ARTISANS' BOWLING

League Games Will Begin at Riverside next Monday Evening

The bowling squad of Palmyra Assembly No. 65, A.O.M.F., have been diligently practicing in their preliminary series on Fehrle's Riverside alleys, and are now anticipating the opening of the regular league season on Monday evening, November 6th.

Two new teams have been added to the League, now making a total of eight teams, the names and captains of these respective teams being as follows:

Bandits—H. L. Nichols.
Bootleggers—DeWitt Morris.
Pirates—Aaron White.
Outlaws—Dr. Thos. M. Craig.
Demons—Howard Vile.
Buccaneers—C. P. Gibbon.

In addition to the regular League games, a two-man bowling marathon is scheduled for Thanksgiving afternoon and evening, and a similar event is also scheduled for the Thursday evening of the Christmas holidays.

In addition to these special events, it is also proposed to hold tournaments both for the individual and two-man team championships of the League.

Pirates vs. Outlaws.
Thursday—Demons vs. Buccaneers.
Highwaymen vs. Footpads.

RIVERTON WINS

Playing of Jenkins Feature of Victory Over Berkshire.

The work of Jenkins, heretofore a substitute, at centre, was the feature of Riverton's 6-0 victory over Berkshire at The Field Club grounds last Saturday.

Jenkins, playing a splendid game throughout, also scored the winning points by dropping on a Berkshire fumble behind their goal line.

Coach Kieckhefer's good work is being made visibly evident in the improved team work of the eleven, and he has made some shifts that have added to the balance of the local squad.

Billy McIlhenny returned to his top form in the Berkshire game and Joe Stack also showed to great advantage as quarterback and field captain.

This Saturday afternoon at four o'clock, expected to give one of the hardest battles of the season. Game at 3 o'clock.

Reeves-Major

The Central Baptist Church was the scene of a very pretty fall wedding on Saturday afternoon at four-thirty o'clock, when Miss Ruth A. Major, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Major, became the bride of Mr. Albert J. Reeves, Jr.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Eleanor Major, as maid of honor, and the best man was Mr. Leslie Reeves, brother of the groom. Miss Nan Golden, of South Orange, and Miss Virginia Wheeler, of Manville, nieces of the bride, were flower girls. The ushers were Mr. Arthur Bowker, Mr. Howard Elliott and Mr. Albert Major.

A reception followed the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. Charles W. Williams, at the church, after which Mr. and Mrs. Reeves left for a wedding trip and upon their return will reside with her parents at Broad and Lippincott avenue.

LESSON FOR NOVEMBER 5

JESUS THE GREAT PHYSICIAN

LESSON TEXT—Luke 4:31-41; 5:15-26.
GOLDEN TEXT—Himself took our infirmities, and bare our sickness.—Matt. 8:17.
REFERENCE MATERIAL—Matt. 9:28-29; Mark 1:21-45.

PRIMARY TOPIC—How a Sick Man Was Brought to Jesus.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Jesus Healing the Paralytic.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Jesus' Power to Forgive Sin.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Jesus' Ministry to Human Need.

Since the topic sets forth Jesus as the Great Physician, it will be better for adult classes, especially, to take the larger text chosen by the committee and note the several outstanding cases of His healing. For some classes it will be better to study the one case of healing, namely, the healing of the paralytic.

I. Jesus Healing a Demoniac (4:31-37).

While engaged in teaching in the synagogue He was interrupted by a man who had an unclean spirit. Jesus rebuked the demon and compelled him to come out of the man. This healing shows Jesus not only gracious, but powerful to set free the whole brood of diabolical passions, such as lust, envy, anger and jealousy which rule men.

II. Jesus Heals a Woman of a Great Fever (vv. 38-39).

Peter's mother-in-law was prostrate with a great fever. They of Peter's household besought Jesus for her. Jesus rebuked the fever and it left her so that she immediately rose and ministered unto them. No earthly physician had ever been known to heal in that way. Divine healing is immediate and complete. We should distinguish between divine healing and faith healing. Faith healing is the result of the action of the mind upon the body and is measured by the degree of the faith, while divine healing is the action of the power of God upon the diseased one, and is always complete and immediate, because it is measured by the power of the Healer, God. His fame spread abroad and many sick of divers diseases were brought unto Him and He healed them all, even casting out demons and forbidding them to testify of Him.

III. Jesus Heals a Leper (5:12-16).

Leprosy was a most loathsome and terrible disease. Because of its foulness one afflicted therewith was an outcast. The disease was incurable by man, therefore the leper was regarded as hopeless and dead. In response to the leper's earnest request, Jesus touched him and bade the leprosy to depart, and immediately he was healed and cleansed. Leprosy is a type of sin. Jesus has power to heal and cleanse and restore.

IV. Jesus Heals a Paralytic (5:17-26).

1. Watched by the Pharisees and Doctors (v. 1). Jesus' fame spread abroad, and this only incited jealousy on the part of these men.

2. The Paralytic Brought (v. 18, 19). This is a fine lesson in Christian service. They could not heal the man, but could bring him to Jesus, who could heal and restore. They had faith in Jesus to heal him. No effort which is required to bring a sinner to Jesus should be regarded as too great.

3. The Man's Sins Forgiven (v. 20). Jesus looked back of the palsy to its cause—sin. All disease and death is the result of sin. Jesus saw the faith of those who brought him, but of the man himself.

4. The Purpose of Miracles (v. 21, 22). The Pharisees accused Christ of blasphemy when He declared the man's sins forgiven. Jesus showed them that back of the beneficent deed to the man was the demonstration of His deity. The main purpose in the working of miracles is the authentication of the divine mission of the one performing them. The working of the miracle was to demonstrate His authority to atone for sin and to grant forgiveness. While the divine power and authority are thus shown, the wisdom and love of God are shown in that in all cases the supernatural work is for the good of the individual. A true miracle is never spectacular. It is not merely a demonstration of power, but the working of power for beneficent ends, the good of some one in need.

5. Relative Value of Physical Ills and Moral and Spiritual Maladies (v. 23). Physical Ills are less serious than the sins which cause them. In dealing with them we should follow the example of Christ and first deal with the cause.

ON WHICH SIDE WILL BE YOUR INFLUENCE?

Next Tuesday the voters of New Jersey will decide between righteousness and unrighteousness—between the forces that stand for law and order, and the forces that openly boast of violation of law, and promise that which they know they cannot deliver.

There are enough right-thinking people in the State to preserve its fair name from the threatened disaster and humiliation if they will do their plain duty.

Will they place in the chair of the Chief Executive of New Jersey a man in whose hands law and order and common decency will be safe?

Will they return to the United States Senate a man whose worth and ability have been proven by his works?

The success of the Republican candidates and the high ideals for which they stand is in the hands of the voters who usually stay at home, excusing themselves by the plea that "my vote will make no difference."

Every vote will be needed. In Burlington County this fall 41,742 voters were registered. Only 14,538 votes were polled—a trifle more than one third.

In Pennsylvania Gifford Pinchot was nominated for Governor by a majority of about 8000. There are 7960 polling districts in the State. If only one of Pinchot's friends in each district who supported him at the polls had failed to vote, he would have been defeated.

Your vote is important. A correspondent to the Public Ledger, under date of October 26, writes: "No citizen really possesses any more religion than he practices on Election Day."

The voting booth is the laboratory wherein the acid test is applied to a person's faith. If religion has done nothing for a man's citizenship, then it has done nothing for his soul.

If "good" men and women could not be counted upon by bad politicians to leave their religious convictions at home on Election Day, there would be no use in a political machine's trying to live for good people are in the majority, and whenever their righteousness becomes really operative it dooms the "organization" type of politics.

When a Christian's lips pray, "Thy will be done in heaven," and his ballot prays, "The bosses' will be done on earth," what does he really mean? Does the fact that so many citizens do not vote at all signify that they have obeyed the injunction, "Vote as you pray?"

Democrats Trying to Fool the Women, Says Mrs. Feickert

In a statement on Tuesday from the headquarters of the New Jersey Women's Republican Club in Plainfield, Mrs. E. F. Feickert, the President of the Club, says: "The Democratic women must like to be fooled if they are taken in by one of the planks in that party's platform. This plank says that the Democrats favor the passage of an equal guardianship law, making fathers and mothers equally the custodians of minor children. This is a nice plank and calculated to win the support of all the mothers of New Jersey, but unfortunately it does not mean anything, because the Republicans have already made equal guardianship an accomplished fact. The first bill introduced by Mrs. F. W. Ness, Assemblywoman from Essex County, in the legislative session of 1921, was an equal guardianship bill. It passed both houses and was signed by the Governor. Fearing that the bill might have happened to the bill after its signature, Mrs. Van Ness, when she read the Democratic platform, immediately telegraphed to the Attorney-General of the State, and she has his reply saying that this law is now Chapter 107 of the Laws of 1921."

It is the plan of the Commission to replace, next year, trees that did not live. This replacement will not be charged against the property owners. It has been noted that none of the maple trees died. The oak trees were larger than ordered, which probably accounts, in most cases, for their not thriving.

TO ENFORCE DRY LAWS

Municipal Heads and Police Officials Meet With Grand Jury to Discuss Those 3000 Stills

As a result of Governor Edwards' assertion that there were 3000 illicit stills in operation in Burlington county, made during a campaign speech at Riverside, the police and municipal authorities from all over the county met with the Grand Jury at Mount Holly on Thursday to discuss the situation. They were addressed by Judge Wells, who said that the county court stood ready to render every assistance and co-operation in the rigid enforcement of the prohibition laws, and that municipal authorities who failed to discharge their duty in this particular were liable to indictment by the Grand Jury.

Riverton was represented by Mayor Killam E. Bennett. Those in attendance from Palmyra were Township Committee-men Charles B. Hinchman and James H. Hartley, Chief of Police Morris Beck and Squire William L. Fichter.

PLEA FOR LAW AND ORDER

Judge Wells Tells the Women Violation of "Dry" Laws Are Largely Due to "Wet" Governor

The women of Palmyra, Riverton and Cinnaminson experienced a rare political inspiration at the meeting Wednesday afternoon when Judge Harold B. Wells, in a dramatic speech, figuratively asked "Mr. Edwards, are you a man of judgment from his shoulders to do his fighting armor of the days gone by when he battled year after year for a "dry" Burlington county and "New Jersey?"

The Judge explained that he had carefully abstained from politics for the past three years, following his elevation to the bench, which honor he had accepted in the belief that his life-long battle had been won in the passage of the prohibition amendment.

But with a Governor of the State, now running for United States Senate pledged to do all in his power to violate and nullify the very Constitution of the Nation, Judge Wells could not refrain from entering the fray.

He explained how 46 States of the Union had ratified the amendment, a number greater than had ever ratified any other, and how Judge Taft, after opposing prohibition, said "It is now a part of the fundamental law of the land and it is the duty of every citizen to uphold it."

Judge Wells blamed a great deal of the opposition to prohibition and the violation of the law to foreigners who come to this country thinking that "liberty" means "license," and who have no respect for the moral traditions of this country.

He cited how Edwards' attempt to enact a beer law had been balked by the State Supreme Court, and declared that any similar thing he might attempt to do would be nullified by the United States Supreme Court.

It was the Democrats in the National Congress, Judge Wells said, who passed the prohibition amendment, under a Democratic President. Even now Congress is full of "dry" Democrats from other States and even should Edwards be elected away from his neighbor with a weak child in the Senate opposed to him.

The speaker asserted that the reason prohibition was not enforced more efficiently in New Jersey was largely because the Governor, an avowed "wet," had control of the State police and that someone had ordered these police to wink at violations.

Moreover, Judge Wells has appointed the majority of the county judges and as a result many of them were lenient to wet offenders.

With Runyon as Governor, declared Judge Wells, the State would be a "dry" State, and the law would be upheld to the letter.

The Judge closed with a fervent plea to the women. When he heard of huge Democratic majorities coming from Hudson county, he said, he thanked God for the women vote over the rest of the State which he knew would be for the right.

He closed with a homely poem directed to the women who stay away from the polls and let others do the voting. It ends thus:

"Nobody else can do the work That God's folk marked out for you." The meeting was presided over by Mrs. Florence Kershner and was opened with the first verse of "America" led by Miss Ethel Morton, and a prayer by Mrs. Minnie Hawker.

Mrs. Terry substituted for Mrs. Nellie Russell, of Burlington, women's county leader, who could not come because she had been up all night helping a neighbor with a sick child.

Assemblyman Powell spoke in favor of the Good Roads Bill which is one of the measures to be voted upon at the bottom of the ballot and also defended Senator Frelinghuysen's position on the bonus, who he said had risked defeat rather than to imperil the nation's financial situation, after the Republicans had taken over the virtually bankrupt Democratic administration.

PROHIBITION NOT AN ISSUE

Thoughtful voters will not be misled by promises being made by the Democratic candidates for United States Senate and Governor of New Jersey to amend the Volstead Act so as to permit the sale of light wines. Neither of the candidates, if elected, could do anything to fulfill this promise. To so modify the Volstead Act would first be necessary to repeal the Eighteenth Amendment, which would require the vote of thirty-six States.

Prohibition is not an issue in this campaign, and the attempt of the Democratic candidates to drag it in as a possible means of securing votes, is an effort to beg the real issues. White candidates for Governor, Mr. Edwards promised to "make New Jersey as wet as the Atlantic Ocean."

Has he fulfilled this promise? And do we want a man to represent us in the United States Senate who defies the Constitution and laws of our land?

Voters, both men and women, who prize the welfare of their country and their right to the Constitution and the United States above their personal desires, should think the matter over very carefully and vote for the person who will do the best for the country.

The delay in making the final report to the citizens of Riverton and Cinnaminson Township, as to the results of the Community Chest Collection, during the week of October 1st to 7th, was occasioned by some delay in getting in all of the contributions. The final results are as follows:

JAMES S. COALE, Chairman.

Barroom Statesmanship The Trenton Times, leading Democratic paper of New Jersey, says: "Unhappily for the New Jersey Democracy, barroom, statesmanship predominates in the organization."

"Governor Edwards, as the Sunday Call bluntly puts it, has time and again shocked the decent people of the State with his coarse profanity and vulgarity, and his unliberal posing as a tough guy. Right-minded Democrats are sick of the surrender of the party machinery to the rum auxiliary. Democratic women will not vote the bootleggers' ticket."

"The Democratic 'Newark Ledger' in an open letter from the Editor said: 'The women voters of New Jersey are going to determine who will be the next United States Senator, and so far, you (the pronoun refers to Governor Edwards) neither look good, sound good, or smell good to the women.... Women are idealists, and you are not very inspiring as an ideal.'"

Senator Frelinghuysen is a deacon in the Reformed Church. He says: "The proper state anthem this year is, 'Forward Christian Soldiers,' instead of the one suggested by Edwards, 'How Dry I Am.'"

Women Want Good Roads Women's organizations throughout the State are solidly behind the proposed Highway Bond Bill, which will come up for referendum vote on November 7, according to Mrs. H. M. Hutchings, of East Orange, one of the leaders in women's work.

"The women home-builders," said Mrs. Hutchings. "Most of the financial problems of the home are solved by the women. Women are the ones who have to administer the household expenditures, and therefore, are vitally interested in the question of taxation. The highway bond bill is a move in the right direction to reduce taxation, and at the same time will give us a highway system that will be of incalculable benefit to every resident of the State, particularly to the city dwellers, who depend upon the farmers for their produce, the cost of which depends so much upon adequate transportation facilities."

All-Saints' Day, also known as Hallowe'en, All-Hallows, All-Hallowmas, or simply Hallowmas, is a festival of the Roman Catholic Church, introduced because of the impossibility of keeping a separate day for every saint. As early as the fourth century, on the cessation of the persecution of the Christians, the Sunday after Easter was appointed by the Greek Church for commemorating the martyrs generally; and in the Church of Rome a similar festival was introduced in the year 489, when the Pantheon was consecrated, March 31, to Mary and all the Martyrs. But the real festival of All Saints was regularly instituted by George IV, in 835, and appointed to be celebrated November 1. It was admitted into England about 870. The choice of the date was doubtless determined by the fact that November 1, or rather the eve or night of October 31, was one of the four great festivals—February 1, May 1, August 1 and November 1—of the heathen nations of the North; for it was the policy of the church to supplant heathen by Christian observances.

In England it was long customary to crack nuts, duck for apples in a tub of water, and perform other harmless festive revels. Anciently the most essential ceremony seems to have been the lighting of a bonfire by every household. In Scotland, the ceremonial partook of a more of a superstitious character; taking, among rustics, the form of a charm to discover who should be his or her partner for life. Of these now almost exploded customs, the best summary is in Burns' well-known poem, "Hallowe'en."

Postal Delivery Service Started The new boxes for the deposit of mail under the delivery and collection system, which was installed on Wednesday, were placed in position yesterday.

If residents of Riverton will request their friends to put the house number and street address on their correspondence, it will greatly facilitate the work of the carriers.

COUNTY TOUR MONDAY

Big State Republican Leaders to be Here

An automobile tour of the county, under the direction of the County Republican Committee, will take place next Monday, November 6th. Accompanying the tour will be Candidates Frelinghuysen, Runyon and Bacharach, Mrs. Lillian Feickert, president of the State Women's Republican Club, and other speakers, who will address the voters at the towns to be visited.

All persons owning cars are invited to join the tour. A request is made that the cars be decorated with flags. Luncheon will be prepared for all at Riverside.

The speakers will be at Palmyra from 11:35 to 11:40 a. m., and at Riverton from 11:50 to 11:55.

Mass meetings will be held at 7:30 in the evening at the court house, Mount Holly, and the auditorium theatre, Burlington. Senators Frelinghuysen and Runyon and Congressman Bacharach will speak at both places.

RUNYON OUTLINES HIGHWAY POLICY

Change From Gov. Edge's Board to the Edwards' Body Imposes Extra Tax Burden of $1,500,000.

REPEAL REIMBURSEMENT ACT

Republican Candidate Promises That, if Elected, He Will Use All the Many Resources of the Governor's Office to Discard Present Practices.

The controversy in New Jersey between defenders of closed paving specifications and advocates of open bidding continues to rage, with the latter charging that the present system costs an excess of $28,000 a mile. New Jersey has paid as high as $2.46 a square yard for the same material as was furnished in Pennsylvania for $1.05 a square yard. Names have been mentioned, and denials have followed, to prove that Job H. Lippincott has been a "patronage broker" for Governor Edwards, in selecting members of the State Highway Commission.

The change from Governor Edge's highway board to the Edwards body has meant an extra burden upon the taxpayers of more than $1,500,000, according to an exhibit offered by critics of the present administration.

A ramification of the discussion is the assertion that approaches to the proposed new Perth Amboy Bridge were assessed at $90,000 by state appraisers, and were subsequently bought for $230,000 without condemnation proceedings.

Still another charge is that the contract for a temporary bridge on the Lincoln Highway over the Hackensack River was awarded to Highway Commissioner John Ferris, of Jersey City, the same day the latter resigned. This contract already has cost the state $800,000 and was given without bidding on a 10 per cent cost plus basis.

A $200,000 Arrears
Charles L. Hudson was about to be engaged as the architect on the Perth Amboy Bridge job at a 6 per cent rate, or an estimated reimbursement of over $200,000, when Highway Commissioner George L. Paddock, of Newark, successfully re-nominated. Hudson finally took the place at $86,000 for two years. Commissioner Paddock for some time has been the lone militant minority in the board.

Another charge is that the Seabrook Farms in Deerfield Township, Cumberland County, which are owned by Highway Commissioner Charles F. Seabrook, have been criss-crossed by roads constructed at state expense. In Deerfield Township, where Seabrook has a 3,200-acre place, $887,000 has been expended, while the adjacent township of Greenwich has had but $4,069.65 of state work.

Five gravel roads built across the Seabrook farm cost $66,000, of which the state paid 75 per cent. A concrete road there represented $48,000, of which the state paid 40 per cent and Cumberland County and Deerfield Township the balance. Skirting the Seabrook farm for about eight miles, $304,770.69 worth of new road was laid by Cumberland County, with the state agreeing to reimburse it. Another pike, which ran along the western line of the Seabrook farm, meant an outlay of $21,246.28.

Most of the contracts in Deerfield Township and thereabouts have been handled by the Tri-State Construction Company. The officers of the Tri-State company at the time the bulk of the paving was done, were also associate stockholders with Seabrook in the Seabrook Farms Company. Albert R. McAllister, a former Assemblyman and one of this group, has been pointed out as the drafter of the clause in the so-called home rule act of 1918 for counties, whereby closed specifications were authorized.

"Extras" Add to Cost
In 1921, patented paving companies secured contracts from the state amounting to $1,928,523 for nearly twenty-three miles at an average cost of $83,880 a mile. They did not finish at that figure, "extras" bringing it up to $86,054. Forty-three and three-fourths miles of concrete roads were authorized at $2,571,976, or an average of $58,784 a mile, and there were no "extras."

Contract records for 1922 showed an average per mile for twenty-two miles of concrete roads of $86,571, against an average of $87,219 a mile for eighty miles of concrete. New Jersey has paid, up to $152,000 a mile for an important stretch of patented highway in Middlesex County.

In Pennsylvania, where a "clean-out" of the road department was forced by a Philadelphia newspaper's expose ten years ago, the average cost is from $37,000 to $78,000 a mile for the same material as runs to $182,000 in New Jersey.

Besides the $1,274,000 excess charged against the forty-five and a half miles of patented roads under Governor Edwards' highway board, the county reimbursement act has made it possible to swell this figure to over $1,500,000. It is claimed that the State Highway Commission could have refused to approve of patented pavements for roads constructed by counties, for which the latter will be later reimbursed by the state.

William N. Runyon, the Republican nominee for Governor, in a detailed statement on his highway policy, has called for the repeal of the reimbursement act; for a highway commission of three to replace Governor Edwards' board of eight and for open bidding. Senator William H. Parry, of Newark, sponsor in 1920 and in 1921 of open bidding bills, has testified that Mr. Runyon, then a Senator from Union County, always was numbered among the sincere supporters of the proposed reform. Mr. Runyon has promised that, if elected, he will use all the many resources and the prestige of the Governor's office to compel a discontinuance of present practices.

Burton Disproved
North Jersey dailies recently cited the State Highway Commission's own records to disprove a defense issued by George L. Burton, of Middlesex County, president of the highway board. It was brought out by the newspapers that the only patented road laid by the Edge board was a five-mile highway put down as an experiment at the insistence of George E. Blakeslee, who was Mr. Edwards' campaign manager in 1919, and who was in constant warfare with his colleagues on the Edge board over patented material.

Mr. Burton, in discussing the work of the two boards, also gave the Edge board credit for roads actually completed and to the Edwards commission credited roads not only finished but for which contracts have been issued. The defense of the Edwards board by Judge Silzer, the Democratic gubernatorial nominee, was based on the Burton table, it appeared. Mr. Burton and Judge Silzer are associated in Middlesex County politics.

Job H. Lippincott, a former police commissioner in Jersey City, whose name is heard so often in Jersey, is an officer and the chief legislative agent of the patented pavement companies. He has denied, along with R. W. Turner, having offered Dr. Charles F. Kraemer, of Newark, an appointment by Governor Edwards to the State Highway Commission.

Another denial is from Governor Edwards, in reference to the published charge that notes for $60,000 furnished the Edwards campaign in 1919 by the late Highway Commissioner Blakeslee, were taken over after Blakeslee's death by someone acting for a paving company.

Federal Aid Lost
Besides the $28,000 a mile New Jersey taxpayers believe they are losing, there is $10,000 of federal aid withheld from roads built under so-called closed specifications. "It takes no special gift of prophecy to foresee the collapse of a road-building program which inflicts such gross wrongs upon the taxpayers," editorially said the Philadelphia North American on October 9.

"No other state in the Union could so ill afford to suspend highway improvement as New Jersey. The great farming industry, specializing in fruits and vegetables, must have good roads in order to market its perishable products successfully. The coast resorts, representing colossal investments, are largely dependent for their popularity upon the maintenance of the automobile highways that give distant visitors access to the great national playground. These arteries of travel are also used by multitudes of tourists going southward or up into New York and New England, a traffic from which the state derives substantial benefit. Its roads, therefore, constitute one of New Jersey's most valuable assets, and toleration of a system which makes their cost excessive and threatens their development, inflicts grave injury upon the state."

"The issue now before the voters of New Jersey is clean-cut. The system was established after Governor Edwards dismissed the Republican highway commissioners who would not recognize the warrentite monopoly, and replaced them with Democrats who put into effect the closed specifications and thereby made compulsory excessive prices. It would be utterly folly to believe that the way to eradicate the system would be to perpetuate the power of the politicians who devised it and have profited by it."

"The taxpayers of New Jersey, however, can easily rid their state of the costly disgrace by voting the Republican ticket at the forthcoming election. That party is unequivocally pledged to establish honest and efficient methods in road work, and its candidate for Governor is a man whose integrity and courage guarantee fulfillment of the policy."

JOSEPH L. STACK

DEMOCRATS ARE ALIENATED

Senator Frelinghuysen's Brilliant and Aggressive Campaign Conceded to Give Him Advantage and to Insure His Success.

SENATOR FRELINGHUYSEN APPEALS TO THE VOTERS

Raritan, New Jersey.—Senator Joseph S. Frelinghuysen issued the following statement on the eve of the election:

"I make my appeal to the voters of the state for re-election to the senate on two grounds: defending the fair name of New Jersey, and insuring the prosperity of its people.

"I stand for upholding the constitution in all its provisions; Governor Edwards stands for the nullification of the Eighteenth Amendment, with its attendant disregard of law and order.

"I stand for the Republican protective tariff which is restoring to the nation its lost prosperity; Governor Edwards would destroy the tariff and once more plunge the nation into the chaos of depression and unemployment."

Trenton, N. J.—Democratic dismay marks the closing days of the state campaign. Reports from every part of the state are that Governor Edwards' campaign has amazed and disgusted the great mass of the members of his party and has filled the minds of his political managers with the gloomiest forebodings of defeat.

His constant and emphatic iteration of his contempt for the Eighteenth Amendment, his indulgence in the grossest personalities, and his taproom glorification of the trite joys of "wine, women and song" have alienated from him the sympathy and support of self-respecting Democrats, and especially the women, who regard his convivial oratory as a direct affront.

New Jersey Democrats who have a pride in their party regard a campaign such as Governor Edwards has made as putting them and their party in a false light before the entire country and as damaging to Democratic prestige and fortunes. Men and women of this calibre, who comprise the greater bulk of the New Jersey Democracy, were known to have shown their disapproval and disgust of the Governor's "wine, women and song" speech at Jersey City by leaving the hall while the Governor was speaking.

Campaign Displeases Democrats
Nor has the Governor's plan of campaign been any more pleasing to those in his party who have a genuine disagreement with the wisdom of the Eighteenth Amendment. For they realize that Senator Frelinghuysen has placed him at a tactical disadvantage in the questions with which he has mercilessly bombarded Edwards' anent his single-planked platform of constitutional nullification, in demanding that he answer whether the present widespread defiance of law and order which has made New Jersey the paradise of bootleggers is the Governor's fulfillment of his promise to make New Jersey "as wet as the Atlantic Ocean."

Aside from the insincerity of a campaign based on such promises, New Jersey Democrats are perturbed by Governor Edwards' course in utterly ignoring economic questions in his campaign. His single reference to this phase has been his repeated promise to do all in his power to destroy the present tariff act if elected to the Senate. His Democratic advisers regard this not only as a serious error in view of the remarkable revival of industry in the state immediately following on the operation of the tariff act, but as another evidence of insincerity on the Governor's part.

Frelinghuysen Makes Friends
Senator Frelinghuysen's brilliant campaign has been in marked contrast to the ineptitude of his opponent. At every meeting in his statewide tour Senator Frelinghuysen has been received by great throngs of the voters. At two large mass meetings in Jersey City on October 18 he demanded that Governor Edwards discuss national issues and stop trying to deceive the people regarding the issue of wet or dry.

"In presenting my candidacy for the Governorship to the people of New Jersey I base my appeal on the explicit pledges of the Republican State platform and on my record of eight years as Assemblyman, Senator and Acting-Governor.

"If elected Governor I pledge myself to use all the resources at my command to enact into law our party pledges:

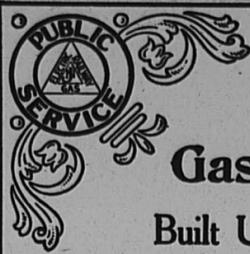

- To preserve the direct primary inviolate;
- To enforce the laws and the constitution faithfully and impartially;
- To base trolley fares and gas and electric rates on actual values, eliminating watered stock;
- To subject utility holding companies to the jurisdiction of the Public Utilities Commission;
- To reorganize the State Highway Commission;
- To pass a law for open specifications. Every patented pavement must compete with non-patented pavements of equivalent merit, to the end that the grip of the patented pavement trust on New Jersey highways may be speedily ended;
- To give counties the same right to advertise for bids on more than one type of pavement as municipalities have, and to end the county reimbursement scheme of highway building;
- To provide higher rates of workmen's compensation;
- To prohibit night work for women in laundries, bakeries and factories after 10 P. M.;
- To improve marketing facilities throughout the State through the extension of the work of the Bureau of Farm Markets;
- To afford an equal educational opportunity for every child in the State;
- To abolish useless offices and consolidate public enterprises wherever possible;
- To pass a law authorizing the State authorities to safeguard consumers against shortage of coal and extortionate prices, similar to the laws recently passed in New York State.

"In soliciting your support I submit my record in the legislature and as Acting-Governor as proof of my impartiality to capital and labor alike and of my sincere interest in the welfare of the people of the entire State."

ACCURACY in ACCOUNTING

Within the memory of persons still living the word "accounting" brought up a picture of a man on a high stool writing with a quill pen and using sand instead of blotting paper.

But the telephone belongs to a newer era, and telephone accounting is as modern and as accurate as is humanly possible.

The men and women who do the accounting work are careful and take every precaution to avoid mistakes.

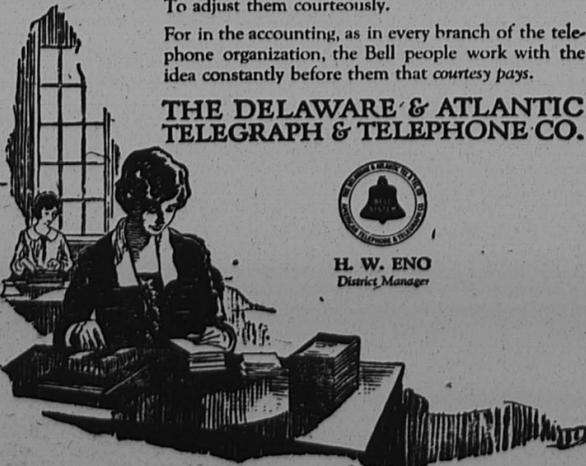

For they know that errors sometimes cause misunderstandings.

When mistakes do occur—and they are bound to occur once in a while—every effort is made to adjust them.

Stiles spent Wednesday at the Delaware Water Gap.

The directors of Palmyra Branch of the Needlework Guild will be entertained by Mrs. J. E. Greenwalt, 34 Henry street, Tuesday, November 7th. A. Goldberg, father of Edward Goldberg, formerly of the Palmyra Meat Market, died last Sunday at his home in Abington. He was 55 years old. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Griffenberg had as their guests on Sunday last Miss Eleanor Hudson, of Collingswood, and J. Meekin, of Washington, D. C. Miss Ellawill Underwood and her nephews, Arrowett and William Powell, are spending some time in Atlantic City, as the guests of Miss Etta Underwood. Mrs. Earle J. Roray and daughter, Henrietta, of Brooklyn, spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. E. Greenwalt. Miss Henrietta remained for two weeks. Mr. and Mrs. Dallas F. Wentzel, of 704 Washington avenue, are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son on Halloween. The little stranger's name is William Lamont Wentzel. Through an oversight the names of the following delegates to the P. O. of A. convention in Atlantic City were omitted from our last issue: Mrs. Mary King, Miss Edith Mills and Mrs. Evelyn Roach. Geo. W. Shaner & Sons have been awarded the contract to build the new school at Cinnaminson and have started excavating. They also are building a new house on Linden avenue for George A. Stroblin. The picked team of the quoit league will go to Medford Saturday to match their prowess in a return game with the corn huskers whom they defeated in their contest here. If Medford wins Saturday the rubber will be played off here. Mrs. Moffitt, Mrs. Edwin Lees, Mrs. Gilbert Lees and Mrs. Herbert Lees have just returned from a most delightful trip through the Blue Mountains, visiting Montclair, Westfield, Orange, Newark and stopping at Sunny Lawn, Metuchen, to visit Mr. and Mrs. John Reynolds. The Rev. Louis W. Conklin, of the Riverside Episcopal Church, delivered an excellent address at the meeting of the Wesleyan Sunday School Class Sunday afternoon. A duet by Mr. de Luc, cornetist and Leon Hart, violinist, was much enjoyed. Riverton won in the attendance contest. Harry Soast, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Soast, of Fourth and Berkeley avenue, who is taking a three-year marine engineer course in the Navy, left the League Island Navy Yard, Philadelphia, on Tuesday, aboard the "Denebola" for Constantinople, Turkey. He will return in about nine months, when his course is completed. The pastor of the First Lutheran Church, the Rev. Harry Saul, will be formally installed in the church Sunday evening. The Rev. Louis Manges, of Harrisburg, will deliver the charge to the congregation and the Rev. S. D. Daugherty will make the charge to the pastor. The orchestra led by Mr. Griffenberg will render suitable music. One of the questions to be voted on at the bottom of the ballot next Tuesday is whether the Township shall be authorized to appropriate $12,000 or more for the purchase of new fire apparatus. The firemen are all very anxious to have this passed and it is contended that our fire insurance rates are likely to go up unless a pumper similar to Riverton's is obtained. Miss Elsie Bracey entertained at a masque dance in honor of Miss Fannie O'Hare, of Philadelphia, last Saturday evening, at her home 1104 Warrington avenue. The guests were the Misses Marie and Gladys Trudel, Hannah Doonan, Alice Hardeker, Mary Price, Elsie Bracey and Fannie O'Hare, George Becton, Edwin Lees, Gilbert Palphryman, Frank Williams, Herbert Winsor and Paul Burr. The large field between A. S. King's residence on Cinnaminson avenue and the disposal plant was burned over last Friday afternoon. The field was covered with a dense undergrowth which burned like straw and gave both Riverton and Palmyra fire companies a battle to control. Riverton brought its pumper to the scene with much effect. Later in the day the companies were called out by a smaller field fire near the high school building. Voters who wish to write or paste in the name of a candidate on the ballot next Tuesday should take heed of the instructions printed at the head of the personal choice column, where such votes are to be placed. The name must be placed after the correct office. No cross is to be marked opposite the name. If the name should be written or placed elsewhere it will invalidate the whole ballot. Be sure to follow the printed instructions to the letter.

TO VOTE ON BOROUGH Palmyrians Hear About New Form of Government on Which They Will Vote Next Tuesday

V. Claude Palmer, of Mount Holly, law partner of Assemblyman Clifford R. Powell, was the speaker of the evening at a well attended meeting held Wednesday evening under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce for explanation of the borough form of government. The meeting was held in P. O. S. of A. Hall. The big crowd of citizens present evinced much interest in the proposed change of government, which is to be voted upon next Tuesday. The question appears on the official ballot and is the last of three questions submitted to the voters. Those favoring the change should mark an "X" in the square opposite the "Yes." A favorable vote merely means that the citizens request our representatives in the State legislature to introduce a bill in the legislature changing the form of Palmyra's government. Mr. Palmer said Palmyra's present form of government, the township form, was designed primarily for rural neighborhoods, whose purpose it serves well, but that as community grows to town size and the amount of detail and executive work increases, the natural trend is to adopt a higher form of government such as the borough form. Mr. Palmer said he had observed that Palmyra was growing rapidly, and after congratulating the town on its evident progressiveness, said he had no doubt but that borough government would be more adequate to present day needs. The speaker explained the advantages of the borough plan, which centralizes in the hands of the Mayor, who is thereby responsible for the execution of local laws and ordinances and the general conduct of affairs. The Mayor also holds court as a magistrate, hear cases and administer fines. In addition he has the power of punishing for contempt of his court, which an ordinary magistrate cannot do. The Mayor possesses the power to veto over the acts of council. This furnishes a system of check and balance in local government similar to that in the national and State legislatures. The council can override the Mayor's veto by a two-thirds vote, but as Mr. Palmer emphasized, sufficient time is given by the veto for the citizens to express their opinions and influence the final decision. Neither the Mayor nor councilmen, under the law, can draw salaries. Mr. Palmer made it very clear that they cannot draw themselves a salary. This would mean a saving to Palmyra at the present time of $750 a year. The Mayor presides at council meetings, but the council also elects its own president who presides during the Mayor's absence and acts as Mayor when that official is out of town or incapacitated. The number of councilmen is six. They serve two years and after the system is started, two councilmen will be elected each year so as to keep four experienced men in the body all the time. The Mayor also serves two years. Appointments are made by the Mayor with the consent of council. If the Mayor does not present names for the council, the majority of council within a month, then the council makes its own appointment. Councilmen are elected from the town at large, but as Mr. Palmer pointed out the system works out so that as a general rule all sections of a town are represented. The speaker emphasized the necessity of electing good men, if the town wishes an efficient government.

Mr. and Mrs. George Baggs win Prizes in the Elimination Dance. The Clover Club's regular monthly dance was held on Wednesday evening, October 18th, with a large attendance of enthusiastic devotees. The P. O. S. of A. Hall was again attractively decorated in the Club's colors of green and white, and with the advent of the cooler weather much zest was added to the evening's program. The usual high-class renditions by Vogt's Imperial Novelty Orchestra were well received by their appreciative audience, and repeated encores were called for, especially in one of the waltz numbers, in which "Three O'clock in the Morning" was the predominating theme. During the promenade real old-fashioned home-made cider was served with the compliments of the Club, and again speaking daintily, numerous "encores" were requested. Mr. Frank Black entertained with a humorous story after which the program was continued. Mr. and Mrs. George Baggs were presented with beautiful gifts as the result of holding the lucky number in the elimination dance. The November dance of the Club will be held on Wednesday evening, November 15th.

Camp 23, P. O. S. of A. Seventy-five years ago twenty-three young Americans under the direction of Dr. Rennel Coates, organized in Philadelphia the first camp of what finally developed into the Patriotic Order Sons of America. The objects for which they determined to work were: 1. To inculcate pure American principles. 2. To cultivate fraternal affection. 3. To oppose foreign intervention in our affairs. 4. To oppose foreign appropriation of public lands. 5. To uphold and preserve the Constitution of the United States. 6. To maintain and defend the public school system. It will be observed there is no ambiguity about the origin of the institution and there is no ambiguity about the platform of principles. For nearly thirty years Camp 23 has consistently worked for the ideals set forth and it proposes to continue. The camp has been invited by Post Rodgers to join in their Armistice Day church service November 12th, 7:30 p. m., in the P. O. S. of A. auditorium. A large turnout will show that we appreciate the courtesy. A district meeting has been called for November 14th, at Camp 35 Delaware. We want a big delegation as matters of importance will be considered. The quilt game with Camp 764, Philadelphia has been postponed to November 2nd. Several candidates were proposed Monday night and there is no doubt that Producers' banquet will have a number of guests. Publicity Committee.

Thirty Years Ago

Thirty years ago folks believed in celebrating holidays. They made quite a fuss about Columbus Day in Palmyra. An entertainment was given in Morgan Hall (now P. O. S. A. Hall) at which an address was given by the Rev. C. W. Nevin, and a medal awarded by The Weekly News to Miss Jennie Haines, of Parry, for the best essay on "Columbus." The program included much chorus singing and several speeches. At the Palmyra public school the program was opened by the reading of the President's proclamation by Capt. Hall, followed by chorus singing and essays by Harry Rudduck, William Wimer, William Roray, J. Hawke, H. Miller, H. Wray and May Soast. The address was delivered by the Rev. J. H. Fenton, and prayer was offered by the Rev. P. Y. Calder.

The flagstone sidewalk which laid on the Broad street side of the old William J. McIlhenny property at Broad and Thomas avenue until recently, was put down in October 1892. It was one of the first improved sidewalks in Riverton. Many of our readers will remember the board walks which served to keep us out of the mud more or less during the fall and winter. They were laid in the fall about the time storm sash were put up and taken up in the spring and put in the cellar until the muddy season came round again.

In The New Era of October 29, 1892, it was noted that John Starks and bride had just returned from their honeymoon, which they spent in Washington.

In the issue of November 5 appeared the following items:

How soon will that ferry company start the new ferry from Riverton to Tacony?

Mr. Lou Graff, of Riverton, and Miss Nellie Horn, formerly of Palmyra, were married on Wednesday last.

The Woman's Exchange, of Riverton, has started a circulating library in their rooms on Main street. The terms are very reasonable, and no doubt a great many will be benefited by the movement.

Mr. and Mrs. James Cunningham were surprised by a party of friends Halloween. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. William Mattis, Messrs. M. Faust, Mr. and Mrs. L. Corner, Mr. and Mrs. Grant Cottrill, Misses M. Corner, Rose Zisak, Anna Corner, Lulu Cunningham; Miss L. Joseph and Mr. E. Heiler, of Delanco; Miss Davies and Mr. Ogden Steele; Miss L. Faunce, Messrs. John Chesshire, Ogden Mattis, Louis Corner, Jr., Mr. McClelland.

Officer John Cooper (Palmyra) reports that he has made over one hundred arrests in a year.

Dr. Vanort has rented a house of Lewis Wallace, on Leconey avenue, and will resume practice in Palmyra.

Miss Ethel Morton was given a masquerade party Monday night. The guests were Eva Cooke, Mabel Lippincott, Flora Chance, Jennie Toy, Laura Weyman, Bertha Day, Maggie and Lydia Bird, Pearl Rawlins, Victoria Lawson, "Toot" (Horace) Smith, David and Howard Vonder-smith, Tommy and Bernard Smith and Wilbur Dilks.

A special from Camden, under date of November 3, announced the opening of the second trial of Francis Lingo, charged with the murder of Mrs. Annie Miller, near Merchantville, in August, 1891. Ex-Judge Wescott was Lingo's chief counsel, assisted by George H. Taylor, Samuel H. Belden, Thomas B. Farned, and Morris Waim. Chief Justice Garrison presided over the court. The State was represented by Prosecutor Jenkins, Assistant Prosecutor Ridgway, Harry S. Scovel and John Harris.

Deaths

The funeral of Charles Buchholz, who passed away at his late residence, 706 Cedar street, after an illness of three years, took place from the Church of the Sacred Heart on Monday morning, at ten o'clock, Rev. J. A. Rigney officiating. Mr. Buchholz was in his sixty-seventh year. He is survived by his widow.

Mrs. Morris Steedle died very suddenly on Wednesday morning of this week. The funeral services will be held on Saturday afternoon at two o'clock, from her late residence, 404 Howard street, Rev. Harry Saul officiating, interment in Morgan cemetery, Palmyra. Mrs. Steedle was in her sixty-third year. Beside her husband, she was survived by four sons and four daughters, Dewitt, Lawton and Miss Mildred, of Riverton; Robert Steedle, of Atlantic City; Eroy Steedle, of Newark, Del.; Mrs. Harry Miller, of Morristown; Harold B. Cooper and Mrs. Irvin Donaghy, of Riverton.

The death of Helen H. Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Brown, occurred on October 30th. The funeral took place from her parents' residence on the Burlington pike, on November 1st.

League of Women Voters

A regular meeting of the League of Women Voters was held at the home of Mrs. Charles H. Stellwagon, 426 Linden avenue, on Monday afternoon at two o'clock. George N. Wimer addressed the meeting, explaining the duties of the different office holders, State and local, and pointing out the urgent need for every woman to prove her good citizenship by going to the polls and voting according to the best principles our candidates stand for.

MEN'S CLUB MEETS

Inspiring Talk Given by the Rev. Charles Bratten DuBell, of Camden

Fifty men attended the meeting of the Men's Club in Christ Church parish house last week. Chaplain Charles Bratten DuBell, of Camden, gave a most inspiring address and the organization was voted a great success by all those present. Pleasing music was rendered by a splendid orchestra and the ladies served refreshments at the close of the meeting.

It has been fully decided to maintain the club as a permanent organization and regular officers for 1923 will be elected at the January meeting.

WILL TAKE LEGAL ACTION

Parents Who Do Not Send Children to School Regularly Face Arrest and Fine

After exhausting all other means to secure the regular attendance at school of one of the girl pupils, the Board of Education at its meeting Monday night, decided to take legal steps to enforce the law. It should be understood that this action is mandatory. Under the school law, Boards of Education have no latitude in this matter. If pupils do not attend school regularly, the law provides after certain notices have been served, the parents or guardians shall be summoned before the court.

The report of the medical inspector stated that the health conditions of the pupils was very satisfactory, and that the school building was well kept. Four applications for admission to high school were granted: The report of Miss Chew, supervising principal, showed an attendance of 97.4%, the boys making 97.5 and the girls 97.3. The boys had 33 cases of tardiness against only 14 for the girls. The highest percentage of attendance was in the sixth grade—99%. The fourth grade made 98.9. All the grades had an average above 96, and the kindergarten made 90.9%.

Mrs. Miller, Miss Chew and Mr. Boyer were asked to attend the meeting of the Board of Education, to be held December 13. The following bills were ordered paid: Janitor $ 116.67 Attendance officer 15.00 Teachers' salaries 1850.00 Stationery 17.50 Books 59.71 Supplies 123.14 Medical supplies 1.60 Electric and gas 8.00 Freight 2.08 Manual Training supplies 25.67 Repairs 2.25 Phone 6.87 Medical Inspector 150.00

Good English Week
This week has been "Good English Week" in the public schools. The children in the various grades have written about it—some in verse.

Mother Goose Rhymes in Good English Words
Little Bad English lay on a hill, Practicing slang her mouth to fill, Along came Good English and sat where she lay, And frightened Bad English far away.
ELSIE GLUD.

"Pure, forceful American speech is more than a personal matter; it is a patriotic duty."

To speak pure American speech is to speak only pure words. When we use slang and profanity as a manner of speech it is not pure and only helps to tear down our language. When talking to an audience it is almost necessary to speak forceful words, words with force—not great long, big words that some people can not understand, but good, plain, forceful American words which can be easily understood.

If we wish to make an impression when speaking we must use words full of force. Pure, forceful American speech is surely a personal matter. If we should become great men and women some day and should be put into association with noted and important people our speech is surely a personal matter.

Our ancestors were English and when they first came to America our language was perfect. Since then much slang and profanity has been added. Some people think it sounds "stylish" and "cute" to use slang; while others think it sounds "smart" to use profanity. But there is nothing "smart" or "cute" in making wrong use of the American language.

The English language is spoken by the American people, the greatest people, the greatest nation under the greatest flag in the world. Why, then, should we not take great care in making it our patriotic duty to make it the greatest language in the world?
ANDREA VAN STENBERGH

"Home."
They say that home's where you hang your toothbrush
And get your board and have a bed.
That's a house—not a home.
Home's where a hearth is—little flames
Playing hide-and-seek round the logs
—the logs
You hauled in from the woodlot this morning.
Your books, your pictures—a child's sleepy croon
And folks who folks who knit and read and smile—
That's home.

SPORTS

Palmyra High Downs Gloucester 18-6

Last Friday Palmyra High played its second home game at The Field Club grounds with Gloucester High. The Gloucester team was an unusually heavy eleven and it looked as if our boys were in for a hard time of it. Furthermore two of Palmyra's varsity players were ineligible, being below the passing average in their lessons, which made the chances for victory look bad, but due to the sensational playing of Kersey, who made two touchdowns, and that of Wood, who made one, our boys easily took the game, allowing Gloucester to make one touchdown.

Our boys have been playing good football and deserve the support of the public. They were greatly disappointed at the attendance last Friday, but they are hopeful that the people of the two towns will turn out and cheer them to victory in the remaining two games of the season—Haddonfield Friday, November 10th and Burlington, Friday, November 17th, both on The Field Club grounds. The line-up was as follows:

Palmyra	c	Gloucester
Graham	e	Stemp
Probsting	t	Westcott
Erich	g	Mayer
Sullivan	c	Brooks
Wagner	e	Engler
Palpreyman	t	Demarest

Substitutions—Becton for Sullivan, Dairo for Graham.

A Call for Volunteer Workers

The YWCA is issuing a challenge to every woman interested in "The Girl Problem" to come to the Pig'n Whistle at Brown's Mills, the 13th and 14th, to take part in ways and means of solving that problem for Burlington County. There is a definite place for the girl in this movement. It has been demonstrated in a program of activities known as the Girl Reserves. Mrs. Frederic R. Pais, National President of the YWCA convention at Hot Springs, is ably qualified to handle this subject.

The industrial phase of the girl problem will be treated by Miss Florence Simms, executive of the Industrial Department of the National Board. Miss Henrietta Rockoff will take us on a trip with the "Y" around the world, giving a glimpse of the international scope of the work in foreign lands. Will you answer the call? The YWCA needs you. Are you sure you do not need the YWCA?

Removal Notice

The U. S. Veterans' Bureau, Camden Sub-District Office, now located at 23-25 Broadway, Camden, N. J., will be located at 312 Cooper Street, Camden, N. J., on and after November 9, 1922.

Palmyra Red Cross Roll Call

Membership in the Red Cross is both a privilege and a patriotic duty. Congress created it as the National agency to meet all great emergencies. The demands upon it are persistent and insistent by suffering peoples at home and abroad.

The Red Cross Roll Call is our annual call to arms beginning this year on Armistice Day, November 11. Every member is expected to stand at attention and respond "ready" and to renew allegiance to the army of service. Only in this way can the work of the Red Cross be done.

The returns from the rummage sale held at Brown's Mills for the benefit of the Burlington County Tuberculosis League amounted to $527.00. The appreciation of the League is extended to all of those who contributed to this worthy work.

LESSON FOR NOVEMBER 12

JESUS THE GREAT TEACHER

LESSON TEXT—Luke 6:20-49.
GOLDEN TEXT—In ye would that men should do to you, do ye also to them likewise.—Luke 6:31.
REFERENCE MATERIAL—Matt. 5:1-15; John 3:2; 6:8; 7:44; Col. 3:3.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus Teaching Us to Love Everybody.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Living by the Golden Rule.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—The Golden Rule in Everyday Life.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Jesus Teaching Us How to Live Together.

1. Characteristics of the Subjects of the Kingdom (vv. 20-23).
Only those who are subjects of the Kingdom know what blessedness is. The spiritual experience of the subjects of the Kingdom are marked by the following steps:

1. Poverty of Spirit (v. 20). This means consciousness of one's lost condition and worthlessness. It is spiritual bankruptcy. It means to come to the end of self and to show sorrow for sin.
2. Hunger for Righteousness (v. 21). The one who has come to know his poverty desires the true righteousness of Christ.

3. Weeping Because of His Lack (v. 21). This is the godly sorrow which worketh repentance (II Cor. 7:10). Those who thus sorrow are assured that they shall inherit.

4. Treatment Which the Subjects of the Kingdom May Expect (vv. 22, 23). When the subjects of the Kingdom become like the King they inherit the hatred, contempt and persecution of the world. Those who pass through this for Christ's sake should rejoice for there is great reward laid up for them.
5. The Governing Principles of the Kingdom (vv. 27-38).

1. Love Your Enemies (v. 27). To love friends is easy, but to love enemies is only possible to those who have been made partakers of the divine nature.

2. Do Good to Those Who Hate You (v. 27). Love acts according to its own nature. Enmity only stimulates love to act in harmony with its own laws.

3. Bless Them That Curse You (v. 28). Injury by words is hard to let go unchallenged.

4. Pray for Them Which De spitefully Use You (v. 28). Christ's own example is the best commentary on this precept (Luke 23:34; cf. Acts 7:60).

5. Patiently Endure Wrong and Injury (v. 29). The Christian is not to bristle up in defense of his rights, but rather to suffer insult, injury and even loss. This should not be pressed so far that evil-doers can go unchecked. It expresses the law which should govern individual action.

6. Give to Every One That Askest (v. 30). This does not necessarily mean that the thing asked for should be given. We should give to every one that asketh, but not necessarily the thing asked for.

7. Do as You Wish to Be Done By (v. 31). This is called the "Golden Rule." If men were to live by this rule the labor problem would be solved. An end would be put to war. International relations would be peacefully adjusted and all profiteering in business would end.

8. Be Merciful (v. 36). The mercy of the Heavenly Father is the grand example.

9. Ceaseless Judgment Condemned (v. 37). We should not seek out the evil in others for our satisfaction.

10. Danger of Following False Teachers (v. 39). The one who does not know God and the way to heaven will lead others to ruin. Happily, we have the Scriptures, and the Holy Spirit is ready to make their meaning known, so there is no excuse.

11. Those Who Reprove Others Should Strive to Live Blameless Lives (vv. 31-46). It is easy to see others' faults, but hard to see our own.

12. The Sin of Profession Without Fruits (v. 46). The one who professes a life and fellowship with God should practice the principles which reveal the nature of God.

13. The Judgment to Be Applied to the Subjects of the Kingdom (vv. 47-49).

1. The one who hears and does the sayings of Christ the King shall be as secure as the house built upon the solid rock. The storms of the judgment cannot destroy him, for the Rock of Ages is immovable.

2. The one who hears and does not the sayings of Christ shall be overwhelmed in the judgment and go down to utter ruin and destruction.

THE DEBAUCH Today New Jersey flaunts a badge of shame in the face of a civilized world.

While Burlington is the banner county in the State for its Republican majorities, there was a disgraceful following after the flesh-pots even here.

No voter can escape his or her responsibility. The "good" folks who stayed at home and failed to take a stand on the side of righteousness are equally guilty with those who were active in the perpetration of the blackest disgrace that has ever befallen the fair name of our State.

Churchmen forgot their religion, business men forgot their boasted "hard common sense," Republicans forgot their party loyalty, women forgot their pre-suffrage pledges to stand for that which is decent.

And for what? Eau made a better bargain when he sold his birthright.

Put Out Your Flag Saturday, November 11th, is Armistice Day (holiday in Pennsylvania) and our flag should be displayed by all citizens.

How Icebergs Are Detected. Icebergs are probably the greatest menace to trans-Atlantic shipping: it was an iceberg which sent the great Titanic to the bottom with such fearful loss of life.

A new device has been brought out by a French inventor which detects icebergs when they are six miles away. Melting ice sends out rays which are invisible to the eye, but which will affect a delicate instrument called the thermo-couple.

The thermo-couple is connected to a telephone receiver on the bridge of the ship. When conditions are normal it emits a continuous note of unchanging pitch. As soon as an iceberg is approached, however, the note changes, and the look-out man knows at once that there is danger.

Gran'pa says: After all, folks are pretty much the same whether they push the pen handle or the plow handle. But those who push a pen with the "little red pump handle" has a lot easier time of it.

Smyrna and Angora

Turkish Quarter of Smyrna.

(Prepared by the National Geographic Society, Washington, D. C.)
 Smyrna, captured by the Turks and partly burned, is one of the patriarchs among the world's famous cities. Some American cities are proud of their age, feeling that a few centuries entitle them to distinction. In contrast to the newest oil town of Texas or Oklahoma where cornstalks are probably still to be found along Main street, Boston's 290-odd years indeed justify a feeling of maturity, while the four and a quarter centuries that look down on Santo Domingo entitle that first community to its pride of seniority.

But both of them are in the heyday of youth when compared with London, which probably has existed for close to nineteen hundred years, or Rome with 26 centuries behind it. It is when the Near East is reached, however, that one finds cities that are truly old. Many, like Babylon and Thebes, Nineveh and Memphis, have crumbled away ages ago, but here and there one comes upon a living community whose beginnings are lost in the haze beyond the point where history began.

Such a gray-beard among cities is Smyrna, which is believed to have been already long in existence at the time of the destruction of Troy, eleven centuries before Christ. In fact Smyrna is set up by some persons as a rival for Damascus as the oldest city in the world. The original builders at Smyrna chose their site more happily perhaps than they knew. The forces of nature have been kind to the locality. Miletus and Ephesus were formidable rivals for many centuries, but their rivers finally choked their harbors with silt and the cities died. Smyrna had no stream of any consequence, and its excellent harbor—the best in Asia Minor—has continued to bear its heavy burden of commerce through the ages.

Crescent City of the East.
 Smyrna has a population close to that of New Orleans, and like the latter it is a "Crescent City," extending in a semicircle about its bay. But while the American Crescent City is wholly flat, Smyrna has its rim of hills which under the magic of Mediterranean skies and sunsets invest the city with a beauty which detailed inspection does not verify. Its terraced outskirts are picturesque, but they lack the striking quality of the terraces of Algiers, Hong Kong and Valparaiso.

Like a number of other cities of the Near East, Smyrna is a Babel. Even under the Turkish empire its population was composed of almost as many Greeks as Turks—a fact which is not strange when it is remembered that Smyrna first reached cityhood under Greek influence and remained Greek for many centuries successively under Ionians, Macedonians, Seleucids and Byzantines. The city was wholly Greek for more than a millennium; it was nominally Turkish for five hundred years, until the treaty of Sevres was written.

Besides Greeks and Turks, there have been in the population large numbers of Armenians and Jews and lesser groups of almost every other nationality under heaven. Quite a number of Europeans have been living in the city, and there was a clean and fairly attractive European quarter with its modicum of hotels and theaters.

In some ways the Turkish quarter has more the flavor of old Turkey than present-day Constantinople. In the latter the dropping of veils by the women is marked; but in Smyrna's streets the veiled figures from the harem still fit in with all their old mysteriousness.

Angora Noted for Temples and Goats.
 A city founded by Midas of the touch of gold; overrun two centuries before Christ by far-wandering cousins of the Irishman of today; a great and wealthy community under Rome and Byzantium; and in spite of its checkered history and its past glory, known to recent generations in the West only because of a long-haired goat!

Such is Angora, in central Asia Minor, where Mustafa Kemal Pasha set up "the Angora government" of Turkey.

The remote kinsmen of the Irish who figure in the history of Angora were 20,000 Celts from central Europe who, unable to push into Greece, decided to try their luck across the Hellespont. After harrying the country for half a century they were forced to settle around Angora, then known as Ancyra. Their country became known as Galatia. There St. Paul is supposed to have founded a Christian church, to the conversion of which he addressed his "Epistle to the Galatians." In the Fourth century the

HISTORY'S MYSTERIES

THE LOST GRAND DUKE

THOSE familiar with the pomp and ceremony which hedged in the former court of Austria have always maintained that the tragic disappearance of Johann Salvator, archduke of Austria, prince of Hungary and grand duke of Tuscany, cousin of Francis Joseph and son of Leopold II, was due as much to his radical tendencies and the fact that he persisted in airing his views in print as to his infatuation for Ludmilla Stibel, the beautiful daughter of a Vienna shopkeeper. In furtherance of this opinion, they advance the unassailable evidence that Kaiser Wilhelm insisted upon the punishment of Archduke Johann when the latter urged an alliance between Russia and Austria in order to curb the threatened dominance of Germany in European politics.

Whatever the cause, the young archduke's reaction to the discipline inflicted by his royal cousin was to resign all his honors, strip himself of his titles, convert a large portion of his estate into cash, and as the crowning insult to his relatives, to elope with Ludmilla Stibel, whom he had met incognito some months before. According to all available reports, there was no doubt of Ludmilla's beauty, but a marriage between an archduke of the royal blood and the daughter of a poor shopkeeper was too much for the high-spirited Hapsburgs to swallow without a struggle. Johann, however, informed all who brought him messages from his titled kinsmen that he was no longer of the royal house—that he had renounced all his claims to the honors which were his by right of birth, and that henceforth he could be nothing more than Johann Salvator, a private citizen of the world.

When it became known that he really intended carrying through his wild plan, even force was resorted to in order to prevent him from contracting what was recognized as a mesalliance, but he concealed his identity under the name of John Orth—the name which he had used in courting Ludmilla Stibel—and the pair were hastily married, and then escaped to London. Here, still retaining his adopted name, the archduke chartered the bark Margharita, signed up a captain and crew and sailed for South America, where the ship had formerly been engaged in the nitrate trade.

The Margharita's usual course was between Buenos Aires and Valparaiso, and, after making several successful trips, she finally left the former port on July 18, 1880—and vanished as completely as if the sea had opened and swallowed her. Despite the most diligent searches, undertaken at the instigation of the Argentine government, nothing definite was ever heard of the ship or the members of the crew, though rumors that Archduke Johann had been seen at many times and in many places have been current from that day to this. The most credible of these reports is that made by an official investigator of the Uruguay government, who secured affidavits to the effect that the Margharita had put in at a lonely place on the coast of that country, where the name had been painted out and she had then sailed up the Uruguay river. "Orth," the report stated, had then paid off his crew, and with the help of two or three of his intimate companions had set sail further inland—but here the trail was lost, never to be refound.

A City of Mud and Marble.
 Though marble reminders of its ancient glory are scattered about in the Angora of today, it is predominantly a dingy city of mud brick houses and narrow streets. A mosque is built against one of the marble walls of the noble old Augustan temple. The walls and gates of the city are constructed of fragments of demolished Greek and Roman buildings, colonnades and other structures.

The city is 220 miles southeast of Constantinople. It has a population of about 30,000. It is perched on a rocky plateau to the north of which are fertile valleys and to the south of which stretch plains merging finally into a great desert. On these southern plains are pastured large herds of sheep, and the goats with long silky hair which have made the name Angora familiar to western ears. Large quantities of wool and mohair are exported.

Cats, and to a less extent dogs and other animals in the neighborhood of Angora, have unusually long silky hair. It is believed that the climate and perhaps the soil of the region are responsible for this peculiar development.

Naturalness of Rhyme.
 How comes this confederacy to be more displeasing to you than in a dance which is well contrived? You see there the united design of many persons to make up one figure . . . the confederacy is plain amongst them, for chance could never produce anything so beautiful; and yet there is nothing in it that shocks your sight. "Tis an art which appears; but it appears only like the shadowings of painture, which, being to cause the rounding of it, cannot be absent; but while that is considered, they are lost; so while we attend to the other beauties of the matter, the care and labor of the rhyme is carried from us, or at least drowned in its own sweetness.—Dryden.

Holland's Way.
 In several places the rivers in Holland make their entrances to the sea over extensive sand-beds, the water being so shallow that large vessels cannot sail in it. Rather than remove the sand-beds, which were looked upon in olden times as a defense, since they then kept men-of-war at a distance, the Dutch adopt the plan of sending out two large flat-bottomed craft to the small trading vessels that wish to enter the harbor. Arrived on either side the ship, three pontoons, as they may be called, are partially sunk by admitting water, and when their sloping sides are well under the hull of the ship to be carried, the water is pumped out, and they rise buoyantly with their burdens between them. Across the shallows they then bear it in triumph, and lower it gently into the deeper water of the harbor. With equal care the return journey is made when the merchantman is ready to sail away.

Make a Beginning.
 Many people prosper on ideas that come from without. In a measure these are common property. The really great ventures that make outstanding men are those born within a man and there-fore peculiarly his property. When appreciated and acted upon they give him the inside chance that others will covet when they see him beginning to climb. So instead of sitting around moping it's "up to you" to start something. Let your thinker sink deep down into your anatomy and mine the unused possibilities that are rusting out for want of use. Aid rest assured, unexpected possibilities will open up just as soon as you start something.—Exchange.

Youth and Age.
 In my youth I thought of writing a satire on mankind; but now in my age I think I should write an apology for them.—Walpole.

Lenity and Mercy.
 When lenity and mercy play for a kingdom, the gentler gamester is the soonest winner.—Shakespeare.

Heaven Often Smiles.
 Heaven often smiles in mercy, even when the blow is severest.—John Balliol.

The AMERICAN LEGION

(Copy for this Department Supplied by the American Legion News Service.)

AMERICANISM WEEK, DEC. 3-9

Government, Legion and National Education Association Co-operating to Make Program Successful.

John J. Tigert, United States commissioner of education, declares a conviction that a great stride toward the goal of Americanism set by the American Legion as one of its greatest programs of service will be made in the week of December 3 to 9, inclusive, which has been proclaimed American Education week.

Commissioner Tigert and the National Education association are co-operating with the American Legion in making the week a success. Announcement proclaiming the American Education week followed a conference in Washington between President Harding, Commissioner Tigert and Garland W. Powell, assistant national director of the Americanism commission. President Harding announced he would issue an official proclamation, followed by similar ones from governors of the states.

Commissioner Tigert, through the United States bureau of education, will request state and county superintendents of schools to devote the week to the American Legion program, which will start Sunday, December 3. Ministers of all denominations will be asked to preach sermons morning and evening that day on the benefits of education. Mass meetings will be held throughout the United States, at which speakers will be supplied by the American Legion.

Monday will have its special slogan—"Americans All by 1927"—with its drive throughout the country to assist immigrants and aliens to become good Americans, by starting their education in the duties of citizenship. Tuesday will be devoted to patriotism, with such subjects as "Universal Use of the English Language," "Music As a Nation Builder," "The Flag, Emblem of Freedom," and "The Citizen's Duty to Vote," emphasized. Wednesday, better pay for teachers and better school houses will be featured. Thursday will be devoted particularly to the cure of illiteracy. Thursday will be a mighty war on Bolshevism, the strengthening of the fight to eradicate radicalism. Friday will be devoted to "An Equal Opportunity for All in Education," and Saturday, December 9, will be given over to the subject of physical education, the need of more better playgrounds, the conservation of our soil and places of play in every community.

AUXILIARY MAY ADOPT THIS

Headress Fronted With Blue or Gold Star May Be Approved by the Women's Organization.

When pretty Thelma Sines of Loganport, Ind., donned the headpiece that she is wearing in the accompanying picture, and naively asked if it wasn't a perfectly wonderful creation for members of the American Legion Auxiliary to wear at conventions, conferences, etc., it hasn't been recorded what the Indiana women's reply was, but it Miss Thelma Sines is known that all the American Legion fellows who saw the picture immediately voted yes and urged its unanimous adoption.

Miss Sines' Auxiliary unit, No. 3 of Loganport, submitted the headpiece as the official one to be worn, but frankly confessed that the idea was really born at Columbus, Neb., where that city's American Legion Auxiliary unit presented it, and then Columbus replied that it really was the idea of some of the women of Louisiana. At any rate, it seemed to be a popular idea—made more so, perhaps, by the wearer herself shown, Miss Sines says she likes it, that it's cool and comfortable, and affords a distinctive headress for the organization.

It will be noted that the headress is fronted with a star. A gold star can be substituted for the ordained blue by those who lost loved ones in the service.

Details, Please.

Old Man Matthews' daughter was reputed to be the slowest witted and laziest girl in the state. One day her father came in to find her sprawled in a chair with her feet in dangerous proximity to the blazing fireplace. "Get up, gal," he yelled. "You're practically standin' on a red-hot coal." "Which foot, paw?" drawled Bnl opening one eye.—American Legion Weekly.

Figures Produced by Quarter-Sawing. In some common woods, notably the oaks, a figure is produced by quarter-sawing, says the American Forestry Magazine. In practically all woods there are ribbons of tissue which run at right angles to the axis of the tree like spokes in a wheel. These are the rays, often called medullary, or pith rays, because some of them appear as extensions of the pith into the wood. In all the conifers and most hardwoods these rays are too fine to show distinctly. In others, as in maple, cherry, and mahogany, they are distinct, but not conspicuous.

BOY SCOUTS

(Conducted by National Council of the Boy Scouts of America.)

SCOUT HARMONICA CHAMPION

A period that may take its place in the traditions of the Hudson, along with the story of "Rip Van Winkle" and the "Legend of Sleepy Hollow," came within the two weeks preceding the great harmonica contest held recently at the boy scout camp, Bear Mountain, Interstate Palisades park, New York, for during this time, it is rumored, not a mosquito put in an appearance and blasts of peculiar sounds came echoing over the river to the Palisades. Some of the inhabitants said these noises sometimes seemed to be "It's a Long, Long Way to Tipperary" competing for prominence with "Humoresque," and again the "Last Rose of Summer" would be cheerfully chiming over "Peg o' My Heart."

The inside truth of the story, however, is that out of 2,000 boys at the encampment, the majority were spending every spare minute from reveille to taps, at mess hall or on mountain hikes, getting into shape for the big contest. Every breath of melody meant just a step further towards the championship. So "Music swelled the breeze and rang through all the trees," and it was a difficult task for the judges at the preliminaries to select the final contestants. At one camp in particular, where great difficulty, the choice narrowed down from six to two boys, each intensely eager to gain the honor of appearing. When Scout Potter heard he had lost to his opponent, he smiled and said with the real scout spirit: "That suits me all right. Now we will have to see that the other fellow wins."

On the night of the big contest hundreds of boys came by land and water from the various camps to the main hall. Enthusiastic applause rang to the rafters after each boy's effort, and when Clifford St. Hill, age thirteen, of Troop 5, Woodhaven, L. I., was pronounced victor, the audience arose as one man, with appreciative cries. "Give us another tune, give us another tune," Clifford's selections were "Auld Lang Syne," "There's a Long, Long Trail" and "March from 'Aida.'" He was presented with the Hohner gold medal and one of the finest harmonicas made—and the world had a new champion.

Second place was won by Richard Johnson, sixteen years old, of Troop 208, the Bronx. He received a silver medal and a harmonica.

By courtesy of the largest manufacturers of harmonicas in the world, the boys were treated to a number of selections by William Burke, who has been playing the harmonica professionally for forty-two years.

SCOUT AVERTS TRAGEDY

A youthful San Franciscan of the sub-seventeen age was whittling, as small boys since the beginning of time have delighted to do. Being uninitiated as to the fact that it's a rash thing to whittle toward instead of from oneself, he went at the business wrong. The knife slipped. The blood spurted, a great gash appeared in the youngster's arm. A scout heard the youngster's screams and ran to the rescue. He improvised and applied a tourniquet.

RELIEF APPRECIATED

In recognition of the manly help of Indianapolis scouts in last year's clothing drive of the Near East relief. A certificate of service, bearing the signatures of the national heads of relief organizations, was presented to scout headquarters. The inscription reads as follows: "In recognition of the splendid humanitarian life-saving service rendered by Indianapolis Council, Boy Scouts of America, in behalf of the orphan children and stricken people of the Near East."

Refinishing Floors.

To restore oak floors the old varnish must be first removed. Get at any paint shop paint remover, which will soften the varnish so it can be easily scraped off, after which clean the floor with rags and benzine. Next bleach, using oxalic acid dissolved in hot water. When dry the floor will be white. Wash with clear water and vinegar and it is ready to be filled. Use a paste filler, which must be wiped off. As soon as it begins to show white the floor is ready to be finished in varnish or wax.

START CAMPAIGN FOR RIGHT FOOD

Movement for Better Nourishment for Adults as Well as Children is Inaugurated.

USE OF MORE MILK FAVORED

Plan to Alleviate Such Common Ailments as Headaches, Constipation, Irritability, Etc.—Some Superior Recipes.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

A successful campaign for better nourishment of adults as well as children is being conducted in Connecticut, which the United States Department of Agriculture believes could well be extended to other states. The purpose of the campaign is to induce people to add more milk and fibrous material to the diet, with the result that such ailments as headaches, constipation, nervous irritability, and other disorders, due to faulty food habits may become less common. The recipes on this page are being used to introduce these much-needed food substances into the bill of fare of many families.

Cabbage, which is made up largely of fibrous material, is inexpensive and available to both rural and city dwellers. Both milk and the vegetables recommended in these recipes supply the vitamins essential to good health.

HOW HEAT IS WASTED THROUGH FAULTY FURNACE SYSTEM.

—In heating houses we really use ten times as much coal as is necessary," Charles F. Steinmetz, research expert for the General Electric company, said recently in a contribution to the coal number issue of the Survey Graphic.

"We could save nine-tenths of it, but we probably will not do so until forced to it by failing coal supply, for to save would require a radical change in building construction.

"Usually over 90 per cent of all the heat from our furnaces is lost. Although we must replace the fuel air with fresh air, there is no reason why we should throw away with the foul air all the good and valuable heat which it contains and not supply new heat to the fresh air. If it were properly arranged we would take the heat out of the foul air before we exhaust it, turn it into the incoming fresh air, and so heat the incoming air by the heat of the outgoing warm air.

"This recovery of the heat is called the regenerative system of heating. We could do this by passing the outgoing warm air around the outside of the pipes which bring in the fresh air and so warm the latter by the former.

"By proper building construction the loss could be made slight, so that a very small amount of heat would warm the house; so small, indeed, that it would be economical to heat houses electrically; economical to own a house without a chimney, even though the price of electric energy must always remain many times greater than the price of coal, considering the same amount of energy."

MAKES A PERMANENT CHANGE

Why Eggs, Once Boiled to Hardness, Will Not Soften With a Drop in Temperature.

An egg contains a large proportion of albumen, intended by nature for the nourishment of the growing chick. This albumen belongs to a class of substances which have the peculiarity of "coagulating" or turning solid when exposed to a certain degree of heat. The action is a permanent chemical change, and these substances will not again soften with a drop in temper-ture. For this reason, scientists explain, the boiled egg hardens.

It is, too, for this reason that it is impossible to cook an egg on the top of a high mountain, for there, owing to a lesser atmospheric pressure, the water boils at a lower temperature, and this temperature being under the "coagulation point" makes it impossible to "cook" an egg.

How Lime Increases Fertility.

That lime or calcium salts increases the fertility of animals has been strikingly shown by the German physiologists Emmerich and Loew, in a recent investigation reported in Unscharf (Berlin). They used three groups of mice in their experiments. The first group was given ordinary food; the second received the same with the addition of measured quantities of table salt (sodium chloride), which has also the reputation of increasing fecundity; the third group received corresponding amounts of calcium chloride instead of the sodium chloride. Within a given length of time the three groups bore offspring 23 times, 33 times and 43 times respectively. In spite of the great increase of the number of litters in the third case, the total number of individuals was also greater. At the end of seven months covered by the investigation, the three groups had produced respectively 115, 170 and 262 young.

How a Fish Files.

Some highly interesting observations on flying fishes have been made by Dr. E. H. Hankin, in the Arabian sea. In still weather the length of a glide was about a meter, with considerable lateral instability; in a light wind this was increased to from 200 to 400 meters. A resemblance between the wing action of soaring vultures and the fin action of the fishes was marked. In both, the wing or fin is inclined upward, the outer part at a higher level than the base, in slow-speed flights, while both show a downward inclination in flight at high speed.

Youth's Lucky Day.

A corset that was used as evidence in four trials in Philadelphia was given to a boy to be burned up after a verdict had been finally reached. It had passed through the hands of numerous lawyers and police officials in their investigations, but it remained for the boy to find $128 concealed in it.

Why Storm Sours Milk.

There is something about the condition of the air when charged with electricity during a thunder storm which affects the milk; while the moisture and warmth of the air at such a time also has some effect upon milk and cream, causing it to turn sour.

Testing Child's Musical Ability.

Musical ability in a child can be well judged by testing five faculties: The sense of pitch, which is the ability to discriminate between higher and lower tones; the sense of time-rhythm; the sense of consonance, which is the ability to tell what is more pleasing and what is less pleasing; the sense of intensity; and musical memory, or the ability to remember a number of tones from hearing them once. Those qualifications are probably in large measure inherited, for very young children sometimes have them.—Youth's Companion.

Thoughts for the Children.

To help a child to become unselfish, self-reliant, kind, thoughtful, considerate, honest, and independent; to train to habits of usefulness; to promote purity of thought and life; to have even some small part in awakening loftier purposes and higher aspirations; to arouse in the minds of boys and girls an honest and sincere hope to be able to make happier the school, the home, the community, the state, the nation, and the world—should be the greatest ambition of every teacher.—R. C. Barrett.

The Purpose.

Proportion is almost impossible to human beings. There is no one who does not exaggerate. In conversation, men are encumbered with personality and talk too much. In modern sculpture, picture and poetry, the beauty is miscellaneous; the artist works here and there and at all points, adding and adding, instead of unfolding the unit of his thought. Beautiful details we must have, or no artist; but they must be means and never other. The eye must not lose sight for a moment of the purpose.—Emerson.

Palmyra Adopts Borough Form of Government

The borough form of government received a majority of 793 in the Palmyra election Tuesday, the total vote being 958 to 165.

Every election district gave the proposition a big vote and the result left no room for doubt that the people are overwhelmingly in favor of the change.

The proposition was sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce and advocated by citizens all over the town.

Steps will now be taken to bring about the change as soon as legally possible and it is thought that the new form of town government can be put into operation by early spring.

The first move is the passage of a bill through the Legislature at the January meeting. Assemblyman Powell and Senator Roberts have agreed to take care of this and say that in view of the big majority there will be no doubt of the measure being speedily passed.

"It is a prayer mill from Thibet," said Earle. "It is made by the priests in that great city of mystery, Lhasa, a place where they visit the intrusion of a stranger with death. The devotee, when he wishes to pray, simply turns the mill and his work is done for him."

"I see," nodded Tolman carelessly; "but how do you come to know so much about these curios?" Earle flushed deeply and evaded a direct response. He went on to tell that he had a certain liking for antiques. The auctioneer had interested him by narrating the story of a native priest of Thibet traveling in the United States, who had died in debt and whose effects had been sold to buy the poor fellow. The name of the man was engraved on the mill—"Zuelphi."

The friends parted, Tolman, who had money and position, to attend some social function, Earle, who had very little, to proceed to the nearest express office and send the prayer mill package to Miss Velda Tresham, Maybrook. Then he went to his rather cluttered room where he was making a strategic life trying to write for the newspapers.

Maybrook was the little country town from which Earle had come six months previous. Velda Tresham was the one young lady in that village for whom he entertained a warmer sentiment than she had ever divined. Tolman, making a visit to the city, had come across Earle. Only casually had Earle ventured to ask about Velda. He had heard incidentally that Tolman had been paying some attention to the young lady and did not seek a gratuitous heartache by exploring the intimacy.

Earle knew that the erudite Professor Tresham, the father of Velda, was a great collector of unique oddities. He had sent the prayer mill to Velda hoping she might write to him.

The next day Earle happened to meet Tolman. The latter dropped into a jewelry store and produced an exquisite little ring. "I wish you would engrave this for me," he said to the jeweler, and carelessly scribbled on a card: "Ward to Velda."

Earle chanced to glance at the inscription ordered. The discovery killed a good deal of the ambition of the young writer. He changed his room for a cheaper one. Things did not go very well with him.

And then suddenly, by a rare chance, there awoke one day in the experience of this lonely city wait the most extravagant soul of hope. Magically, poverty was glided and forlorn distress became a fading wraith of the past.

A man, a lawyer, hunted him out after a long quest, he said. Was he Earle Barton? Yes, he lived at such an address formerly? Yes, again. Was he the purchaser on such a date, at such an auction shop, of a certain prayer mill? The long and short of it was that the owner of the prayer mill was a member of one of the richest, noblest families in Thibet. His relatives had too late learned of his fatal, stranded situation. Now they had ordered his remains returned to his native soil—at any expense. The mill must be found—if it took a fortune.

Ten thousand dollars was offered for the return of the prayer mill. It was at a distance. Then go for it—expenses advanced. This was the gist of the stranger's proposal.

The first thing Earle learned when he reached his native town, was that Velda was not married. The next was that Ward Tolman had wedded a lady in the next town named Velda Morse. Then Earle Barton realized his error.

In an hour he was at the Tresham home. Through an open window he saw Velda. She was looking at a photograph. Her face grew pale and she trembled as she admitted him to the house. He told her of his mission.

"I will get the prayer mill for you," she said, but in arising her untended hand brushed the photograph to the floor—his own!

"Wait," said Earle, a new light shining in upon his soul—"why did you never write?" "I did, twice, and no reply, and then—" "He drew a step nearer. "You really cared?" he faltered. "Oh, could you doubt it!" she cried, and dropped to a chair and burst into tears, and Earle Barton knew that he had a life partner to share his new fortune.

The Only Way. She—Do you really think I shall ever succeed in making an impression with my voice? He—Undoubtedly, if you sing into a phonograph.—Boston Transcript.

Relic of the Civil War. An eight-in, 200-pounder Parrott rifled gun, mounted by the federal troops in a morass on Morris island, Charleston harbor, in 1865, was called the "Swamp Angel." August 22 and 23 the city of Charleston, S. C. and one-half miles distant, was shelled, the gun bursting at the thirty-third shot. After the war the "Swamp Angel" was sold as old metal and conveyed to Trenton, N. J., but having been identified, it was set up on a granite pedestal at Perry and Clinton streets of that city.

"Going—going—gone!" The hammer of the auctioneer came down with a final tap. The man of bids waved his hand towards the cashier's desk. Earle Barton paid four dollars, gave his name and address, received a package wrapped in tissue paper and regained his companion, Ward Tolman.

"Whatever induced you to pay that money for a toy that looked to me like a cross between a baby's rattle and a nutmeg grater?" railed young Tolman.

"It's a prayer mill from Thibet," said Earle. "It is made by the priests in that great city of mystery, Lhasa, a place where they visit the intrusion of a stranger with death. The devotee, when he wishes to pray, simply turns the mill and his work is done for him."

The long and short of it was that the owner of the prayer mill was a member of one of the richest, noblest families in Thibet. His relatives had too late learned of his fatal, stranded situation. Now they had ordered his remains returned to his native soil—at any expense. The mill must be found—if it took a fortune.

Ten thousand dollars was offered for the return of the prayer mill. It was at a distance. Then go for it—expenses advanced. This was the gist of the stranger's proposal.

The first thing Earle learned when he reached his native town, was that Velda was not married. The next was that Ward Tolman had wedded a lady in the next town named Velda Morse. Then Earle Barton realized his error.

In an hour he was at the Tresham home. Through an open window he saw Velda. She was looking at a photograph. Her face grew pale and she trembled as she admitted him to the house. He told her of his mission.

"I will get the prayer mill for you," she said, but in arising her untended hand brushed the photograph to the floor—his own!

"Wait," said Earle, a new light shining in upon his soul—"why did you never write?" "I did, twice, and no reply, and then—" "He drew a step nearer. "You really cared?" he faltered. "Oh, could you doubt it!" she cried, and dropped to a chair and burst into tears, and Earle Barton knew that he had a life partner to share his new fortune.

The Only Way. She—Do you really think I shall ever succeed in making an impression with my voice? He—Undoubtedly, if you sing into a phonograph.—Boston Transcript.

Relic of the Civil War. An eight-in, 200-pounder Parrott rifled gun, mounted by the federal troops in a morass on Morris island, Charleston harbor, in 1865, was called the "Swamp Angel." August 22 and 23 the city of Charleston, S. C. and one-half miles distant, was shelled, the gun bursting at the thirty-third shot. After the war the "Swamp Angel" was sold as old metal and conveyed to Trenton, N. J., but having been identified, it was set up on a granite pedestal at Perry and Clinton streets of that city.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Higgins and family have returned to their home in Parry after spending some time in Philadelphia.

A surprise and miscellaneous shower was given Mrs. Frank J. Mashek, who was then Miss Emma Coles, at her home last Saturday evening. She was the recipient of many beautiful and useful gifts. Forty-eight guests were present.

Mr. and Mrs. John Schmierer entertained the Rev. and Mrs. C. Nelson Sperling and family and Mr. and Mrs. George Sneller at dinner last Saturday evening.

The final meeting of the series of special revival services will be held at the Moravian Church, Sunday evening. The meetings have been well attended.

Henry Holvick, 89 years old, died at his home in Parry, Tuesday afternoon, last, at 4 o'clock. Funeral services will be held from his late residence, on the Burlington pike, near Five Points, Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The Rev. C. Nelson Sperling will officiate. Interment in Coles-town cemetery. He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Annie Haines, and Miss Alice Holvick. Mr. Holvick lived in this section of the country practically all his life.

Mythology and History. The mythology stories of Egyptian gods are histories. Take the tale of Osiris, Isis and Horus. The god Osiris was once a great and good king in Egypt. He was set upon and killed by his brother, Set, who was aided by 72 companions. Isis, the wife of Osiris, found her husband's coffin in Syria and brought it back to Egypt. Set then reappeared, tore up the body of Osiris, and scattered it. Isis, ever faithful, sought out all the fragments and erected a temple over each of them. Then, uniting forces with Horus, the two fell upon Set and drove him into the Red sea. Flinders Petrie, the archeologist, asserts that there is proof that this myth embodies history from periods long before the invention of writing. The struggle of gods in myths, he says, invariably means the wars of their respective worshippers.

Indian Names. Many of our rivers, lakes and mountains have Indian names of which the original meaning has been lost, largely by because of changes in spelling which have made their tracing back to the Indian derivatives difficult. Indian names are Winnipeg, meaning "the beautiful lake," and Mississippi, meaning "not Father of Waters," but "great river." Missouri is the "great middle." Illinois, "the great valley," and Mackinac is "great turtle," a name given because of the resemblance of the island to a turtle. It is to be noted that as prefix "mich" in its various forms means great.

OCKANICKON NIGHT

OCKANICKON Night was celebrated Wednesday evening in the Legion hall under the auspices of the Palmyra Y. M. C. A. Board.

Nearly a hundred youngsters who had enjoyed life at the camp were present and gave striking expressions of the good they derived from it.

There was much singing led by Roger Oliver, of Burlington, and a cornetist, County Secretary Hendry, W. T. J. Funnell, Sam Jones and others made short snappy addresses to the boys, and refreshments were served by the ladies.

The local board has provided dime-savings banks for all the boys which will be kept at the Palmyra National Bank, so they can accumulate funds for their future activities.

Among the answers given by the boys to questions on what they got out of camp life was: Learned to live a Christian life; Sport and pleasure; When you start a job, do it with a smile and finish it the best you know how; What real Camp life is.

American Army mules imported by the Czar for artillery during the World War, ridden by two former Wesleyan athletes with three other American Relief workers, have conquered Alaghez, the mountain with the largest base in the world and known as the climber's Waterloo.

Tricked by the apparent ease of the climb, and one of the Americans was disabled, miraculously escaping being crushed to death.

But the whole upper reaches are a gigantic mass of volcanic ash, so unstable that climbing higher than a fixed safety zone is a risk of life.

So considerable is the danger that Armenian refugees chose the risky security of caverns in their cliffs during Turkish invasions of 1918 and 1920, because of the fair certainty that the invaders would not try the climb.

THE Story of our States would not be complete without a brief mention of the territories of the other territory of the United States, which is not included in the actual forty-eight states.

Hawaii, like Alaska, is a regular territory. In 1893 there was a successful revolution against the Hawaiian queen, and a provisional government was formed under American protection.

Porto Rico, Guam and the Philippines were ceded to the United States in 1898 as a result of the Spanish-American war.

Then there is the Panama Canal Commission. The year 1917 saw the purchase from Denmark of the Virgin Islands, for $25,000,000.

Finally, there is the District of Columbia, which was organized in 1791, as the seat of our federal government.

TACKLES COAL SITUATION

Palmyra Chamber of Commerce Will Try to Find Out Why Other Towns Get More Fuel

The coal situation, which has been causing much uneasiness and in some cases discomfort among families of Palmyra and Riverton, was taken up by the Palmyra Chamber of Commerce at its meeting Tuesday evening.

After a thorough discussion, the executive committee of the Chamber was directed to get busy on the question at once and do all in its power to relieve the crisis which confronts the two towns.

The committee will obtain information from local dealers as to just what the difficulty is as far as they know and then will go to State authorities and demand that something be done.

The issue was brought up by O. L. England, appearing on behalf of the citizens of the town. He said he had been informed the situation was so acute that doctors had been issuing prescriptions for coal in cases where there was sickness in families without heat.

Some of the members reported that other towns nearby were much better off and that in Collingswood, Camden, Audubon and such places people had no difficulty in getting several tons delivered at once.

In Philadelphia, also, there is no scarcity. A. S. King said he had bought his coal there and transported it to his home in his firm's trucks.

Paul H. Powers, cashier of the Palmyra National Bank, said the bank had been investigating the coal situation on behalf of the local dealers and had found that the independent coal operators were hoarding coal which could be had if dealers would pay the price they demanded, which was several dollars higher than that fixed by the fuel commissions.

LESSON FOR NOVEMBER 19

JESUS THE FRIEND OF SINNERS

LESSON TEXT—Luke 7:37-48. GOLDEN TEXT—This is a faithful saying, and worthy of all acceptance, that Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners.—1 Tim. 1:15. REFERENCE MATERIAL—Luke 15:1-2.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus Loves Every-body. JUNIOR TOPIC—Jesus the Friend of Sinners. INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—The Sympathy of Jesus. YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Jesus Helps the Sinful and Borrowful.

1. A Penitent Woman's Act of Love (v. 37, 48).

2. The Act of (v. 38). She washed Jesus' feet with her tears and wiped them with her hair. Through some means she had heard of Jesus' pardoning grace, and God had opened her heart to receive Him as her Saviour.

3. Who She Was (v. 37). Her name is not mentioned. She was of a notoriously bad character. Though known to the public as a bad woman, something had happened which transformed her. She was now a saved sinner, because she believed on Jesus Christ.

4. The Pharisee's Displeasure (v. 40). Simon felt scandalized by such a happening at his table. He was a respectable man. For Jesus to tolerate such familiarity on the part of a woman of such evil repute greatly perplexed him.

5. Jesus Teaches the Pharisee (v. 40-48). He taught him by means of a parable of a creditor and two debtors. Observe that Jesus made it very clear that He not only knew the woman, but knew Simon also.

6. The Common Debt (v. 41). The woman was a sinner, so was Simon, though he was not the same kind of a sinner that she was. There were ten debtors, though the one owed ten times as much as the other. This is representative of all sinners alike. The Bible declares all to be sinners, yet recognizes degrees of guilt.

7. The Independence Fire Company is very grateful to the citizens of the town for their favorable vote on the purchase of a pumper, and the company's president, T. Winfield Land, has asked us to thank the public on behalf of the firemen.

The firemen are busy inspecting various types of apparatus, some of which have been driven to Palmyra in the last few days for their approval. They do not, however, expect the machine to be bought right away, inasmuch as they plan to show their appreciation to the people by erecting an attractive home for their apparatus.

A committee of firemen is now at work on the plans for the new building on which they expect to spend about $10,000.

Chambers and Jones At It Again The Jimmie Jones-George Chambers feud broke out afresh Sunday night, when Chambers accused Jones of trying to set his house afire.

Some leaves and brush near Chambers' boathouse caught fire and he says he saw Jones throw a match out of his window to start the flames.

Chambers threw a bucket of water on the fire and then ran all the way to Palmyra station to summon Chief Beck. The Chief found some of the boards on Chambers' house charred a little bit when he arrived on the scene. The fire had burned itself out.

Chambers then swore out a warrant for Jones, charging arson, but Justice Fichter dismissed the case Monday night after advising Jones to move away from Chambers' vicinity. This Jones readily agreed to, saying he was afraid Chambers would do him bodily injury sometime.

Chambers recently was fined $75 for assault and battery on Jones, and the latest trouble apparently was an outcome of this.

Judgeship for Runyon Senator Frelighuyssen has recommended to President Harding the appointment of ex-Senator William N. Runyon to be the new federal District Court Judge in New Jersey, and has requested his friends and those of Senator Runyon to support the recommendation. The salary is $7,500 and it is practically a life office.

The publishers of The Youth's Companion are sending to every subscriber who has paid $2.50 for the 52 issues of 1923 a calendar for the new year. The tablets are printed in red and dark blue, and each tablet, besides giving the days of the current month in bold, legible type, gives the calendar of the preceding and succeeding month in smaller type in the margin. The Companion calendar has been published in standard form for many years and is eagerly sought for because of its novelty and convenience.

PORCH CLUB NEWS
The concert given last Thursday evening by Mr. Robert Armbruster, pianist, assisted by Miss Elizabeth Hood Latta, mezzo soprano, and the Duo-Art Piano, was indeed a rare treat. Mr. Armbruster delighted the audience with his playing, while Miss Latta was most charming, both when accompanied by Mr. Armbruster in her first group of songs, and when in the next group the Duo-Art played for her.

The Duo-Art Pianola Piano seems to have reached a point of perfection, inasmuch as it reproduces exactly the interpretation of the artist who plays for the recording of the roll. Mr. Armbruster played with the Duo-Art a selection arranged for four hands—and again he played alternately with the Duo-Art—in each case it was impossible to say which part was being played, except by looking at Mr. Armbruster's hands.

The Porch Club, and each guest present, appreciates the generosity of C. J. Heppé & Son, through whom this concert was made possible.

Col. D'Olier to Speak in Riverton

Bowling at the Country Club
The fall bowling tournament at the Country Club has entered its fifth week with Staunton's team still way out in front. The majority of the other teams are fairly well bunched so that a loss of two or three games for any one team makes a big change in the standing for the week. Hirst's team has made the remarkable score of only winning two out of fifteen games played, but as this team contains some of the best bowlers in the Club, their given average for each man was so high that it is taking some time for the members to get back to the form they displayed at the finish of last year's tournament.

The honor of bowling the highest single game so far goes to Doug Clark with a score of 231. Clark bowls on Larry Vaughan's team, which also holds the team high score game for this tournament. Vaughan's team, bowling five men, made an average of 187 for each man bowling. This game will probably stand for some time to come. The standing of the teams up to Friday night, November 19th, was as follows:

1 Staunton	15	3	833
2 Boehme	11	7	611
3 Davis	9	6	600
4 Graff	10	8	555
5 Syres	10	8	555
6 Vaughan	9	9	500
7 Willis	9	9	500
8 Wright	7	8	466
9 Murray	8	10	444
10 Evans	8	9	400
11 Jones	6	9	400
12 Coe	6	9	400
13 Hirst	2	13	133

Joseph Swanson Arrested in Riverside on Serious Charge After Several Robberies

The residence of Morris Steedle was entered Friday night and a fur coat, belonging to the Steedle family, valued at $150.00, and several articles of jewelry were taken. The Riverton police force started an investigation early Saturday morning, and Officer Quigley sent notices to the police department in all the surrounding towns, describing the stolen articles. On Saturday an overcoat, belonging to Thomas Fogarty, was stolen from the Fogarty restaurant on Main street, late Saturday afternoon. Joseph Swanson was arrested in Riverside, charged with attempting to assault two small girls, and sent to Mount Holly, where he was brought to trial Thursday morning and sent to the Rahway reformatory. Officer Walter G. Miller was summoned to county court as a witness. Swanson denied all knowledge of the Steedle and Fogarty robberies. NUMBER OF SALAD COMBINATIONS IS ENDLESS—DIFFERENT RECIPES

A Salad of Mixed Vegetables With Cottage Cheese Makes Good Lunch Dish.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Sometimes a housekeeper finds she has everything necessary for a salad except the lettuce. In such a case the United States Department of Agriculture suggests that finely shredded cabbage, either red or white, will answer for the "bed" for the salad, or that any cooked or canned vegetables, as well as many fresh ones, may be served with salad dressing without the customary lettuce leaf. Fresh celery is an appetizing addition to most salads when it can be obtained, but it is not necessary. Cabbage for use as a salad foundation should be finely shredded, not chopped, and put in cold water for about an hour to become crisp. Canned vegetables should always be heated to the boiling point and then cooled before using in salad.

Different Salad Dressings.
There are three basic salad dressings of which most other dressings are adaptations. The following recipes are tested and recommended by the United States Department of Agriculture.

French Dressing.
2 tablespoonfuls oil 1/2 teaspoonful salt
1 tablespoonful vinegar 1/2 teaspoonful pepper
Cayenne Paprika

Blend the oil with the seasonings and add the vinegar slowly. French dressing may be made in quantities, kept in a cold place and stirred or shaken in a bottle vigorously when needed. French dressings are preferable for dinner salads.

Vinaigrette sauce is made by adding to French dressing a teaspoonful each of chopped capers, olives, parsley and small cucumber pickles.

Mayonnaise Dressing.
1 egg 2 tablespoonfuls
1 teaspoonful mustard 1/2 cupful oil
1/2 teaspoonful salt Cayenne

Place the egg, mustard, salt, cayenne and vinegar in a bowl. Beat well with a Dover egg beater till thoroughly blended, then add one tablespoonful of the oil and beat. Continue adding the oil gradually until one cupful has been used, then add in larger amounts.

Mayonnaise is liked for luncheon or supper salads, where the salad is the principal dish or is preceded by a very light course. It is considered too rich to be appropriate for a hearty dinner.

Boiled Dressing.
1/2 to 3/4 teaspoonful salt 1/4 cupful oil
1/2 cupful oil 1/4 cupful oil
1/2 cupful oil 1/4 cupful oil
1/2 cupful oil 1/4 cupful oil
1/2 cupful oil 1/4 cupful oil

Mix dry ingredients, add yolks of eggs slightly beaten, butter, milk, vinegar very slowly. Cook in a double boiler until it thickens. Strain and cool. This dressing is useful in a family where oil is not liked. Sweet or sour cream may be used instead of milk.

Many of the cooked vegetables, such as carrots, peas, cabbage, beets, cauliflower, kohlrabi, or Jerusalem artichokes make a good salad when served cold, either alone or in combination with celery, or with several other vegetables; canned string beans, asparagus, beets, peas, peppers and okra all lend themselves well to use in salads. Asparagus is particularly good when served hot with hot vinaigrette sauce described above.

Soup meat, which is often discarded because it has little flavor, still contains much nourishment. If cut in pieces and mixed with a hot vinaigrette sauce it makes an excellent luncheon or supper salad. When cold it is good in sandwiches.

Fish and meat salads are almost complete meals. Cottage cheese salad with mayonnaise dressing is an improvement to many vegetable and also to fruit salads. A spoonful may be served on one side of the salad, or it may be mixed with chopped nuts and mayonnaise and made into balls for garnishing.

When one considers that the salad list also includes oranges, berries, bananas, either fresh or canned peaches and pears, and other available fruits, it is easy to see that the number of possible combinations is endless.

HISTORY'S MYSTERIES

OF WHICH SEX?

HISTORY, particularly that portion which deals with the intrigues and plots that honeycombed the courts of Europe during the Eighteenth century, is filled with the accounts of a number of unusual personages—but it is doubtful if any of these are quite as remarkable as the ones connected with the career of the Chevalier d'Eon, whose exploits were directly responsible for much of the glory which surrounds the name of Louis XV.

Born at Tonnerre, France, in 1728, Charles Genevieve Louis Auguste Andree Timothee d'Eon de Beaumont developed a talent early in life for impersonating members of either sex with a facility which appears to have been little less than marvelous. In fact, the mystery which surrounds the true sex of this adventurous adventurer—becomes more startling with the examination of each exploit: According to contemporary historians, d'Eon was able to appear either as a man or as a woman, with an ease which rendered penetration of his disguise impossible, and his ability in this line gained for him (the masculine pronoun being used advisedly) a position at the head of the secret agents employed by Louis, and it was not long before he became the most accomplished spy who ever delved into the secrets of a court or divined the intention of a ruler.

Part of the time he would be the Chevalier d'Eon, dashing, debonaire and fearless. Then the chevalier would allow it to be known that he was going somewhere on a visit, and a beautiful woman—versed in all the arts which make men open their hearts and their lips, forgetful of the seal of secrecy which they would never lift to their closest male friend—would appear, and another report would soon be on its way to the private sanctum of the king.

No one suspected that the dashing chevalier and the flirtatious coquette were one and the same. Though when the exposure was finally made, even his enemies had the grace to say that d'Eon had "fought over half of Europe and flirted over the other half." In Paris, in London, in Rome and in Genoa, the chevalier added success after success to his long list of victories, prying into secrets and ferreting out the truth when the greatest spies of five kingdoms had utterly failed.

But it was while at the court of the Empress Elizabeth of Russia, in the feminine role, that the chevalier achieved his crowning triumph. Europe was then on the verge of the Seven Years' war, and Louis desired an alliance with Russia. One after another the veterans of the diplomatic service returned to Paris, shouldered the mantle of the imperial palace, they said, was closed to them. The empress would have none of their advice. She was adamant in her decision to stand aloof in the struggle which was approaching.

As a last resort, d'Eon was dispatched to Moscow, and before many weeks had passed, it began to be rumored about the Russian capital that her majesty had a new maid of honor who appeared to have a strange hold over the queen. The girl, as charming as she was pretty, was careful not to play her cards too rapidly, but she lost no opportunity to shift the conversation to a discussion of diplomacy and at first to suggest and then to prove the wisdom of an alliance between France, Russia and Austria against Frederick the Great. Little by little the decision of the queen began to crumble, and, some two weeks after the new maid of honor disappeared from the palace—which was about the same time that d'Eon was making his report to Louis—it became known that the alliance would be ratified at an early date, thus completely altering the map of Europe.

This, however, was destined to be the chevalier's last success. He was growing old, and lines were appearing in his face which it was difficult to hide by the application of cosmetics. Following an almost total collapse of his plans at the Court of St. James, in London, d'Eon retired from public life, and, during the 33 years which elapsed before his death, he dressed continually as a woman, using the name "Miss d'Eon." This would appear to lend weight to the belief that he belonged to the feminine sex, but beyond the fact that he was one of the world's super-spies, nothing definite has ever been discovered about the ambisexual chevalier.

What "Doughoregan" Means.
The most famous member of the Carroll family was Charles Carroll of Carrollton, "the Signer" (of the Declaration of Independence), builder of the manor house at Doughoregan—which, by the way, derives its name from a combination of the old Irish words dough, meaning "house" or "court," and O'Ragan, meaning "of the king"; the whole being pronounced, as with a slight brogue, "Doo-ray-gan," the accent falling on the middle syllable.—Julian Street in "American Adventures."

Worth Listening To.
Jean had always wanted a dog, so one day her wish was granted. As she was playing in the yard a strange dog came up and looked on.

Jean went running into the house, saying: "Come quick and listen to our dog making thunder at another dog."

Pug Dog Not Wanted.
A correspondent wonders where all the pug dogs have gone. A few years back they were found in many households, but now not a one is to be seen in a month's journey. Most folk, however, have ceased worrying about where the pug has gone and only hope he will never come back. He was a selfish and conceited pup at best, and the Lord knows he was a homely brute. It did seem mighty ridiculous to waste love on a pug when one could get a St. Bernard for the same money.—Los Angeles Times.

BOY SCOUTS

(Prepared by the National Geographic Society, Washington, D. C.)

WIN HONOR AND OPPORTUNITY

Fifty honor boy scouts, five from each of the ten eastern states, made their bow to the public at the opening on September 17 of the great eastern states exposition at Springfield, Mass., where every afternoon and evening during the week they demonstrated scouting to the visitors. The demonstrations took place on the fair grounds in the scout encampment which is known as the Mohawk Indian village, a replica of the camping grounds of the famous Indians of this tribe, which was constructed entirely by the scouts. These 50 particular boys were selected because of their high record in a contest this summer, reported in by hundreds of scouts, for the privilege of appearing at the exposition.

These 50 boy scouts won their way to a great opportunity as well as honor, for at the exposition they had the occasion to gain more valuable information than many a grown person has gathered in all of his life. And this is how they did it:

Every morning the boys had leisure time, but in accordance with the tenets of scouting, organization is just as necessary for leisure time as for busy time, to gain the most fruitful results, and so the scouts went to school! Not an every-day school, with reading and writing and arithmetic, but a school where the great exhibition was the text book, and all the experts in it the teachers. There were no lectures or examinations; the boys learned by observation and asking questions.

First of all, the educational department placed the wonders of its great exhibit under the inspection of the scouts.

Then the Junior Achievement village was the school room. Here, over 200 skilled boys and girls from 58 cities throughout the eastern states gave afternoon and evening demonstrations to the public of various industries, commerce, trades, vocational training, as far as boys and girls can participate. In the mornings, however, they placed themselves at the service of the scouts, demonstrating the same things that were later shown to the public. This group of boys and girls had much to tell and teach about poultry raising, bee keeping, food canning, dressmaking and other activities.

Camp Vail then extended its welcome. This camp belongs to the fair boys and girls, who also devoted their mornings to the scouts in explaining activities that are peculiarly those of the fair, and apparatus that daily saves work in the rural home. The care of cattle and sheep was included in their program. These boys and girls have won individual recognition of their work from the Junior committee for, on account of the distances between farm houses, it was too difficult to organize group work for this honor. Then to the "Baby Beef Exhibit," the scouts went. There they saw the boys and girls who have raised the choicest beef from Maine to New Jersey.

The state departments enjoyed the morning visits of the boys. Massachusetts had answers ready for every question that was asked about the logging and fishing industries. Vermont taught the boys how maple sugar is made and just how the granite is cut. Maine had surprises in potato raising, lumber and game fishing. New Hampshire imparted to the scouts the secret of growing rosy and juicy apples and told them the reason why its dairy products have become so famous, and something of its reforestation work. From Rhode Island the scouts learned how textiles are made and how to judge the various kinds. Connecticut explained its industries and emphasized its agricultural products. New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, and Delaware had much to crowd into their mornings with the scouts regarding their respective manufacturers, agricultural and educational work.

The livestock show, with its blooded stock assembled from everywhere in the United States, had a special attraction for the boys.

Then the farm mechanics. Scouts had an opportunity at this section of the fair for keen observation which they could follow up by scout ingenuity, when they reached home.

Industries in the cities were not overlooked. Candy making, for instance, was explained to the scouts, and one large candy company gave an exclusive and satisfying demonstration for the boys. The making of jewelry, of heating plants, of various types of automobiles, and many other articles. And then the horse show! Owners, experts, jockeys were there, glad to show selected horses to the scouts and to tell how the horses are trained for racing and how they are brought to the height of perfection necessary to win prizes for their owners.

The slogan of the junior work committee of the exposition in getting together this honor band of scouts was "As fine an exhibit of boys as of cattle and horses," and the scouts replied, when hearing of the wonders they were to see, that the slogan was a real challenge, and they were out to win.

GULIANA, Land of El Dorado

in the interior of Guiana.

(Prepared by the National Geographic Society, Washington, D. C.)
What is the biggest real estate transfer ever recorded in the New World?

Any little group of questionnaire addicts who encountered that inquiry probably would begin wondering whether Muscle Shoals had been sold, or whether somebody had purchased the Woolworth building. It is recalled, apropos of the plans being discussed in Holland to invest new capital in Dutch Guiana, that New York once was traded for Paramaribo. The real estate record of the transaction is to be found in the treaty of Breda, by which, in 1667, the Dutch gave New Amsterdam to England and England turned over pretty little Paramaribo, Dutch Guiana's capital, to Holland.

To put it mildly, Paramaribo today is not known so widely as it might be. Neither is Suriname, which is the common name for Dutch Guiana; nor Demarara, which is locally used to designate British Guiana.

And Guiana itself missed a chance for fame through a typographical error. The humble guinea pig, a native son, would have carried its home land's name into popular usage had not early writers confused the habit of the rodent with African Guinea—a confusion which is not altogether overcome to this day.

Almost an island.
Yet Guiana proper is about a third as large as the United States and occupies a conspicuous position on the "forehead" of a continent of American republics which Americans of the United States have come to know so well.

British Guiana, French Guiana and Dutch Guiana are not all of Guiana; there also is Venezuelan Guiana and Brazilian Guiana. Thus "Greater" Guiana comprises the region between the Orinoco and the Amazon; in fact, Guiana is a sort of island, because these rivers, along with the Rio Negro and Casiquiare, form its boundary.

It is not an inexcusable error to class Dutch Guiana with the West Indies, for in respect to communication and commerce it is all but cut off from its South American neighbors and does business with Trinidad and with Holland direct.

Florida failed to reveal its fountain of youth to Ponce de Leon, but its Miami has yielded restorative gifts to many thousands of midwinter pilgrims. Although the Guianans failed Sir Walter Raleigh in his quest for a promised land of gold and gems, that region may yet become an economic El Dorado by the saner romance of modern development.

"Gold-Plated" People.
For getting his lies believed, the fluent and facile Juan Martinez outranks Munchausen or Ananias. His tales of Manoa, where the monuments were marveled of lustrous gold, and where men were anointed with oil and then sprinkled with pulverized gold, captured the imaginations of many explorers even before Sir Walter Raleigh penetrated the humid interior of Guiana in search of this El Dorado. So generally is the term now used in a figurative sense to denote any fanciful rainbow's end that it is hard to realize how seriously the tales of Martinez and lesser liars were credited.

Indeed, El Dorado's mythical court city, the lake on which it was supposed to be located and the estimated extent of the country itself appeared on maps until the serious scrutiny of Humboldt exploded the fairy tale.

Dutch Guiana is about the size of Florida. The British first held it; and the Dutch first held what is now British Guiana. The westernmost of the three foreign holdings, French Guiana, is used in part as a penal colony.

Along the coast Dutch Guiana is a strip of transplanted Holland. Back in its forests is a bit of Africa, inhabited by bushmen who live much as do their Dark Continent cousins. The Poetry From Within.

The only true or inspired poetry is always from within, not from without. The experience contained in it has been spiritually transmuted from lead into gold. It is severely logical, the most trivial of its adornments being subservient to, and suggested by, the dominant idea; any departure from these dictates would be the "falsifying of a revelation." It is unadorned with worldly wisdom, mere talent or cleverness. Its English is untainted by the gall of bitterness, its joy is never selfish.—James Thomson.

Africans were imported in slave days, and chased back to the forest fastnesses when the tax collector came around. Many of them found their tropical environment there so home-like that they eluded their owners. The Indians are mostly Arawaks.

Streets Shaded by Mahoganies.
Paramaribo has the immaculate appearance of a Dutch city; it has one natural extravagance of which it is proud, its streets lined with mahogany shade trees. For the trees on one block, spreading over neat weatherboard houses, a lumber firm once offered $50,000, and the residents declined to sell.

Yet Paramaribo, like Dutch Guiana, needed the money. Thrifty and careful development of Suriname's resources met with a series of untoward circumstances. First the cacao yielded bountiful crops and then suffered a blight. Sugar cane was introduced, and was attacked by a disease. The indomitable colonists turned to bananas, and an epidemic overtook them. Yet in 1911 the little colony exported $3,000,000 worth of goods, mostly sugar, gold and cacao. Back in its timberlands American firms now are obtaining wood pulp. A railroad pushes fifty miles into its forests. Despite early disaster, sugar is the chief crop.

REFUSED TO BE DIVERTED

Successful Men Almost Invariably Those Who Set Their Minds on a Purpose, and Cling to It.

It is a fine thing to see one who perseveres till he has made a small thing great, brought success out of failure, victory out of defeat. Often if the traveler could have kept on till the third turn of the road he would have beheld the distant gleam of the city he sought, and he would have been encouraged to go the rest of the way to his refuge and his welcome. But he surrendered to despair too soon. The captain of industry would have turned his losses into profits could he but have held on a little longer—could he only have obtained the capital to "tide him over." This inventor or this investigator stood at the very brink of the solution of a problem of the ages; but his time was up, and death came and found him still reaching out into the infinite, and he could not bequeath his experience and his learning to another.

Those whose names are large in history, for the honor that the world accorded them because they were faithful in its service, were not to be diverted from the goal toward which they strove. They made up their minds and they kept on. They did not, in a moody, fitful restlessness, abandon one thing and try another; but they were ready to change if they saw they had chosen wrong. When they were once assured of being right they continued in a straight line without flinching. They would not turn aside for any bribe or influence. Their minds were made up. Their hands were at the plow. They would not leave the furrow till they had plowed it straight through to the end.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Regulating the Profits.

"Never mind about giving me the monument," said Senator Sorghum. "You give the monument to some other fellow and let me supervise letting the contract."

Frog Carries Young in Pouch.
Lions symbolize Africa; tigers, Asia, and the kangaroos, Australia, but South America's most characteristic creature is the frog, says A. Kingsley Noble in the Mentor Magazine. There are no important mammals in South America, but there are more kinds of frogs there than anywhere else in the world. Of these there is no more interesting one than the marsupial frog, which carries its young in a pouch on its back. Noble spent many days with a Harvard museum of comparative zoology expedition studying South American frogs.

Among Home-Made Toys

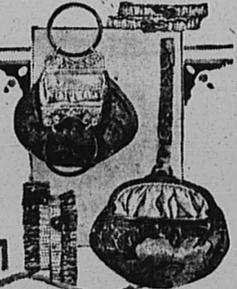

Among the things that delight little folks are dolls and small animals made of elderdown flannel or Turkish toweling, and painted with water color paints. The doll and dressed-up kittie pictured here, are among them. The doll's face may be made of a piece of ribbed stocking and the kittie's face and clothes are painted on.

To Frame Fair Faces

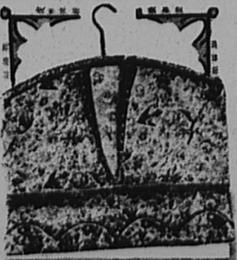

Every Christmas brings new breakfast caps. Here are three of them made of net, lace and ribbon in different shapes and decked with tiny ribbon bows. Each has a short, elastic tape set in a casing across the back, to fit it to the head, and they are among the welcome gifts that can be made by their donors.

Lovely Ribbon Gifts

Some one you know is hoping to find a new pair of garters or a rich ribbon bag in her Christmas stocking and here are garters and bags that are guaranteed to please. One pair of the garters is made of narrow silver ribbon finished with tiny black roses. Satin ribbon and narrow black lace make the other pair. Black moire ribbon with silver filigree mounting and ring handles serve for the handsome bag lined with rose colored satin. The other bag uses black and silver brocade with a tortoise shell mounting.

Things That Men Like

Here is a decorative bag, of printed cotton chaille 25 inches long and 17 inches wide. A scalloped edge turns up over a straight edge at the bottom and each scallop has a buttonhole, fastening over a glass button. The bag is supported by a coat hanger, faced at the top and bottom with plain chaille and French knots made of heavy zephyr decorate it. Hung in the closet it makes a handy receptacle for soiled collars and handkerchiefs, which are thrust in at the top and fall out at the bottom when the bag is unbuttoned. Men like such conveniences.

Why Eddies Whirl Counter-Clockwise.
A correspondent writes to the Scientific American asking if it is true that all whirlwinds, tornadoes, cyclones, typhoons (movements of air), maelstroms, water leaving a washbow or bathtub (movements of water), unless artificially interfered with, revolve counter-clockwise. If so, what causes this? The answer is: "The rotary motions which you describe are caused by the earth's rotation on its axis. They are counter-clockwise in the northern and clockwise in the southern hemisphere."

PLACE TO SELL THEIR WARES

The "Hut," a Downtown Los Angeles Store, Operated for Benefit of Disabled Veterans.

Out Los Angeles way the care and comfort of the boys who went away to war and returned maimed and broken in health is a matter of vital concern. Leading citizens, editors, writers, business and professional men and women believe it their patriotic duty to help these boys back to health and competition with their fellow men. Hence the "Hut," established in downtown Los Angeles.

The committee was formed and the "Hut" established because of the hundreds of veterans who come from the hospitals with only small, or no compensation, and who during the period of convalescence are in dire financial straits. At the store they may ply their crafts and sell their handicraft, all the receipts their own.

Rupert Hughes is a former service man and a member of the American Legion in Los Angeles. To him all former service men are "buddies." He is never too busy, never too engrossed, to aid in good works which are for the benefit of his former comrades in arms. As with other American Legion members, the "Hut" project is meeting with Mr. Hughes' approval and active co-operation.

"There isn't too much, can never be too much, we can do for our disabled," is a slogan with the novelist.
Among the directors of the "Hut" are representatives of all the American Legion posts in Los Angeles county. The Needlework Guild of America gave $2,000 to get the project started, and the American Legion pledged $250

WHY Do Men Have Instinctive Fear of the Darkness?

And while I am on the question of instincts concerning that enigmatic sensation, the fear of the dark. Why is it, do you suppose, that two grown men, who have deliberately fed the great white ways because of the joys of the great unlighted—why should they prefer to stick around the campfire after dark? Once I slept alone in the woods for two months and at the end of that time I was no more broken from the faint light than at the beginning. It was the safest place in the world, my Adirondack camp. There were no dangerous animals, no dangerous insects, no snakes, no tramps. I took supper regularly with friends on the other side of the lake, paddled over alone under glorious heavens, and suffered no feeling of the nerves. But my tent was 50 feet by 50 feet from the water's edge, and those 50 feet through darkness up the familiar path verged on the unpleasant. I should have left a lantern on the landing to light me home, but that seemed childish. There was always relief I had lighted the lantern in my tent—a very slight relief, but actual. I never thought about being alone after the light was burning or minded walking up at night. I would like to know whether forest rangers, Yellowstone guards, nightwatchmen and all the citizens whose legal business is conducted after dark, have this same faint distrust of it, that is many degrees less than fright, yet a shade different from daylight ease. All our cave-men ancestors could not have been ardent cowards, lying in mortal terror at the approach of twilight. Yet anything short of that could scarcely have survived as instinct when so many other instincts have fallen by the way.—From T. Morris Longstreth's "The Adirondacks."

His Deduction.
"Land of the living!" ejaculated Mrs. Johnson in the midst of her reading. "It says here in the paper that a bunch of scientific professors are going to Africa to hunt for humans with tails!" "Uh-huh!" nonchalantly replied Gap Johnson of Kumpus Ridge. "What do they aim to do when they find 'em? tin cans to 'em?"—Kansas City Star.

LEGION MEN PROUD OF HIM

Mayor Leach, "Minneapolis" Little Colonel, One of Several Successful Gopher State Officials.

They call him "Minneapolis" Little Colonel—Mayor George E. Leach of that city. He is one of a number of Minnesota mayors who have swelled the pride of the American Legion of that state in the fact of their success in civil life by being voted officers of public trust after their return from war.

Just across that line of "unfriendly relations"—at least that's what some who know the rivalry between the Twin Cities call it—is another Legion executive, Mayor Nelson of St. Paul. And Gophers point to the harmony between the two executives, though they differ radically on many things, as exemplification of the American Legion "buddy" spirit. Other Minnesota mayors who are active members of the American Legion are:

Mayor Cannon of Hibbing, Mayor Maertz of New Prague, Mayor Emple of Virginia, Mayor Quinn of Faribault, Mayor Essling of Eveleth. Then there's Lieutenant Governor Collins, State Bank Examiner Rathbun and State Coal Commissioner Bowen who though not mayors, are Legionnaires. Mayor Leach was colonel of the famous One Hundred and Fifty-first field artillery, a regiment which was on the front line for 248 consecutive days, longer, it is said, than any other regiment in the United States army. The regiment took part in all the major engagements, and served with its own division, the Rainbow division, the First, Second, Fourth, Twenty-sixth, Thirty-second, Seventy-seventh and Eighty-eighth divisions.

And the "Little Colonel" was a gallant soldier. He was decorated for bravery in action with the Distinguished Service Cross, the Croix De Guerre, with two palms and star and the Legion of Honor, officers' grade, and after returning to the United States was decorated with the Distinguished Service Medal. He now is colonel of the One Hundred and Fifty-first in the National Guard.

Hard Fought Game Lost to Haddonfield by 12-6

Palmyra High School football team was defeated last Friday on the Field Club grounds by Haddonfield, 12-6. Goal, Burr, Wood, Syle and McCone started. Haddonfield scored Palmyra's touchdown by intercepting a forward pass by running 70 yards for a touchdown. Mason scored both touchdowns for Haddonfield by line plunging and end runs. Both teams fumbled a lot. Perkins, of Palmyra, showed his stuff, also. The line-up follows: Haddonfield: Graham L. Brown; Warner I. Jones; Sullivan I. G. McCone; Erlick r.g. Penneck; Palphreyman r.t. Syle; Burr r.e. Johnson; Taylor, assistant secretaries, Layton Green, Newton Morton; treasurer, Frank N. Johnson; pianist, A. How "Doc" Won Promotion

By HAROLD SINCLAIRE

Doc Newton was out of a job, and that situation was becoming chronic. Never a brighter, briskeer, more accommodating fellow than he, with friends everywhere; but the railroad company did not seem to want him, and the young fellow began to wonder if there was a black list, and why he had become its victim. The roundhouse foreman could have explained the situation, but he thought too much of Doc to hurt his feelings. The boys on the dog watch could have enlightened him, but they prized his company, and sincerely hoped that things might take a turn for the better.

The truth of it was that Doc got "it" every time he touched a locomotive throttle. To him an engine was a living thing, a vital steam horse that loved to show its paces; and never was there a more spirited driver than Doc. Once he had run No. 24 on the wrong track where the depot girders came low, and knocked off the smokestack. Later he had dumped locomotive and tender into the turntable pit.

"Was never a second late, clipped right along, and always claimed the right of way," explained Doc dauntlessly, deeming the minor mishaps mere trivial incidents.

Doc believed he was still on the "cut" list, but never got a call to go on duty for a whole month.

"Tell you, Ruth," he said to the fair devoted girl who was the one star of hope and beauty in his firmament, "I believe I'll try some other trade in some other town."

Ruth cried for a time. That ended Doc's determination. He went back to the roundhouse grimly.

Then, nobody was working one long-to-be-remembered February night. It had been a hard day for railway service. Nothing was sent out from Crofton, but at seven o'clock, on regular schedule, Doc walked into the doghouse with the business-like air of a man ready for work and expecting it.

"What did you wade way down here in the snow for?" inquired Foreman Bros.

"Oh, something may turn up," retorted Doc, with his usual optimism. Something did turn up—the biggest thing that had happened in the reckless, impetuous life of Mr. Doc Newton. It was the unexpected appearance of the president of the road.

"Bros," spoke the official sharply. "I must make the junction at Clay City in time to stop the night express on the Northern. Give me your best locomotive, a shallow caboose and a hustler, and do it quick."

"I'm your man," spoke up Doc promptly, rising to his feet. "You'll have to take," announced Doc laconically, fixing his place at the lever.

"I did it once—I guess I can qualify this time," replied the official. They ran the first ten miles in fourteen minutes, but struck a trestle a foot under water, and blocked with drifted wood. Then there was a whip-lash sway and the engine cleared a bridge just as a break in a dam carried its center pier away.

"We've made it," panted Doc, as they rounded a hill and came in sight of Clay City, to see the Night Express on the rival road steaming down the rails a mile distant. "They've given her the right of way," he shouted as they neared the interlocking tower.

"You must stop that train," cried the railroad magnate. "I'm going to," said Doc grimly. He halted squarely across the tracks, a barrier to the oncoming express.

The official jumped from 101, ran to the halted train, waved his hand to Doc, and the dripping engineer knew that he had won the day.

It was the talk of the road next morning. It was known that upon the Night Express was a railroad king, whom the president of the Southern had to intercept before he reached the city. A first interview with him blocked a ten million dollar deal with a rival railroad.

Two days later the president of the road walked into the doghouse. Doc sat patiently awaiting work.

"Newton," called out the official, advancing and extending his hand, "there's a check for a thousand dollars going through the mails for you from headquarters. You can go to work tomorrow on the regular list."

"What locomotive?" asked Doc. "Newton," replied the magnate, with a grim smile, "I wouldn't trust you with the oldest rattlesnake on the road. After that dash three nights since, big as it was, I see that you would make the slowest accommodation a regular limited. No, you start in at $2,500 a year as a division inspector."

"Ruth," observed Doc to his fiancée an hour later, "the president of the road won't trust me with a locomotive because I insist it show its paces. You will trust me with the nicest little wife in the world, though, won't you?"

"Meaning me?" smiled Ruth lovingly. "Do you think I'm not proud of the honor? You showed what real running was anyway, and you are the only man on the road that could do it."

Inability. "The airs of her, an' that shiftness an' lazy her husband had to go to work for himself."—Judge.

Australia Hot in December. About Christmas time the hottest day occurs in Brisbane, Australia. That, with the universal tea drinking at 7, 11 and 4 o'clock each day, the houses built on stilts from six to nine feet high, and the British currency, are a few of the things which most impress the new American arrivals in Australia. The houses in Brisbane are frame shells and there are no heating plants, although July and August are quite cold. The houses are built on high tarred poles to keep away the white ants, a constant nuisance.

HIS TROUBLE NOT PERMANENT

Partridge's Sympathy With Seemingly Badly Afflicted Stranger Just a Little Overdone.

Partridge, on his way to town, was perturbed by the behavior of the man sitting opposite him. The poor fellow made no movement, but sat there motionless, his elbows pressed tightly to his sides, his hands stretched out in front of him. "Paralyzed!" thought Partridge, and being a good-natured fellow, he was only too pleased to accede to the stranger's request that he should take his pipe out of his waistcoat pocket, fill it, and place it in his mouth for him.

"Dreadful thing, paralysis!" remarked Partridge, sympathetically. "Paralysis!" gasped the stranger. "I'm not paralyzed! My wife asked me to come up to town to buy a piece of silk, and—nodding toward his outstretched hands—"this is the width!"

Patrons of a "New York" restaurant in a suburban town are wondering if the proprietors have discovered a subtle way of letting it be known when the closing hour of 8 p. m. is drawing near.

Always on the alert for something to keep the guests amused, the management recently installed a radiophone to supplant a talking machine. The new device proved entertaining with its varied programs of band concerts, vocal selections, summaries of the world's news and other items.

But when 7:30 o'clock brings the announcement of "bedtime stories for the little folks" the majority of the diners begin glancing toward a big clock facing to one of the walls overhead or else look at their watches. As a result fewer patrons linger after 8 p. m.—New York Sun.

Antipodes Get Radio Signals. Radio time signals sent out from Annapolis station have been heard at the antipodes, or halfway around the world. According to C. E. Adams, official astronomer and seismologist at the Hector observatory, Wellington, New Zealand, time signals sent by radio from the naval station at Annapolis, Md., were heard distinctly by him. Another report received by the naval observatory from Australia stated that the time signals had been heard there within a fraction of a second after their transmission, apparently coming both ways around the world.

AMERICAN LEGION

SPECIAL LEGION SERVICE

P. O. S. of A. Also Join in Visit to Lutheran Church

The special Legion service held in P. O. S. of A. hall by the First Lutheran Church on Sunday-night was delightful. The Legion boys turned out in goodly numbers and the P. O. S. of A., invited by the Legion, also had a large number of men. There were special numbers rendered by a trombone quartet, and the choir rendered several selections. The choir's subject was "The Call."

This Sunday night will be Dr. Daugherty night. The meeting to be held in Society Hall. Dr. Daugherty will be present and speak. His many friends should support him at this time, and show their appreciation by their presence.

The last Sunday in the month the First Lutheran Church will join with the other churches in town in holding a special service in the Methodist Church, at which a speaker who has been in the recent troubles in Smyrna will tell us of the conditions there.

Post Rodgers Banquet

The annual banquet Tuesday evening in Legion Hall was one of the biggest events the Post has enjoyed since its organization.

There was a big turnout of Legion boys and they had as their guests, in addition, the Township officials and officers of other town organizations.

A splendid banquet was served by the Ladies' Auxiliary. The Post rooms were elaborately decorated for the occasion. A Philadelphia vaudeville troupe put on a highly enjoyable entertainment.

Assemblyman Powell spoke on American Legion principles. George N. Wimer expressed his belief in Palmyra's loyalty to its service men, and W. T. J. Purnell voiced his eagerness to back up the Post in all the good work it planned to do.

Post Chaplain Harry Saul gave the opening and closing prayer and Post Attorney Frank A. Matthews gave his attitude toward the prohibition amendment, which, he said, he disliked, because he considered it a confession that Americans had to have more laws to keep them in line.

Post Commander A. Lincoln Richter presided over the meeting. Col. Carleton, who is organizing the reserve of the national army, spoke on "National Defense."

He first showed how all the wars of American history had been forced upon us by the other side and declared that no one knows how soon such a thing will happen again.

The Colonel said he did not believe in war, that no one wants to avoid war more than the soldier. Nations make war, he declared, while it is the soldiers who make peace.

He continued, "is like abandoning the army," he continued, "is like abandoning fire engines in the hope there will be no more fires."

"The United States has always allowed itself to be caught unprepared. Then it has to build up a big military machine at a big cost in money and lives. Afterwards it has always scrapped this machine and returned to the same state of unpreparedness as before."

"The money wasted in our big wars would have maintained a peace-time army big enough to have prevented those wars."

For the first time the nation now has a real military policy, he concluded, and the organized reserve is the backbone of it. He explained the steps being taken to organize the reserve in this section and referred all interested persons to William T. J. Purnell for detailed information.

Alan Bruce Conlin, State Commander of the audience for a half hour with an address that was both humorous and serious.

He told of the trials and tribulations of the disabled soldiers and how politics in the bureau had caused neglect and inefficiency.

He told Post Rodgers that the spirit of the War is now dead and that the post in the future must exist on its own merit and hold the respect and honor of the community because of what it does.

He urged the post to get busy and do something for the poor and needy and also for the disabled soldiers on Thanksgiving and Christmas days.

DEATHS

Ellis A. Layton
Ellis A. Layton, ten-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Orrie Layton, who has been suffering for sometime with heart trouble, passed away at his home, 237 West Broad street, Palmyra, on Tuesday. The funeral services will be held on Saturday, November 18th, at 2 p. m., from his late residence, Rev. E. A. Robinson officiating. Interment will be in Morris cemetery, Palmyra. Friends may call Friday evening.

Mrs. Albert VanSciver
Elsie M. VanSciver, aged forty-two years, died very suddenly on Sunday, while on her way to the Hahnemann hospital, Philadelphia, in the Palmyra Ambulance. The funeral was held from her late residence, 619 Cinnaminson street, Riverton, on Wednesday afternoon. Interment was made in the old Methodist cemetery, Palmyra. The deceased is survived by her husband, Albert VanSciver, and three children.

Financing Water
Running water cleanses itself in air and sunshine. So sunshine is the disinfective power of water that the river Seine, in which the city of Paris pours the enormous output of her daily sewage, already at a distance of three miles away from the city has become fit to drink. The self-regenerative action of the water has succeeded, in the course of a couple of hours, in disinfecting this avalanche of reeking corruption, and restoring it to its original purity and wholesome-ness.

STATE AND COUNTY RETURNS

Official Figures for State Ticket. Road Bond Carries. Burlington County Elects No Democrats.

Returns were so slow coming in after the election last week, that official figures were not available up to the time The New Era went to press. The official figures as finally tabulated are as follows:

Senator, Edward I. Edwards 457,648. Joseph S. Frelinghuysen 364,932. Governor, George S. Silver 426,837. William N. Runyon 383,206. Silzer's plurality 43,631. Silzer carried only five of 21 counties, but his plurality of over 80,000 in Hudson was sufficient to win.

The Democrats also elected nine out of twelve New Jersey Congress delegations, but the Republicans retain control of both houses of the Legislature. They lost one Assemblyman and gained one Senator. The Senate will stand: Republicans 17, Democrats 4; Assembly: Republicans 44, Democrats 16. The Republican majority on joint ballot will be 41, the same as this year. This will probably mean the re-election of Newton A. K. Bugbee, Republican, as State Comptroller.

The $40,000,000 road bond issue was approved by a majority of 14,390.

Burlington county elected the entire Republican county ticket and gave good majorities to Frelinghuysen, Runyon and Bacharach. The official returns follow:

For United States Senator
Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, R.	13,727
Edward I. Edwards, D.	9,967

Majority against $40,000,000 road bond issue lost out in the county, it carried in the State by a small majority. The number of voters registered in the county was 43,723. The number of votes cast was 24,831—about 60%.

FOR HEALTH

Christmas Seals Ready December 1

The annual campaign for the sale of Red Cross Christmas Seals will open the first of December, as announced by the attractive posters which have been put up all over the County. The County has been organized for the sale of the seals, which will have a working committee to reach every community with the message of the work which the funds produced through the sale of seals make possible. Weekly clinics are held at Moorestown, will be County Chair-

The population of the County is the basis upon which the quota is set at five seals per capita. The goal is set to cover the tentative budget for 1923. The statistics from Trenton State Board of Health indicate that there has been a decline in the death rate in New Jersey of more than five hundred during the past year. Burlington County has had 119 new cases of tuberculosis reported and 95 deaths in one year. Weekly clinics are held for indigent patients by the Burlington County League. Thirty-six patients have been taken to the County sanatorium and two to Glen Gardner. An educational work has been carried on through the schools in the homes by means of the moving picture reel and by the distribution of literature. A nursing service for the County and convalescent patients who remain at home are made possible through the sale of the Christmas Seal and through special entertainments provided by members of the Burlington County League and those interested in this humanitarian work.

The estimated expenses for the coming year amount to $4,748.00.

The origin of music is unknown. It has been said that speech and song are coeval. From several passages in the Old Testament it is evident the music was made use of at an early period, but probably without any regard to rhythm. The Greeks, who inherited the art from the Egyptians, were the first to reduce music to a system; but it was not until the introduction of Christianity into western Europe that the sacred music of the church took place, and not until the fifteenth century that any rapid progress was made. The great distinction between modern music of the ancients and that of modern times lies in the peculiarity of the scales in which it is written. Melody was probably the sole characteristic of the music of the ancients, and it was not until the seventeenth century that composition in harmony, either vocal or instrumental, came into use. It was supposed that the art of composition was first cultivated in Flanders. Harmony probably belongs exclusively to the music of the most civilized nations of modern times.—Seattle Daily Times.

Moral: Don't Invite Trouble.
I saw a delicate fower has grown up two feet high, between the horses' path and the wheel-track. An inch more to the right or left had sealed its fate, or an inch higher; and yet it lived to flourish as much as if it had a thousand acres of untrampled space around it. It did not borrow trouble, nor invite an evil fate by approaching it.—Henry D. Thoreau.

Cash Saves a Bank and Cupid

By HAZEL SMITH

Randal Webster, the young, and handsome president of the Bank of Greenville, opened the door of his private office. He glanced into the counting room, and beyond it at the jostling crowds in the street outside. Then with a groan he sank to a chair, the picture of despairing misery.

"It has come," he told himself in a harsh, racking whisper—"the worst, the end!"

There came a tap at the door. The young financier sprang to his feet. A brief, vague hope gave him momentary energy. Then his soul seemed to die within him, as his cashier entered the room with a face blanched and fear-crossed as his own.

"Any word?" projected Webster, hoarsely.

"None, Mr. Webster, we must face the crisis, the worst of rumors as to the solvency of the institution have got abroad. A mob of depositors from the mills is in front of the bank. They are wrought up and dangerous.

"How much is there in the bank in ready cash?"

"Less than $10,000."

"Pay it out to the last dollar as slowly as you can. If we can tide over for a few hours help may come."

"And if it does not—and when the money gives out?" questioned the cashier, fearfully.

"Put up a sign and close the bank." Left to himself, the young banker reviewed the situation. The report was current that the bank was going to fail. Result: The frantic, desperate mob of frightened depositors now clamoring at the great locked door.

Webster had sent a trusted employee of the bank to a rich relative in the city. He carried an urgent appeal for succor. The messenger had not reported.

A graver shade of feeling covered the features of the young financier as he thought of the one dearest to him in all the world—Ethel Morris. They were to have been wedded in a month, but if the bank broke—then Webster would know but proud, exclusive family would scarcely favor a discredited bankrupt. It was a forlorn fight for business preservation and love.

Webster hurried into the counting room as a great outcry arose. He feared it was his messenger arrived; he hoped it was a new riot. It lacked just five minutes of ten. A remarkable scene greeted his sight.

A whilkered, farmer-looking man was talking to the excited crowd. He was waving a great bundle of bank notes in one hand. There was a cheer. In his other hand the stranger carried an old battered satchel. With it he pounded on the door.

"Let me in. I must get in!" the astounded Webster heard him shout out, and then to the people: "Don't get scared. Randal Webster is an honest man, and the Bank of Greenville is solid as a rock."

"Where is Mr. Webster?" he demanded. "Ah, there he is," and he approached the counter and nodded to the wondering banker. "Remember me, Mr. Webster?"

"See here," and he began to bring from his pockets bundle after bundle of bank notes. There's $20,000. Use it."

The man piled up bundle after bundle of crisp green bank notes. "Shit them up against the glass where they will show," ordered the stranger. "Only, don't pay out any of this heap. You won't need to. That pile, the real cash paid out right along, will soon take that unruly mob."

"Ten o'clock," announced the dumb-founded cashier. "Open up."

The stranger drew to one side, as if enjoying the scene. The astounded Webster was soon too busy to notice him. The eager crowd filed in; everybody was paid promptly. Within an hour the news went all over town that the bank was safe.

With a great sigh of relief Randal Webster beckoned the stranger into his private room.

"Now then," he said, "what does this all mean and who are you?"

"You don't know me, eh?" he said. "Well, I'm bringing you back some of the bread you cast upon the waters five years ago."

"You was a lawyer then, and you defended in the city a member of a gang of counterfeiters. Now do you remember?"

"Why, yes," answered Webster, slowly.

"My name was Dallas—not now; I've changed it. You got me free, you gave me a great lecture. A relative left me a fortune. I have kept track of you. I heard of your trouble."

"And you have saved the bank?" cried the grateful Webster.

Webster paid back his grateful friend in need. He did not tell even Ethel the story. Down deep in his heart, however, he fervently cherished the gratitude of the reformed criminal who had saved the bank at a critical juncture.

One Case, Anyhow.
"Have you ever known a doctor to take his own medicine?" "I certainly have. A few years ago when I crossed the Atlantic, a doctor on board prescribed champagne for my seasickness and whenever I was time for a dose he'd come around and join me."—Boston Transcript.

Gullible Trout.
While fishing on the River Ythos, in Aberdeenshire, Dr. Turner was the act of landing a five-pound trout when a gull, swooping down on the fish, was caught on the hook. The trout got clear, but the doctor pulled the gull ashore. Casting his line in the same place, the fisherman had the agreeable surprise of hooking the same trout, which did not escape the second time.—London Morning Post.

BUILDING CODE PASSED

Palmyra's New Ordinance Result of Combined Efforts

The Palmyra Township Committee at its meeting Tuesday evening passed the building code which had been prepared by citizens, members of the Chamber of Commerce and officials of the town, working in conjunction with Building Inspector Joseph H. Smith, of Riverton.

The Palmyra code is very similar to the one which has been in operation in Riverton for some time, the chief differences being improvements which Mr. Smith suggested as the result of his experience with the practical working of the Riverton code. Palmyra's code will be published next week.

M. Renshaw appeared to ask the Township Committee to oust George Chambers and Jimmie Jones from the end of Broad street. Mr. Renshaw explained that these two gentlemen, whose troubles have brought them in to print several times, had drawn up their houseboats on the bank where West Broad runs into the Pensauken and then had calmly ordered everybody else away, not even permitting other folks to land at that point with their boats.

Mr. Renshaw said that inasmuch as it was a Township street which they occupied, the landing place should be free to everybody and that the two "squatters" should be ordered off.

Chairman Davies promised to take up the matter with Solicitor Beckenbach.

Nelson Wallace, who lives on the riverbank near the foot of Market street, appeared for what he said was the eighth or tenth time to ask the Township to keep clear the road to his house. He said the carters continued dumping great heaps of rubbish and garbage all over the road, even dumping it on top of the sign which the Township had erected forbidding them to do so.

Mr. Wallace said he would give the names of the offenders to the authorities in private and Chairman Davies promised to see that action was taken to stop the nuisance.

Both sides of Spring Garden street from Cinnaminson avenue to Walnut street have been dedicated to the Township by Louis P. Wallace and an official plan of the new addition was submitted to the committee.

One of the features of the plan is that it continues Delaware avenue from Spring Garden street south, but the connecting link from Spring Garden street to the railroad is missing, the ground being occupied by a building lot.

In discussing the firemen's plan to buy a new fire apparatus, Solicitor Beckenbach said the vote of the people at the election merely directed the Township Committee to place the item on the 1923 budget and that the public, if it wanted to, could bring sufficient objection to bear against the expenditure, when the budget hearing is held, to knock it out.

The Committee adopted the resolution directing Assemblyman Powell and Senator Emmor Roberts to introduce a bill in the State Legislature creating Palmyra Borough.

Perez C. McMahon appeared to ask the Committee to straighten out the house numbers on New Jersey avenue. He said the odd numbers were on the east side of the street, instead of the west as in other parts of town, and that the first block from the railroad was the 100 block instead of the 600 block as elsewhere.

Delivery wagon drivers, he said, had difficulty in finding where people lived and often woke up the whole section in the middle of the night trying to locate a party.

It was decided that Committeeman Hartley would work in conjunction with Mr. McMahon to straighten out the matter, working on the principle that numbers on one side of a street should progress by twos for each 25 feet of frontage.

The Palmyra group will go to the Camden Y. M. C. A. for a swim on Saturday, December 2, on the 120 trolley.

Another football game is expected with the Riverton group next week. Three new members were initiated this week. Ask them how they like it.

Eats, Toys and Fancy Goods.
Stop! Look! and Buy!
This annual affair comes off Saturday, November 25, afternoon and evening. The usual stands—cakes, candy, dolls, toys and fancy goods, with lots of children's things, will be there. But wait until you see our flower basket and the lovely blooms that never droop; poinsettias, chrysanthemums, roses, daisies, poppies and violets, and there will even be sparkling glass baskets and bud vases to carry them home in.

Maybe we all can't go to Florida this winter but we can pick oranges just the same. Come up Saturday and take some home to the kiddies, or better still, let them pick their own. Have you seen the lovely little Colonial Dame in her rose and gold lace? Who wouldn't love to have her soft, pretty radiance in a boudoir?

Then there is that charming big Legion doll and the boxing gloves! And do you remember that peppercorn of last year? Well, if you want some this year, better call up Riverton 500 and order it. Some of us "got left" last year. Perhaps you would like to add deviled crabs, too, to that order—do your shopping early! Have your supper up there in the rooms—soup, coffee, hot dogs, baked beans, something to warm you up, in place of that coal you haven't got. Come round and see us anyway, Saturday, November 25.

LESSON FOR NOVEMBER 26

JESUS THE GREAT MISSIONARY

LESSON TEXT—Luke 8:1-38.
GOLDEN TEXT—The Son of Man is come to seek and to save that which is lost.—Luke 19:10.

REFERENCE MATERIAL—Matt. 4:12-13:38.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus Brings a Little of the Kingdom to Life.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Jesus the Great Missionary.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Jesus Meeting All Human Needs.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Jesus the Ideal Missionary.

I. The Great Missionary's Field (vv. 1-38).

He went throughout every city and village. The true missionary goes to everybody, for all need the gospel.

1. His Message (v. 1). He preached the glad tidings of the kingdom of God. The gospel message is truly good tidings, for the great King is offering to rebellious sinners salvation through Jesus Christ.

2. His Helpers (v. 1). The twelve apostles were with Him. The missionary should utilize the help of others.

3. Supported by Saved Women (vv. 2, 3). Out of grateful hearts certain women who had experienced the saving power of the gospel ministered unto Jesus of their substance.

II. The Great Missionary Teaching (vv. 4-21).

1. The Parable of the Sower (vv. 4-8). (1) The sower—Jesus (see Matt. 13:27). (2) The seed—the Word of God (v. 11). (3) The kinds of ground (vv. 5-8). (a) Wayside (v. 5). This trodden path pictures the hard-hearted upon which no impression can be made. The preached word finds no entrance, and Satan snatches it away as birds pick up the grain from the hard-beaten path. In such cases faith cannot spring up and result in salvation (v. 12). (b) Stony ground (v. 6). This is not stones mixed with earth, but a thin layer of earth on a ledge of rock. The seed falling upon such earth springs up quickly, but the plant soon dies when exposed to the sun. This pictures the hearer who receives with joy the message of the gospel, but when persecution and trials come because of following Christ, he gives up and deserts the cause (v. 10). (c) Thorny ground (v. 7). This ground is good, but it has thorns growing in it. The seeds spring up, but the plant has no room to develop. This pictures the Christians who bear no Christian fruit because of being preoccupied with "cares, riches and pleasures" of this life (v. 14). (d) Good ground (v. 8). The seed here sprang up and bore fruit to the full measure. This pictures the heart which receives the gospel message and allows it to produce in its life a full harvest of grain (v. 15).

The application of this parable is found in verses 16-18.

2. Kinship with Jesus Christ (vv. 19-21). Jesus teaches here that there is a relationship to Him which is closer than the tie of blood.

III. The Great Missionary Doing Wonders (vv. 22-39).

1. Calming the Storm (vv. 22-25). (1) Jesus asleep (v. 23). While the disciples were sailing the ship the Master fell asleep. (2) The frightened disciples awoke Jesus with their cry of peril. (3) Jesus rebuked the wind and water (v. 24). At His word there was a great calm. (4) Jesus rebuked the disciples (v. 25). He did not rebuke them for waking Him, but for their lack of faith.

2. Casting Out Demons (vv. 26-30). Demon-possession was in that day, and is today, an awful reality. (1) Jesus met by the demoniac (vv. 26-29). (2) Jesus' question (v. 30). The purpose of this question doubtless was to bring the real man to consciousness—to enable him to distinguish between the demon and himself. (3) The demon's request (vv. 31, 32). They asked permission to enter into a herd of swine. It seems that the demons have a dislike for disembodiment. The devil cannot act without Divine permission. (4) The request granted (v. 32, 33). Just why this was done we do not know. Since Jesus did it we must believe that it was wise. (5) The effect upon the people (vv. 34-37). (a) The keepers of the swine went and made it known in the city and country. (b) The people made investigation. They saw the man clothed and in his right mind, and heard the testimony of those who had seen what was done. (c) Besought Jesus to depart from them. (6) Request of the man whom He healed (v. 38, 39). He desired to be with Jesus. This was natural and right, but his responsibility was to go home and show them what great things God had done for him.

Pure Religion.
Pure religion and undefiled before God and the Father is this, to visit the widow and the fatherless in their affliction, and to keep himself unstained from the world.—James 1:27.

Adding the Weak.
Ye then that are strong ought to bear the infirmities of the weak, and not to please yourselves.—Romans 15:1.

The Wise Man.
A wise man will make more opportunities than he finds.—Bacon.

COUNTY FIREMEN MEET

Seventh Anniversary Celebrated at Scene of Organization

The Burlington County Firemen's Association which was organized in the house of Relief Engine Company, Moorestown, November 17, 1915, met again on Wednesday of last week in the Relief house and celebrated their seventh anniversary with one of the largest and best meetings ever held by the Association.

After a welcome speech by Evan W. Bennett, Chairman E. H. Flagg, Jr., of the historical book committee, reported the advertising complete, and Secretary William S. Gingham reported all historical sketches and pictures of every company received.

Treasurer William J. Smyth reported all in type and all cuts made and the book on the press, and said that early issue was assured.

The following officers were then elected for the ensuing year:

President, William B. Cramer, Beverly; first vice president, D. Harry Bishop, Florence; second vice president, Harry V. Ellis, Delanco; secretary, William S. Gingham, Bordentown; assistant secretary, Frank Cawley, Bordentown; treasurer, Albert G. Mayer, Mount Holly; trustees, William J. Clark, Mount Holly; Frank Foster, Burlington; Edward Jones, Burlington; Edward H. Flagg, Jr., Riverton; S. Steeman, Riverside; Frank L. Smyth, Medford; Howard Binder, Parry; Raymond Warrick, Masonville; Joseph Stack, Palmyra; Russell Holmes, Florence; Isaac Farrow, Marlton; W. E. Newkirk, Bridgeboro.

Arrested for Reckless Driving

Three men in a car crowded a resident of Riverton off the road between Riverton and Cambridge Sunday night, and wound up in the court of Recorder Troth, who held a special session Monday night to hear their case. The man who complained against them on the Cambridge side indicated in his report to the Chief of Police at Riverton. When the men reached Riverton they were arrested by Officer Walter C. Miller. Chief Troth could not decide that they were intoxicated, and called a physician who declared they were not. The men were held until Monday night while the case was investigated. It was learned that the man who was driving the car had suffered a broken arm some time ago, and had not fully recovered.

At the hearing Monday night they gave their names as Peter Koch, who drove the car, Joe Wurnick and Casper Machillis, all of Camden. They said they were on their way home from a christening at Cambridge when the accident happened. A bottle containing something, supposed to be "hooch" was found in the car.

The charged of driving a car while intoxicated was not pressed, but Koch was fined $19.50 for reckless driving and the other two men $13.50 each. Koch's license card was taken from him and sent to the office of the Commissioner of Vehicles at Trenton with the recommendation that his license be revoked.

Upholds Real Estate Law

In upholding the creation of the Tennessee Legislature two years ago of a State Real Estate Commission to examine and license real estate dealers, the United States Supreme Court has approved an enactment designed to eliminate the evils of the business and keep unscrupulous persons out of it.

Under this law "license shall be granted to persons who are trustworthy and bear a good reputation for honesty and fair dealings and are competent to transact the business of a real estate broker or salesman in such a manner as to safeguard the interests of the public, and only after satisfactory proof thereof has been presented.

The term real estate dealers is construed to include all who engage in even one act of buying, selling or renting for another, except in cases of receiverships and the like.

The law licenses real estate brokers and salesmen and prohibits "any real estate man to accept a commission or valuable consideration . . . except from his employer."

The act stipulates conditions which will be cause for refusal and revocation of licenses and provides a fine of $25 to $100 for its violation.

The law was immediately attacked by one group of real estate dealers in Memphis.

Kaser Upheld

Charges that raised questions of moral fitness, efficiency and attention to duties against Louis J. Kaser, superintendent of the schools of Burlington county and named for reappointment, fell flat before the State Board of Education when a hearing was given at Trenton on Thursday last week. The formal presentation of some of the charges about two weeks ago had temporarily held up the confirmation of Kaser's reappointment, but after Thursday's hearing was over it was the belief of most of those present that the confirmation would come at a very early date.

Changed Meanings.

Had even the fiercest of our Saxon ancestors been called a "silly idiot," he would not have been displeased, for in those days "silly" meant blessed or happy, and "idiot" meant nothing more than a private person. Nor would he have taken offense at being referred to as a crafty swindler, for those are both words the meaning of which has undergone a change in the course of centuries. Crafty once implied not shiftness, but skill, and a swindler was a man who was merely good at driving a bargain. The word "off-cloud" which is now most generally used in an uncomplimentary way, once meant to be of a kindly disposition, and to be referred to as "concocted," meant that you were full of ideas or originality.—Chicago Herald and Examiner.

"Ha!" exclaimed the client. "You predicted the world was coming to an end a week ago." "Did I?" replied the soothsayer, dreamily. "You certainly did. But we are still here. Nothing has happened. What have you got to say for yourself?" "Just this," said the soothsayer. "In as glad it didn't happen as you are. Meanwhile, he continued, mentioning languidly to his dark-skinned assistant, "show the gentleman out and admit the next seeker after truth."—Burlington Age-Herald.

At a special meeting of the Cinnaminson Building and Loan Association held on Monday evening, November 20, 1922, a resolution was adopted, granting non-borrowing applicants the privilege of subscribing for 25 shares stock in any one series. SPORTS

Riverton Holds Paulsboro to 12-0 Score

Those who attended the game at Palmyra last Saturday and witnessed Riverton's 12-0 victory over the strong Paulsboro team saw one of the most interesting games that has been played this season. Both teams, from the kickoff until time was called at the end of the game, played good snappy football, and it was not until the third period that Riverton, by numerous line plunges and end runs and a beautifully executed forward pass (Hylton to McIlhenny) were able to advance the ball down to a position when Hollingshead, after repeated line plunges, carried it over for the first touchdown. This was followed up by another score when Jenkins blocked one of Paulsboro's kicks and Nichols fell on it back of the goal line for Riverton's second touchdown. The defensive playing of Nichols, Riverton's right end, was the outstanding feature of the game, but creditable mention should be made for every player of both teams as each one of them certainly gave their full measure of good football during the game.

The lineup:

Riverton	Paulsboro
Bowers (Faunce) 1c	Heryg
Clifton (Jenkins) 1t	Gallagher
Wille 1g	Mooney
Jenkins (R.Hylton) c	Helms
Wallace 1rg	Carney
Lloyd (Matalack) rt	Debow
Nichols (Wescott) rc	Huber
J. Hylton qb	Langford
H. Stack (Holvick) 1h	Turner
McIlhenny (Stack) rh	Calahan
Hollingshead fb	Mattson

Riverton 0 0 12 0—12
Paulsboro 0 0 0 0—0
Time of periods—12 minutes. Referee—Keating. Umpire—Hahn. Head linesman—O. Faunce. Time keeper—G. Steedle.

This Saturday Riverton will have for their opponents the Darby Rams, from Darby, Pa., and the following extract from their manager's letter will give an idea of what kind of game is expected:

"Dear Sir:—I had a team which received a damned good lacing in Riverton a couple of years ago, and I want to arrange another game, as I feel that my present team can come up there and give you a damned good trouncing, if given the chance."

"He was immediately answered and told that he might be right about the trouncing, but that there certainly would be a team out on our field to argue that point with an eye on next Saturday on the Palmyra Field Club grounds at 3 o'clock we have arranged to start to settle this little dispute, so be on hand when the whistle blows as a riot game is in order."

The Riverton reserves will play a preliminary game with a team from Moorestown. Game to start at 1:45. This Saturday Riverton will be handicapped in having Bill McIlhenny in the lineup, as he received a badly wrenched ankle in last week's game. It is reported that a new man, a friend of Nichols, will be in the lineup to try and take his place.

The Thanksgiving attraction will be a game in the morning between the Riverton Reserves and Beverly at Beverly, and in the afternoon the Riverside team, known as "Wagner's Bull Dogs" on The Field Club grounds, game starting promptly at 3 o'clock. As this Riverside team has not been defeated this season, a fine game is anticipated. Irons Metropolitan Band, of Burlington, will furnish music during the game.

Electric Rates Reduced

Statement by President Thomas N. McCarter of the Public Service Corporation of New Jersey, at a meeting held Wednesday, voted to reduce the Uniform Electric Retail Power Rate, effective with December sales. The action will result in a saving of at least $1,600,000 a year to the commercial lighting and retail power users served under these rates as at present constituted. More than 97% of all the customers of Public Service Electric Company will be favorably affected by the voluntary reduction in prices. The new base rate will be three cents per kilowatt hour instead of ten cents with similar cuts in the second, third and fourth steps of the lighting rate.

The directors also voted to pay a two per cent. quarterly dividend on the common stock of Public Service Corporation of New Jersey, thus restoring the dividend rate for that class of stock to an eight per cent. annual basis, the same rate that prevailed before the United States became involved in the World War. The usual two per cent. quarterly dividend on the preferred stock of Public Service Corporation of New Jersey was likewise declared, both common and preferred stock divisions being payable December 30 to shareholders of record December 15.

The directors also decided to recommend to the stockholders for approval two changes in the preferred stock structure of the Corporation as now existing. At present the authorized issue of preferred stock is $50,000,000.00 at par, carrying eight per cent. cumulative dividend of which approximately $18,500,000.00 is outstanding. This stock is redeemable at the option of the Corporation at 110% of its par value. The directors felt that this redemption stipulation acts as an unnecessary bar to the proper market value of the stock in the hands of the stockholders and have therefore decided to recommend that the Corporation give up its privilege of redemption.

The directors also felt that there would be times hereafter when it would be practicable for the Corporation to sell seven per cent. preferred stock and have therefore decided to recommend to the stockholders for approval the alteration of the company's charter so that the $50,000,000.00 of authorized preferred stock shall hereafter consist of $25,000,000.00 eight per cent. preferred stock and $25,000,000.00 of seven per cent. preferred stock. This, together with the authorized common stock still available for issue, will provide a flexible structure of which the Corporation may avail itself as occasion may require. It is believed that the stockholders will approve of both of these suggested changes.

And Save All Risks. There is no excuse for murder nowadays. By waiting until you may live to read that your enemy killed himself with his revolver.—Kansas City Star.

Paralyzed in both arms and legs, confined always to a wheel chair, Mal Rose, vigorous in mind and indomitable of soul, composed on twenty-four hours notice, this little poem, hoping that it would help to guarantee to others the health which he has been denied.

"I am a Little Christmas Seal"

I am a little Christmas Seal,
Oh please, sir, won't you buy me?
For I've a mission that is real,
And no one should deny me.
A penny, sir, will pay for me,
I'm sure you'll never see it—
My mission is to fight T.B.,
And you must help me do it.

It's more than just a hand-out stunt
To slay this thing of terror,
So I'm in the army at the front,
And you're the stretcher-bearer;
For where we come or where we go,
In foul or fairest weather,
Tuberculosis is our foe,
And we must stand together.

Both life and health we may prolong,
If you will pay a penny,
Let's help the kiddies to be strong,
For unied tots are many;
And, house to house and town to town,
Let's work to save the babies—
Oh please, sir, do not turn me down,
With promises and maybes.

Just stunkly kiss me on the back
And stick me to a letter,
And for a penny and a smack,
We'll make the whole world better;
And oh, how glad we both shall feel,
If you'll but trust and try me;
I'm just a little Christmas Seal,
Oh please, sir, won't you buy me?
—Mal Rose.

SEVEN STANDARDS

Rev. Ernest Bawden Tells Parents and Teachers Someone is to Blame for Bad Boys

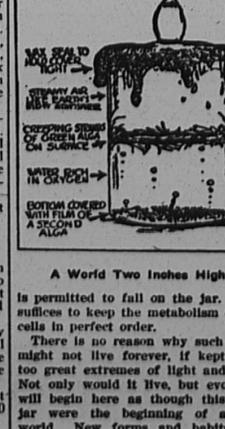

Did you attend the meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association last Tuesday evening? If you did not, you have missed a rare treat. After an excellent musical program consisting of a vocal solo by Mr. Van Austen, a piano solo by Miss May Brown, a violin solo by Harold Mueller, a vocal solo by Mrs. C. W. Williams, the Rev. Ernest Bawden addressed the meeting on the topic "Standards for Home and School." In part, Rev. Bawden said, "The common interest in home and school is the coming man of the home interested in the child as the perpetrator of the race; the school is interested in him as the coming citizen. The child is the most priceless treasure of the world. 'How would you like to be without the children of Palmyra for one year? We do not appreciate the children as we should. Children should have the first claim on us. 'Adam and Eve had the first school. The home is a school room and the mother is the first teacher. She teaches the child to walk, talk, and many other valuable lessons. 'Home and school are interested in the process and progress of man. The home is interested in producing good men and women and the school in producing good citizens. Sad to relate, the product is sometimes a failure. A bad boy or girl is a reflection on someone.' The speaker here set forth some standards which home and school should have in common: 1. The worth, right and privileges of the child. 2. The responsibility for the welfare of the child. Do not stamp the child with the dollar sign. 3. The standards of life. We want clean physical manhood and womanhood. 4. The mental ability. Ignorance is the curse of a nation. 5. The moral worth and spiritual value of the child. There should be no double standards. 6. The training for service. Selfishness is the cardinal sin of young America. 7. The respect to authority. In closing, Rev. Bawden said, 'We must have cooperation if we are going to get anywhere.' The meeting was well attended. We are sorry that anyone should have missed it.

Parry. Carlton Haines, who has been ill, is greatly improved after being confined to his bed for some time. Miss Margaret Phelan is spending the winter with Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hadley of Camden. Mr. and Mrs. William Phelan are entertaining Mr. Phelan's brother, John Phelan, of Philadelphia, this week. Mrs. A. Wallace is about again after being confined to her home with a sprained ankle. A large crowd attended the "Radio Service" at the Moravian Church last Sunday evening. The radio receiver will also be in operation next Sunday evening, and the church orchestra will give a number of selections. Mr. and Mrs. David Coles entertained the Rev. and Mrs. C. Nelson Sperling and family at dinner Wednesday evening. The Rev. and Mrs. C. Nelson Sperling entertained the Moravian ministers and their wives, of this district, at the parsonage last Monday. Lester Steele and Arnold Schmierer have just returned from a trip to Michigan, where they went after Mr. Steele's new car. Todd Sperling has just completed a painting of the site of the first Moravian Mission in Ohio, of 150 years ago. It took him one year and he had to do it in his spare time. Anyone interested in such work is welcome to call at his home at any time. The painting is about 44 inches wide and 68 inches long. It is wonderful work, especially for a lad of Todd's age. He is the winner of a number of first prizes in county school painting contests in Ohio, where he formerly lived. There will be a Thanksgiving service in the Moravian Church, Thanksgiving Day, at 10 a. m. Mrs. S. S. Brumbaugh and Mrs. M. E. Fife and daughter, of Philadelphia, spent Tuesday with Mrs. C. Nelson Sperling.

Music in the Air. Does anyone now possess musical pigeons? Lady Dorothy Nevill in a letter to a London newspaper tells how many years ago she had sent to her from China a number of whistles made out of gourds, something like small organ pipes, which could be attached with great ease to a pigeon's tail. The effect produced by the flight of these birds with whistles attached was extremely pretty, resembling Aeolian harps, the whistles all being of a different note. People used to be considerably astonished at such heavenly music, and their bewilderment afforded her great amusement, she says.

Wessel Had His Revenge. On the Upper Plain in New Zealand, a farmer saw a hawk flying over his field and crying as if in pain. The farmer shot the bird and when he picked it up he found a wessel, that had also been killed by the shot, with its teeth buried in the hawk's back. It was evidently this tenacious little animal that caused the bird so much distress. Reserved for Better Fate. An Alberta (Canada) farmer saw a chicken hawk seize a half-grown chick. While in flight the hawk was shot at and killed. Immediately the bird was hit the chick dropped from its claws and landed safely and is now doing well. Potatoes Grow on Vines. Potatoes are growing on vines in a garden in Hohum, Wash. The gardener says, according to reports, that he planted his crop in the ordinary way. He is picking potatoes three feet above the ground. Twins Run in That Family. A Cumbrian (Wales) mother recently gave birth to her fifth set of twins, bringing her family up to 17. The mother was one of twins, and her own mother, who had 22 children, was also one of twins.

What constitutes a world of life? The wide expanse of the globe is not necessary for a balanced ecology. A whole biological world can be contained in one jar of water. Here is a picture of a small sealed flask. Its cover is plugged down tight, neither air nor water can enter nor escape. Green algae are growing in the jar. They are bright and healthy, although the jar has been sealed up for a year. Each day a little sunshine

A World Two Inches High. Is permitted to full on the jar. This suffices to keep the metabolism of the cells in perfect order. There is no reason why such a jar might not live forever, if kept from too great extremes of light and heat. Not only would it live, but evolution will begin here as though this little jar were the beginning of a new world. New forms and habits will evolve themselves to fit conditions found inside the glass.

Lawyer's Ingenious Plea Won. The court was badly fooled recently in Berlin. A hotel proprietress was about to be convicted for permitting her premises to be frequented by bad characters. The defense called a handsome young woman, who answered several questions. Then counsel asked for the acquittal of his client, because the witness was a man, not a woman. "If an all-wise court," he said, "cannot tell the difference between a man and a woman, how can it expect my client to tell good characters from bad, on sight?" He won his case.

Ring Twice Oddy Recovered. Having his ring twice swallowed by fish and recovering it each time was the experience of a Nova Scotia fisherman. The first time he lost the ring when fishing for cod, and found it when cleaning one of the catch. A few days later he lost the same ring when herring fishing, and his wife found it in one of the herrings.

It don't seem like a year ago that we were advising you to give a Dunn Pen for Christmas. Time certainly flies. But swiftly as the year has passed, there has been time to improve the "pen with the little red pump handle," and the ones we are offering now have some little refinements in construction. The prices have been reduced, too, so that now you can buy this remarkable pen for $2.75 up. —Advertisement. Cheerfulness Goes Far. Electric Rates Reduced $1,600,000 a Year

PUBLIC SERVICE ELECTRIC COMPANY is pleased to announce herewith the filing with the Board of Public Utility Commissioners of a NEW SCHEDULE OF RATES, which will result in the above substantial saving to its lighting and retail power customers.

What the New Rates Will Be

Base rate for lighting reduced from 10 cents to 9 cents;
Second step rate reduced from 9 cents to 8 cents;
Third step rate reduced from 8 cents to 7 cents;
Fourth step rate reduced from 7 cents to 6 cents;
Base rate for retail power and for optional retail power also reduced from 10 cents to 9 cents.

New schedule of rates will become effective with December sales, meaning January bills, and every householder, every shop keeper, every factory owner served under uniform lighting rates, as well as every retail power user will share in the substantial money benefit. Reductions apply in one hundred and ninety-seven municipalities. No change in minimum charge.

Before Public Service engaged in the electric business the base rate for lighting in Newark was 13 cents per kilowatt hour. Other companies in New Jersey have raised lighting rates, this company never. On the contrary, Public Service has voluntarily made successive reductions as conditions warranted, in keeping with a policy of giving the best service at the lowest cost.

Twenty years ago there were only 16,000 electric meters in the territory served by Public Service. Today there are more than 330,000 meters in use and every meter installed means more comfort and convenience for the user of electricity. This is one way Public Service has helped make New Jersey a more desirable place in which to live and do business.

The company believes that the steadily increasing use of electricity for light, heat and power will justify these reductions which have been made possible by the great growth of the business and by economies and efficiencies obtained through the exercise of the highest technical skill and the most careful management.

Every effort is being made to meet the needs of customers, old and new. The company is planning and constructing further large additions to its generating, transmission and distribution plants. It already has on order and in course of installation apparatus which will increase the available capacity of energy from 294,000 kilowatts to 410,000 kilowatts.

The company takes this occasion to express its appreciation of past favors and to give assurance of its intention to continue applying itself to the limit of its ability and capacity to rendering helpful service to the people of New Jersey.
