Beyond Compare.

No other kiln can match the features & benefits of a Tucker's Cone Art Kiln.

- ✓ PATENTED "LID-LIFTER" For lids that lift with ease.
- ✓ DOUBLE WALL DESIGN Extra insulated walls for significant energy savings, and longer parts life.
- ✓ MULTI-ZONE CONTROL Multiple thermocouples means even firings from top to bottom.
- ✓ FLOOR ELEMENTS Heated floors help keep temperatures even all around.

But don't just take our word for it...

Peter Pincus pushes boundaries with the sophisticated methods he employs to create his exceptional body of colorful porcelain. "The kiln I trust? A Tucker's Cone Art Kiln."

LAND ACKNOWLEDGMENT

The National Council on Education for the Ceramic Arts acknowledges that its 2023 conference takes place on unceded and stolen territories of the Hopewell, Adena, Myaamia (Miami), Shawandasse Tula (Shawanwaki/Shawnee), and Wazhazhe Maⁿzhaⁿ (Osage) peoples.

These and other Indigenous peoples have faced discrimination and violence in Ohio and throughout the Americas. We further acknowledge the socio-economic, institutional, physical, psychological, and emotional wounds and inequalities that endure as a result of these reprehensible systems and policies as well as inhumane actions.

NCECA honors Indigenous peoples—past, present, and emerging—here and around the world. We wish to pay respect to local elders, including those of the lands from which you may be joining us remotely. As an organization made up of people dedicated to creativity, teaching and learning, NCECA acknowledges that transparency and education can shift practices to build a more inclusive, equitable society that respects all cultures.

We encourage you to visit WWW.NATIVE-LAND.CA to learn more about whose land you currently reside upon.

GREETINGS FROM THE PRESIDENT

YOU are NCECA. I start with this as an affirmation, as an empowerment, as a reminder, and as a mark of joy. As president of the board of directors, every conversation I have with you, every social media post about your work I catch, and every email or fellowship report I read, influence and inspire me in my leadership, thereby influencing the course of NCECA. Your presence and participation in this conference are further examples of the myriad of ways in which you are NCECA.

In these transformative years of a global pandemic and racial reckoning, the center of NCECA has been you. It has been our steadfast commitment to foster opportunities for all members to be represented, heard, and empowered.

Empowered leadership, inclusive of previously unrepresented members, is NCECA's future. Please reach out if you feel called to serve on NCECA's board—let's talk.

As Cincinnati hosts our 57th conference, we are reminded that often change emerges and happens from the dedicated efforts of people within communities. Current invites us to consider how working with clay leads us to engage in worlds of continuity and continual change. Pam Kravetz and Calcagno Cullen lead Cincinnati's creative cultural community with joy, fierce compassion, intelligence, and persistent advocacy. Currents of support in any community are built through relationships, curiosity, and care, both Calcagno and Pam exemplify this service and leadership. The cultural transformation within Cincinnati is apparent and celebrated.

We are grateful for and appreciative of the previous efforts and work of Marsha Karagheusian, Lisa Merida Paytes, and their 2021 Regional Planning Committees. They did the double duty of preparing for an in-person conference and a virtual conference, allowing NCECA to be responsive to the ongoing needs of the pandemic at that time. They graciously supported the difficult decision to make the 2021 conference a virtual-only experience, setting aside their tremendous on-site planning. To all of them and to the Cincinnati community I say: thank you.

NCECA's staff works with deep dedication and effort to ensure the vitality of the organization. They contribute ideas, share their own feedback along with the ideas they hear from you, and facilitate the multitude of opportunities for members. In so many ways they channel and catalyze the ideas, visions, and voices of many, striving to make them seen, heard, and actualized. When you reach out to them, please join me in extending gratitude for their thoughtful and caring work.

The NCECA board is a working board and as many say after joining: we really do work. It's true. The giving of time in service of NCECA's mission and vision are only one part of the board's focus. The board leads and assists in many of the membership opportunities with the NCECA staff. This history of a working board is what has facilitated much growth in NCECA over our history. I am coming to the end of my eighth year of board service which has spanned the roles of Director at Large, Steward of the Board, Special Appointee, Regional Planning Committee Member, and now President. I say yes to service because of the people whom I serve and because of the people with whom I serve. I am deeply grateful for the involvement of all who care about NCECA, and for those who are dedicated to creating expansive visions for the membership.

We are a membership organization, but more importantly we are a multi-generational, multi-racial, multicultural, multi-geographical vessel of community formed through shared interests and a love of clay as a medium of creation, learning, and connection. Together WE are NCECA. With my whole heart, I thank each of you for your continued participation, contributions, and creativity.

Rhonda Willers

EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR'S WELCOME

Deepest gratitude to all of you gathering in Cincinnati, Ohio, for Current, the 57th annual conference of the National Council on Education for the Ceramic Arts (NCECA). Arrival here in 2023 represents the culmination of a long and circuitous journey filled with obstacles. Foreshadowed by a crisis of creative expression that emanated throughout the country from this community; disrupted more recently by a pandemic that has altered the ways we live, work, and learn; now reinvented and reimagined as Current. This is a moment to express thanks to all who bring NCECA to life through its annual conference.

Like a work of art, Current has varied meanings. Linguistically and grammatically, Current is a shape-shifter, taking different forms. Whether used as an adjective or noun, pertaining to a moment in time, a force in water, electricity, or air, change, and movement are embodied in its essence. Ceramics involves using the world's most-commonly-found materials, refining, blending, forming, embellishing, and hardening them through the energy of fire. Ceramics is an art of transformation as surely as life is change.

Curator of the 2023 Annual, Garth Johnson, has drawn on Walt Whitman's 1855 poem, Song of Myself for the exhibition's title and organizing theme. I Contain Multitudes, on view at the Weston Gallery through May 7, 2023, aligns our enduring fascination with the vessel and the poet's celebration of the self as a dynamic, sometimes contradictory, and continually evolving creation—an homage to the clay-like plasticity of the maker's imagination and the self's capacity to evolve. Whitman's voice embodies radical conceptions of America, democracy, spirituality, sexuality, nature, and identity. Like immersion in the history of ceramics, the poem transports us through an array of settings, time periods, viewpoints, and personas.

Two distinct cohorts of Onsite Conference Liaisons have made this conference possible: Marsha Karagheusian and Lisa Merida-Paytes facilitated NCECA's unfulfilled efforts to stage a conference here in 2021, and Pam Kravetz and Calcagno Cullen succeeded them to lead us here in 2023. The Weston Art Gallery and the DAAP Galleries of the University of Cincinnati have twice served as host venues for NCECA's cornerstone exhibitions. Community clay studios, schools, parks, museums, local government, small businesses, and creative collectives have rallied behind the cause of clay and creation to bring the programming and exhibitions of Current to life.

On behalf of NCECA's staff and volunteer board of directors, and members of the Cincinnati creative community, thanks to all of you for being at the center of this conference, dedicating your time and sharing your abilities. Mindfully created, grounded in ideas and wonder, working with clay fosters our capacities to manage, embrace, and celebrate the ever-changing world we share.

Joshua Green

ONSITE LIAISONS' WELCOME

Welcome to Cincinnati and the 57th Annual NCECA conference, Current! We're so excited to show you our city, deep in the heartland of America where chili goes on spaghetti and pigs fly! Our food scene is nationally recognized, our urban core is dynamic, electric current flows through the mighty Ohio river, and our art scene is world-renowned.

Cincinnati has a rich history of ceramics, from the indigenous mound builders of the Eastern and Early Woodland Indian tribes (people like the Shawnee, Osage, Myaamia, Kaskaskia, Hopewell and Adena) to ceramic artists like Maria Longworth Storer, who established Rookwood Pottery when she found that clays of the Ohio Valley rivaled those used in the world's finest ceramics.

Our city is home to contemporary ceramicists making incredible groundbreaking works at local studios and academic institutions and this community has been working hard to bring you an unforgettable experience.

We have over 90 exhibitions on view, bookended with incredible performances, speakers, music, and hands-on experiences that showcase the best of our region's diverse maker communities. Grab a map, fill your coffee mugs and cups and let's start celebrating!

AIRPORT TRANSPORTATION

Cincinnati Airport, also known as CVG, is the main airport serving the wider Cincinnati tri-state area. You can get from CVG to Downtown Cincinnati or from Downtown to CVG by ride-share services, taxi, or bus.

You visit WELCOMEPICKUPS.COM/CINCINNATI/AIRPORT-TAXI to pre-book a taxi. A typical trip will take about 20 minutes in light traffic.

Taking the bus is a more budget-friendly transportation option; a direct line that connects the airport to the city center will take you there in approximately 25 minutes.

Travel via bus between the airport and Downtown is cost-effective and relatively easy. The 2X Airporter bus operated by TANK is a direct line with frequent departures that will take you there in about 25 minutes. A single ticket for the 2X Airporter bus costs $1.50 per rider. You can buy your ticket online through the Transit App or cash on the bus.

AVION TOURS EXHIBITION SHUTTLE AND TOUR ROUTES

Visit AVIONTOURSANDTRAVEL.COM/NCECA to view all routes and purchase tickets.

These exhibition routes were designed by NCECA's Onsite Liaisons to help visitors maximize their viewing experience while not having to struggle with environmental and economic impact of individual car rentals, and also to mitigate some of the stress involved with navigating unfamiliar communities. Tickets for any of these exhibition routes are an option that anyone can consider. They are not a requirement of visiting any exhibition. You are not required to be registered for the conference to purchase a shuttle or tour ticket; however all riders will be subject to conference health and safety guidelines.

Routes are planned to run Wednesday, March 15th, through Friday, March 17th.

Tickets may be purchased in advance or onsite during the conference through Avion Tours.

See p. 74 for more information and routes.

ABOUT NCECA AND HOW TO SUPPORT IT

The National Council on Education (NCECA) is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit educational organization established in 1966.

Supported by earned revenues, donations, and grants, membership and registration fees are essential to NCECA's operations. Donations to NCECA may be made to the Annual Fund, which supports operations, and the Fund for Artistic Development, which supports scholarships, fellowships, international residencies, and special opportunities.

The Annual Cup Exhibition & Sale, which takes place at the conference generates grassroots support for the Fund for Artistic Development. Cups created and donated by NCECA members and others may be dropped off and viewed Wednesday–Thursday. To purchase a cup, please line up early Friday morning outside of the exhibition.

Membership in NCECA is the engine of programming, exhibitions, and opportunities that support and elevate the field. NCECA has membership types for individuals, organizations, businesses, and galleries.

Learn more about the benefits and costs of membership on the facing page, and at NCECA.NET/MEMBERS.

AWARDS AND FELLOWSHIPS

NCECA celebrates advancement of the field and the people and organizations who influence its evolution through the following awards:

Honorary Members, Fellows of the Council, Excellence in Teaching, Outstanding Achievement, and Regional Award of Excellence.

NCECA provides opportunities and support to artists, educators, writers, teachers, and learners through the following fellowships: Emerging Artists, International Residency Awards, Helene Zucker Seeman Fellowships for Women, Multicultural Fellowships, Regina Brown Undergraduate Student Fellowships, NCECA Graduate Student Fellowships; and newly launched in 2023, the NCECA Environmental Sustainability Fellowship and Anne W. and Bill Bracker Youth Educator Seed Fellowship.

Day-pass scholarships to high school educators and students are provided through generous donations.

Additional recognitions occur through annual Cups of Merit awards and the NCECA National K–12 Exhibition Educator Award presented in cooperation with the National K–12 Ceramic Exhibition Foundation.

ANNUAL CONFERENCE

The annual NCECA conference gathers people from around the US and throughout the world in a different city each year to discuss, investigate, and celebrate creation, teaching and learning through clay work.

The conference programming results through peer deliberation of proposals submitted from the field and is supplemented with thoughtfully curated content and presenters.

The conference features an array of presentation formats to appeal to all who are interested in ceramic art.

EXHIBITIONS

NCECA organizes and helps to site and promote exhibitions that increase public dialogue, recognition, appreciation, and critical investigation of ceramic art.

The NCECA Annual is developed through the vision of a single curator/juror who frames an organizing concept for the exhibition and invites a core group of artists whose work who creates an organizing concept and animates the core theme. Additional works and artists are selected through an open call for submissions.

The NCECA Juried Student Exhibition is open to those pursuing degrees in higher education programs located throughout North America. Works are selected by two distinguished artists working in the field.

The NCECA Multicultural Fellowship Exhibition provides an annual showcase of works in clay by artists of color who are past NCECA Multicultural Fellowship recipients.

Concurrent Exhibitions proliferate the conference host community and wrap around core conference programming. Resulting through proposals submitted from throughout the world and synthesized with those developed within the local arts and culture ecosystem, NCECA develops an extensive series of exhibitions that expand awareness, open access, and deepen appreciation of ceramic art.

PUBLICATIONS AND RESOURCES

NCECA keeps its members informed of important developments in the field through these publications:

NCECA Journal: Published annually, the Journal documents the presentations and events of each conference with reports, articles, and photographic essays.

NCECA eNews: A forum that provides information and a calendar of upcoming NCECA events.

NCECA Directory: A member-accessible online listing of the current membership with contact information to promote communication among members. Members are included in the Directory by default, but may opt out.

Special Publications and Videos: NCECA produces topical publications such as exhibition catalogs, ceramic art resources online, and DVD media.

COMMUNITY GUIDELINES & HARASSMENT POLICIES

By participating across NCECA's live in-person events as well as online platforms you agree to and are bound by these community guidelines and policies. You are responsible for your own voice within these platforms; be respectful and courteous to others, and do not engage in conversations that can make others feel unwelcome.

Communication or conduct that is offensive, degrading, coercive, or disruptive, or that has the purpose or effect of interfering with an individual's reasonable participation in or enjoyment of any event, exhibition, or other programming experience is prohibited.

One of the underlying rationales of these policies is to promote the free exchange of ideas, not to inhibit them. Critical thinking is essential to art making and art education. Discourse and commentary on work, ideas, or research, do not by themselves constitute hostile conduct or harassment.

NCECA has the discretion to determine violations of these policies and may require offenders to cease participation in the relevant forum—as well as bar violators from future events, opportunities, platforms, and membership.

For more information, visit NCECA.NET/POLICIES

NCECA AWARD RECIPIENTS

HONORARY MEMBERS OF THE COUNCIL

Those nominated and selected as Honorary Members of the Council have made significant contributions to the field of ceramic art. Through this award, their creative work, critical thinking, and exemplary accomplishments are recognized as essential to ceramic art's cultural importance and continual evolution.

Richard Burkett

Transformation involves, according to The American Heritage Dictionary, “a marked change, as in appearance or character, usually for the better.” Few individual artists have contributed to change in the nature, function, or condition of ceramic art education as effectively as Richard Burkett. As a maker, educator, and technologist, Richard Burkett’s contributions to the field of ceramics worldwide have been transformative. Burkett began one of his earliest contributions to the field of ceramics worldwide when he started writing the software program for glaze calculation, HyperGlaze, offering it at no charge when the COVID-19 pandemic hit. He is a potter, an author, and an innovator. Richard Burkett has changed the “nature, function, and condition” of the field of ceramics, and he has changed it for the better.

Roxanne Swentzell

Honoring the creative paths first blazed by the Santa Clara Pueblo potters and sculptors who preceded her, Roxanne Swentzell’s creative vision builds on great traditions and expands into social and environmental engagement.

Among her greatest accomplishments is her co-founding of the Santa Clara Pueblo-based nonprofit organization, Flowering Tree Permaculture Institute, where participants are taught how to farm and garden in the high desert climate with low water use, how to understand micro-climates, and how composting and seed saving are a part of growing sustainably. With her award-winning works held in major public collections, Roxanne Swentzell has demonstrated that she is a citizen of the world and deserving to be an NCECA Honorary Member.

EXCELLENCE IN TEACHING

Recipients of the Excellence in Teaching Award are individuals who are near or at the end of a career dedicated to the practice of teaching (the award may be bestowed posthumously); have demonstrated excellence in their own creative work; have previous recognition for, and a history of, awards in teaching; and have highly visible former students in the field.

Anna Calluori Holcombe

Having taught at two nationally-ranked ceramics programs (as well as others), Anna Calluori Holcombe has left an indelible mark on students and colleagues for more than four decades. Having received numerous awards for her dedication to quality teaching, Anna Calluori Holcombe is a renowned ceramic artist who has dedicated her life to education, passing on her vast knowledge, and sharing worldwide contacts. She exemplifies the spirit of the NCECA Excellence in Teaching Award.

Bruce Dehnert

Often when we think of an Excellence in Teaching Award, we think of desks and blackboards, or even wheels and kilns, in traditional academic settings. Bruce Dehnert has done all of that, but his teaching goes far beyond the classroom. According to one of his recommenders, “He facilitated all aspects of learning at Peters Valley School of Craft, where he was the ceramics studio director for 22 years.” Dehnert has devoted his life to teaching in one form or another. Knowing that his actions and words affect those around him, Bruce Dehnert embodies what it means to be a teacher, formally and informally. He is uniquely deserving of the NCECA Excellence in Teaching Award.

FELLOWS OF THE COUNCIL

Fellows of the Council shall be persons who have made an outstanding contribution to the National Council on Education for the Ceramic Arts. They shall be members in good standing and shall have served the Council in significant ways for at least five years. Up to two Fellows may be elected in any one year. No currently serving Board Member is eligible for election as a Fellow of the Council.

Julia Galloway

It takes a village. Or, as Julia Galloway modestly puts it, “It takes a team.” Little that is accomplished by the NCECA Board of Directors, or their committees, is done by just one person. According to colleague Chanda Zea, “Working with her on the NCECA Green Task Force, she inspires us all with her not-so-quiet commitment to continuous forward movement. Julia’s brilliant smile is only eclipsed by her enormous heart and dedication to making the ceramics field and the world a better place each and every day.” It does take a team, but Julia Galloway’s leadership, her ability to energize any group, and her enthusiasm are contagious. Her work ethic is beyond reproach, and her contributions to NCECA have earned her the honor of being named a Fellow of the Council.

Jill Oberman

In 1992, Jill Oberman attended her first NCECA conference in Philadelphia. Since that time (30 years last year) she has missed just two conferences. Once involved with NCECA, she hasn’t stopped working for the organization, and for the field of ceramics, in one way or another. With more than 30 years in ceramics, Jill Oberman chooses to continue to be involved and to contribute to her chosen field. She has made a difference to the organization that has made such a difference to ceramics in the world.

REGIONAL AWARDS OF EXCELLENCE

NCECA’s Regional Awards of Excellence are intended to recognize and celebrate people and organizations that have made important contributions in the region of the annual conference while also impacting the field on national or international levels.

Diane Fishbein

Diane Fishbein’s career in art and her contributions to art in the Cincinnati area span decades.

Her international experiences include directing a public art commission from Gifu, Japan; spending six months in India to create home shrines for Pujah worship of Ganesh, traveling on a Kodak grant; and leading “hands-on art-making projects with Children in Mumbai, Kathmandu, and Nepal.” As a productive artist and community volunteer, Diane Fishbein has made a difference to people of all ages, kindergarten and beyond. Her commitment to her art, to ceramics, and to her region in Ohio are all reasons she was selected for this honor.

Willis Bing Davis

Willis Bing Davis’s accomplishments as an artist, curator, and educator enrich the greater Cincinnati region and reach far beyond to make national and international influence. The NCECA Regional Award of Excellence is presented to “individuals or organizations who have made an outstanding contribution to the ceramic arts and or the cultural life within the region of the conference host city.” As an artist of acclaim, an award-winning educator, and an individual committed to his community, his art, and artists, Willis Bing Davis deservedly joins a long list of distinguished past awardees whose efforts enhance the lives of others.

OUTSTANDING ACHIEVEMENT AWARD

Outstanding Achievement Award recipients shall be contemporary artists, educators, writers, and others, this award recognizes individuals who have successfully completed a singular project that has contributed to the field of ceramic arts in an extraordinary way. The scope of the venture should be above and beyond what would typically be considered their professional responsibilities.

Virgil Ortiz

Virgil Ortiz is a Cochiti-born Pueblo Indian from New Mexico, a motivated self-starter and a driven learner, “who has carried the flame of his people’s history and ceramic traditions, filling them with the relevancy of the present.” As an accomplished and internationally-known artist, he feels a responsibility to pass his skills, as well as his business acumen, on to his nieces and nephews. As an artist, designer, and film maker, Ortiz has “looped timelines by retelling an ancient story in a future setting.” Giving his life to telling the story of his people through ceramics and other media, Virgil Ortiz meets and surpasses the benchmark for this award, while paving the way for the success of future generations.

VIRGIL ORTIZ, CONVERGENCE: SPIRIT WORLD ARMY, 2022

VIRGIL ORTIZ, CONTORTIONISTA, 2014

NCECA EMERGING ARTISTS & FELLOWSHIP RECIPIENTS

2023 EMERGING ARTISTS

NCECA's Emerging Artists program recognizes exceptional early career artists highlighting them to an international audience during NCECA's Annual Conference and promoting them year round. The intent of the award is to recognize, cultivate and amplify vital, new voices of creative endeavor in ceramics.

AUSTEN BRANTLEY

WEBSITE: AUSTENBRANTLEYSculpture.com

INSTAGRAM: @AUSTENBRANTLEY

Austen Brantley is a self-taught African American sculptor from Detroit, Michigan. Encouraged by his ceramics teacher, he discovered his affinity for sculpture during his junior year of high school. After two years, Brantley's work received state-wide recognition. As a full-time artist, he has exhibited his work nationally in solo exhibitions and has been recognized with multiple awards, including the Gilda Award through the Kresge Arts Foundation in Detroit.

HEIDI MCKAY CASTO

WEBSITE: HEIDIMCKAYDESIGNS.COM

INSTAGRAM: @HEIDIMCKAYDESIGNS

Heidi McKay Casto is a studio artist and faculty member at the University of Iowa. She earned her MFA and MA from The University of Iowa and her BFA in Ceramics from The Ohio State University. She has exhibited extensively, and was named a 2022 Ceramics Monthly Emerging Artist.

MARISSA CHILDERS

WEBSITE: MARISSACHILDERS.COM

INSTAGRAM: @MARISSA_CERAMICS

Marissa Childers was born and raised in Florence, Alabama. She earned her BFA from University of North Alabama and her MFA from the University of Oklahoma. She works as a part-time studio artist and teaches in the Oklahoma City area. Childers explores connection and femininity within domestic spaces.

A portrait of a woman with dark, shoulder-length hair, wearing a white collared shirt with a bow at the neck. The background is a blurred image of a muscular man's torso. A dark teal circular graphic element is overlaid on the bottom right of the image, containing text.

JING HUANG

WEBSITE: JINGHUANGCERAMICS.COM

INSTAGRAM: @JING_CERAMICS

Born in Guilin, China, Jing Huang is a ceramic artist currently living and working in Charlotte, North Carolina. She earned degrees from Jingdezhen Ceramic Institute (2012), Sheridan College (2015), and Alfred University (2020). Huang has lectured, curated exhibitions, conducted workshops, and exhibited extensively throughout the US, Canada, China, and the UK.

DESHUN PEOPLES

WEBSITE: DESHUNPEOPLES.COM

INSTAGRAM: @DESHUNPL

Deshun Peoples is a ceramic artist and designer from Chicago who explores empathy and agency through wheel-thrown, hand-built, and slip-cast ceramic objects. He earned his dual BA in Studio Art and Rhetoric from Bates College and his MFA in Ceramics from Rhode Island School of Design.

KATE STRACHAN

WEBSITE: KATESTRACHAN.COM

INSTAGRAM: @KD.STRACHAN

Kate Strachan is an interdisciplinary artist whose work in clay integrates various materials such as wax, wood, and fiber to form sculpture, manuscripts, installation, and video art. The doctrine of her Pennsylvania Dutch roots forms a basis in which layers of femininity, austerity, dark humor, and questioning are all orchestrated together.

Displays of extraordinary works in clay—functional, decorative and sculptural—all of which are available for purchase by visitors. The galleries involved create a unique opportunity to experience and acquire works that might not otherwise be available in the conference region.

Artstream Nomadic Gallery

Artstream Nomadic Gallery has been putting ceramic art on the street since 2002. This unique and aesthetically forward exhibition space has presented contemporary studio pottery in more than 250 venues across the country, from Seattle to New York, Houston to Minneapolis.

Featuring the work of 25 artists, including Sanam Emami, Roberto Lugo, Julia Galloway, Sam Harvey, Brooks Oliver, Sami Tsang, Paul Briggs, Lorna Meaden, Justin Donofrio, Sandra Torres, and Tara Wilson.

Baltimore Clayworks

Baltimore Clayworks is a 501(c)3 non-profit cultural organization dedicated to the ceramic arts providing essential programs and services to local, national, and international artists and the community. Clayworks' mission is to develop, promote and sustain an artist-centered community, which provides exceptional artistic, educational, and collaborative programs in the ceramic arts.

Featuring the work of Patrick Bell, Shea Kister, Kiran Joan, Clarissa Pezone, Vanna Ramirez, Jason Piccoli, Emily Lamb, Jenny Reed, Sam Briegel, and Yoshi Fujii.

Gandee Gallery

The Gandee Gallery, located south of Syracuse in upstate New York, is committed to showing the best in handmade objects and fine art, with a special emphasis on utilitarian ceramics. Established in 2009, the gallery features four to five special exhibitions a year and offers workshops and classes through its adjacent studio facility.

Featuring the work of Rickie Barnett, Eric Pardue, Noelle Hoover, Ted Neal, David MacDonald, Matt Mitros, Antonio Martinez, Kelly Justice, Lynne Hobaica, and Andrea Denniston.

Kansas City Urban Potters

Kansas City Urban Potters is an artist-run collective of studio potters working in the urban core of Kansas City, Missouri. In addition to exhibiting our members' pottery, we have invited a diverse group of potters from across the US to showcase a spectrum of contemporary utilitarian pottery.

Featuring the work of Hedy Yang, Elina Jurado, Didem Mert, Dwayne Sackey, Sam Lopez, Joseph Rincones, Lilly Powell, Reiko Miyagi, Margaret Kinkeade, and KC Urban Potters members (Bekah Bliss, Chandra DeBuse, Paul Donnelly, Jana Evans, Meredith Host, and Alex Watson.)

Northern Clay Center

Northern Clay Center's mission is to advance the ceramic arts for artists, learners, and the community, through education, exhibitions, and artist services. Its goals are to create educational experiences, cultivate audiences, support artists, embrace makers from diverse identities to create a more inclusive clay community, and excel as a non-profit arts organization.

Featuring the work of Tom Bartel, Shikha Josh, Evelyn Rose Mtika, Kim Murton, Andrew Rivera, Taylor Sijan, Randy Schutt, Darcy Delgado, Ted Saupe, and Sandra Torres.

Spinning Earth Pottery

Spinning Earth Pottery features the work of Jennifer McCurdy, CJ Niehaus, Susan Filley, Cathy Broski, John R. Hamilton, Anne Egitto, and owner Danny Meisinger. There is a large body of work available from each artist.

Artists will be available for the week of the Gallery Expo to answer any questions you may have about their work.

A platform for ceramic artists to create and present works that incorporate clay as medium in time-based, performative, relational, or site-responsive work. Artists will create their works onsite while interacting with visitors.

SHAPE—SHIFT—FLOW

HANNAH KAE JACOBSON AND SAHAR TARIGHI

Enter a space as receptive to you as you are to it. SHAPE—SHIFT—FLOW is an ever-evolving environment that asks you to come as you are, bring what you have, and join a community of inhabitants in the formation and reformation of a river space that celebrates potentiality, change, and collective making.

Expanding Horizons with Sectional Ceramics

DANIELLE O'MALLEY

As ceramic artists, we are often limited to a certain scale by the size of our kilns - Not anymore! Expand your horizons by learning how to construct large-scale work in segments.

DANIELLE O'MALLEY, CAGED, 2021

Breath, Connect, Reflection—Clay Altar Space

CHRIS SALAS, SAM SHAMARD, AND JESUS GUIZAR

Join us in the creation of a communal altar; adorned with memory objects—clay representations reflecting an influential person, place, or time in an individual's life. The altar will grow with each participant's additions to tell snippets of the stories of people who attend the event; connecting currents between our collective and individual experiences.

Monument to Decent Human Beings

SARA TORGISON

Monument to Decent Human Beings is a project by Cincinnati artist Sara Torgison developed with Wave Pool. Participants are invited to step into the monument then use the provided clay slip to make a handprint impression on the pedestal. Different colors of clay slip will create overlapping patterns as handprints accumulate.

SAM SHAMARD, LA VIRGEN ALTAR, 2021

CONTENT CATEGORIES

Select sessions are marked with codes indicating thematic content:

CG CAREER GROWTH

Geared toward all learners, this content category includes professional practices, ranging from hard skills such as planning, marketing, grant writing, and budgeting, to soft skills such as networking, team building, and creative leadership. Share your knowledge on documenting and shipping artwork, preparing applications for exhibitions, analyzing career options, formal and informal learning paths, including graduate school, apprenticeships, residencies, and assistantships.

EF EXPANDED FOCUS

A designation that highlights one conference presentation each year and brings attention to significant people, historical contributions, and emergent ideas that connect ceramic art to broader cultural concerns and critical insights.

GH GLOBAL CONTEXT & HISTORY

These presentations investigate ceramic traditions and innovations over time and from around the world. Additional topics include approaches to critique and considerations of ceramics in relation to other art forms or trends, innovations, and conversations in global ceramics. Share how intercultural exchange and culturally responsive approaches to research and interpretation are changing contemporary ceramics practice.

MP MATERIALS & PROCESSES

These presentations focus on clay, glazes, firings, tools, forming processes, and environmentally sustainable practices. Share what you have learned through experience, research, and trial and error.

SP SOCIAL PRACTICES

These presentations focus on responsive methods for developing resilient, adaptive, and inclusive practices. Content encompasses advocacy and activism, collaboration, building community, and projects that investigate issues of gender, class, and race, both in the clay community and society at large. Share your insights about frameworks for creative encounters with clay in unanticipated places and working models that demonstrate human, social, economic, and environmental well-being.

TL TEACHING & LEARNING

Topics of interest to educators of all kinds—K-12, community programs, universities & colleges, museums, apprenticeships, etc. Presentations can be focused on teaching and learning with clay and through ceramic art, whether in studios, community and arts centers, schools, or other settings. This content category is also a place to share resources and models for creating and sustaining diverse, equitable, and accessible learning environments.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 15

9:00AM-12:00PM / 1:00PM-4:00PM

EXHIBIT HALL A

PROJECTS SPACE:
EXPANDING HORIZONS WITH SECTIONAL CERAMICS

Danielle O'Malley

As ceramic artists, we are often limited to a specific scale by the size of our kilns – Not anymore! Expand your horizons by learning how to construct large-scale work in segments.

PROJECTS SPACE: SHAPE-SHIFT-FLOW

Hannah Kae Jacobson and Sahar Tarighi

Enter a space as receptive to you as you are to it. SHAPE-SHIFT-FLOW is an ever-evolving environment that asks you to come as you are, bring what you have, and join a community of inhabitants in the formation and reformation of a river space that celebrates potentiality, change, and collective making.

PROJECTS SPACE: BREATH, CONNECT, REFLECTION - CLAY ALTAR SPACE

Jesus Guizar, Chris Salas, and Sam Shamard

Join us in creating a communal altar; adorned with memory objects – clay representations reflecting an impactful person, place, or time in an individual's life. The altar will grow with each participant's additions to tell snippets of the stories of people who attend the event, connecting currents between our collective and individual experiences.

PROJECTS SPACE:
MONUMENT TO DECENT HUMAN BEINGS

Sara Torgison

Monument to Decent Human Beings is a project by Cincinnati artist Sara Torgison developed with Wave Pool. We invite attendees to step into the monument, then use the provided clay slip to make a handprint impression on the pedestal. Different colors of clay slip will create overlapping patterns as handprints accumulate.

JUNIOR BALLROOM CCLAY CONVERSATION:
CLAY COMMONING SP

Eva Masterman and Gerald A. Brown

Join us in an open discussion about the potential of clay studios to create new worlds. Let's explore the following questions: How can these spaces envision new forms of economy? Be used as a force for social and climate justice? Or create better ways of being with each other and in the world?

1:00PM-1:30PM

JUNIOR BALLROOM B

CO-LECTURE:

JIGGERING, JOLLYING, AND THE POTTER MP

Igor Mintch and Jennifer Watson

Join USAdesign as we work to bring jiggering and jollying technologies into the ceramic mainstream. We will share the results of our deep dive into creating a jigger and jolly system that can be used with a potter's wheel and demonstrate the benefits of integrating these processes into your studio.

1:00PM-2:00PM

NCECA FOR NEW ATTENDEES

A brief conference orientation to first-time attendees or those who would like to obtain a general overview of events and programming.

JUNIOR BALLROOM D

LECTURE:

*STUDIO ADVENTURES: TEACHING
CLAY THROUGH CHOICE* TL

Randi Sparks

As educators, we look for fresh ways to encourage students to take risks, practice challenging techniques, and defend their ideas. In this session, we will discuss using choice- and game-based strategies to increase intrinsic motivation and engage students in the ceramics studio without sacrificing craftsmanship and skill.

GRAND BALLROOM A

CLAY CONVERSATION:

*DOES THAT WORK NEED TO BE FIRED?
ENVIRONMENTAL IMPACT IN CERAMICS* MP

Geno Luketic and Chanda Zea

Join Geno Luketic and Chanda Zea of NCECA's Green Task Force to collectively share solutions to implementing the Reduce/Reuse/Recycle triangle in a clay studio. The big questions considered: How can we do this in a communal studio? Do we begin by changing our teaching practices?

2:00PM-3:00PM

JUNIOR BALLROOM B

CO-LECTURE:

SMALL-SCALE PRODUCTION IN THE RESTAURANT INDUSTRY CG

Bethany Kramer and Christie Goodfellow

A presentation about small-scale, handmade, production pottery in the restaurant industry. Talking points will include relationships with chefs and owners, working within a community studio vs. home studio setup, the pathway to production pottery, production techniques, shipping, where we go from here/dealing with the current economic tide, and more.

2:30PM-3:00PM

LECTURE:

*HOW PERSONALIZED LEARNING
DEEPENS STUDENT GROWTH* TL

Karan Witham-Walsh

Help bring your students to the next level while fostering them to become lifelong learners. Guiding students to meet learning standards while personalizing their learning enriches classroom experiences for all levels: pre-HS, HS, college, or enrichment.

1:30PM-3:30PM

JUNIOR BALLROOM C

CLAY CONVERSATION:

SEATS AT THE WHEEL: INCLUSION AND DISABILITY SP

Seana Higgins

This clay conversation will introduce the topic of inclusion regarding the disability population in the ceramics field. Staff and artists from Visionaries + Voices, a Cincinnati-based 501(c)(3), will introduce a framework for discussion around themes of accessibility, adaptive methods of making, and education. This will be an informal discussion and all are welcome.

2:30PM-4:00PM

GRAND BALLROOM A

CLAY CONVERSATION:

NCECA EMERGING ARTISTS CG

Facilitated by Simon Levin and Michelle Castro, NCECA Directors at Large

Join the 2023 Emerging Artist Fellows for a lively and personal conversation. The Emerging Artist program brings new voices, passion, and honest vulnerability to NCECA, and this discussion is a time that attendees get to interact with the entire Fellowship group. Meet and support this year's Emerging Artists: Austen Brantley, Heidi McKay Casto, Marissa Childers, Jing Huang, Deshun Peoples, and Kate Strachan.

WEDNESDAY, continued...

3:30PM-4:00PM

JUNIOR BALLROOM B

SHORT FORM:

SOMETHING FOR US, SOMETHING FOR EARTH MP

John Dixon

A partnership between the ever-curious designer and maker John Dixon and ceramicist and sculptor Miguel Lastra, Something for Us, Something for Earth, is a proof-of-concept kiln intended to investigate the simultaneous transition of clay to ceramic and wood to biochar.

SHORT FORM:

THE IMMERSIVE STUDIO: A MONTH-LONG COURSE TL

Emily Trick

Sharing the transformation of a high school classroom into an immersive ceramics studio and expanding into the Ohio region's wealth of resources. Two variations on this course are presented, considering ongoing pandemic limitations and lessons learned.

4:00PM-5:30PM

JUNIOR BALLROOM C

CLAY CONVERSATION:

BUILDING CURRENTS THROUGH COMMUNITY CLAY CENTERS TL

Sara Truman

Community clay centers are the heart of our clay community. I will explore how to start a clay center from scratch in this presentation. What do we need to create a clay center in a community where one doesn't exist? What do we borrow from what we've experienced in big, well-established clay centers? What would we do differently if we could start our own? We will discuss the ins and outs of creating a community studio, expanding it into a clay center, and building it with equity and inclusion.

4:30PM-5:30PM

GRAND BALLROOM A

CLAY CONVERSATION:

BUILDING DIVERSE CERAMICS COMMUNITIES: PURPOSE AND METHODS SP

Isaac Scott and MaPó Kinnord

This clay conversation will focus on the values of building a connected local ceramics community. Starting with a group discussion facilitated by NCECA Collaboration and Engagement committee members, participants will be encouraged to share their experiences and discuss methods of community building.

CLAY CONVERSATION:

THE UNDERTOW: NAVIGATING THE "CLAY-DOM" SP

Jesus Guizar and Sam Shamard

Ceramics has a plethora of opportunities—but is that always the case for young artists of color? Do we have accessibility for the advancement of our careers or knowledge? We will hear the testimonies of many individuals at different stages in the field and discover avenues for success.

7:00PM-7:30PM

GRAND BALLROOMS A & B

OPENING CEREMONIES

7:30PM-8:30PM

GRAND BALLROOMS A & B

KEYNOTE:

SOURCED; INSPIRATION, INNOVATION, AND MATERIAL

Rose B. Simpson

In this presentation, Rose B. Simpson talks about inspiration and innovation in relation to terms that we often apply to materials and processes. This conversation sets the tone for the conference by digging deeper into the "why" and how this deeply informs the "how."

8:30PM-9:30PM

GRAND BALLROOMS A & B

RANDALL SESSION:

WE AT THE WHEEL

Napoleon Maddox, Dawn Crooks, Johnny Ruzsa, Dan Barger, Brent Olds, Isaiah Cook, Camille Jones, Anaya Nikole

UnderWorld Black Arts Festival director Napoleon Maddox gathers ceramicists, poets, and musicians to explore the theme, We At the Wheel. In the spirit of Ted Randall's (1984) artist statement, "... looking for that degree of innovation that refurbishes, renews, connects to old meanings, allows the fun of invention, but looks back at the past with respect, understanding and affection, opening the way for a continuous recreation of forms..." We At the Wheel calls us as an entire community, present, around the wheel and clay as a metaphor for the future we are shaping.

THURSDAY, MARCH 16

7:00AM-8:00AM

ROOMS 207-208

YOGA FOR THE ARTIST'S HANDS

Trisha Durham

This class will cater to the hands and upper bodies of ceramicists. You'll learn accessible stretches and exercises to help release tension and tightness in the hands, wrists, arms, and upper back. No fancy bendy poses are required. This practice can be done standing or seated. Bring your yoga mats.

9:00AM-4:30PM

ROOM 211

STUDENT PORTFOLIO FEEDBACK

These one-to-one interactive sessions provide opportunities for students and self-guided learners to discuss their work and development with more experienced creatives. Student status is self-determined and includes anyone who defines themselves as a learner and is not limited to enrollment in an academic institution.

JUNIOR BALLROOM C

CLAY FAB LAB LECTURE:

CLAYRITHMIC: CODING THE PROCESS MP

Adam Abel

Abel will refer to the process of programming the algorithmic mechanisms of ceramic object development and its transformations. He will show how the application and algorithms he created can help to overcome esthetic and technical limitations resulting from an intersection of 3-D printing technology and ceramic process.

9:00AM-10:00AM

GRAND BALLROOM A

MAKERS SPACE:
CARVING AND PIERCING
DYNAMIC SURFACES MP

Katie Bosley Sabin

Discover new ways to liven up your ceramic forms with dimensional surfaces. This demonstrator will share the tools and techniques used to carve and pierce symmetrical designs with accuracy. Learn how to transform leather-hard surfaces and manage the drying of challenging porcelain forms.

JUNIOR BALLROOM A

CO-LECTURE:
FLIGHT-LINES: CONVERSATIONS ABOUT LIFE WITH CLAY SP

Dr. Cj O'Neill and Dr. Natasha Mayo

Flight-lines: Conversations About Life with Clay reveals the extraordinary practices that can arise from the relationship between ceramic practice and life. Using non-hierarchical approaches such as oral histories, fostering networks, and devising podcasts, we gather conversations that give insight into creativity informed by the entanglement of multiple, interconnected demands to celebrate innovative approaches responsive to families, community, and the environment.

JUNIOR BALLROOM D

EXPANDED FOCUS PANEL:
WE'VE BEEN HERE THE WHOLE TIME
GH • EF

Adero Willard (Moderator), Osa Atoe, Chelsea McMaster, Sana Musasama

This panel will focus on the emerging and long-standing contributions of Black women in ceramics. "I believe that black women and black non-binary artists are a diverse, powerful, under-heard, under-seen, and under-represented part of the field of ceramics. Past as relating to historical objects, stories, and histories. Present as in where we are in 21st century America, the struggles we face, and how we deal with our current narrative, trauma, or understanding. Future as in relationship to healing, new worlds, and ideas, potential, utopia, destruction, building anew, etc." - Adero Willard

9:00AM-12:00PM

GRAND BALLROOM B

DEMONSTRATING ARTISTS:
 JAMES C. WATKINS AND
 PAUL ANDREW WANDLESS MP

LARGER VESSELS USING A COIL THROWING TECHNIQUE

James C. Watkins

Watkins will demonstrate a coil-throwing technique used to make large double-walled vessels.

SHOW, DON'T TELL

Paul Andrew Wandless

Wandless takes pride in being an artist and a craftsman and taking full advantage of any tools, equipment, techniques, mediums, and processes to make artwork. In this presentation, Wandless will sculpt, print, cast, mold, carve, model, texture, emboss and use color on various forms and surfaces to create narrative work.

9:00AM-12:00PM / 1:00PM-3:00PM

SP

Stephanie Rozene and Ina Kaur

The co-lecturers of Soiled Bodies highlight and find inspiration from the social and political rhetoric that continues to be used for oppression through power and privilege. The expanded field of ceramic art allows for a responsive practice through an in-depth contextual and critical inquiry. The works shared will represent a diverse group of ceramic artists and the unique ways they share concerns of society at large.

Diana Adams (Co-Host), Rich Brown (Co-Host), Stephen Phillips, April Adewole
*Throwing Sh*t!* is an Instagram live series where Diana Adams of SampleHAUS and Rich Brown of Pottery32 unite to show you how to throw sh*t and interview other ceramic artists to bring diversity and fun to ceramic education.

11:30AM-12:30PM

JUNIOR BALLROOM B

LECTURE:
REVIVING MUYSCA METALLURGY IN COLOMBIA GH

Mario A Mutis R

Muyscas are Indigenous people in Colombia who, before Spanish arrival, worked a metal casting method that relied on the community's help and the multidisciplinary use of natural resources. Join Mutis as we learn the historical context, its 200-year absence, and the strides behind reclaiming our indigenous visual language.

12:00PM-12:30PM

JUNIOR BALLROOM D

LECTURE:
CREATING CONTEMPORARY BRIDGES THROUGH CLAY TRADITIONS CG

Rashi Jain

Jain describes a journey of imbibing traditional Indian clay methodologies in her growth as a contemporary ceramic artist, curator, and educator. She has been on a quest to preserve clay heritages through community projects, teaching, documentation, and spirituality explored through artworks, striving to transform into a "Living Bridge" between traditional and contemporary practices.

12:00PM-3:00PM

ROOMS 207-208

INTERACTIVE PERFORMANCE:
SAY THEIR NAMES GH

Raheleh Filsoofi

What if the inside world of a vessel became a macrocosm where fury and grief could be stored? Through a performative act, the artist speaks the names of the lost and imprisoned protestors in Iran's current uprising, creating an aural archive of the current moment for future generations to hear.

1:00PM-2:00PM

GRAND BALLROOM A

MAKERS SPACE:
THROWN & ALTERED: FORMS WITH FEET MP
Dallas Wooten

Wooten will show how he creates thrown and altered oval forms with raised feet. By throwing bottomless cylinders and attaching a slab for an interior base, one can create raised oval trays, envelope vases, teapots, and much more!

TEACHING DIGITAL TOOLS AND CASTING TECHNOLOGIES IN A FINE ARTS CURRICULUM MP

Colin Klimesh and Margaret Kammerer

Computer-aided design (CAD), mold-making, slip-casting, and digital fabrication can all be daunting in their own right. Instructor Colin Klimesh and graduate student Margaret Kammerer share project examples, student perspectives, and approaches to learning and combining these skills.

1:00PM-4:00PM

GRAND BALLROOM B

DEMONSTRATING ARTISTS:
BETH LO AND NATASHA SMOKE SANTIAGO MP

HAND-BUILT PORCELAIN VESSELS AND SURFACE IMAGERY

Beth Lo

Lo will create porcelain vessels and plates, demonstrating basic coil and slab techniques and surface decoration using underglaze and copper washes. Lo will focus primarily on one larger jar or vase and talk about her personal and Asian American sources for visual imagery.

HAUDENOSAUNEE POTTERY

Natasha Smoke Santiago

Smoke Santiago will discuss the process and techniques used to create Haudenosaunee (People of the Longhouse) Pottery. Describing traditional methods, firing techniques, and surface treatments. She shares hands-on techniques and an overview of traditional Mohawk pottery.

1:30PM-2:00PM

JUNIOR BALLROOM D

LECTURE:
CERAMICS IN BORIKÉN: RADICAL IMAGINATION PROJECT TL

Nivialis Toro-López

To create art in colonized land is a political act of defiance that shows one of the Boricuas' most known characteristics: resilience. But in all honesty, we are tired of being resilient after hurricanes, government corruption, earthquakes, pandemic, femicides, and so much more... so along comes art.

1:30PM-2:30PM

JUNIOR BALLROOM A

LECTURE:
BUILDING RESILIENCE: RELATIONAL, TRAUMA-INFORMED THROWING SP

Joshua Beckett

This lecture is an introduction to what it means to be trauma-informed and the foundations of using clay and a potters wheel as a relational healing practice focusing on the body and felt experience and assisting in restoring a hijacked nervous system. This transformative approach blends metaphor, trans-cultural mythology, mindfulness, and neurobiology.

JUNIOR BALLROOM B

PANEL:
CERAMICS IN THE EXPANDED FIELD GH

Chotsani Elaine Dean (Moderator), Martha Underriner, Kathryn Baczeski, Cindy Leung

Ceramic artists discuss contemporary studio practices and the benefits of staying rooted in the ceramic field while expanding the use of materials in creative processes. They will discuss navigating a studio practice within the ceramic-centric versus contemporary-art landscape and pedagogy to support expanded material use in classroom settings.

JUNIOR BALLROOM D

PANEL:
NATURE/NURTURE: CERAMIC COMMUNITY, SELF, AND OTHERS TL

Antra Sinha (Moderator), Jane Woodard, Chris Baskin, Dr. Rick Robinson (Dr. Rick Robinson is presenting remotely)

Ceramic practice weaves personal artistic goals with group efforts. Community collaborations create opportunities for growth in self- and interpersonal awareness. How can the development of persons and communities become integral to our goals and evaluations? What tools and resources are available to enlighten and optimize these experiences and interactions?

ROOM 212

LIVE PODCAST: LEARNING THROUGH COLLABORATION

Wheel Talk, hosted by Ryan Durbin and Becca Otis

The Mud Peddlers, hosted by Donte Cuellar and Lindsey M Dillon

3:00PM-4:00PM

JUNIOR BALLROOM B

LECTURE: CONTROLLING CRYSTALS, NO RUNNING, NO CATCHERS MP

Andrew Boswell

Controlling crystalline glazes has been challenging, but if we combine the perspective of a production potter and a ceramic engineer, we can make them reliable and efficient. In doing so, we can open new creative opportunities that were never possible.

4:00PM-5:00PM

JUNIOR BALLROOM D

CO-LECTURE: SUSTAINABLE CERAMICS - RECYCLING WASTE IN JINGDEZHEN MP

Karl Yin and Caroline Cheng

An introduction to Yi Design's mission to solve the ceramic waste problems in Jingdezhen, China. This award-winning company has produced sustainable, circular, recycled ceramic products that can be used in architecture, art, and commercial products.

GRAND BALLROOM A

MAKERS SPACE: MAPPING OF MEMORIES: HAND-BUILDING PERFORATED VESSELS MP

YoonJee Kwak

Kwak will demonstrate her unique hand-building technique in which clay coils and bits are accumulated outward and upward, similar to fiber weaving. She will investigate the beauty of the progressive, meditative growth of building one coil at a time.

ROOM 212

PANEL: EXPLORING CULTURES: CLAY COOKING VESSELS GH

Antra Sinha (Moderator),
Revati Jayakrishnan,
Japheth Asiedu-Kwarteng,
Richard Zane Smith
(Richard Zane Smith presenting remotely)

Three panelists from different continents share similarities in making clay cooking vessels. They will discuss the food created using these vessels, how the needs of different cuisines affect the design and form of the pot, and the social and geographical reasons for differences in the processes.

FRIDAY, continued...

9:00AM-10:00AM

JUNIOR BALLROOM B

SHORT FORM:

CULTURAL IDENTITY IN THE RORKE'S DRIFT CERAMICS GH

Methodi Motsamayi

This presentation discusses the influences that sustained "traditional" styles of domestic ceramics of KwaZulu-Natal as they were transplanted into the studio context of the Pottery Workshop of Rorke's Drift Art and Craft Centre. I aim to analyze the features of cultural identity and hybridity evident in the selected Rorke's Drift ceramics in South Africa.

SHORT FORM:

GET A GRIP! (HANDLE YOUR POTS BETTER) MP

Virginia Thompson

Learn about the five main ways humans interact with handles and how these inform size, shape, and placement. I'll cover drinking and pouring vessel handle physics and helpful tips on designing, making, and attaching comfortable, durable, functional, and stylish handles.

SHORT FORM:

CLAY CARVING FOR CONTEMPLATION AND HEALING (REMOTE PRESENTATION)

SP

Garima Tripathi

How can carving clay teach contemplation and strengthen our mental well-being? We fill our lives with distractions to ignore/suppress our anxieties. Carving clay teaches how to remove the excess and dwell with our thoughts. My research is about tackling mental suffering through clay carving, meditation practice, and community engagement.

SHORT FORM:

LUAL - KILN FIRING AS ART AND METAPHOR FOR BIRTHING MP

Rita Gudino

LUAL is a sculptural birthing kiln, built and fired in situ in a performance firing in the Philippines and at the 2015 International Ceramic Festival in the United Kingdom. It created the conditions for an experience, revealing the metaphorical assertion that the force, power, primacy, and anticipatory wonderment of kiln firing is birthing.

MAKERS SPACE: OOPS! POW! SURPRISE MP

Cristal Sabbagh

Sabbagh demonstrates her ceramic painting technique to build up layers of underglazes and apply custom decals to create portraits. Using inspirational portraits of Black folks within the entertainment industry, Sabbagh labors over each piece until it memorializes its subject, pays homage to them, and symbolizes resistance to white supremacy. While simultaneously celebrating pop culture and the experimental, she challenges power structures and awakens viewers' senses.

10:00AM-11:00AM

JUNIOR BALLROOM A

LECTURE:

SEA & STREAM: WASTE STREAM CONSCIENTIOUSNESS MP

Kimberlee Roth

Topics for this presentation include the organization, storage, and safe handling of ceramic materials in compliance with OSHA and EPA regulations while in use and after being designated as waste. The ultimate goal is to achieve as close to a zero-waste stream, environmentally conscientious, and sustainable ceramic studio as possible.

ROOM 205

SPECIAL SESSION:

MEET, GREET, ASK, AND SHARE

Join NCECA's Collaboration and Engagement Committee for an informal gathering and discussion about prioritizing diversity, equity, and inclusion in NCECA's ceramic communities, activities, and programming. The committee (of Board and community members) will share what they're working on behind the scenes and invite attendees to bring their concerns, questions, and ideas for the future.

10:30AM-11:00AM

JUNIOR BALLROOM B

LECTURE:

INTERCULTURAL EXCHANGE IN CONTEMPORARY CERAMICS GH

Wansoo Kim

People make artworks that reflect their cultures (un)knowingly. This lecture investigates the intercultural exchanges that are particularly apparent in contemporary ceramic arts. What is my culture and your culture? How do artists define their cultural identities in this global society?

JUNIOR BALLROOM D

LECTURE:

VOICES IN THE WILDERNESS SP

Greg Busceme Sr.

With respect to diversity, the population of Beaumont is the most diverse in the state of Texas. This unique opportunity allows us to attract artists of every stripe. We offer a variety of activities that appeal to a broad spectrum of the population, making a conscientious effort to consider age, ethnicity, physical and mental ability, gender identity, and economic status. We make every effort to engage our entire community.

SCAN AND PRINT 3-D IN CLASSROOM MP

Kiichi Takeuchi

A BFA student, Takeuchi, offers a 3-D learning experience as a group project in ceramic class using relatively inexpensive tools: a $600 Tronxy 3-D clay printer, a $5 Trnio Scan App, and free 3-D modeling software. Students will learn how to scan and replicate their works in different sizes.

11:30AM-12:00PM

JUNIOR BALLROOM B

LECTURE:
CRAFT AND ITS WRITING AS COLLECTIVIZED OUTSIDER GH

L Autumn Gnadinger

Reframing American craft as a site of historic and ongoing refusal of power structures in American art, Gnadinger considers the revolutionary merits of craft and ceramics as outsiders, failures, and categorically not art—and proposes actionable frameworks for a more equitable and class-conscious future in the field.

11:30AM-12:30PM

JUNIOR BALLROOM A

PANEL:
SUSTAINABLE FUTURES: OPPORTUNITIES AND ACTIONS SP

Janna Longacre (Moderator),
Julia Galloway, Nicolle Hamm

The Sustainable Futures panel presents various approaches/experiences dealing with sustainability in ceramics. The presentations include research and best practices for sourcing and processing materials, using creativity to bring awareness and solutions to problems, effective methods to deal with waste, and adjustments to teaching content and methods.

11:30AM-12:30PM

JUNIOR BALLROOM D

PANEL:
BUSINESS DOCTORS CG

Leigh Taylor Mickelson (Moderator),
Osa Atoe, Sherrie Hawk, Veronica Medina

Join this panel of knowledgeable and experienced clay entrepreneurs, gallerists, and consultants to bring your art career or business to the next level. Bring your questions and topics for discussion, guidance, and suggestions. All questions pertinent to art business concerns are welcome: how to approach galleries, expand or start a clay business or nonprofit, transition to full-time, increase sales, market your art products, etc.

CONNECTIONS: FOUR MULTIDISCIPLINARY CERAMICISTS, ONE RESIDENCY CG

Nick DeFord (Moderator), Yael Braha,
Anela Ming-Yue Oh, Jada Patterson,
Tyler Quintin

A conversation with four of Arrowmont School of Arts and Crafts' current artists-in-residence—Yael Braha, Anela Ming-Yue Oh, Jada Patterson, and Tyler Quintin—who all work with ceramics but with a multidisciplinary approach. They discuss how the interdisciplinary residency experience forges connections and creates exploration.

JUNIOR BALLROOM B

PANEL:
CLAY DOCTORS MP

Lindsay Rogers, Jonathan Kaplan,
Melissa Weiss

Join this problem-solving session dedicated to questions, information, and knowledge sharing about clay, clay bodies, and the challenges they can present. A panel of knowledgeable, experienced practitioners and researchers will listen to your clay-related questions and provide guidance. Whether associated with body composition, forming, or firing, complex issues are often linked to our most basic material. Let's talk about cracking and warping, thermal shock, dunting, carbon core, firing temperatures, oxidation/reduction firing effects, functional and sculpture bodies, outdoor applications, and more.

2023 NCECA ANNUAL I CONTAIN MULTITUDES

CURATED BY GARTH JOHNSON

MARCH 14 – MAY 7, 2023

WESTON ART GALLERY

650 WALNUT ST, CINCINNATI

Reception: Friday, March 17, 6:00–9:00pm

This exhibition blends the powerful attributes of invitational and open-juried models of exhibition development. Building on Walt Whitman's 1855 poem, Song of Myself, for title inspiration, the vessel, like the self, can be more than a single thing.

*Do I contradict myself?
Very well then I contradict myself,
(I am large, I contain multitudes.)*

I Contain Multitudes, the 2023 NCECA Annual, explores curator Garth Johnson's diverse and eclectic vision of the vessel. Enduring in form, always evolving, and ever-present, in Johnson's view, the vessel demands greater attention in this complicated moment.

How is it that this most tangible of objects so effectively connects us in a time of isolation?

The vessel responds in many ways:
a radical vision of hospitality ...
the investigation and declaration of identity ...
a container for skill and technique ...
or it can be a barbaric yawp over the roofs of the world.

The work of six invited artists and 41 artists selected through an open call animates this vision.

Artists: Stephen Creech, Beth Lo, Jeff Oestreich, Natasha Smoke Santiago, James C. Watkins, Bari Ziperstein, Jesse Albrecht, Kait Arndt, Eliza Au, Kathryn Baczeski, Jon Bashioum, Shannon Blakey, Jeremy Brooks, Cory Brown, Larry Buller, Uriel Caspi, Joshua Clark, Jim Connell, Heather Cornelius, Forrest Gard, Tina Gebhart, Steve Hilton, Bryan Hopkins, Hsinyi Huang, Drew Ippoliti, Peter Christian Johnson, Lauren Kalman, Emma Lacey, David and Linda Mack, Priscilla Mouritzen, Megumi Naitoh, Eric Ordway, Dina Perlasca, Neha Pullarwar, Stephanie Rozene, Judith Salomon, Virginia Scotchie, Eric Serritella, Kopal Seth, Taylor Sijan, Megan Thomas, Colleen Toledano, Britny Wainwright, Kirstin Willders, Mary Cale Wilson, Suzanne Wolfe, ChengOu Yu

2023 NCECA JURIED STUDENT EXHIBITION

JURIED BY NATALIA ARBELAEZ AND WESLEY T. BROWN

JANUARY 26 – MARCH 18, 2023

REED GALLERY, DAAP GALLERIES, UNIVERSITY OF CINCINNATI

2624 CLIFTON COURT, DAAP BUILDING, CINCINNATI

Reception: Thursday, March 16, 6:00–9:00pm

“As our collective cultures settle into a new calm following the years of uncertainty, anxiety, and disruption from a global pandemic these artists have entered their studios to create. The same ancient questions swirling around identity, place, history, and future are being taken up and answered in a way only the artists of tomorrow could anticipate. What is presented this year are works that address humorous stories, bold statements, and new imaginings of the world of today. There is an optimism in this collection of works born of youthful exuberance and an expressing of truths. The same energy and excitement I remember seeing all those years ago is still alive and acting and this exhibition is a testament to it.”

– Wesley T. Brown

“These student artists give me hope and excite me about the future of ceramics. With using many different mediums and media to talk about clay, they are pushing and expanding the definitions of ceramics. They are speaking about ceramic histories, processes, and culture in ways that expand the field. In jurying this exhibition, I wanted to create a whole picture of ceramics. I wanted to celebrate the traditions and craftsmanship of ceramics. I needed to make spaces for the voices who speak about social issues. I needed to include the technologies that artists are now using as tools. I needed to allow the different mediums and media that speak of the field, and include all the different conceptual ideas using clay. Most importantly, I wanted to convey that ceramics is for everyone in whatever way they want to use it. I am proud of the selections that Wes Brown and I juryed as a representation of the current and future conversations about clay.”

– Natalia Arbelaez

2023 NCECA MULTICULTURAL FELLOWSHIP EXHIBITION

JURIED BY KELLY AND KYLE PHELPS

FEBRUARY 2 – MARCH 18, 2023

MEYERS GALLERY, DAAP GALLERIES, UNIVERSITY OF CINCINNATI
STEGER STUDENT LIFE CENTER, 500 UC MAIN STREET, CINCINNATI

Reception: Thursday, March 16, 5:00–9:00pm

The Multicultural Fellowship Exhibition is a juried exhibition highlighting the expansive work of past NCECA Multicultural Fellows.

“The work juried into the exhibition simply surprised us. What intrigued us the most was the sheer amount of different types of ceramic work that straddled several ceramics themes and processes. Both traditional utilitarian functional vessel forms, as well as modern sculptural works are represented. Removing entries from this exhibition was an extremely difficult and humbling experience, to put it mildly. Our judgment was primarily based on three factors: overall craftsmanship, imagination, and risk-taking.

“Although craft is often associated with tradition and the past, these artists reminded us that creative material exploration is often the impetus for technological advances. Many of these works are visually stunning and simply knocked our socks off. The level of overall craftsmanship and care for the forms, exceeded all expectations. On the other hand, we found others compelling because of their inner mystery or profound exterior strangeness, and the clear belief the artists had in making these. We were impressed by the risk-taking and “out of the box” thinking that many (if not all) of the artists demonstrated in his, her, their works of art.”

NATIONAL K-12 CERAMIC EXHIBITION

JURIED BY BOBBY SCROGGINS

MARCH 15-17, 2023

ROOMS 263-264

DUKE ENERGY CONVENTION CENTER

Reception: Wednesday, March 15, 4:30-5:30pm

“This show spotlights some of the finest K-12 student work in the country. I have carefully reviewed numerous examples of student work that revealed skill, sophistication, and maturity well beyond their years. Some young creators instinctively used clay to express introspection, cultural identification, humor, metaphor, and social commentary. This exhibition should inspire a renewed sense of hope for the future of American ceramics and more importantly, today’s children.”

DUKE ENERGY CONVENTION CENTER

Drop off cup donations Wed-Thu, 9am-5pm

Cups on sale Friday beginning at 8am

The line starts early!

The NCECA Cup Exhibition is a powerful demonstration of the generosity of our clay community, as members from all over, and of all skill levels, bring their contributions for display and sale — all for the benefit of others through NCECA’s scholarship programs.

The NCECA Cups of Merit Award was established to recognize outstanding craftsmanship and artistic merit among these donors to the Cup Sale. Each year an NCECA-appointed panel makes Merit Awards from the cups submitted. Jurors make purchase awards totaling up to $1000 to three or more makers. Each award allows NCECA to purchase two or more cups. NCECA will retain one of the cups in its collection for as long as is practical. Cups may be periodically removed from the collection to recognize individuals for outstanding service or generosity to NCECA.

2023 NCECA ANNUAL - I CONTAIN MULTITUDES

This exhibition blends the meaningful attributes of invitational and open-juried models of exhibition development. Building on Walt Whitman's 1855 poem, Song of Myself, for title inspiration, the vessel, like the self, can be more than a single thing.

*Do I contradict myself?
Very well then I contradict myself,
(I am large, I contain multitudes.)*

I Contain Multitudes, the 2023 NCECA Annual, explores curator Garth Johnson's diverse and eclectic vision of the vessel. Enduring in form, always evolving, and ever-present, in Johnson's view, the vessel demands greater attention in this complicated moment.

How is it that this most tangible of objects so effectively connects us in a time of isolation?

The vessel responds in many ways:
a radical vision of hospitality ...
the investigation and declaration of identity ...
a container for skill and technique ...
or it can be a barbaric yawp over the roofs of the world.

The work of six invited artists and 41 artists selected through an open call animates this vision.

UNDERTOW

An exhibition of artists working with objects and images that are at odds; their works contrast with themselves and express tension with personal narratives. Organized by Zach Tate. Chanakarn (Punch) Semachai, Tim Kowalczyk, Pattie Chalmers, Lynne Hobaica, Rickie Barnett, Zach Tate
Reception: Wed, Mar 15, 4-5:30pm

ROOM 252

LAND, BODY, EARTH

The participating artists explore how clay is a metaphor for the temporal nature of life. Reminiscing on the saying, "dust to dust, ashes to ashes," we are reminded of the inevitability of the finite nature of life and how, like all living beings, we return to the earth after we die. The title, Land, Body, Earth, addresses the human interaction with the natural world as a multifaceted and often contradictory relationship. Curated by Eliza Au. Karla Garcia, Yewen Dong, Marianne Chénard
Reception: Wed, Mar 15, 4:30-6:30pm

ROOM 260

POLYVOCALITY: SOLIDARITY IN THE TIME OF POLITICAL RUPTURE

A virtual curated exhibition of contemporary Iranian ceramic artists from across the world, from Iran to the US. Their work uses the expressive quality of clay as a contemplation on the current uprising in Iran and calls for action with an insistence on human rights and freedom. Curated by Raheleh Filsoofi.

EXHIBITIONS BY BUS

Avion Tours offers both timed tours and a continuous Friday night shuttle route to a selection of exhibitions during the conference. Bus tours and shuttles are operated independently of NCECA. AVIONTOURSANDTRAVEL.COM

Tickets can be purchased at the Tour and Shuttle booth located in the NCECA registration lobby of the Duke Energy Convention Center.

Routes are subject to change or cancellation.

TIMED TOURS

Wednesday March 15–Thursday March 16

- Riders board the bus at the Duke Energy Convention Center at the same time and stay together during the entire tour.
- At each stop there is an allotted amount of time to visit the exhibition(s).
- At the end of each visit everyone re-boards the bus and travels to the next stop.

CONTINUOUS GALLERY SHUTTLES

Friday Evening March 17

- Buses operate continuously; departures approximately every 15–20 minutes.
- Board the bus at the Duke Energy Convention Center at your leisure.
- Each rider receives a wristband which is the ticket to re-board the bus at any stop along the route.
- At any of the stops on the shuttle riders may hop off and visit the exhibition(s) knowing that approximately every 15–20 minutes a bus will be available at the shuttle stop to hop on and ride to the next exhibition or return to the Convention Center.
