Arledge: Conventions Don't Necessarily Mean News

“Political conventions don't nominate, they ratify. The delegates are the audience and the conventions are a TV show. They are manipulated messages, not news.”

Roone Arledge was describing the artificial relationship between the country's political parties and the major television networks. Arledge, group president of ABC News and ABC Sports and the son of a Wake Forest alumnus, spoke at Opening Convocation Sept. 8 in Wait Chapel.

“The conventions are directed by Hollywood experts; the demonstrations are timed, down to when the balloons will fall,” he said. During the conventions this summer, even the red, white and blue color scheme was forsaken for salmon, buff and teal to make a more appealing TV picture, he said. What delegates and viewers see is no longer news, be it the conflict of candidates at odds or the drama of the roll call of the states, but prime-time events orchestrated in the name of party unity.

“We did not see Dan Quayle selected as George Bush's running mate; that decision was made on Air Force Two. We did not see Michael Dukak is and Jesse Jackson reach some sort of accommodation. That was done in a hotel room.”

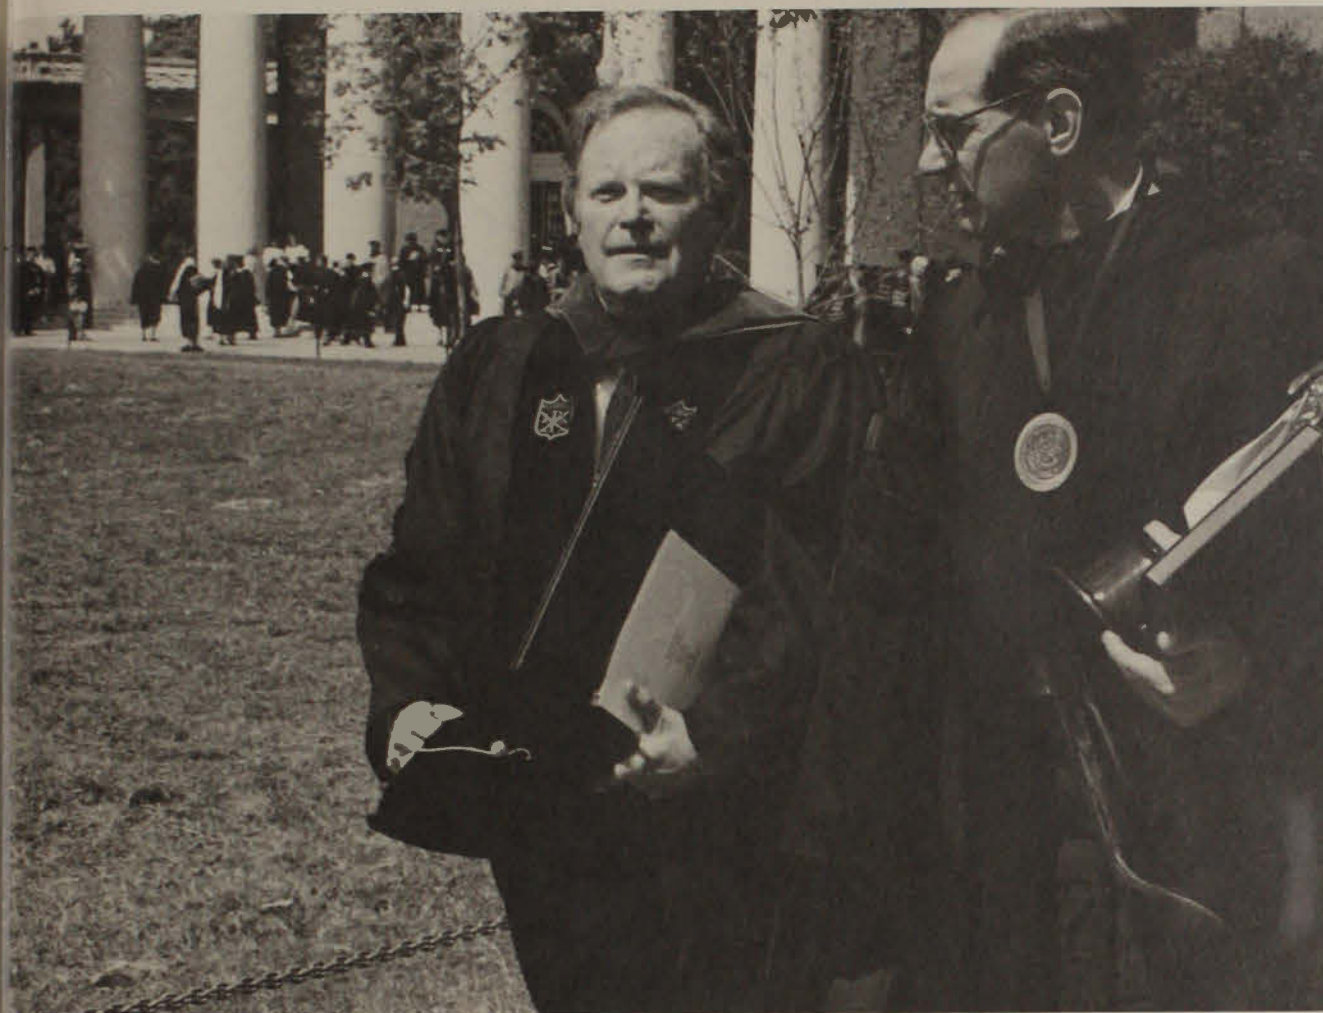

SUSAN MULLALLY CLARK

Professor David Smiley, Reinhardt Award winner

Not only do the conventions fail as news stories, they also fail as civics lessons, said Arledge, and that constitutes a national crisis. “Platforms are debated away from the floor, and the roll calls of the states, which used to be real and descriptive, are now a series of pre-programmed commercials,” he said. The result is that more viewers are tuning out, and convention viewing is declining dramatically. So is interest in the political process; fewer Americans are voting or even registering to vote.

Arledge said it may be up to the networks to step in and show some responsibility for the nation's political future. "The time may have arrived to treat conventions as any other story and televise them only on the basis of their news value," he said. "In 1992 if there is no more news value, ABC's coverage may be substantially less, and the nation will be the poorer for it."

Also during convocation, honorary doctor of laws degrees were awarded to Arledge and to Dr.

Shigeyoshi Matsumae, president of Tokai University in Japan. Matsumae presented trophies to both the College and the Bowman Gray School of Medicine to be awarded annually to outstanding students.

Dr. David L. Smiley, professor of history and a Wake Forest faculty member since 1950, received the third annual Jon Reinhardt Award for Distinguished Teaching. The award is presented in memory of Reinhardt, who taught politics at Wake Forest. It recognizes distinguished teaching and compassionate interest in the lives of undergraduates.

A native of Mississippi,

Smiley attended Mississippi College and received A.B. and M.A. degrees from Baylor University. He received the Ph.D. degree from the University of Wisconsin in 1953.

Smiley has done extensive research on American history of the South and the history of the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina. His publications include two books, Lion of White Hall and The South in American History.

Survey Favors Divinity School

A Wake Forest University committee studying a proposed divinity school has released results of a survey of 3,155 Baptists in North Carolina and nearby states.

The survey is one of a number of factors which the committee will consider in its study of the feasibility of a divinity school at the University. Other factors include the availability of prospective students, and financial support and cost. Members of the committee are expected to make recommendations to President Thomas K. Hearn Jr. in late fall.

Most of those who responded think the Southeast needs another divinity school and that it should be affiliated with a university. The majority favor Wake Forest developing such an institution.

"This is one portion of a comprehensive planning effort. It will be weighed against projections on costs and funding which are not yet final," said Dr. John P. Anderson, vice president for administration and budget.

The survey was sent to both clergy and non-clergy in North Carolina, South Carolina, Virginia, and Georgia. All respondents are paying subscribers to the SBC Today, the journal of the Southern Baptist Convention.

University Administrators Promoted

President Thomas K. Hearn Jr. has announced four administrative promotions on the Reynolda Campus which became effective Oct. 1.

Sandra C. Connor, formerly director of the Office of Public Information, is the University's new vice president for public affairs. Ms. Connor worked in the Reynolda Campus development office before she became director of public information in 1987.

"The nature, scope and quality of Ms. Connor's office made this change timely," said Hearn. "Her management of the Wake Forest presidential debate, labeled by some as the largest public affairs event in North Carolina history, was outstanding."

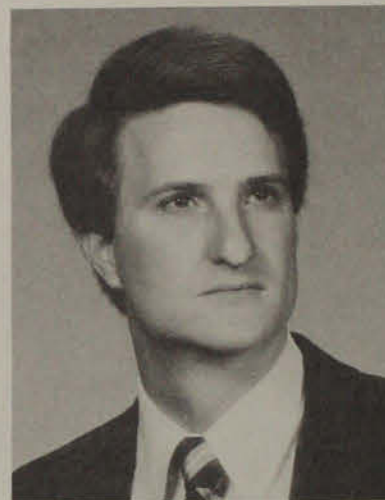

Leon C. Corbett, vice president for legal affairs, retains that title but has been appointed executive secretary/Office of the President rather than secretary to the University. "In this position he will provide general administrative support to this office to permit increased effort on my part in leadership and academic matters," Hearn said. "Mr. Corbett's long experience at Wake Forest and his outstanding administrative skills render him ideal for these new responsibilities.

LEON CORBETT

SANDRA CONNOR

J. REID MORGAN

BETH HOPKINS

J. Reid Morgan, formerly associate counsel, has been named university counsel. He is responsible for the administration of the legal office. Morgan is an alumnus of both the College and the School of Law.

Beth Norbrey Hopkins, formerly staff attorney, is now assistant university counsel. She is a 1973 Wake Forest alumna and holds the J.D. degree from the College of William and Mary.

"These appointments are designed to secure the better functioning of Wake Forest as we prepare for major leadership changes and a campaign for academic development in 1991," Hearn said.

Freshman Minority Enrollment Increases

The fact that minority enrollment in this year's freshman class is 7.4 percent is great news for Gloria Cooper. That means its nearly double the figure in last year's class, and it means her work is paying off.

Cooper was hired as the school's first counselor for minority recruitment in August 1987. The previous year, students and faculty had expressed concerns regarding the small percentage of blacks on campus.

Total undergraduate black enrollment for 1988-89 is nearly 5 percent.

Provost Wilson Changing Roles

Dr. Edwin G. Wilson, provost since 1967, has accepted a new role at the University that includes special academic tasks and integral leadership in the coming capital campaign which will be devoted to academic programs and student and faculty concerns.

Wilson will retain the title of provost; he will carry out his present duties until a vice president for academic affairs is named to assume administrative responsibilities of the office.

President Thomas K. Hearn Jr. made the announcement at a Sept. 19 meeting of Reynolda Campus faculty and staff.

"Ed Wilson's decision to give these next several years to development and projects of special interest is typical of his constant devotion to the welfare of the school which so strongly bears his imprint and influence," Hearn said. "No one could be a wiser guide to the ways of Wake Forest."

Wilson said he looks forward to the new assignment and pointed out that when he accepted his first administrative post 30 years ago, he said he'd take it for two years to try it out. "My only sadness is that these 30 years have passed so quickly," he said.

Wilson, affectionately known as "Mr. Wake Forest," has been beloved by generations of students who admire his breadth of knowledge, his elegance of expression, and his constant championing of the undergraduate cause. He graduated from the College in 1943 with a B.A. in English. After three years in the Navy, he returned to Wake Forest to teach before beginning graduate studies. He received A.M. and Ph.D. degrees from Harvard University and joined Wake Forest's Department of English in 1951. In 1957 he became assistant dean of the College; he was named dean of the College in 1960.

Earlier this year Wilson was appointed to succeed Dr. Jack Sawyer as faculty representative to the National Collegiate Athletic Association. Sawyer retired after 28 years in the job.

Wilson is a former president of the North Carolina Association of Colleges and Universities. He is a trustee of Belmont Abbey College, a former member of the Board of Advisers of Elon College, a former member of the Development Board of Lenoir-Rhyne College, and a former member of the North Carolina Humanities Committee. He has also served on the boards of several Winston-Salem civic and cultural organizations.

Reynolds Grant Honors Faculty

The University has received a $2,000,000 grant from the Z. Smith Reynolds Foundation to improve faculty salaries and fringe benefits, to fund projects to improve the quality of teaching and research, and to aid in recruitment of new faculty. Funds from the grant will also be used to endow 10 named professorships.

The major grant will complement the capital improvements underway to resolve critical space problems, said President Thomas K. Hearn Jr., and represents an important head-start on the 1991 Reynolda Campus capital campaign, which will focus on the University's human resources.

Hearn said the grant represents the foundation's endorsement of the standards of excellence established by Wake Forest faculty.

"Let me say for myself and the senior administration that the foundation's response to our application is based upon this administration's high regard for your teaching and research achievements," he said in an address to the faculty on Sept. 12. "Your commitment to Wake Forest makes it easy to be your spokesman, but I want you to know that this advocacy grows from pride and respect."

The 10 chairs will be established to reward superior teaching and scholarship for existing and new faculty, said Hearn, and the foundation's grant will be matched by donors whose contributions will be recognized by the designation of the chairs. Faculty members selected prior to the designation of the chairs will be known as Wake Forest Professors.

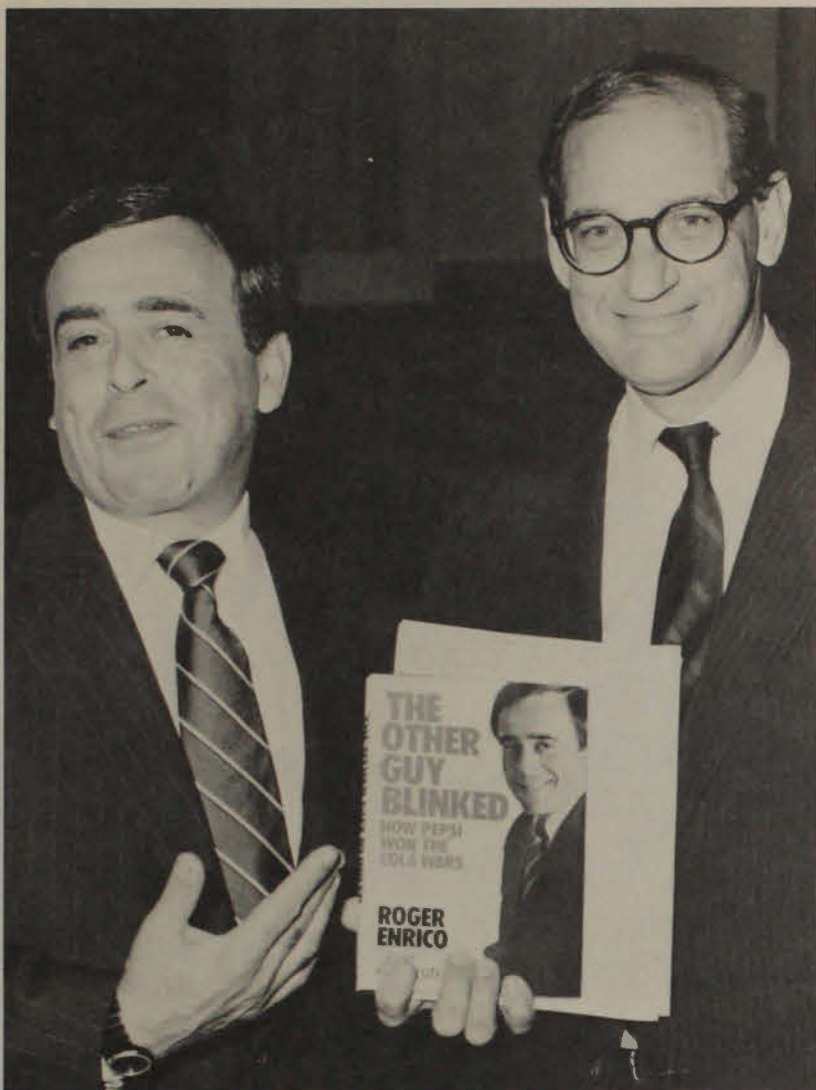

An advisory committee has been appointed to receive nominations from departments and individual faculty members for both internal and external candidates.

Another portion of the Z. Smith Reynolds grant will fund more competitive salaries to promising junior faculty members, Hearn said. A third portion will augment faculty development and research opportunities through extension of leaves of absence, selective reduction of teaching loads, support of research and faculty development projects.

"We are honored and grateful that the Z. Smith Reynolds Foundation has elected to assist our efforts to support faculty excellence," Hearn said. "The progress created by this award will be advanced during the coming capital campaign."

Zachary T. Smith, president of the Z. Smith Reynolds Foundation, said, "We chose to build upon the existing strength of the institution in the area of utmost consequence to the school's future."

Roger Enrico, president and chief executive officer of PepsiCo's Worldwide Beverages division, was the first speaker in this year's Babcock Business Leadership Series. Enrico spoke on leadership marketing Sept. 16 in the Law School Courtroom.

Enrico oversees PepsiCo's international beverage business, which has revenues of $4 billion. He joined PepsiCo in 1971 and has served as president and vice president of Pepsi-Cola USA, and senior vice president of sales and marketing for the Pepsi-Cola Bottling Group. He became CEO in November 1986.

He is the author of The Other Guy Blinked, a book about the cola wars.

Arrington Named Associate Registrar

HALLIE ARRINGTON

Hallie Scott Arrington, formerly assistant registrar, has been promoted to associate registrar.

Her responsibilities include certification of candidates for graduation and coordination of sophomore declaration of major.

Ms. Arrington is a 1976 graduate of Wake Forest and is a direct descendant of Dr. Samuel Wait, the school's founder and first president.

University Hosts Parasitology Conference

About 300 physicians, researchers and health administrators attended the 63rd annual meeting of the American Society of Parasitologists July 31-Aug. 4. The conference was sponsored by the Department of Biology and the Office of Graduate Studies.

Dr. Ken S. Warren, associate vice president for molecular biology and information science at the Rockefeller Foundation, delivered the keynote address, "The Evolution of Parasitology." He is nationally recognized for research and health administration.

University Tops In Magazine Poll

A recent survey of colleges and universities by U.S. News and World Report ranks Wake Forest first among 399 smaller comprehensive colleges and universities.

Last year a similar U.S. News poll ranked Wake Forest first in a different category that included regional schools providing professional and liberal arts education.

The category in which the 1988 survey ranks Wake Forest includes schools with at least 2,500 students and degree programs that include two or more occupational or professional disciplines, such as engineering or business.

"We are college-sized but university-scoped in terms of our programs," said President Thomas K. Hearn Jr. "We think that's wonderful—we think we combine the best of both kinds of institutions."

College presidents, deans and admissions directors were polled in the survey.

A Letter to Donors

In last year's Honor Roll edition of Wake Forest University Magazine, I tried to pinpoint some reasons why the University's fund-raising program is a successful one. I suggested that one of the first and foremost reasons is the continuity within the University—continuity of both programs and people. I'd like to expand on the people aspect—particularly as it relates to our faculty.

You will read elsewhere in this issue of the recent generous gift to Wake Forest from the Z. Smith Reynolds Foundation to support faculty development. This grant of $2 million brings to $48,337,545 the total given to the University by the Foundation since the first grant was made in 1948.

As chronicled here and in previous magazine issues, the University, under the strong leadership of President Hearn, has initiated an accelerated and ambitious building program to alleviate the space problems on the Reynolda campus. In effect, the Trustees have authorized a building program to add over 400,000 square feet while student body size stays the same! This bold program allows us now to focus our energies and our full attention on the people who live and work within that space.

The $2 million awarded Wake Forest by the Z. Smith Reynolds Foundation will be used during the next three years to improve the salaries, fringe benefits, and working conditions of our faculty and to reward superior teaching and research.

I think it is important to emphasize that the trustees of the Z. Smith Reynolds Foundation have acknowledged the excellence of the Wake Forest faculty and the vital position this group of dedicated men and women holds among the University's priorities. This grant further illustrates the Foundation's continuing appreciation for both the historical and on-going standards of excellence embodied by the Wake Forest faculty and academic administrators.

It is difficult—and not at all necessary—to separate the calibre of the faculty from that of the student body. Maya Angelou, Reynolds Professor of American Studies, said it better than I could in a recent admissions video for the college: "I love teaching, and I love teaching at Wake Forest. Wake Forest attracts the quality of student who really longs to learn. Wake Forest, though, does better than that. It attracts the quality of professor who really loves to teach. When those two quantities come together—an eager student and an eager teacher—nothing can be better."

A bright and creative faculty share their knowledge and wisdom with a bright and creative student body. As we continue to seek better facilities for students, so should we for our faculty. As we continue to seek better and increased financial aid for our students, so should we be cognizant of the financial needs of our faculty and compensate them accordingly. This grant helps accomplish these worthy and ambitious goals for our continued faculty development. We intend to compete for and retain the best people available!

G. William Joyner Jr.

Before I close, though, I must return to the theme I pursued with you last year: Wake Forest University is the investment that donors believe in and give to. Year after year our alumni and friends have answered generously when the University has called (usually on a telethon!). The giving programs of the College, Medical School, Law School, and Babcock School are thriving. The Equation for Progress, the capital campaign for the Medical Center, has just gone over its $40 million goal. In athletics, the Advantage Drive topped $9 million for new and improved facilities in basketball, football, golf, baseball, and tennis.

Because of successes such as these, for the third consecutive year over $20 million has been raised from private sources to promote the mission and programs of Wake Forest. This places us again in the top five among the private universities in the South in terms of overall giving.

As I take this opportunity to publicly thank the Z. Smith Reynolds Foundation for its ongoing commitment to Wake Forest, I also thank you for your support. We take no gift for granted. Each one challenges our stewardship to make this special place what you and I hope and believe it can be.

Gift Clubs '88

As it continues to offer young men and women an excellent education, Wake Forest depends upon the support of alumni, parents, and friends. Among the many strengths of the University is the tradition of giving by those who care about its academic quality. The annual fund campaigns of the University received over 14,000 contributions last year. Because of space restrictions in this publication, this listing includes those individuals who qualified for special gift club membership. Wake Forest appreciates the generosity of all who supported its programs during the 1987-88 fiscal year (July 1, 1987 to June 30, 1988).

Alumni who joined special gift clubs through their annual fund contributions between July 1, 1987 and June 30, 1988 are recognized under the headings of their gift clubs, then by class year. Schools of the University included in this listing are the School of Law, the Babcock Graduate School of Management, and the Bowman Gray School of Medicine. Alumni of the College and the School of Business and Accountancy are listed under their undergraduate class years.

Following the class year listing within each special gift club is the category "Friends." Graduate school alumni, faculty and staff, and non-alumni parents whose gifts qualify them for special gift club membership are recognized in the "Friends" category under the school(s) to which they contributed.

Society

The College Fund Giving Clubs recognize donors who make substantial commitments to the College Fund, Wake Forest's annual campaign for unrestricted support of the undergraduate College, the School of Business and Accountancy, and the Graduate School of Arts and Sciences.

In 1985 the University inaugurated its most challenging giving club to encourage major donors to re-evaluate their support of the University's academic programs and to make new, long-term commitments at significantly higher levels. Appropriately, the Pro Humanitate Society draws its purpose and name from the University's motto, "for the benefit of mankind."

We salute these men and women who are the founders of this Society and who have each committed at least $50,000 over the next decade, at least one-half of which is in unrestricted gifts to the academic schools.

President's Club

At the heart of Wake Forest's development program is a group of men and women whose guaranteed annual support allows the University to plan its future with confidence: The President's Club.

The Club was founded in 1970 by Arnold Palmer and now has 904 members.

President's Club members pledge $10,000 over a decade, at least one-half of which is in unrestricted gifts for the academic schools of the University. Wake Forest salutes these men and women for their outstanding support.

New members are listed on page 28.

PRESIDENT'S CLUB NEW MEMBERS

For the third straight year, the Wake Forest University President's Club set a record for recruiting members. In 1987-88, 112 new members joined the group, breaking the record of 105 set last year. Total membership of the club is 904.

The President's Club celebrated this achievement and inducted its new members during the eighteenth annual President's Club Weekend festivities, Sept. 9-10. The weekend included a dinner/dance at Graylyn Conference Center on Friday evening and a breakfast address by President Hearn, a program on student leadership development, and the opening football game against Illinois State on Saturday.

President Hearn also announced to the group that Tylee and Patricia Wilson have provided new incentives for President's Club giving through their $500,000 challenge gift to the College Fund. The Wilsons will match dollar-for-dollar the College Fund gifts made by persons who join in 1988-89, and will also provide a bonus match of $1,000 for each new member signed. Proceeds from the Wilson Challenge will go to the construction of the Benson University Center.

President's Club members who joined between September 1987 and September 1988 are listed below. Those interested in joining the President's Club should contact Kay Doenges Lord ('64), Director of Gift Clubs, at 7227 Reynolda Station, Winston-Salem, N.C. 27109 (919-761-5684).

President's Association

A traditional symbol of authority, the University mace is carried at the head of each academic procession. It represents an institution rich in tradition, providing service in the present and preparing to meet society's future needs.

The mace is the symbol for the members of the President's Association. Their annual gifts help provide Wake Forest with the financial resources necessary to remain true to its mission.

President's Association members make unrestricted gifts of $1,000 or more annually.

John Crenshaw Society

Named after the first student to enroll in the Wake Forest Manual Labor Institute, the John Crenshaw Society serves as a reminder that the University's foremost obligation is to the education and welfare of her students.

Those who join the John Crenshaw Society help ensure that Wake Forest will continue to graduate men and women educated in the liberal arts tradition.

Members of the John Crenshaw Society give unrestricted gifts of $500 to $999 annually.

Samuel Wait Society

"The work is not personal; the cause is the cause of God. With a little timely effort the College may be put on a firm foundation, free from pecuniary embarrassment, while debt is a most serious inconvenience. . . . Let the friends of the institution rally to its support." (From a letter by President Samuel Wait written in 1838.)

Thanks to the benevolence of friends in Samuel Wait's day and to the thousands who have rallied to its support for 154 years, Wake Forest has remained fiscally strong. The University depends on the "timely effort" of those who join the Samuel Wait Society to continue the work of its founder.

Membership in the Samuel Wait Society requires an unrestricted gift of $250 to $499.

Arnie's Army

"Because I feel Wake Forest can be on the leader board in annual giving, I have agreed to take on the job of chairman of special gifts for a much broader alumni effort. Special gifts will play a major role in our success, so to get off to a 'charging' start, I am inaugurating a new leadership group to be known as Arnie's Army." (From Arnold Palmer's letter to alumni in 1969.)

As the first level of leadership giving to Wake Forest, Arnie's Army provides a substantial amount of annual support while strengthening the commitment of its members to the University.

Arnie's Army members make unrestricted gifts of $100 to $249 annually.

The Patrons' Society

Financial support from parents helps Wake Forest remain among the nation's top liberal arts institutions. The Patrons' Society, a two-year-old giving club approved by the Parents' Council, recognizes the parents of Wake Forest undergraduates who contribute $1,000 or more annually to the Parents' Campaign. Wake Forest is grateful to those listed at left, who joined the Patrons' Society during fiscal 1987-88.

The Parents' Campaign

The Parents' Campaign completed its best fund-raising year ever, raising $211,612 in 1,270 gifts from non-alumni parents. The amount represents nearly $12,000 over the 1987-88 goal of $200,000, a 15 percent increase in the amount and a 10 percent increase in the number of donors. Parents' Council members led the Parents' Campaign by contributing $49,237. Total parent giving to all areas of the University was $477,898 in 1,461 contributions.

Gifts to the Parents' Campaign for the College Fund are unrestricted and are used wherever the need is greatest to strengthen Wake Forest's academic programs. College Fund contributions are being used to finance construction of the Benson University Center, the Alumni Scholarship Program, and increased salaries for faculty.

School of Law

For sixteen years the Partners' Program has been the leading component of the Law Fund. It has provided support which has bolstered the quality of legal education at Wake Forest. The Partners' Program is considered one of the best in the nation and continues to enhance the law student's legal and professional growth.

Dean's Associates give $1,000 or more to the Law Fund of the Wake Forest University School of Law. Senior Partners give $750 to $999; Managing Partners give $500 to $749; Executive Committee Partners give $250 to $499; and Partners give $100 to $249; except the classes of 1985 ($75), 1986 ($50), and 1987 ($25). Significant achievements are being made at the School of Law and it appreciates the generosity and loyalty of alumni, friends, corporations and foundations that help make this possible.

The Medical Center Giving Clubs

Through the Medical Alumni Association's Annual Fund, alumni, parents and friends provide important unrestricted support for the Bowman Gray School of Medicine.

Individuals who make annual contributions of at least $1,000 or couples who give $1,500 or more are members of the Dean's Division. The Caduceus Club recognizes annual donors of $500 to $999, and membership in Partners acknowledges annual gifts of $100 to $499. With a gift of $100,000 or more, a donor is eligible for lifetime membership in the Dean's Division.

The Hawthorne Hill Society recognizes donors who make unrestricted annual gifts of $1,000 or more to the Medical Center (the Bowman Gray School of Medicine and the North Carolina Baptist Hospital). This select group of individuals and corporations provides support which is essential to the fiscal stability and flexibility of the institution. Contributors who make a minimum gift of $100,000 to the Medical Center are eligible for lifetime membership.

Babcock Graduate School of Management

Realizing that tomorrow's business leaders must learn to operate in the global marketplace, the Babcock School of Management offers a broad curriculum and provides significant opportunities for experiential learning.

The alumni, parents, and friends listed contributed to the Babcock Graduate School of Management as Babcock Associates during the 1987-88 campaign year. The Babcock School and the University wish to thank these individuals for their interest and support. Babcock Associates contribute $1,000 or more annually.

Codicil Club

The Codicil Club encourages support of the University through wills, charitable trusts, gifts of life insurance and real estate, and other planned gifts. The future financial security of the University rests on the generosity of alumni and friends who, motivated by their belief in Wake Forest, include her in their plans for the years ahead.

In order to be a member of the Codicil Club, one must name Wake Forest as a beneficiary of a will or life insurance policy, establish a charitable trust in favor of the University, or give us a remainder interest in a personal residence or farm.

Wake Forest deeply appreciates the commitment our Codicil Club members have made to the University. Those listed here have given the University permission to publish their names.

Growing Minds Need A Challenge

“Growing Minds Need a Challenge,” the theme for the 1988-89 College Fund Campaign adopted by the College Fund National Committee on September 10, will highlight the $500,000 challenge gift made by J. Tylee ('84 Hon. LL.D.) and Patricia Wilson (see related article). The Wilsons' gift will benefit the construction of the Clifton L. Benson University Center, scheduled to open in the spring of 1990.

“The Wilson Challenge will give a huge boost to the College Fund by matching dollar for dollar new and increased gifts to the campaign,” said Barbara Sudduth Kincaid ('78), College Fund National chairperson. “Wake Forest is very fortunate to have the Wilsons' generous support and leadership. Gifts from alumni and parents are now even more important because of the double benefit to Wake Forest from the Challenge.” The Committee approved a $1.6 million goal for the 1988-89 campaign, which began July 1 and will run until June 30, 1989.

The campaign seeks contributions from alumni, parents and friends to be used wherever the need is greatest in the undergraduate College, the School of Business and Accountancy, and the Graduate School. Currently, underwritten by the College Fund are the University Center, the Alumni Scholarship Program, and increases in faculty salaries. The College Fund raised $1,461,325 last year, surpassing its goal for the nineteenth consecutive year.

Decade Chairman: J. Dewey Hobbs '47; 1950s Decade Chairman: Garnette Hughes (Dee) Leroy '57; 1960s Decade Chairman: Joy Brumbaugh Baldwin '66; 1970s Decade Chairman, Deborah Dixon Lambert '78; 1980s Decade Chairman: Lillian Hill Pinto '80, '83 JD; Anniversary Reunion Class Campaign Chairman: John Thomas Mills '60; Senior Class Campaign Chairman: Pamela D. Wilson Challenge

The J. Tylee Wilson $500,000 Challenge will match contributions to the 1988-89 College Fund from alumni, parents and friends under the following guidelines. Matching funds will benefit the construction of the Clifton L. Benson University Center.

- New gifts of $50 or more will be matched dollar for dollar.
- Increases of $50 or more will be matched dollar for dollar.
- Those who increase their annual gifts to the next higher giving club (Arnie's Army at $100 to Samuel Wait Society of $250, for instance) will have their entire gifts matched dollar for dollar, rather than just the increases.
- Both individual gifts and the corporate matching gifts for which they qualify will be matched by the challenge. Therefore, a person receiving 2-for-1 matching gifts will see a gift of $50 grow to $300 through this program.
- The new gifts and gift increases of the parents of current students will be matched 2-for-1.

DAVID ROSEN

President Hearn, Patricia Wilson, J. Tylee Wilson

- If the Class of 1989 reaches 65 percent participation in its Senior Campaign, it will receive a bonus match of $25,000, plus an additional $1,000 for each percentage point above 65 percent.
- A special $1,000 bonus match will be provided for each new member of the President's Club, and for each current member who extends his/her pledge to a second or third decade (and who designates at least half of the pledge to the College Fund).
- A special $2,500 bonus match will be provided for each new member of the Pro Humanitate Society who designates at least one half of the new pledge to the College Fund.
- The highest amount eligible to be matched for any individual is $10,000.

Did We Miss Your Name? Here's Why...

If your name is not on the 1987-88 Honor Roll, four things may have happened:

(1) YOU'RE IN OUR SPECIAL CATEGORY!

Contributors whose gifts to the University did not qualify for special gift club membership were not added and do not appear in this listing because of space restrictions.

(2) WE MADE A MISTAKE! We're sorry if this is the case, but in the processing of over 20,000 gifts some errors inevitably occur.

(3) YOU DIDN'T MAKE YOUR GIFT DURING THE 1987-88 FISCAL YEAR! This point sometimes confuses our contributors. Our giving year runs from July 1 to June 30. Check your records to see if the gift was made during that period.

(4) ARE YOU SURE YOU GAVE? With the many appeals from worthy causes that all of us receive, it is easy to miss giving to one or another. Check your records to be sure.

Please send all inquiries regarding omissions to the Office of Alumni Activities, Wake Forest University, P.O. Box 7227, Reynolda Station, Winston-Salem, NC 27109.

We want to get it right!

ALUMNI NEWS

Imagine your surprise. It has been some 10 to 50 years since you received your diploma, but someone must not realize that fact because you have just opened a letter from Wake Forest which contains a dreaded blue book. Upon opening the blue book, you discover a "test". This test measures your "HQ"—Homecoming Quotient.

Actually, this was one of several mailings sent to all members of anniversary reunion classes in an effort to promote the annual Anniversary Reunion program at Wake Forest. Over an 18-month period, volunteers from the classes of 1938, 1948, 1958, 1968, and 1978 met to discuss and plan events for the celebration. The Office of Alumni Activities provided the initial framework, and each Anniversary Reunion Class Committee made individual plans for its own class.

The program concluded with the celebration during Homecoming '88 Weekend, Nov. 11-12. In addition to these decade reunions, the classes of 1943, 1953, 1963, 1973, 1983, and 1988 celebrated reunions with special activities as did the Black Alumni Association.

To honor those who had been alumni for 50 years or more, Nov. 11 was declared Half Century Club Day. Members of the Class of 1938 were inducted into the Half Century Club in a special ceremonial luncheon. Friday evening activities began with a buffet reception for alumni and friends in Reynolda Hall. Afterwards, alumni and guests attended the alumni revue, "Romance Under the Magnolias: A Moonlit Tribute to Wake Forest Lovers." The show recognized those who met, fell in love, and became one of over 1,500 alumni couples joined in holy matrimony over the years.

This year's Distinguished Alumni Awards went to Ernie Accorsi ('63) executive vice president of football operations, Cleveland Browns; and Earle A. Connelly ('48), former national president of the Alumni Association. The Distinguished Wake Forest Family Award went to the family of W. Boyd ('38) and Helen Bryan ('37) Owen.

Horace "Bones" McKinney, TV sports personality and former Wake Forest basketball coach, received an honorary alumnus award. Alumni returning to participate in the revue included the emcee, Diana Moon Adams ('78), and performers Chuck King ('80), Linda Clark ('75), and Jeff Dobbs ('77).

On Saturday morning, alumni and students gathered on the Quad under festive tents to enjoy a "tailgate brunch." Reunion class alumni, Half Century Club members, the Wake Forest band, cheerleaders, and Homecoming King and Queen candidates participated in the traditional "spirit walk" parade and pep rally.

Alumni and their guests gathered at the Dixie Classic Fairgrounds for a reception following the Wake Forest/Georgia Tech football game. The evening's activities included class dinners, dances, the Wake Forest/Marathon Oil exhibition basketball game, and the traditional Homecoming Dance at the Stouffer Winston Plaza.

In addition to providing activities, entertainment, and an atmosphere for rekindling friendship, the Anniversary Reunion Class campaigns raised $223,672 in gifts to the 1987-88 College Fund from members of five anniversary reunion classes. Up from the $99,082 raised last year, this amount represents a 126 percent increase in giving from those five classes. Their overall participation rate rose from 39.1 percent to 50.9 percent.

Shaping Wake Forest in the 1990s

The Wake Forest University Alumni Council has adopted as its theme for 1988-89, "Shaping Wake Forest in the 1990s Through Faculty Recruitment," reports Jim Gadd ('71), of Lawrenceville, Ga. The 90-member Alumni Council is the primary leadership organization of the University's 34,000 alumni.

The Council began its study of faculty recruitment and issues at its Summer Planning Conference on July 21-24 at The Cloister at Sea Island, Ga. Discussion leaders included Dr. Katy Harriger, assistant professor of politics, Dr. John Moorhouse, professor of economics, Dr. Thomas Mullen, dean of the college, and Provost Edwin G. Wilson ('43). The group discussed the University's competitiveness in faculty salaries, benefits, working conditions, research opportunities, morale, and other areas. Results of the discussions included plans for increased faculty involvement in alumni programs and a new faculty award to be presented by the Alumni Council.

The Alumni Council began its discussion of student recruitment at its Homecoming meeting on Friday, Nov. 11. Presentations were made by the Admissions Office staff and the Harbinger Corps, a student-government sponsored program which involves undergraduates in hosting prospective students and in contacting them in their home areas. At its winter meeting on Feb. 3, the Council will focus its discussions on financial aid and the Alumni Scholarship Program.

Harris Directory Due Out in '89

The new edition of the Wake Forest Alumni Directory is scheduled for release in February 1989.

The publication will be the first comprehensive University alumni directory compiled since 1984. It will have a section with individual listings which will include academic information, professional information, as well as home address and telephone. Alumni will also be listed by class and by geographic area in addition to the main alphabetical listing. Alumni from all schools of the University will be included.

During the next few weeks, the Harris Publishing Company's staff will be verifying information and taking orders for the directory by phone. The directory is available in two editions, the Softbound edition which costs $46.95, and the Hardbound version for $49.95.

THE DEBATE REMEMBERED

September 25, 1988. . .

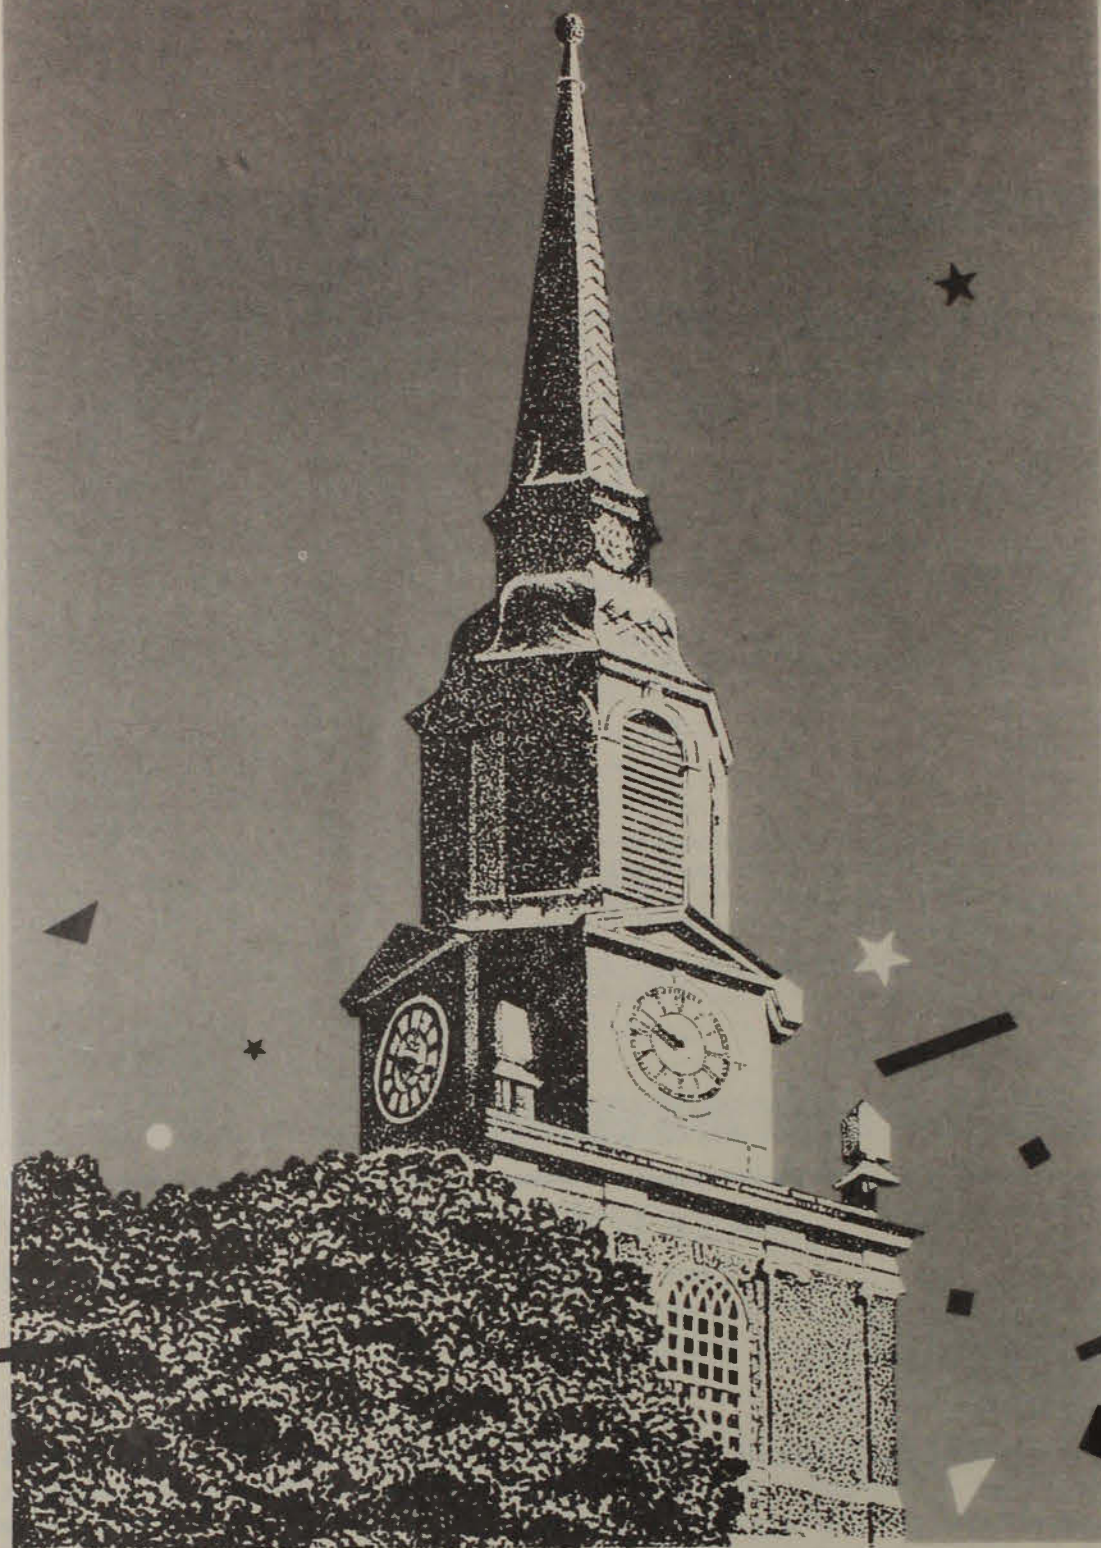

It was a day in Wake Forest history that will never be forgotten: presidential candidates George Bush and Michael Dukakis took the stage in Wait Chapel for the first of two nationally televised debates.

For one thrilling evening, the eyes of the world turned to Wake Forest.

You can relive the excitement of that evening, and the dramatic preparations on campus that preceded it, on videotape. "The Presidential Debate Video" is a 20-minute VHS tape featuring highlights of debate weekend and the debate itself. It includes clips of the many celebrities who were on campus that night, as well as student activity.

To further commemorate the debate, Wake Forest has authorized a limited number of Presidential Debate posters which show a drawing of the steeple of Wait Chapel against a confetti-filled sky.

The price of the videotape is $30, which includes shipping and handling. The poster is $6, plus $3 for shipping and handling. Use the form below to order one or both of these debate momentos.
