi Railway Station consisted of three sections included the freight section, the passenger section and the main offices. The Railway Club building and Police Station are adjacent to the main building which has three separate entrances for regular passengers and baggage passengers. To a question, he said that Pakistan Railways had already started to upgrade the five major railway stations across the country on modern lines to facilitate the passengers and help the department to generate more revenue. "The purpose of upgrading the railway stations is to make them commercial hubs for business activities and facilitate the passengers," he added. He said the stations included Karachi, Lahore, Faisalabad, Peshawar and Quetta, while the department was taking other steps to improve the performance of Pakistan Railways and would provide maximum facilities to the masses. The government had allocated Rs 50 million in the Public Sector Development Programme (PSDP), in the last three years for the up-gradation and renovation of railway stations across the country, he added. The official said the renovation of the railway stations had been approved by the Central Development Working Party (CDWP) and the department had already upgraded six railway stations in different parts of the country. The names of the upgraded railway stations were Bahawalpur, Raiwind, Narowal, Okara, Sahiwal and Gujranwala. The basic aim of the upgradation was to facilitate the passengers and improve the outlook and modernize the railway stations. Pakistan Railways had upgraded the passenger waiting halls, prayer area, operation offices, water filtration plant, toilets, passenger shelter, platforms, ticket counters, parking area and external development work.—APP

GCF approves $120 mln for Partnership Program

ISLAMABAD: The Green Climate Fund (GCF) has approved $120 million in climate adaptation financing to support the Asian Development Bank's (ADB) Community Resilience Partnership Program (CRPP), which aims to strengthen climate resilience in poor and vulnerable communities by scaling up climate adaptation investments at the local level. According to ADB press statement received here, the GCF approved the funding at its 37th board meeting. Based in Songdo, Republic of Korea, GCF is a global fund created to help developing countries address the challenge of climate change. ADB has supported developing member countries to access $1 billion since becoming an accredited GCF entity in 2015. Launched in 2021, the CRPP is a regional program that will mobilize large-scale public investments that support community-level adaptation of poor and vulnerable people, develop national and local policies and initiatives that promote financing for community-led adaptation, and increase the meaningful participation of poor people, especially women, in resilience-related decision-making. This ensures that those most vulnerable to the impacts of climate change can engage in a fair process and receive a fair share of the benefits of adaptation efforts. "Scaling up local climate adaptation investments is essential to protecting vulnerable communities and promoting inclusive and sustainable development amid growing climate risk in Asia and the Pacific," said ADB Vice-President for Sectors and Themes Fatima Yasmin. "The CRPP is our long-term, programmatic response that pinpoints adaptation measures that address climate, poverty, and gender challenges. The CRPP is designed for implementation over a 10-year period from 2021 to 2031 and we thank the GCF for supporting the program," Yasmin added. The CRPP is operationalized through the Community Resilience Financing Partnership Facility (CRFPF), which includes the CRPP Trust Fund supported by the Nordic Development Fund, the French Development Agency, the United Kingdom, and the CRPP Investment Fund financed by GCF to support the implementation of local adaptation measures through downstream investments. As Asia and the Pacific's climate bank, ADB aims to deliver $100 billion in cumulative climate finance from its own resources between 2019 and 2030. The CRPP will contribute to this target by supporting climate adaptation solutions at the local level, especially in the context of investments in social protection, livelihoods, and decentralization.—DNA

Pakistan is the best option for CARs for the sea trade

Dr Saud was of the view that the Central Asian Republics (CARs) could not use the Iranian route for their trade through the warm waters of the Persian Gulf and the Arabian Sea because of the Western sanctions against Iran

FAISAL SHEIKH

ISLAMABAD: "Pakistan provides the best possible route for the Central Asian states to reach the warm waters of the Arabian Sea for their trade," said Dr Adam Saud, the Dean of the Faculty of Humanities and Social Sciences at the Bahria University. He was speaking at a roundtable on developing relations between Afghanistan and Central Asia organized by the Institute of Regional Studies (IRS) here on Wednesday.

Dr Saud was of the view that the Central Asian Republics (CARs) could not use the Iranian route for their trade through the warm waters of the Persian Gulf and the Arabian Sea because of the Western sanctions against Iran. He added, however, that Afghanistan will continue to remain a source of concern in terms of trade connectivity for CARs because of the likelihood of terrorist violence in Afghanistan and the country's poor physical and institutional infrastructure.

Dr Saud maintained that although Afghanistan had witnessed a considerable decrease in terrorist violence since the arrival of the Taliban at the helm, concerns about Daesh and internal divisions among the Taliban remained a concern. Dr Saud added that formation of an inclusive government and safeguarding the human rights of all Afghans as per international standards, especially the rights of women remained a challenge for Afghanistan.

This, he argued, however, had not deterred the CARs from establishing trade and economic linkages with the country, which were all involved in trade relations with Afghanistan. Responding to a question about Chinese investment in Afghanistan and the extension of the BRI to the country, he stated that it was too early to assume the inclusion of Afghanistan in the BRI. He added that Afghanistan was not that important for China and that Chinese will be cautious in expanding their economic interests in the country despite the fact that Beijing had appointed an ambassador to Afghanistan last month.

"It is essential to address these issues through education, prevention, and healthcare interventions," he added.

Dr Nadeem said, "We do not want to see another outbreak of HIV like Larkana, Ratodero (Sindh) in 2019," adding the government was committed towards controlling AIDS. "Our work will ensure that people of all ages, genders, and population groups have equitable access to life-saving HIV prevention and treatment services based on the most up-to-date science," the minister said. He said that World AIDS Day was a time to show support and solidarity for individuals living with HIV. "This can include providing information on available resources, support groups, and advocating for the rights and well-being of people with HIV," he added.—APP

Life in occupied West Bank amid Israeli crimes

While Israel talks about the settlers and soldiers being held hostage by Hamas, it has adopted a similar tactic to pick Palestinian men and children from their homes and torture them in custody. In the village of Beit Liqya, west of Ramallah, Israeli soldiers stormed the home of Palestinian researcher Najib Mafarja. When they didn't find him indoors, they detained his three-year-old child for two hours to pressure his father to surrender himself. The child returned shaken, trembling with fear. Detaining family members to pressure Palestinian men to surrender themselves before the Israeli army has become an almost daily occurrence in the West Bank. Former prisoner Bushra al Taweel from the city of Al-Bireh in the central occupied West Bank told us that the Israeli army stormed her home at dawn on October 19 and ransacked the property. The raid was aimed at arresting her 61-year-old father, former prisoner Jamal al Taweel, who was released less than a year ago after spending two years under Israeli detention. He has been arrested 12 times and sent to various Israeli prisons. In total, he has spent 16 years in jail. "My father was not there, so they arrested my brothers to pressure him to surrender," she said. Hours after their arrest, the two brothers, Nasrallah and Yahya, were released. Both were tortured—their bodies, from head to feet, had marks of deep wounds and bruises. The family immediately admitted them to the hospital. While Israeli bombing has killed over 6,546 Palestinians, including 2,704 children, since October 7, the situation in the occupied West Bank has been deteriorating for years. Controlled by the Palestinian Authority, the West Bank is under a perpetual assault of both the Israeli army and illegal settlers, who harass and kill Palestinians at whim. The illegal Jewish settlers have been swallowing Palestinian lands and transferring them to Israeli control without any hindrance. From the beginning of this year until October 7, 223 Palestinians were killed by Israeli occupation bullets and more than five thousand were arrested in the West Bank. Palestinian analyst Sari Orabi told TRT World that Israel has always sought political cover from Western powers to murder Palestinians and wipe out entire residential neighbourhoods in Gaza. "Israel said that the reason for all of this was the Al-Aqsa Flood operation, but it knows that the world public opinion will not support its claims and practices, and rather will be sympathetic towards Palestinians", Orabi said. Recent assaults on the Al Aqsa Mosque, the abuse of Palestinian prisoners, the daily killings of defenceless Palestinians and other injustices triggered the October 7 Hamas attack as a sign of resistance, he added. "Israel doesn't want to discuss the root of the issue or its practices, but rather wants to give cover to the killing of Palestinians," Orabi said.

An alternative to American exceptionalism

Since OBOR was an evolving reality where more "roads" were added, it was later renamed the Belt and Road Initiative (BRI). Moreover, the GDI, GSI and GCI were announced to the world by Xi in 2021, 2022 and 2023 respectively for the nations of the Global South, which were attracted to Beijing's alternatives to the US-dominated Bretton Woods institutions, the National Development Bank, Asian Infrastructure Investment Bank, and Silk Road Fund, but had not yet joined the BRI. As two geostrategic players with global visions and the capability, capacity, and political determination to shape them, Russian President Vladimir Putin and Chinese President Xi Jinping have met 42 times since 2013. Their main purpose has been to synchronize two visions – Russia's Greater Eurasia and China's BRI. Greater Eurasia, a dynamic concept like the BRI, seeks to integrate Putin's vision of a pivot to Asia for development and connectivity. The region is comprised of Russia's Far East, India, Pakistan, Iran, the Arab world, the ASEAN countries, and China, while the Eurasian Economic Union (EEU) includes Russia, Kazakhstan, Kyrgyzstan, Armenia and Belarus. Unlike what the Western nations wish to believe, the no-limits strategic partnership between Russia and China is about two global leaders bringing their strengths together to offer an alternate to the US-led "rules-based order" or American Exceptionalism, where the rules have never been spelled out. In sharp contrast, Greater Eurasia-BRI has been suggested as a multilateral partnership in a multipolar world with no coercion from anyone. Of course, given the huge gap between the two economies – China's $18 trillion GDP versus Russia's $ 1.84 trillion GDP, and the reality that China alone matches the US in its Artificial Intelligence (AI) ecosystem and emerging technologies, the question remains whether Russia would be relegated to becoming China's junior partner. The answer is 'no' for three reasons: One, Russia is a great power with a landmass straddling eleven time zones, has an abundance of natural resources including food, minerals, and rare earth elements, and is a big exporter of energy (oil, gas and nuclear reactor production). Russia and China are working on fast neutron reactors which will contribute to green development. Russia has an impressive military-industrial complex, is a major arms exporter, has veto power in the United Nations, and has thousands of nuclear weapons. Two, while China's deep pockets and infrastructure-building capability attracts the nations of the Global South, the dynamism of BRICS and SCO stem from their two big founding members. Three, unlike the US, which believes in global dominance through its exceptional military power and maintains bases around the world, China seeks global respect, which means it wants nations to be sensitive to its foreign policy and core concerns. Russia is unlikely to have problems with this. Thus, in all international meetings, it is normal to find the top diplomats of Russia and China, Sergei Lavrov and Wang Yi, coordinate their moves to synchronize with the higher goals set by Putin and Xi. Regarding China's assertiveness, it is pertinent to listen to US President Joe Biden's interaction with CNN's Fareed Zakaria in June. Claiming to have met Xi more times than any world leader, Biden said that China is not expansionist and does not seek wars but desires a united China.

Feed the birds, not the bin

Gulzaib Rafiq

Every day in Pakistan, a substantial amount of food goes to waste. An estimated 36 million tonnes of food are wasted every year. This is equivalent to every citizen of Karachi, Lahore, and Hyderabad tossing out entire lunches and dinners every day. According to a report, 40% of food in Pakistan is wasted. Unfortunately, many birds and street animals face challenges due to the lack of food

Understanding is an individual duty, as is the issue of food waste itself, and whether food is being discarded when there are alternative options, or if it's simply that we don't think there is a problem. My concern is that it's not a priority for most individuals. Additionally, there are those who truthfully don't care. We need to begin caring and be responsible individuals. My objective is to raise awareness about this issue while helping myself and others understand more about food waste and how to avoid it. As we know, the population increases day by day, so the availability of food for birds in fields may decrease. It's important for us to be mindful of this impact and create alternative food sources for birds. For this, we need to start working from our homes. Instead of wasting leftover food, we can repurpose it to feed birds and street animals. It's a great way to reduce food waste. Every day in Pakistan, a substantial amount of food goes to waste. An estimated 36 million tonnes of food are wasted every year. This is equivalent to every citizen of Karachi, Lahore, and Hyderabad tossing out entire lunches and dinners every day. According to a report, 40% of food in Pakistan is wasted. Unfortunately, many birds and street animals face challenges due to the lack of food. It's disheartening to see food waste while birds struggle to find enough to eat. Birds face many problems and issues when searching for food, especially in urban areas. Loss of natural habitat and the use of pesticides can make it difficult for birds to find enough food. Additionally, the availability of food sources may fluctuate with changing seasons and environmental conditions.

Birds are one of the most important species on our planet. They play a crucial role in the ecosystem, responsible for pollinating plants, dispersing seeds, and controlling pests. They also provide us with food and feathers and are a source of inspiration and enjoyment. Without birds, we could expect significant changes in our ecosystem, including a loss of crops and trees. Due to food shortages, pollution, and climate change, birds will face hazards in the future. These factors will disrupt their food sources, migration patterns, and nesting habitats. It's important for us to take action to protect their environments and ensure their survival by reusing waste food and providing bird feeders and creating bird-friendly gardens for the nourishment they need. "Feed the birds, not your bin". Reducing food waste is a concerning issue because it helps protect the environment by conserving resources and reducing greenhouse gas emissions. When we throw away food, it ends up in landfills and produces methane, a potent greenhouse gas. By being mindful of our food consumption and finding creative ways to use leftovers, feeding our feathered friends with food scraps is a great way to repurpose leftovers. If we don't take steps to control this issue, it has severe consequences for the environment and society. It contributes to greenhouse gas emissions, strains resources, and exacerbates food insecurity. In Islam, there is also a strong emphasis on avoiding wastefulness, including when it comes to food. Our Prophet Muhammad (PBUH) taught us to eat and drink in moderation and not to waste any food. To manage food waste and feed our feathered friends, we can start by being mindful of our food consumption and planning meals to minimize leftovers. Composting is a good way to repurpose food scraps and create nutrient-rich soil. By reducing food waste, it not only protects us from pollution and food insecurity but also gives us an opportunity to help our feathered friends and make a better ecosystem. I have been putting out small amounts of leftovers for our garden birds for the last two years now, and I can't believe the amount of life-saving 'bird-food' that others simply throw into the landfill bin. If we all scrape our plates into a bag or container and put them outside during the day for our beloved feathered friends, we would not only save thousands of birds' lives but also significantly reduce our landfill contribution. Once your garden birds get to know there is a reliable source of food in your garden, they will arrive daily, and you will be amazed at how quickly it all disappears. Feeding our feathered friends and reducing food waste is a win-win situation. It's a fun and eco-friendly way to make a positive impact. Watching the birds come and go and listening to their chirps is a wonderful, stress-releasing way to de-stress. Feeding birds can be an enjoyable and rewarding hobby that helps you connect with nature, so the next time you're out in the garden or walking in the park, consider putting out a bird feeder. You never know what kind of beauty you might spot! And don't forget to take a few moments to appreciate the natural world around you. Enjoy the beauty of nature and share it with everyone.

Pakistan's efforts and struggle in achieving sustainable development goals (SDGs)

Huma Arshad

While the SDGs are not legally binding, governments are expected to take ownership and establish national frameworks to achieve the goals, a challenging prospect given competing government financial and programmatic priorities. The targets have been grouped into three broad themes

The SDGs are an urgent call to the world to shift towards a more sustainable path and approach. In 2015, all member-states of the United Nations including Pakistan adopted the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs), a global agenda to end poverty, protect the planet, and ensure prosperity for all by 2030. The SDGs are ambitious set of 17 goals, 169 associated targets, and 232 indicators pursued through national action and international cooperation according to United Nations, 2015. While the SDGs are not legally binding, governments are expected to take ownership and establish national frameworks to achieve the goals, a challenging prospect given competing government financial and programmatic priorities. The targets have been grouped into three broad themes: people, planet, and prosperity highlighting the UN's focus on social, environmental, and economic pillars of development. Pakistan integrated the SDGs into its national development agenda NDA in Feb 2016, The government, like other developing countries, faces huge fiscal challenges to meet SDGs. Pakistan was the first country to adopt SDGs 2030 agenda through a unanimous resolution of parliament. The government conducted discussions on post-Millennium Development Goals (MDGs) with all stakeholders for coordinating and strengthening efforts at federal and provincial levels to achieve Pakistan's sustainable development and poverty reduction targets. The seven pillars of Vision-2025 are fully aligned with the SDGs, providing a comprehensive long-term strategy for achieving inclusive growth and sustainable development. At the federal level, a SDGs Monitoring and Coordination Unit, in coordination with UNDP, has been being set up to serve as a national coordinating entity with similar units in the provinces. The focus of the government from the start was on inculcating SDGs in planning processes, ensuring strong monitoring and reporting on SDGs, ensuring public financial allocations are aligned to SDGs and alternate financing modalities are being explored, and to benefit from use of technology to accelerate progress towards SDGs. Pakistan affirmed its commitment to the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development by adopting the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) as its National Development Agenda through a unanimous National Assembly Resolution. SDG support units have been established at federal and provincial levels with the planning institutions (Ministry of Planning Development and Special Initiatives and Provincial Planning and Development Departments) to guide SDGs implementation and monitoring it progress. Earlier the Government designed and approved a National SDGs Framework that envisages a national vision to prioritize and localize SDGs. Localized provincial SDG Frameworks are being formulated. UNDP is supporting the Ministry of Planning, Development & Special Initiatives (MoP&SI), Government of Pakistan for localizing the SDGs by applying UNDG. MAPS approach focusing on mainstreaming SDGs in Plans, Policies and Resource Allocation aligned to 2030 Agenda, SDGs monitoring, reporting and evaluation capacities and strengthened Financing flows. Pakistan, like many other developing countries, has not been able to meet the United Nations Millennium Development Goals of 2015, largely because of weak institutions and a lack of policy enforcement. SDGs are not moving forward and we do not see much progress due to frequent changes in the government sector. Pakistan still ranked 129th out of 165 countries in a recent Sustainable Development Goal Index ranking, Population growth remain the major obstacle in achieving goals. Energy crisis, education reforms are still needs lot of changes and immediate attention. Here we cannot forget or overlook that Pakistan has the highest rate of urbanization in South Asia. All the political parties, government has to take serious measures to attain the goals by 2030. Several challenges remain to achieve the SDGs in Pakistan. Financing the SDGs in a slow-growth economic environment is a difficult task. There is also a knowledge and technology gap in developing local solutions and improved governance. The path towards sustainable development is not easy if a country is acting alone. In the case of Pakistan, development has been hampered by fluctuating levels of foreign investment, trade, and development assistance over the years. As long as global partnerships are not encouraged worldwide, the prospects for the development of SDGs remains weak. This global partnership must have different elements, such as development assistance aid, debt relief, trade agreements, and foreign funding. If Pakistan is to achieve its SDGs, it has to pay extra focus on building robust partnerships which priorities integration through cooperation. Lastly, Pakistan needs strong institutions which can transform the current business trajectory of the country. As a country we must remember the motto of United Nations for achieving the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) i.e. "LEAVE NO ONE BEHIND"—the motto is the guiding principle in solving the most pressing problems of today. "We will only secure a prosperous, peaceful and livable planet if we harness economic growth and development to social solidarity across and between generations." violations of international humanitarian law and amount to war crimes," he said, adding, "Those responsible for these atrocity crimes must be held accountable." Ambassador Akram regretted the Security Council has been unable to issue a call for a ceasefire. In this regard, a heavy responsibility rests on those who contribute to the prolongation of this conflict, he said. "Any attempt to create a false equivalence between Israel, the occupying power, and the Palestinians, the victims of this occupation, is untenable - legally, morally and politically," he added. Akram demanded that the Council must reject Israel's attempts to displace the Gazans, within or outside Gaza. Under international law, he said, the struggle of people living under foreign occupation for self-determination and national liberation is legitimate and cannot be equated with terrorism.

Government advertising rates are far lower, at about one fourth of commercial rates. The outgoing prime minister Mian Shahbaz Sharif had announced a long pending increase in the government advertisement rates, the summary of which is still lying with the Finance Ministry. It may also be noted that alarmingly the Federal Government owes almost Rs.2 billion to newspapers towards payment of long outstanding bills. If the respected Prime Minister thinks this business model is flawed, then the print media is prepared to correct the flawed model by withdrawing these subsidized rates being offered to the Government by newspapers. Meanwhile the CPNE also expressed shocked over the PM remarks and said the prime minister was not paying ads cost from his pocket. It was public money, which should be utilized judiciously.

Australia beat Netherlands as Maxwell blasts fastest WC century

SPORTS DESK

NEW DELHI: Australia continued their fantastic form and beat the Netherlands by 309 runs in the 24th match of the ICC World Cup 2023 at the Arun Jaitley Stadium, Delhi, India, on Wednesday. The massive 309-run - the largest in the history of the mega event - win helped the Aussies improve their net run rate (NRR) considerably and strengthened their position on the road to the semi-final. Chasing the colossal target of 400 runs, not a single Dutch batter could hold their nerves and stood against the bowling attack of Mitchell Starc, Josh Hazlewood, Pat Cummins, Adam Zampa and Mitchell Marsh. The Netherlands kept losing wickets quickly and were soon all out for just 90 runs. Zampa took four wickets, Marsh bagged two, while Starc, Cummins and Hazlewood all managed to pick one. Earlier in the first innings, Glenn Maxwell and David Warner powered Australia to a massive 399-run total as both the batters, especially the former, terrorised the Dutch bowlers and showed no mercy. Australia were off to a flying start despite losing an early wicket of Mitchell Marsh. Steve Smith and Warner built a 132-run partnership, getting their side on track for a massive total. After Smith for 71 runs, Marnus Labuschagne played with the left-handed formed an 84-run stand. lost wickets in that the five-time World Champions would have to settle for a total between 300-330 but Maxwell's scored the fastest hundred in the history of the World Cup in just 40 balls and changed the fortunes of Cummins' men. Glenn Maxwell showed no mercy to the Netherlands bowlers and hit them to all parts of the ground during the 24th match of the ICC World Cup 2023 between Australia and the Netherlands at the Arun Jaitley Stadium, Delhi, India, on Wednesday. Maxwell scored the fastest hundred in the history of the World Cup as the right-handed batter completed his ton in just 40 balls. The 35-year-old came to bat when the Aussies were 266-4 in 38 overs after they had just lost the wicket of Josh Inglis. Maxwell came in and started hitting the Dutch bowlers and scored 106 runs in total off just 44 deliveries courtesy of 17 boundaries, nine fours and eight sixes. The Dutch bowlers had no answer to the rapid knock by Maxwell and looked helpless as he kept on terrorising them for 10 overs, building a 103-run partnership with his skipper Pat Cummins. The fastest World Cup century's record belonged to South Africa's Aiden Markram who scored a ton on 49 balls against Sri Lanka in the Proteas' first match of the mega event at the same venue. The five-time World Champions play the in-form New Zealand next on October 28 in Dharamshala. Meanwhile, the Netherlands will play Bangladesh on the same date in Kolkata.

Bangladesh Women edge Pak in first T20I

CHITTAGONG: Nahida Akter returned with astonishing figures of 5/8 and powered Bangladesh Women to edge Pakistan Women by five wickets in the first T20I of the three-match series here on Wednesday. Put into bat first by Bangladesh captain Nigar Sultana, Pakistan Women's batting lineup failed completely and could only accumulate 82 runs before being bundled out in the final over. The touring side, after 12 overs, were 52/2 with experienced batters Bismah Maroof and Nida Dar at the crease before both set batters perished in the next two successive overs. Pakistan Women's captain Nida Dar scored 14 in 21 deliveries with the help of a boundary while Bismah Maroof top-scored with a 29-ball 20. Pakistan Women then lost three more wickets in quick succession and then slipped to 67/7 in 16.3 overs. Coming out to bat at number six, Natalia Pervez then added valuable runs at the backend with her 16-ball 15 before perishing in the penultimate over. Bangladesh Women's bowlers then ran through Pakistan's batting tail and booked the visitors on a modest total. Nahida Akter spearheaded Bangladesh's bowling attack with a five-wicket haul while Shorna Akter, Rabeya Khan and Sultana Khatun contributed with a wicket apiece. In response, Bangladesh Women completed the pursuit for the loss of five wickets and three balls to spare. The home side had a shaky start to the 83-run pursuit as they were two down for 33 in 9.5 overs. Skipper Nigar Sultana then joined Murshida Khatun in the middle and put together a vital 24-run partnership before the latter perished in the 15th over. Khatun scored a cautious 40-ball 23 with the help of two boundaries. Bangladesh Women then lost two more wickets in the modest run chase but their captain Nigar Sultana stood her ground firm and led the home side to a narrow victory in the final over. She top-scored with an unbeaten 26. Her 28-ball knock featured three boundaries. - Agencies

FC Barcelona suffer major setback ahead of El Clasico

BARCELONA: The Blaugrana's key midfielder, Pedri, has been ruled out of the important league clash following a thigh injury he sustained in late August. Even though Barcelona's head coach Xavi Hernandez confirmed that there had been no relapse in the 20-year-old's injury, he still has not started training with the first team with Clasico just four days away. Despite Barcelona doing well during Pedri's absence, his importance and quality cannot be denied as he is considered one of the most important players for Xavi and is the glue that keeps his midfield together, along with Frenkie de Jong. It must be noted that the Catalunya club is having a difficult time coping with injuries as defenders Sergi Roberto and Jules Koukou have already been ruled out of the match against Carlo Ancelotti's side. The inclusion of De Jong, star striker Robert Lewandowski and Raphinha has also been a question but it is likely that the latter two will be able to participate in the most important match of the season yet, while the Dutch has the least chance of making it to the squad. If De Jong doesn't return to training in time, Barcelona will be left with only three midfielders - Ilkay Gundogan, Gavi and Oriol Romeu. Xavi Hernandez may do what he has been doing this season; calling players from La Masia and getting their services. During this season, Xavi has called up players like Lamine Yamal, Fermin Lopez and most recently, Marc Guiu, who scored an 80th-minute winner against Athletic Bilbao over the weekend. On the other hand, Real Madrid will have their all players except Dani Ceballos for the match against FC Barcelona. - Agencies

Bellingham scores as RM win at Braga

MADRID: Jude Bellingham continued his brilliant start to the season with another goal to help Real Madrid claim a narrow Champions League win at Braga. After Rodrigo's first-half opener, Bellingham found the bottom corner in the 61st-minute with a fine, curling finish. The England midfielder now has 12 goals in 15 matches for club and country this season. Alvaro Djaló pulled a goal back for Braga but Real held on in Group C. Vinicius Junior thought he had added a third late on for the visitors, but his strike was ruled out for offside. Rodrigo also had a first-half effort disallowed as Real Madrid created most of the chances at Estadio Municipal de Braga.

ICC rankings: Babar, Gill in tight race for top ODI spot

NEW DELHI: Babar Azam's lead at the head of the ICC ODI Batting Rankings has been reduced to just six rating points as India's Shubman Gill and a host of stars in stunning form at the ICC Men's Cricket World Cup close in on the Pakistan skipper. Babar drops to a total of 829 rating points despite having amassed 157 runs from five innings so far at the Cricket World Cup, with his most recent effort a fighting 74 in a losing side against Afghanistan in Chennai. Gill has 95 runs from just three matches for India, with the right-hander improving to 823 rating points on the back of his standout innings of 53 against Bangladesh in Pune. The India opener isn't the only player to make inroads on Babar, with in-form South African Quinton de Kock with striking distance in third place on the rankings for ODI batters following a superb start to the World Cup that has seen him score three magnificent centuries. South Africa teammate Heinrich Klaasen (up seven places to fourth and a new career-high rating) also makes good ground, while experienced duo Virat Kohli (improves three spots) and David Warner (up two spots) share fifth place on the rankings after some good performances in India. Consistent middle-order performer Daryl Mitchell is another player on the rise, with the New Zealander jumping 16 places to 13th overall after 268 runs from four hits at the World Cup. Australia seamer Josh Hazlewood maintains a narrow lead at the top of the ODI bowler rankings, but the challengers are lining up to overtake him with India quick Mohammed Siraj (up one place to second) his nearest rival after picking up six wickets from five appearances at the World Cup. South Africa spinner Keshav Maharaj rises two places to third and a new career-high rating following his seven wickets at the tournament thus far, while Afghanistan veteran Mohammad Nabi (up four places to sixth) and Australia tweeker Adam Zampa (up four places to seventh) also make ground inside the top 10. Bangladesh captain Shakib Al Hasan remains out in front of the ODI rankings for all-rounders, with South Africa beapole Marco Jansen the biggest mover with the in-form No.7 jumping 23 places on this list to share 11th place alongside Scotland's Michael Leask. - Agencies

The reason behind PIA's inability to secure funds remains the fact that neither any financial institution is ready to extend loan facility nor the federal government has been showing interest in another bailout amid the absence of any room for fiscal adjustment. The current crisis comes as the case for the privatisation of state-owned enterprises is strengthening under the IMF conditions aimed at reducing fiscal deficit as these loss-making entities have been proving a burden on national exchequer.

Sudan army to resume talks on ending war

WAD MADANI: The Sudanese army said Wednesday it has accepted an invitation to resume US- and Saudi-brokered talks aimed at ending more than six months of conflict with the paramilitary Rapid Support Forces. The war between forces loyal to army chief Abdel Fattah al-Burhan and his former deputy, RSF commander Mohamed Hamdan Daglo, has killed more than 9,000 people and displaced over 5.6 million since it erupted in April. Previous mediation attempts have only succeeded in brief truces, and even those were systematically violated. In a statement, the army said it had accepted an invitation from Saudi Arabia and the United States to travel to the Saudi city of Jeddah "out of a belief in the armed forces that negotiations is one of the means that may end the conflict".

"The resumption of negotiations does not mean a halt of the national battle of dignity, for the defeat of the rebel militia," the statement added. The war in Sudan has decimated already fragile infrastructure, shuttered 80 percent of the country's hospitals and plunged millions into acute hunger. "For six months, civilians - particularly in Khartoum, Darfur and Kordofan - have known no respite from bloodshed and terror," said UN humanitarian chief Martin Griffiths. —APP

France's Macron in Egypt to meet Sisi

CAIRO: French President Emmanuel Macron arrived in Cairo on Wednesday, an AFP correspondent reported, for talks with his Egyptian counterpart Abdel Fattah al-Sisi, the latest leg of a whistlestop crisis tour.

On Tuesday Macron was in Israel where he voiced support for its retaliation against Hamas after gunmen from the Islamist group unleashed the deadliest attack on Israel in its history on October 7. Hamas militants attacked southern Israel, killing more than 1,400 people, most of them civilians, according to Israeli authorities.

In relentless Israeli bombing since, more than 6,500 people, mostly civilians, have been killed in Gaza, according to the Palestinian territory's Hamas-controlled health ministry.

Macron on Tuesday also visited the occupied West Bank for talks with Mahmud Abbas, president of the Palestinian Authority.

In Amman, he met King Abdullah II, who stressed that "stopping the war on Gaza is an absolute necessity, and the world must move immediately in this direction", a Jordanian royal court statement said.

Arab leaders have pushed for a ceasefire and a return to a political process, echoing wider warnings of a potential regional spillover of the Israel-Hamas war.

Erdogan calls for ceasefire in Gaza, canceled Israel trip

Almost half of those killed in Israeli attacks on Gaza are children, says Recep Tayyip Erdogan

FOREIGN DESK

ANKARA: All parties in the Palestine-Israel war should take their fingers off the trigger, said the Turkish president on Wednesday, urging an immediate ceasefire in the conflict.

At the Justice and Development (AK) Party's parliamentary group meeting in Ankara, Recep Tayyip Erdogan said before Oct. 7, when the conflict erupted, he had planned to visit Israel but then canceled his plans.

Noting that Türkiye has no problem with the Israeli state, Erdogan said his country will never approve of it committing atrocities. Almost half of those killed in Israeli attacks on Gaza so far are children, showing that the aim is deliberate brutality to commit crimes against humanity, he added. He said that when those who stood up for the world in Russia's war on Ukraine are silent about the massacre in Gaza, this is the "most concrete expression of hypocrisy." Accusing countries outside the region of "adding fuel to the fire" in the name of supporting Israel, he said the US will lose as it does not seem to want the world to be ruled fairly. Türkiye is deeply saddened by the helplessness the UN has fallen into, and no one takes it seriously as it turned a blind eye to the brutal killing of children, he added. Türkiye's objections to the unfair structure of the UN Security Council were again confirmed by recent news, he added, referring to how a Mideast cease-fire resolution was vetoed by one of the council's five permanent members, a structure Türkiye has long cried foul over. Erdogan reiterated his quotable slogan for UN reform, "The world is bigger than five," referring to the unrepresentative nature of the UN Security Council's five permanent, veto-wielding members. The Jewish people know well that Türkiye is the only land that has been without antisemitism for centuries, he added. The conflict in Gaza, which has been under Israeli bombardment since Oct. 7, began when Hamas initiated Operation Al-Aqsa Flood, a multi-pronged surprise attack that included a barrage of rocket launches and infiltrations into Israel by land, sea, and air. It said the incursion was in retaliation for the storming of the Al-Aqsa Mosque and growing violence by Israeli settlers. The Israeli military then launched a relentless air campaign against the Gaza Strip. Nearly 7,200 people have been killed in the conflict, including at least 5,791 Palestinians and 1,400 Israelis. Gaza's 2.3 million people have been running out of food, water, medicines and fuel, and aid convoys allowed into Gaza have carried only a fraction of what is needed. Israel launching a ground operation into the Gaza Strip could escalate the situation there from brutality into a "massacre," the Turkish foreign minister warned on Wednesday. Speaking at a press conference in Doha alongside his Qatari counterpart Sheikh Mohammed bin Abdulrahman al-

Thani, Hakan Fidan said the targeting of Palestinians regardless of whether they are children, the sick, or the elderly, and even in schools, hospitals, and mosques, is a crime against humanity. As deaths mount in Gaza, the backlash in the region will naturally grow, said Fidan, adding: "It is impossible to predict consequences in advance." Israel launched a relentless bombing campaign on Gaza following a surprise attack by the Palestinian group Hamas on Oct. 7, putting the enclave's residents under total siege, with a blockade of food, fuel and medical supplies. For several days aid supplies started to trickle in, but at a level far below the needs of the deprived enclave.

Germany to accelerate deportation of rejected asylum seekers

BERLIN: The German government introduced a draft law on Wednesday to accelerate the deportation of irregular migrants whose asylum applications were declined by the authorities. Speaking at a news conference in Berlin, Interior Minister Nancy Faeser said the proposed legislation will ensure that people without the right to stay in Germany will leave the country quickly. "We envisage a package of restrictive measures to ensure more and faster deportations. This is necessary so that we can continue to live up to our humanitarian responsibility for the people that we have to protect from war and terror," she said. The Social Democrat politician argued that they must significantly limit irregular migration and return economically motivated illegal migrants to their home country, so that the resources can be used for asylum seekers who really need protection in Germany. "Our new regulations will improve the possibilities for deportations in a large number of cases. This also includes deporting criminals and dangerous persons more consistently and more quickly. This would apply particularly for those involved in organized crime, which we are combating even more resolutely," she said. According to the proposed bill, authorities will have legal powers to check the cell phones of irregular migrants to determine their identities. They will be allowed to use all data without restriction. In refugee accommodations, the police will be allowed to carry out searches and enter almost all rooms while trying to find the person who is to be deported. For persons who are requested to leave the country, the maximum length of pre-deportation custody will be extended from 10 to 28 days, in order to give the authorities more time to prepare for the deportation. —DNA

GENEVA: The UN refugee agency announced on Wednesday the estimated number of displaced people worldwide, driven by war and violence, hit 114 million by the end of September.

"The main drivers of forced displacement in the first half of 2023 were: war in Ukraine and conflicts in Sudan, the Democratic Republic of the Congo, and Myanmar; a combination of drought, floods, and insecurity in Somalia; and a prolonged humanitarian crisis in Afghanistan," the UNHCR said in a statement, citing its mid-year trends report. Noting that the world's focus is now on the "humanitarian catastrophe" in Gaza, UN High Commissioner for Refugees Filippo Grandi said: "But globally, far too many conflicts are proliferating or escalating, shattering innocent lives and uprooting people." "The international community's inability to solve conflicts or prevent new ones is driving displacement and misery," Grandi stressed, underlining the need to work together to end conflicts and allow refugees and other displaced people to return home or restart their lives. According to the UNHCR, 110 million people had been forcibly displaced worldwide by the end of June - an increase of 1.6 million from the end of 2022.

The report found that over half of all people who are forced to flee "never cross" an international border. Only in the three months from June to the end of September, UNHCR estimated that the number of forcibly displaced grew by 4 million, bringing the total to 114 million. "As we watch events unfold in Gaza, Sudan, and beyond, the prospect of peace and solutions for refugees and other displaced populations might feel distant," Grandi said. "But we cannot give up. With our partners, we will keep pushing for - and finding - solutions for refugees." Of the refugees and other persons in need of international protection, 75% were hosted by low- and middle-income countries, the report said. In the initial six months, 1.6 million individual asylum applications were filed globally, the highest ever recorded.

While not all were in safe circumstances, over 404,000 refugees returned, more than twice as many as in the same period in 2022. Almost 2.7 million internally displaced individuals returned to their homes during the same period, exceeding twice the number of returns in the first half of 2022, it said. There was also an increase in the number of resettled refugees. The conflict in the Middle East started on Oct. 7, which falls outside the reporting period and is not factored into its analysis of human displacement, the statement underscored.

Kiev slams Musk over calls to end war

KIEV: Mikhail Podolyak, a senior aide to Ukrainian President Vladimir Zelensky, described Elon Musk's calls for an urgent ceasefire in the Ukraine conflict to avoid a larger conflict as a "catastrophic mistake" with far-reaching consequences in a Telegram post on Tuesday. On his channel, Podolyak called Musk's recent proposal equivalent to surrendering Ukraine to "mandatory large-scale genocide" from Russia and suggested that refusing to support Ukraine would "inevitably lead to a sharp increase in conflicts around the world, the end of the era of international law, the collapse of the international economy, and the triumph of the forces of evil." The advisor's comments came after Musk stated in a conversation on X (formerly Twitter) Spaces on Tuesday that the US was "sleepwalking" into World War III by antagonizing countries like Russia, Iran, and China. Musk said he believed that "civilization itself may be at stake" and stressed that the US must work to prevent a global conflict. To that end, he called on the US to "resume normal relations with Russia" and "figure out" a way to establish peace in Ukraine, labeling the war a hopeless situation. —Agencies

Muslim councilors ask Labour to call for cease-fire

LONDON: More than 150 Muslim councilors from the UK's main opposition Labour Party on Wednesday called on the party leadership to call for an immediate ceasefire in the Israel-Palestine conflict.

"As a party that bases its principles on fairness and justice, we cannot sit idly by as Palestinians face collective punishment, said a letter signed by the councilors.

The letter was published by Labour Muslim Network (LMN), an inclusive organization that seeks to promote British Muslim engagement with the Labour Party.

"We urge the Labour Party to urgently adopt a position of calling for an immediate cease-fire, calling on the UK government and the international community to act upon this proposal to save innocent human lives," the letter added.

They also stressed that hostages held captive must be returned to their families.

The Labour Party has seen a series of resignations from councilors after its leader Keir Starmer said in controversial remarks that Israel had the "right" to cut power and water supplies to Palestinians living in Gaza. The remarks sparked controversy among the party.

Israel launched a relentless bombardment campaign on Gaza following a surprise attack by Hamas on Oct. 7, putting the enclave's residents under total siege and a blockade of food, fuel, and medical supplies. Aid supplies have since started to trickle in, but at levels far below the public need. —APP

Arabs shocked over 'double standards' of West

DNA

AMMAN: Queen Rania of Jordan on Tuesday blasted Western leaders for their "glaring double standard" as deadly Israeli bombardment in Gaza and blockade worsened the humanitarian crisis. Over 5,700 Palestinians in the besieged Gaza Strip have been martyred in the air strikes, including over 2,300 children, 1,200 women and 295 elderly people. According to Gaza officials, over 16,200 are wounded as hospitals warn of collapse in the wake of low supplies due to Israeli blockade since October 7 in response to Hamas attacks. In an interview with American news channel, Queen Rania who is also of Palestinian descent said, "The people all around the Middle East, including in Jordan, we are just shocked and disappointed by the world's reaction to this catastrophe that is unfolding." She regretted the Western world's "glaring double standard" and added that Arabs perceive the criminal support to Israel as "aiding and abetting" the mass killings of civilians in Gaza. "When October 7 happened, the world immediately and unequivocally stood by Israel and its right to defend itself and condemned the attack that happened... but what we're seeing in the last couple of weeks, we're seeing silence in the world," Queen Rania said.

US 'definite accomplice' in Israeli crimes

DNA

TEHRAN: Leader of the Islamic Revolution Ayatollah Seyyed Ali Khamenei says the United States is a "definite accomplice" in the Zionist regime's crimes against the people of the Gaza Strip. He made the remarks during a meeting with members of the Lorestan Province's Martyrs Commemoration Congress on Wednesday. Ayatollah Khamenei further said the US somehow manages the crimes being committed against Palestinians in Gaza. "The presence of the heads of oppressive and villain states in the occupied territories shows their concern about the disintegration of the Zionist regime," the Leader added, referring to Western leaders' trips to the Israeli-occupied territories to reaffirm their support for the regime. "Islamic governments should not be passive in the face of criminals. Victory certainly belongs to Palestine," Ayatollah Khamenei also said that Gaza is now "the scene of innocence on the one hand and strength on the other hand." He described as "decisive" and "irreparable" the blow dealt to the usurping entity by Palestinian fighters in their October 7 raid, dubbed Operation Al-Aqsa Storm.

Cipher case: Imran Khan challenges indictment in IHC

COURT REPORTER

ISLAMABAD: Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf (PTI) chief Imran Khan on Wednesday moved the Islamabad High Court (IHC) against his indictment in the cipher case by a special court formed under the Official Secrets Act. Earlier this week, the special court indicted Khan and his deputy Shah Mehmood Qureshi in the cipher case that included charges of violating the secret law by misusing and misplacing the diplomatic cable based on conversations between Pakistan's envoy to Washington and the US diplomat during the tenure of Khaled government last year. Special court judge Abul-HasnatZulqarnain read out the charges, which said that Imran Khan "illegally retained and wrongly communicated" the cipher. "The said information/cipher was relating to top secret information, which were inter-se two states i.e., United States and Pakistan," said the charge-sheet, adding that the PTI chief used the cipher in a "prohibited place (jalsa)" and "wilfully communicated" the secret information to the participants, in violation of "interests of the State of Pakistan". In a petition filed through his counsels Salman Safdar and Khalid Yousof today, the incarcerated former prime minister implored the IHC to declare his indictment null and void citing procedural lapses.

Not only Afghans, deadline for all illegal foreigners

FAISAL SHEIKH

ISLAMABAD: Caretaker Interior Minister SarfrazBugti Wednesday clarified that the November 1 deadline is not limited to Afghans, but applies to all foreigners illegally residing in Pakistan. Speaking in the Senate Standing Committee on Interior, the security czar clarified that the government addressed the issue of expulsion of "all" illegal foreigners living in the country, however, the message was wrongly received as if the state wanted to repatriate only Afghan citizens. The caretaker government, earlier this month, had directed all "aliens" - including 1.73 million Afghan nationals - to leave the country following a series of terrorist attacks in which Afghan nationals were found to be responsible for 14 of 24 suicide bombings. "Government's message [to leave the country] is not limited to Afghans, [it is applicable] on all illegal foreigners living in the country," Bugti said. The government is also deporting Baloch people coming into the country from Iran, Bugti said while reassuring that those with refugee cards and visas are "our guests". The issue is being given an ethnic angle, it's not like that at all as we intend to expel all illegal foreigners, he stressed. In a bid to tighten the noose around illegal "foreigners", the caretaker government has set November 1 as a deadline for the immigrants residing in the country unlawfully, warning that action will be taken against them after the time limit. The decision was taken in an apex committee meeting on the National Action Plan (NAP) on October 3 after a deadly suicide blast in Balochistan'sMastung, in which over 60 people lost their lives. In most of the recent terror incidents in Pakistan, Afghan nationals or soil was reportedly used. According to a statistical report released by the independent think tank Pakistan Institute for Conflict and Security Studies (PICSS), at least 271 militant attacks took place during the first half of 2023, resulting in the loss of 389 lives and injuring 656 individuals. Terror activities in the country soared by 79% during the period. The United Nations (UN) has also said that refugees residing in Pakistan should be allowed to exit the country voluntarily and no pressure should be exerted on them.

Israel intensifies bombing in Gaza as world leaders call for pause

Gaza's death toll soars to 6,546 amid Israeli airstrikes, 2,704 children among victims

NEWS DESK

GAZA: Israel's military intensified its bombing of southern Gaza overnight after one of the deadliest days for Palestinians since the conflict began as world leaders called for a halt to fighting to allow aid into the besieged enclave. The Palestinian death toll from ongoing Israeli airstrikes on the Gaza Strip has soared to 6,546, the Health Ministry said Wednesday. "The fatalities included 2,704 children, 1,584 women, and 364 elders," the ministry spokesman Ashraf al-Qudra told a press conference in Gaza City. He said 17,439 other people were injured in the assaults, while 1,600 people remained trapped under the rubble, including 900 children. The spokesman said 73 medics were killed and 25 ambulances destroyed in the Israeli attacks. "Gaza's healthcare system went out of service" amid relentless attacks and critical shortages, al-Qudra said. Amid concerns the Israel-Hamas conflict will spread across the Middle East, Israel's military said its jets struck Syrian army infrastructure and mortar launchers in response to rockets launched from Iran ally Syria. The military did not provide further details. It did not accuse Syria's army of firing the two rockets, which set off air raid sirens in the Israeli-occupied Golan Heights. Citing a military source, Syrian state news agency (SANA) said the Israeli attack killed 8 soldiers and wounded 7 more in an "aerial aggression" near the southwestern city of Deraa. The United States and Russia are leading international calls for a pause in fighting between Israel and Hamas to allow aid into Gaza where Palestinians are living in harrowing conditions. US President Joe Biden and Saudi Arabian Crown Prince Mohammed bin Salman spoke by phone on Tuesday and agreed on broader diplomacy "to maintain stability across the region and prevent the conflict from expanding," the White House said. Deadly clashes have intensified between the Israeli military and Palestinians in the occupied West Bank, and resurged between Israel and Lebanon's Hezbollah armed group along the Israeli-Lebanon border. Iran, which has sought regional ascendancy for decades, backs both Hezbollah and Hamas, and has warned Israel to stop its onslaught on Gaza.

President stresses upon holding of free, fair, credible elections

ISLAMABAD: President Dr Arif Alvi on Wednesday emphasized that for the future of the country, free, fair and credible elections should be held in which all the political parties be given a level-playing field to contest. In an interview with a private Tv talk show, the president said different quarters were talking about ensuring level-playing field to all the political parties in the country. He said the basic norm should be the democracy and all the political leaders should be given equal opportunities to contest the upcoming elections. To a question, the president maintained that he had condemned 9th May incidents as he was always against such acts of damaged and destruction. To another query, he said that the constitution provided that a president might continue in the office till election of his successor and as the electoral requirement could not be met in the absence of assemblies, so leaving his office in vacuum was not good for him. In the parliamentary system, changes could take place to governments, he said adding, in the past, unconstitutional elements had derailed the democratic system in the country. The president expressed that despite difficult times, the country was moving on the path to democracy and there was a path to move forward. Appreciating former premier Benazir Bhutto, the president recollected that during 2001 when he was arrested and sent to jail, he was told by the jail authorities that contrary to dictatorship era, the environment in jails had been changed under the PPP government. He said credit should be given to the PPP as a political party that was the standard bearer of democracy and women's rights. The president also lauded former president Asif Ali Zardari for raising the slogan of 'Pakistan Khappy'. To a question, the president said the people had the confidence in the superior courts and appreciated incumbent CJP Justice Qazi Faez Isa as 'highly respectable personality', adding that CJP had unified the court. - DNA
