Spoštovani ljubitelji in ljubiteljice slovenske dramske besede,

Dear Friends of the Slovenian dramatic word,

Mirjam Drnovšček

Direktorica

Director

Spet se veselimo pomladi in novega Tedna slovenske drame, ki je tokrat že osemindvajseti po vrsti. Naključje je hotelo, da se časovno naslanja na praznovanje krščanske velike noči, kar lahko pograbimo tudi kot nekakšno programsko iztočnico. Trpljenje in vstajenje sta stalnici slehernega človeškega življenja, prav tako tudi našega grenko-sladkega gledališkega vsakdanjika. Smo družbeno kritični in bomo takšni tudi ostali. To tudi vam polagamo na srce že v otvoritveni predstavi letošnjega Tedna, ki nosi pronicljiv naslov Zrno soli. Gre namreč za slovensko-bosansko koprodukcijo, v kateri se sprašujemo: smo si res tako različni?

Naša življenja vodi človeška intima in ta je pač enaka na vseh koncih sveta, pa naj bodo razlike navzven še tako velike. Prepoznavanje razlik med uprizoritvami dramskih predlog je bilo tudi letos v rokah selektorice mag. Tee Rogelj, ki je v svojem izboru izpostavila izvirnost, duhovitost, svežino in nove perspektive znanih zgodb. Vedno znova se navdušujemo nad neverjetno gledališko produkcijo na podlagi slovenskih dramskih predlog, ki smo ji priča in ki nam z zrnom soli v glavi,

Once again we're looking forward to the spring and the new Week of Slovenian Drama, the latter this year for the forty-eighth time. Serendipity wanted it to coincide with the Christian holiday of Easter, and this can serve as a programme cue. Suffering and resurrection are the constants of any human life, including our bitter-sweet daily theatre life. We are socially critical and we will remain so. We're imploring you to be so, too, in the opening performance of this year's Week, insightfully titled A Grain of Salt. It's a Slovenian-Bosnian co-production in which we ask: are we really that different from each other?

Our lives are guided by human intimacy and this intimacy is the same in all parts of the world, no matter how big the external differences appear to be. Recognising the differences between the stagings of drama texts was once again in the hands of the selector Tea Rogelj, who in her selection emphasised originality, wit, freshness and new perspectives of known stories. Time and again, we are thrilled to be able to witness such incredible theatre production based on včasih plašno, drugič predzno, nastavlja ogledalo. Nam, našim lastnim in tujim odnosom, strahovom, peganjavicam, blaznostim ... Življenje je pač večno spremjanje, iskanje novih izkušenj, novih ljudi, novih strasti ... novih dram.

Gledališče jih vestno spreminja in zapisuje. Iskanje lastne resnice in svojega mesta v svetu določa vsebino vseh naših in vaših dram. Ponujamo vam toliko vznemirjenja, kolikor ste ga pripravljeni sprejeti. Ne moremo biti vsako leto boljši in večji, ker gledališke produkcije ne gre meriti s tekočim trakom proizvodnje mehaničnih avtomobilskih delov. Naš kruh je trd in vsako leto tanjši, vendar se trudimo za vas in kljubujemo mačehovskemu odnosu matere države, dragi gledalci in gledalke. S tem zavedanjem presegamo svoje skromne finančne in kadrovske zmožnosti. Verjamemo, da boсте to opazili in tudi letos znali ceniti.

Druženje z vami je za vse nas, ki s srcem in dušo ustvarjamo slovensko gledališče, izjemno dragoceno.

Ostanite nam zvesti.

Dobrodošli!

Slovenian texts, production that holds a mirror – sometimes shyly, sometimes audaciously – to us, who have a grain of salt in our heads, to our own relationships and the relationships of others, to fears, paranoia, madness ... Life is, after all, about eternal change, the search for new experiences, new people, new passions ... new dramas.

Theatre monitors and records them meticulously. The search for our own truth and our place in the world defines the content of all our and your dramas. We're offering you as much excitement as you are ready to accept. We cannot be bigger and better every year, because theatre production cannot be measured by the assembly line of a mechanical car parts manufacturer. Our bread is hard and its slices get thinner every year, but we continue toiling for you and resisting the stepmotherly attitude of the motherland, dear spectators. With this recognition, we reach beyond our modest financial and personnel capabilities. We trust that you will notice this and appreciate it this year, too.

Your company is, to all of us who create Slovenian theatre with our hearts and our souls, extremely precious.

Remain loyal to us.

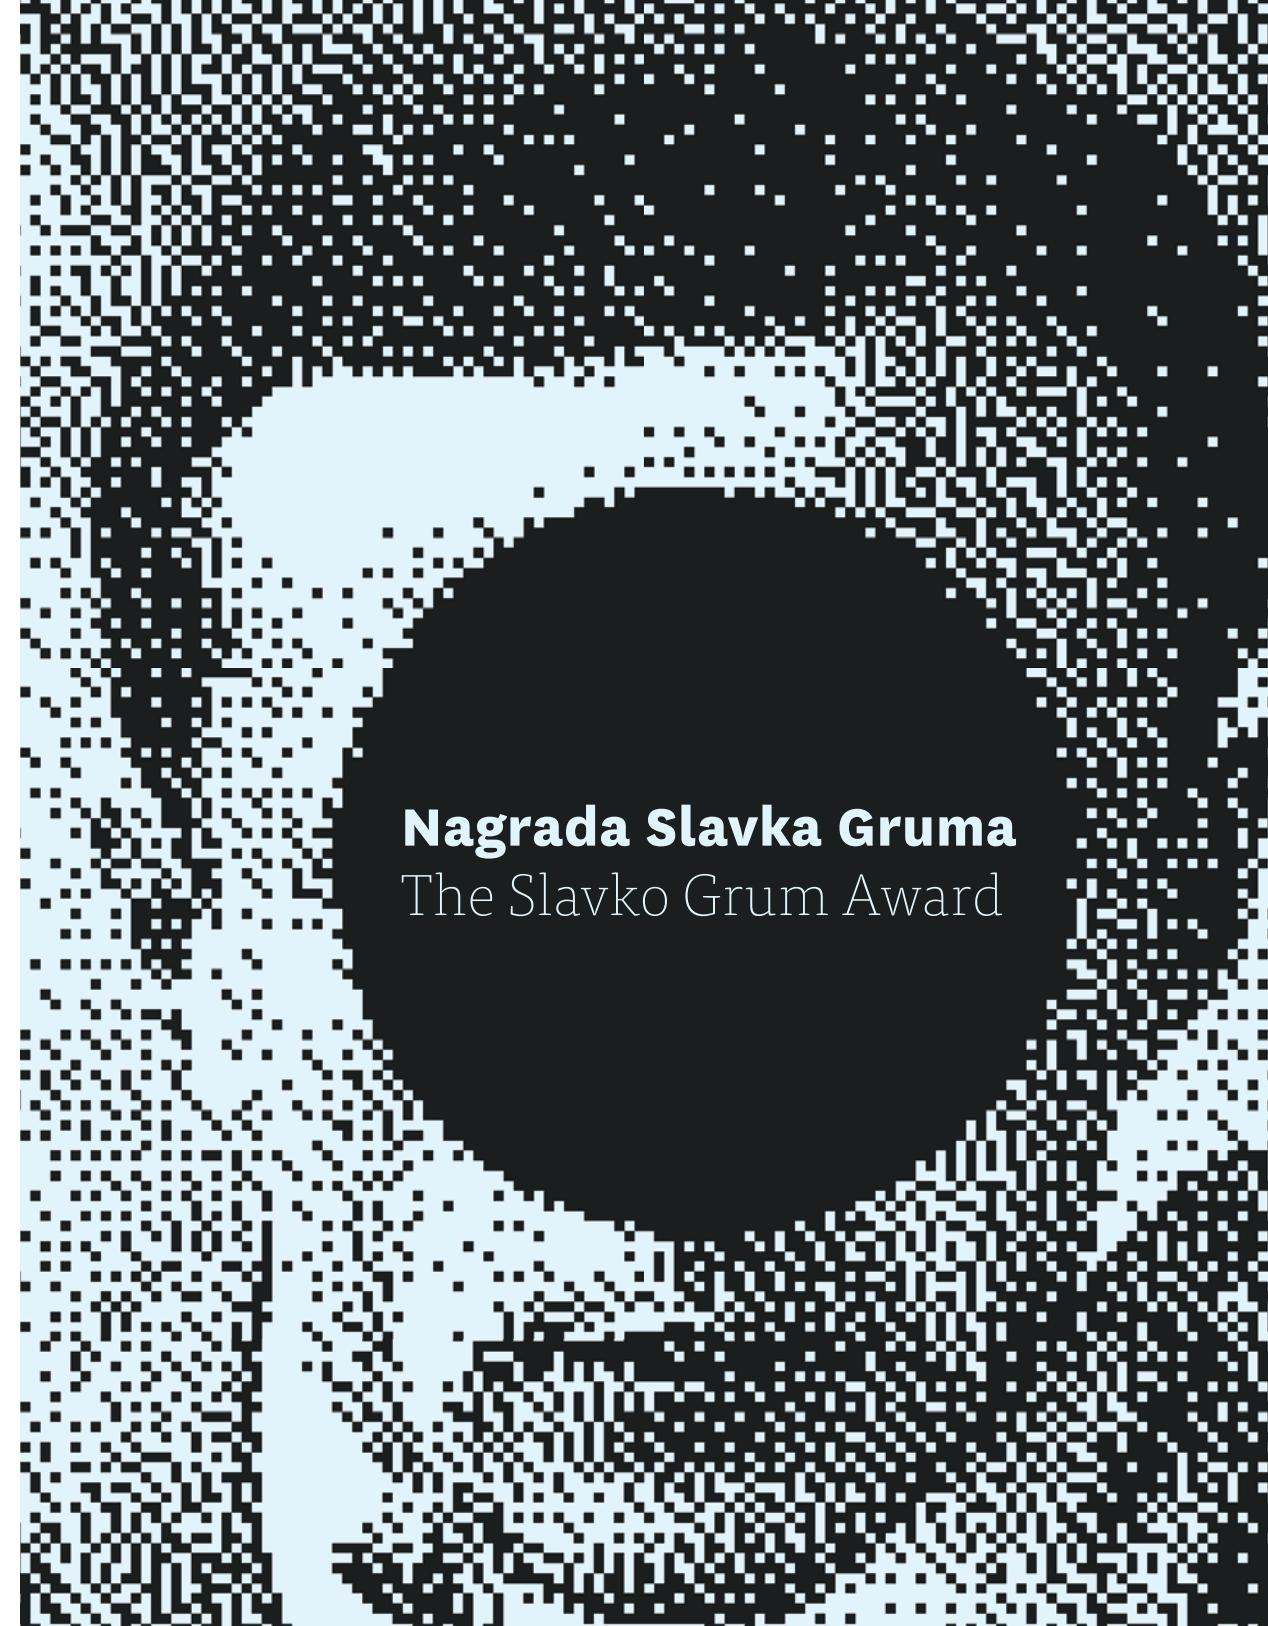

Welcome!

P. S.: "Anica, remain loyal to me, as you are the life of my life, the soul of my soul ..."

1 VEČJA OD VSEH je monodrama, katere protagonistka je Pikapolonica Zmagoslava Marjetica Nogavička – torej Pika Nogavička. Ta je za razliko od legendarne otroške junakinje zgodb Astrid Lindgren, tukaj nastopajoče kot Pikina svetovalka z zavoda za zaposlovanje, »zrasla«. Prav odraščanje je osrednja tema drame, vključno z razočaranimi otroškimi sanjami, s telesnimi spremembami in socialnimi obveznostmi.

Že v prvih stawkah ne izvemo le, da je Pika zrasla, temveč, da je »odrasla«: da pege prekriva s pudrom, nosi visoke pete in nogavice iste barve ter živi v garsonjeri. A besedilo ne ostane pri začetni melodramatski zasnovi, ki bi igrala na čustveno noto in na koncu ponudila solzavo zadoščenje. Izrazito emotivno zasnovani prizori so posredovani minimalistično in obenem poetično skozi kratke dialoge, ki jih poustvarja protagonista. Pikina omemba splava, ki je podana mimogrede, je denimo popolnoma pretresljiva, vendar za čustvenim učinkom vseskozi slutimo Pikino notranjo premišljenost in obenem razburjenost, negotovost in izgubljenost, ki ne tvorijo le s hormoni napolnjenega najstništva, ampak eksistencialno bistvo sodobnega človeka. Večja od vseh nekoliko spominja na Bariccov Novecento in celo na Malega princa, ki jima ni podobna le zaradi učinkovitega prikaza drugačnosti, ampak tudi zato, ker ni namenjena otrokom, temveč odraslim. Obilica zanimivih situacij nazadnje omogoča potencialno zelo različne načine recepcije, in sicer od feministične, romantične, mladostniške do socialne in psihološke. Zato je tudi večkratno upričarjanje ne bo izčrpalo.

2 DRAMSKO BESEDILO Romeo in Julija sta bila begunca nosi podnaslov »ljubezenska drama«. Ikonična klasična dramska lika iz Shakespearove tragedije se v tem besedilu reinkarnira v povsem vsakdanji osebi, v mlada človeka zdajšnjih imen in provenienc, v sodobna dramska subjekta. Njuni družini nista sprti, sprto z njuno iskreno maldo ljubeznijo pa je vse socialno okolje. Besedilo ga prikaže brezkompromisno, kot vidi in doživila svojo situacijo mlađa generacija: brezpravno, stisnjeno med mlinška kamna, ki ubijata njune preproste, nepretenciozne želje in hotenja. Na eni strani je to zbirokratiziranost, ki posameznika obravnava in ga sistemsko stigmatizira z izdelanimi logaritmi za zaznavanje vsakršnih napak in odstopanj – to ga dela nezaposljivega in nekoristnega – in med socialno, eksistenčno in eksistencialno stisko. Razmere, v katerih se kljub trudu za dobro znajdeta, ju pahnejo na rob kriminala in na socialno dno. Z relativno skopimi sredstvi in jasno strukturo drama pretrese in opominja na to, kako je lahko mlad človek v tej deželi in v tem času tujec v lastni deželi, nepotreben in nekoristen. Drama v stvarnem tonu odpira univerzalen prostor etičnih vprašanj, senzibilizira za krivičnost in kaže na gledališče kot na prostor nagovarjanja gledalca z neizprosno in kruto psihosocialno podobo do svojih najranljivejših skupin mačehovske dežele.

3 V »KRIMINALNI DRAMI O zelo intimnih rečeh« tri sestre pospravljajo stanovanje pokojne mame. Črne vreče za smeti, s katerimi se sorodjenke lotevajo zadane naloge, se polnijo s predmeti, ozračje pa s spomini in dolgo potlačenimi zamerami. Različni predmeti iz zapuščine razkrivajo medsebojno ljubosumje, otroške zamere, ki še vedno obvladujejo odnose tudi v odrasli dobi, zasvetlika pa se tudi otroška naivnost brez prihodnosti. Razkrivanje preteklih zamer zastane zgolj zaradi soočenja z neznanim predmetom – barvno kričečimi dvodelnimi kopalkami. Vdor neznanega antagonistično nastrojeno sestrsko fronto za trenutek poenoti proti skupnemu sovražniku, toda nedvoumno razkritje družinskih skrivnosti jih dokončno postavi na nasprotne bregove. Kljub morbidnim okoliščinam dogajanje v drami prepričljivo prehaja med trenutki naivne otroške fascinacije in iskrene sestrskie ljubezni do nespravljivega sovraštva z vsemi odtenki navezanosti, prijateljstva, ljubezni, nezadovoljstva, razočaranja in jeze. Dialog je dinamičen – kratke, hitro izmenjujoče se replike so zapolnjene s premolki, čustveno težkimi tišinami, poglobljene z monologi. Dramska napetost tako ne temelji zgolj na vsebinah, temveč tudi na spremembah tempa in ritma govora. Ob komorni, zgolj ženski zasedbi različnih generacij besedilo odpira možnosti igralskim bravuram. Trdna struktura nominiranega dramskega besedila omogoča dinamične ustvarjalne poti, široka paleta čustvovanja v navidez vsakdanjih situacijah pa ponuja bodočim gledališkim ustvarjalcem možnosti raznolikih interpretacij.

Greater Than All

Romeo and Juliet Were Refugees

1 Greater Than All is a mono drama, whose protagonist is Pippilotta Delicatessa Windowshade Mackrelmint Efraimsdotter Longstocking – in short, Pippi Longstocking. The protagonist, unlike the legendary children's hero from the stories by Astrid Lindgren (who appears here as Pippi's counsellor from the job centre), has "grown". And growing up is the central theme of the drama, complete with shattered childhood dreams, a changing body, and social obligations. The very opening sentences inform us not only that Pippi has grown, she has also "grown up": she covers her freckles with foundation, wears high heels, stockings in the same colour, and lives in a bedsit. But the text moves beyond an initial melodramatic concept, which might play with our emotions and offer some teary satisfaction. The distinctly emotionally conceived scenes are minimalististic, yet poetic, when conveyed through short dialogues re-created by the protagonist. When Pippi, in passing, mentions an abortion, it is thoroughly shocking, but behind the emotional effect we constantly sense Pippi's inner thoughtfulness and at the same time agitation, insecurity and the feeling of being lost, which create not only hormone-filled adolescence, but the existential essence of the contemporary human. Greater Than All somewhat reminds us of Barrico's Novecento and even The Little Prince – the similarities are not just in the efficient presentations of otherness, but also because it is not aimed at children but at adults. Finally, many interesting situations allow for potentially very different receptions, from feminist, romantic, coming of age, to social and psychological. Therefore, even multiple stagings will not exhaust its potential.

2 THE SUBTITLE of the play Romeo and Juliet Were Refugees is "a love drama". The text reincarnates the iconic classical characters from Shakespeare's tragedy as perfectly everyday persons, young people of contemporary names and provenance, as contemporary drama subjects. Their families are not at odds, but the entire social environment is hostile to their genuine young love. The text shows the environment as non-compromising, just as the young generation sees and experiences its own situation: lacking rights, squeezed between two grinding stones that kill their simple, unpretentious wishes and volitions. On the one hand, there is bureaucracy that tackles and systematically stigmatises an individual with pre-made algorithms that notice any kind of mistake or deviation – this makes a person unemployable and useless – on the other, social, existential and existentialist distress. The circumstances, in which they find themselves despite striving for good, push them to the edge of crime and to the social bottom. With relatively meagre means and a clear structure, the drama touches and reminds us of how a young person in this country and this time can be a stranger in one's own land, unnecessary and useless. The play's realistic tone opens a universal space of ethical questions, sensitises for injustice and shows theatre as a space of addressing the spectator with the novercal country's merciless and cruel psychosocial image towards its most vulnerable groups.

3 IN THIS "crime drama about very intimate things", three sisters are clearing out the flat of their late mother. The black rubbish bags the siblings are using to complete their task are filling up with objects, and the atmosphere with memories and long-suppressed resentments. Different objects from the legacy reveal interpersonal jealousy and childhood resentments that still control the relationships of the adults; also shimmering through is a child-like naïveté without a future. The revealing of past resentments only stops because of an encounter with an unknown object – a colourful bikini. The intrusion of the unknown briefly unifies the antagonistic sister front against the common enemy, but the unambiguous disclosure of family secrets finally places them at opposite ends. Despite the morbid circumstances the action in the play convincingly shifts between moments of naïve child-like fascination and genuine sisterly love to an irreconcilable hatred with all the nuances of attachment, friendship, dissatisfaction, disappointment and anger. The dialogue is dynamic – short, fast lines are filled with pauses, emotionally heavy silences, deepened with monologues. The dramatic tension is thus based not only on the content, but also on changes of pace and rhythm of speech. The small, all-female cast with characters of different generations, opens possibilities for acting excellence. The strong structure of the text allows dynamic creative paths, while the wide spectrum of emotions in seemingly everyday situations offers future theatre creators possibilities of different interpretations.

President of the Slavko Grum Award and the Young Playwright Award Jury

ČE LETOŠNJI NATEČAJ za Grumovo nagrado pogledamo skozi prizmo statistike, potem so številke naslednje: na natečaj je prispelo petintrideset dramskih besedil, osem izmed njih je bilo moč zaslediti že na natečajih preteklih let, vsaj pet besedil je bilo že uprizorjenih, dve izstopata po univerzalnosti in sporočilni relevantnosti, najmanj deset besedil ima izvirne koncepte in bi ob ustreznih režijskih pristopih uspešno zaživelo na odrskih deskah, le dve bi lahko uvrstili v polje postdramskega oziroma ne več dramskega pisanja. Letošnji natečaj je presenetljiv, saj prispela besedila določata dve prepoznavni značilnosti: vrnitev klasične dramske forme in obrat v intimni svet.

Če smo v preteklih letih opazovali dramska besedila, ki gradijo na prepletu različnih diskurzivnih praks in ustvarjajo žanrske konglomerate, kjer se spajajo epsko in lirsko, dokumentarno in fikcijsko, ritualno in politično, monološko in dialoško ..., potem lahko ugotovimo, da te heterogenosti v letosnjem izboru praktično ni. Besedila se vračajo h klasični dramski formi, kjer

WHEN WE LOOK at this year's Slavko Grum Award competition through the prism of statistics, we see the following numbers: thirty-five plays were submitted, eight of which were submitted for competitions in previous years; at least five texts have already been staged; two distinguish themselves with their universality and relevance; at least ten texts have original concepts and would, given the appropriate directorial approaches, successfully live onstage; only two could be categorised as post-dramatic or no longer dramatic writing. The surprise in this year's competition are two recognisable traits of the entries: the return of the classical drama form and a turn towards the intimate world.

If in the previous years we observed dramatic texts that were built upon intertwining different discursive practices and creating genre conglomerates where the epic and the lyrical, the documentary and the fictional, the ritual and the political, the monologue and the dialogue merged, then this year's yield shows a near absence of this heterogeneity. The texts return to the je v ospredju zgodba, glavno izrazno sredstvo pa dialog. Hkrati ugotavljamo, da le manjšemu delu besedil uspe udejanjiti zakonitosti dramske forme, medtem ko bi si pri preostalih želeli več poudarka na oblikovanju dramskih situacij, natančnejšo karakterizacijo oseb in večjo stilno raznolikost dialoga. Nekateri avtorji skozi dialogue situacije le opisujejo, prav zato je potreben bolj resno misliti na uprizoritev: kaj bo igralec odigral in ne le povedal na odru. V nekaterih primerih didaskalije prinašajo nepomembne informacije, ki niso povezane z igro in po nepotrebni obtežijo besedilo. Prevladujejo vsakdanje situacije, zanimive male zgodbe, za nekatere si želimo, da bi v sebi v večji meri skrivali neko »dramo«, vsakdanji pogovori pa podtekst, ki bi se razkrival postopoma in držal bralcu v napetosti. Glavno pomanjkljivost tako vidimo v vzpostavitvi dramskega konflikta, kjer opažamo dve skrajnosti. Marsikatero besedilo ne uspe ustvariti konflikta niti na ravni idej, dramskih diskurzov, niti med osebami niti znotraj osebe same, besedila so posledično brez etičnih in moralnih dilem ter prinašajo nejasna sporočila. Po drugi strani imamo besedila, kjer je konflikt tako predvidljiv in sporočilo tako jasno, da prehaja v nekakšno agitko. Tako le določenemu delu besedil uspe skozi konkretno zgodbo ustvariti univerzalne situacije, ki prinašajo protislovnost pogledov in današnjemu trenutku relevantna sporočila. Prav tovrstna besedila zlahka vzpostavijo dialog z bralcem in omogočajo njegovo dejavno sodelovanje pri razreševanju vprašanj, idej in občutij, ki jih odpirajo.

classical drama form where the story is in the forefront and the principal vehicle for expression is dialogue. At the same time we find that only a minority of the texts successfully apply the rules of the dramatic form, while in others, we would want to see more emphasis on creating dramatic situations, a more precise characterisation of the dramatis personae and a greater stylistic differentiation in dialogue. Some authors use dialogue simply to describe situations; therefore, it would be necessary to think more seriously of the staging: what will the actor show, not just tell. In some cases, the didascalia bring irrelevant information unrelated to the play which adds unnecessary weight to it. Mostly we see everyday situations, interesting small stories: we wish that some of them could hide some sort of "drama" in them, the everyday conversations, a subtext that would reveal itself gradually and hold the reader in suspense. The main weakness is thus establishing the dramatic conflict. Here, we noticed two extremes. Many a text fails to establish the conflict either on the level of ideas, drama discourses, or between the characters within the play itself; as a consequence, the texts are void of ethical and moral dilemmas and carry unclear messages. On the other hand, we have texts with the conflict so predictable and the message so clear that they cross over to some sort of agit-prop. Hence, only a certain part of the texts can, through a concrete story, create universal situations that present the controversy of viewpoints and messages relevant to the present moment. But it is

Letošnja dramska besedila prinašajo pogled v intimni svet posameznika, ki vstopa v različna medosebna razmerja. Pogosti so kompleksni družinski odnosi, ti prinašajo raznolike podobe materinstva, vloge ženske v družini in družbi, dinamiko odnosov med družinskimi člani več generacij, soočenje otroškega in odraslega sveta ipd. Avtorji upovedujejo poglede na partnerska razmerja, večkrat so prisotni tudi odnosi med prijatelji, sodelavci, sostanovalci. Besedila s tovrstno tematiko odpirajo vprašanja drugačnosti in identitete, razmišljajo o uresničevanju samega sebe, odstirajo družinske skrivnosti ..., najbolj prepričljiva so tista, ki skozi intimni svet zrcalijo vrednote in ustroj družbe. Pri nekaterih dramskih besedilih je opazen vpliv drugih medijev na formalni in vsebinski ravni: v mislih imamo televizijska soočenja in radijske oddaje, te prinašajo neko aktualno družbeno-politično problematiko, ki jo skozi format oddaje razgrinjajo z argumenti za in proti, prav tako je še vedno aktualen format resničnostnih šovov. Na letošnjem natečaju ni zaznati večje žanske in zvrstne raznolikosti, govorimo lahko skoraj o odsotnosti komedije, zgodovinske drame pa že več let črpajo iz istih časovnih obdobij in tematik: izbrisani, begunci in druga svetovna vojna, a hkrati smo opazili nekaj besedil z dobrimi nastavki, ki pa v nadaljevanju ostajajo na ravni kronike oziroma poročila. Tudi znotraj dramatike je zaslediti trend, prepoznaven na širšem svetovnem knjižnem trgu, in sicer gre za predelave vsem znanih literarnih zgodb. Postopek ni nov, najpogosteje pa gre za prestavitev these kinds of texts that easily establish a dialogue with the reader and allow for her or his active cooperation in solving the questions, ideas and emotions which the texts open.

This year's texts bring insight into the intimate worlds of individuals entering different personal relationships. Often, the topics are complex family relationships, they bring diverse images of motherhood, the role of women in the family and society, the relationship dynamics between family members of different generations, the confrontation of the worlds of children and adults and so on. The authors word their visions of romantic partnerships, as well as relationships between friends, co-workers, cohabitants. The texts with these themes open the questions of otherness and identity, they think about self-realisation, reveal family secrets ... the most convincing among them are those that through this intimate world mirror the values and structure of the society. Some plays reveal a visible influence of other mediums, on the formal and content levels: television debates and radio programmes, which bring in some kind of actual socio-political problems which they then disclose through the format of the show with the arguments pro et contra; likewise, the reality show format is still popular. This year's competition did not bring a great genre and style variety; there is a near-absence of comedy, while period dramas have been sourcing their topics from the same historic periods and themes for several years: the erased, refugees and World War II. At the same literarnih oseb v sodobni čas, drug žanr ali zvrst, ponekod tudi spogledovanje s travestijo, nadaljevanje zgodbe ..., pri čemer znano delo služi kot izhodiščni idejni impulz za upovedovanje današnje stvarnosti. Letošnji natečaj tako prinaša nekaj izvirnih, idejno zaostrenih, včasih tudi vsebinsko pretresljivih podob iz življenja znanih literarnih junakov.

Na natečaj za nagrado za mladega dramatika je prispeло štirinajst besedil. Skoraj polovico so inspirirala dela svetovne književnosti, zlasti gre za predelave antičnih mitov. Preizkušeni vzorci dramske tradicije prinašajo dovolj trdnost strukturo, da lahko mladi dramatiki ob njej razvijejo lastne zgodbe, ki so duhovite, prinašajo svežino in nove perspektive znanih zgodb. Skozi dramsko formo izražajo iskanje svojega mesta v svetu, iskanje lastne resnice, spolne identitet, opazen je umik v intimo. Mladi svet doživljajo kot izrazito razpršen, brez trdnješe opore, zato tudi ni formalne ali sporočilne drznosti, a vseeno so to premišljena besedila, ki želijo sestaviti svet v formi, izrazu in vsebini.

time we noticed several texts with good premises that, when developed, remained on the level of a chronicle or a report. The trend of adaptation of well-known literary tales is as observable in playwriting as it is across the literary field worldwide. The procedure is not new, and most often involves transposing literary characters into contemporary time or another genre or style, at times, it flirts with travesty, the continuation of a story ..., with the famous work serving as the original impetus to narrate the reality of today. This year's competition thus brings some original, sharp, at times also shattering, images from the lives of famous literary heroes.

The competition for the Young Playwright Award yielded fourteen entries. Almost half of them were inspired by the works of world literature, particularly the adaptations of classical myths. The tested patterns of the drama traditions bring a solid enough structure that young playwrights can use to develop their own stories, which are witty, bring freshness and new perspectives of the known stories. Through the drama form, they express the search for their place in the world, the search for their own truth, sexual identity, noticeable is a turn towards intimacy. The young experience the world as markedly disperse, without a firm support, so their texts lack audacity in form or message, nevertheless, these are thoughtful texts that wish to create the world through form, expression and content.

SLOVENSKI USTVARJALCI so na letošnji Teden slovenske drame prijavili 37 predstav. Poleg prijavljenih sem si ogledala še 25 produkcij, torej skupno 62.

Med prijavljenimi 37-imi predstavami je šest uprizoritev amaterskih gledaliških skupin, ob njih pa še sedem projektov zunajinstitutionalnih skupin. Štiri med prijavljenimi uprizoritvami so namenjene otrokom oziroma mladini.

Dobra polovica predstav, ki sem si jih ogledala, temelji na klasični dramski formi (leta 2016 je bilo takšnih le dobra tretjina). Povprečje slednjih letos nedvomno dviguje SNG Drama Ljubljana, ki je slavnostno sezono ob 150. obletnici ustanovitve Dramatičnega društva zaznamovala z repertoarjem, v celoti sestavljenim iz slovenskih dramskih besedil. V prvi polovici sezone 2017/18 smo si tako na njihovem odru lahko ogledali Linhartovo Županovo Micko, Cankarjeve Hlapce, Jovanovićevu igro Zid, jezero, dramatizacijo Krasnega novega sveta A. Huxleyja, otroško predstavo Peter Klepec ali Kako postaneš pravi junak Eve Kraševec in Maje Sever in dramo Mileta Koruna Sveti mož.

SLOVENIAN CREATORS submitted thirty-seven performances for this year's Week of Slovenian Drama. In addition to those submitted, I watched another twenty-five, making it a total selection pool of sixty-two performances.

Of the thirty-seven performances submitted, seven were by non-institutional groups and six by amateur theatre groups. Four of the submitted performances were for children or young people.

A good half of the performances that I've considered were based on the classical drama form (in 2016, just over a third were). This year's average is undoubtedly raised by the Slovenian National Theatre Drama Ljubljana, which marked the jubilee season celebrating the 150th anniversary of the establishment of the Dramatic Society of Slovenia with a repertoire consisting of exclusively Slovenian plays. In the first half of the season 2017/18, we have thus seen on their stage A. T. Linhart's Micka, the Mayor's Daughter, Ivan Cankar's The Serfs, Dušan Jovanović's play The Wall, the Lake,

V prvi polovici leta 2017 pa so v Mali drami poskrbeli še za krstni postaviti prejemnic Grumove nagrade v letih 2016 in 2017, in sicer igri Ljudski demokratični cirkus Sakešvili Roka Vilčnika - rokgreja in Razglednice ali Strah je od znotraj votel, od zunaj pa ga nič ni Simone Hamer.

Med slovenskimi institucionalnimi gledališči po številu uprizoritev slovenskih dramskih del v letu 2017 izstopajo še Prešernovo gledališče Kranj (avtorski projekt Stenica, nastal v koprodukciji z Mestnim gledališčem Ptuj; drama Pesmi živih mrtvecev Matjaža Zupančiča v koprodukciji s Slovenskim ljudskim gledališčem Celje; Tri ženske Vinka Möderndorferja), Mestno gledališče ljubljansko (muzikal Tracč ali Mnogo hrupa za nič Gašperja Tiča in Davorja Hercega, prav tako s Shakespearom navdihnen avtorski projekt Sen kresne noči in žanrski novum v Sloveniji, »gledališka kriminalna nadaljevanka« v štirih delih Vranja vrata Nejca Gazvode) in Slovensko mladinsko gledališče (avtorski projekt Človek, ki je gledal svet, koncertna uprizoritev pesmi Svetlane Makarovič Pasja procesija, gledališki koncert po pesmih Gregorja Strniša Slovenska popevka, Pošasti Simone Hamer).

then, surprisingly, a dramatisation of A. Huxley's Brave New World, the performance for children Peter Klepec or How to Become a True Hero by Eva Kraševec and Maja Sever, and Mile Korun's drama A Holy Man. On the Small Stage, the first half of 2017 brought baptismal performances of the Slavko Grum Award winning plays People's Democratic Circus Sakeshvili by Rok Vilčnik and Postcards or Fear is Hollow Inside and Empty Outside by Simona Hamer.

Other theatres that stood out with the number of stagings of Slovenian texts in 2017, were Prešeren Theatre Kranj (the authorial project Bedbug, coproduced with Ptuj City Theatre; the drama Songs of the Living Dead by Matjaž Zupančič in coproduction with the Slovene People's Theatre Celje; Three Women by Vinko Möderndorfer); Ljubljana City Theatre (the musical The Gossip or Much Ado About Nothing by Gašper Tič and Davor Herceg, another original project inspired by Shakespeare A Midsummer Night's Dream, and a genre novelty in Slovenia, a "theatre crime series" in four episodes The Crow Door by Nejc Gazvoda); and the Mladinsko Theatre (the authorial project The Man Who Watched the World, a concert performance of the poems by Svetlana Makarovič Dog and Pony Show, a theatre concert based on poems by Gregor Strniša Slovenian Songs, and Monsters by Simona Hamer).

As the selector I have – just as last year – considered the complexity and perfection of the performances as the main criteria for selection.

1 USTVARJALCI PROJEKTA

Človek, ki je gledal svet se uprizarjanja lotevajo na videz nepri-stransko, že skoraj dokumentarno:
pred nami nizajo prizore iz vsakda-njega življenja običajnih ljudi z različnih koncev sveta. Zgodbe »njih«, ki so oddaljeni, in »nas«, ki smo tukaj, pa vendar povezuje občutek eksisten-cialne nemoči in tesnobe, ki presega hamletovsko breme odgovornosti, izraženo v misli: »Svet se maje, jaz pa
rojen, da mu ravnam tečaje!« Svet je s tečajev, družbena in socialna stvarnost grobega kapitalizma in mul-tinacionalnik pa se zdita kot naravni katastrofi, ki ju lahko le opazuješ, a ju kljub lastnemu uvidu ne moreš pre-prečiti. Ali pač?

2 TUDI PROJEKT Stenica Jerneja

Lorencija in njegove avtorske ekipe se ukvarja z aktualizacijo današnjega sveta. Uprizoritev sopostavi dva svetova – idealistično, a tudi ideološko strumno socialistično obdobje Jugoslavije po drugi svetovni vojni in današnji čas, dobo poudarjenega indi-vidualizma, kapitalizma, demokracije in globalnega potrošništva. To soočenje načne vrsto vprašanj o našem odnosu do novejše zgodovine, o pojmu zgodo-vinske pozabe in relativizaciji skupne jugoslovanske preteklosti, o vzrokih za izroditev ideologij in družbenih sis-temov, predvsem pa o posameznikovi razpetosti med željo po uresničenju lastnega jaza in hkratno potrebu po pripadnosti skupnosti, družbi.
Predstava, ki si upa.

THE CREATORS of the project The Man Who Watched the World seem to be unbiased, almost documentary in their approach to the staging: they string scenes from the everyday lives of ordinary people from different parts of the world in front of us. The stories of "them" who are far away and "us" here, however, are still linked through a feeling of existentialist powerlessness and anxiety that goes beyond Hamlet's burden of responsibility: "The time is out of joint. O cursed spite, that ever I was born to set it right!" Indeed, the time and the world are out of joint, the societal and social reality of the rough capitalism and multi-national corporations seem like natural disasters you can only observe but cannot prevent. Or can you?

LIKEWISE, Bedbug, the authorial project of Jernej Lorenci and his team, deals with the actualisation of today's world. The performance juxtaposes two worlds – the idealistic, but also ideologically upright, socialist period of Yugoslavia after World War II, and today, the era of emphasised individualism, capitalism, democracy and global consumerism. This confrontation opens a series of questions about our attitude to recent history, the notion of historical amnesia and relativisation of our common Yugoslav past, about the reasons for the degeneration of ideologies and social systems, and particularly about an individual's division between the desire to realise her or his own self and the simultaneous need to belong to a community, a society. A daring performance.

3 Ljudožerci Gregorja Strniša v izvedbi Drame SNG Maribor so četrta postavitev tega dela na slovenskih poklicnih odrih. Režijska interpretacija Ivice Buljana je zvesta dramskemu besedilu, a hkrati docela neobremenjena z dosedanjem tradicijo uprizarjanja Strniše (vse tri dosedanje uprizeritve te drame v verzih je režiral Mile Korun); morda nas prav zato skoraj šokira z odmikom od poetičnega, oddaljenostjo od transcendentalnega, s prizemljenočnostjo in navezavo na estetiko pop kulture – a verjetno prav zato verzi z odra zazvenijo trdo in stvarno, črni humor ima obešenjaški odzven, zlo pa se razkrije v vsej svoji banalnosti, kot vsakdanje in naše. Uprizeritev verzne drame, ki ji uspe nagovoriti kar najširše občinstvo.

Cannibals by Gregor Strniša staged by the Drama of the Slovene National Theatre Maribor is the fourth staging of this play on Slovenian professional stages. Ivica Buljan's directorial interpretation is faithful to the play, but at the same time completely free of the tradition of previous stagings of Strniša (all three previous times this verse drama was directed by Mile Korun); perhaps this is why it almost shocks us with its departure from the poetic, its distance from the transcendental, its down-to-earthiness and connection to pop-culture aesthetics – but it is probably for this reason that the verses sound harsh and real from the stage, its dark humour has a morbid tinge, and evil is disclosed in all its banality, as everyday and ours. A staging of a verse drama that manages to speak to the widest audience.

4 CANKARJEVI Hlapci v režiji Janeza Pipana so zaokrožena, premišljena, analitična in kompleksna uprizeritev, ki zvesto sledi dramski predlogi, a jo hkrati nenasilno nadgrajuje: dramaturški in režijski pristop razkritično poglobljeno razumevanje Hlapcev, a tudi natančno poznavanje Cankarja in njegovih likov sploh – uprizeritev s polnokrvnimi igralskimi kreacijami sestavi univerzalni mozaik Cankarjevih strahov in želja, njegovega videnja politike in moško-ženskih odnosov. Hlapci, prvič natisnjeni leta 1910, v režiji Janeza Pipana zaživijo kot delo, ki ne potrebuje aktualizacije, saj je kar se da zdajšnje in tukajšnje.

IVAN CANKAR'S The Serfs, directed by Janez Pipan, is a rounded, well-thought, analytical and complex performance that follows the text faithfully, but at the same time delicately builds upon it: the dramaturgical and directorial approaches show not only a deep understanding of The Serfs, but also precise knowledge of Cankar and his characters in general – a performance with comprehensive acting creations makes a universal mosaic of Cankar's fears and desires, his views of politics and male-female relationships. The Serfs, first published in 1910, come to life in Pipan's direction as a work that doesn't need actualisation, because they very much belong here and now already.

5 Zid, jezero v ljubljanski Drami je prva uprizeritev te drame po kulturni Jovanovićevi praizvedbi lastnega besedila leta 1989. Srbski režiser Miloš Lolić je zasnoval scensko in zvočno izčiščeno postavitev intimne drame sprtih zakoncev. Uprizeritev s svojo retro estetiko in preigravanjem različnih igralskih registrov, od psihološke igre do elementov groteske in absurdna, ustvarja ironično distanco do odrskega realizma ter preizkuša žanre. Obenem pa na svojevrsten način nagovori tudi gledalce prve postavitve – Branko Šturbelj se v svoji kreaciji mestoma navezuje na interpretacijo Radka Poliča iz praizvedbe dela. Sveža in duhovita postavitev, ki podpira Jovanovićovo trditev, da gre za eno njegovih najboljših dram.

6 DRAMA Pod snegom lanske prejemnice Borštnikovega prstana Saše Pavček je bila leta 2008 nominirana za Grumovo nagrado, pred praizvedbo v Mini teatru so jo bralno uprizerili v Gledališču Glej. Avtorica je delo o ljubezenskem trikotniku med hčerjo, njenim ljubimcem in materjo izpisala v privzidnjeni verzni obliki, v jeziku, ki nosi v sebi poezijo ljudskih zarotitev, kar uprizeritveno predstavlja precejšen izviv. Odličen igralski trio (ljubimca interpretira Matej Puc, dobitnik letošnje nagrade Prešernovega sklada) je z režiserko Barbaro Zemljic ustvaril občutljive atmosfere, ki vsebujejo tako duha starogrške tragedije kot starodavne uročnosti. Dramska poezija, ki nas nagovori s svojo arhetipskostjo.

The Wall, the Lake on the stage of the Slovenian National Theatre Drama Ljubljana is the first staging of this play after Dušan Jovanović's cult baptismal staging of his text in 1989. The set and the soundscape for this intimate drama of antagonistic spouses – as seen by the Serbian director Miloš Lolić – are sparse. The performance, with its retro aesthetics and playing through different acting registers, from psychological games to the elements of the grotesque and absurd, creates an ironic distance to the stage realism and tests genres. At the same time, it speaks to the audience of the baptismal staging in a very special way – in his creation, Branko Šturbelj in parts refers to Radko Polič's interpretation from the original production. A fresh and witty staging that supports Jovanović's claim this is one of his best plays.

THE PLAY Under the Snow by last year's Borštnik Ring Winner Saša Pavček was a Slavko Grum Award nominee in 2008; before the staging at the Mini teater, it received a concert reading at the Glej Theatre. The author wrote the piece about a love triangle between a daughter, her lover and her mother in an elevated verse form, using a language imbued with the poetry of folk incantations, which is a significant challenge for a performance. The excellent trio of actors (the lover is played by Matej Puc, this year's Prešeren Fund Award winner) has, together with the director Barbara Zemljic, created sensitive atmospheres that contain both the spirit of classical Greek tragedy and ancient charms. Dramatic prose that speaks to us with its archetypes.

VSA NAVEDENA DELA so bila uprizorjena prvič. Pri tem bosta za obiskovalce festivala morda še posebej zanimivi krstni postavitev na Tednu slovenske drame nagrajenih del, ki sta lani zaživeli v ljubljanski Mali drami.

1 PRVO, komedijo o diktaturah in totalitarizmih, Ljudski demokratični cirkus Sakešvili (Grumova nagrada leta 2016), je napisal Rok Vilčnik - rokgre in zrežiral Luka Martin Škof. Odlikujeta jo radoživa igra nastopajočih in razposajen režijski pristop.

2 DRUGO DELO, Razglednice ali Strah je od znotraj votel, od zunaj pa ga nič ni (Grumova nagrada leta 2017) zaznamujeta iskanje nove dramske pisave in ženski pristop oziroma tematika: Simona Hamer je navdih za igro iskala v posameznicah, ki so prestopale in širile meje znanega in mogočega, režiserka Ajda Valcl pa se je odločila za izključno žensko zasedbo.

3 »ETIČNO-POLITIČNA VAJA« Trojno življenje Antigone Slavoja Žižka v izvedbi Anton Podbevšek Teatra se sprašuje, kaj bi se zgodilo, če bi lahko spremenili tok zgodovine. Kaj se zgodi, če sprememimo razplet antične tragedije o Antigoni, zgodbo sestre, ki bi rada spodobno pokopala brata, čeprav se je ta boril na napačni strani? Režiser Matjaž Berger je zasnoval tekočo, igralsko prepričljivo in pregledno postavitev, ki se loteva vedno aktualnih vprašanj o spravi, revanšizmu, vzvodih diktatur in porajanju fašizma.

ALL THE LISTED WORKS were staged for the first time. The festival audience might find particularly interesting the stagings of the texts that have won awards at the Week of Slovenian Drama and were produced on the Small Stage of the SNT Drama Ljubljana.

THE FIRST, a comedy about dictatorships and totalitarianisms, People's Democratic Circus Sakeshvili (Slavko Grum Award 2016) was written by Rok Vilčnik rokgre and directed by Luka Martin Škof. It's distinguished by the performers' lively acting and an effervescent directorial approach.

THE SECOND WORK, Postcards or Fear is Hollow Inside and Empty Outside (Slavko Grum Award 2017) is marked by searching of new dramatic writing and a female approach or theme: Simona Hamer searched for the inspiration for the play in individual women who crossed and expanded the borders of the known and possible, director Ajda Valcl decided on an all-female cast.

THE "ETHICAL AND POLITICAL exercise" The Triple Life of Antigone by Slavoj Žižek, performed by Anton Podbevšek Teater asks what would happen if we could turn the tide of history. What happens if we change the denouement of the classical tragedy about Antigone, the sister who wants to bury her brother, even though he fought on the wrong side? Director Matjaž Berger conceived a clear and fluid performance with convincing actors, dealing with perennial questions about reconciliation, revanchism, the levers of dictatorships and the emergence of fascism.

4 »ZVOČNA IGRA o materinskem mitu« Idealna Pie Brezavšček, Barbare Krajnc Avdić in Saške Rakef je nastala v produkciji ŠKUC gledališča in bila premierno uprizorjena v okviru festivala Mesto žensk. Uprioritev razkrinkava stereotip materinstva kot edine prave in dokončne izpolnitve ženske ter relativizira lik vedno požrtvovalne in predane mame. V dobi ponovnega vzpona konservativizma, predsedniških kandidatk in strank, ki ženske znova postavljamjo za štedilnik in omejujejo njihovo pravico do razpolaganja z lastnim telesom, gre za temo, ki si zasluži pozornost.

5 Slovenska popevka, gledališki koncert po besedilih Gregorja Strniše, ki ga je Matjaž Pograjc zasnoval v Slovenskem mladinskem gledališču (v koprodukciji s Centrom za usposabljanje, delo in varstvo Dolfke Boštjančič, Draga), je projekt vključevanja, spoznavanja in spoštovanja drugačnosti, tako za nastopajoče kot za občinstvo. Predstava, ki se nas dotakne.

6 KOT SELEKTORICA se nisem mogla upreti nagibu, da bi v program – izjemoma – vključila postavitev, ki je namenjena predvsem otroškemu občinstvu. Nekje drugje Zale Dobovšek, Nine Šorak, Tina Grabnarja in Asje Kahrimanović Babnik v režiji Tina Grabnarja in izvedbi Lutkovnega gledališča Ljubljana je družbeno angažirana uprioritev, ki nas z izostreno občutljivostjo in človeško toplino popelje v otroško razumevanje vojne in begunstva. Predstava, ki bi si jo s svojimi otroki morali ogledati tudi starši.

“A SOUND PLAY about the maternal myth” Ideal (M)other by Pia Brezavšček, Barbara Kranjc Avdić and Saška Rakef was produced by ŠKUC Theatre and premiered at the City of Women Festival. The performance exposes the stereotype of motherhood as the only real and final fulfilment for a woman and relativises the character of the self-sacrificing and devoted mother. In this time of the renewed rise of conservatism, presidential candidates and political parties that are forcing women back to the stove and limiting their rights to autonomy over their own bodies, this is a topic that deserves attention and a theatre incarnation.

A THEATRE CONCERT based on the song lyrics by Gregor Strniša, Matjaž Pograjc conceived Slovenian Songs at the Mladinsko Theatre (in co-production with the cduv Dolfke Boštjančič Draga – Care Center Draga) is a project of inclusion, learning about and respecting difference, both for the performers and the audience. A performance that touches us.

AS A SELECTOR I couldn't resist the impulse to include on the programme – as an exception – a performance aimed primarily for children. Somewhere Else by Zala Dobovšek, Nina Šorak, Tin Grabnar and Asja Kahrimanović Babnik, directed by Tin Grabnar and performed by Ljubljana Puppet Theatre is a socially engaged performance that transports us, with its acute sensitiveness and human warmth, to a child's understanding of war, refugees and exile. A performance that parents should watch along with their children.

Hlapci so eno tistih kanonskih besedil, ki nenehno izzivajo, zastavljajo temeljna vprašanja in zahtevajo poglobljen razmislek. Cankar jih je pisal leta 1909, jih zasnova kot politično satiro, a se je ta v trejem dejanju sprevrgla v »tragiko«, kot je to sam označil. Čeprav ne gre za tragedijo po klasičnih merilih, pa je boleča usoda junaka učitelja Jermana, pokončnega in moralnega intelektualca, ki se mora umakniti političnemu pragmatizmu, koristoljubnemu sprenevedanju, zlorabam in manipulacijam, postavila model delovanja političnih mehanizmov, ki se pri nas v 110 letih od nastanka igre ni bistveno spremenil.

Vse do danes je ta drama s

pomenljivim nastavom paradigmatično besedilo, s katerim označujemo politične

The Serfs is considered one of those canonical texts that continue to provoke, raise essential questions and require a constant in-depth reflection. Working on his new play in 1909, Cankar was initially determined to write a political satire. In the third act, however, his satirical play suddenly turned into "a tragedy", as he himself described it. However, the play is ultimately not a tragedy according to classic criteria, despite the tormenting struggle of the main protagonist, the progressive school teacher Jerman, an intellectual of high moral standards forced to yield in the face of political pragmatism, self-centred pretension, abuses of power and manipulations. Nonetheless,

The Serfs has established a long-lasting model of political mechanisms, which have not changed much since the play was first written 110 years ago.

With its pointed title, The Serfs has remained a paradigmatic text repeatedly used to describe the Slovenian political situation and a collective attitude towards the authorities. Frequently analysed and quoted, its selected passages have acquired various meanings, ranging from a devastating critique of the Slovenian national character to the slogans of emancipation and patriotism.

Several characters from The Serfs have become synonyms for people of principle, decency and high moral standards, or, conversely, for the absence thereof and laxity. Cankar's unforgiving diagnosis of the nation continues to provoke, which makes each new staging of The Serfs a singular response to the play.

Dramsko besedilo Pod snegom v trikotniku med hčerjo, njenim ljubimcem in materijo obravnava medčloveške odnose in psihološke serce vsakega posameznika. Gre za intimno zgodbo, polno strasti in ljubezni, ki človeka doleti, ne da bi se sam odločil zarjo. Dialogi v drami pa so napisani v privzdignjeni verzni obliki.

Za dramatiko Saše Pavček so značilni motivi stigem, obremenjenosti s tujiči, preuščstva, odsotnosti enega od staršev. Ti motivi kažejo na pomembno vlogo družine v njenih dramah, moški liki imajo željo po tem, da bi bili povsod prvi, ženski pa po priznanju svojega dela. Njen jezik je vse kaj drugega kot običajen, včasih močno zvrstno in narečno zaznamovan, včasih privzdignjeno poetičen. Konci so povsod vsaj delno odprtih.

Predstava se osredotoča na metaforičnost in ne na naturalizem. S kontrasti v scenografiji kaže na razliko med notranjim in zunanjim svetom likov, skozi telo, ples pa izraža intimne občutke krivde in sramu, ki jih pozna vsak izmed nas in so pomemljivo obogateni z zvokom, ki predstavlja enega od ključnih elementov predstave pri pouddarjanju notranjih stanj.

Predstava je intimen, gibalno in glasbeno podkrepjen, metaforičen prikaz človeških notranjih občutkov – tiste senčne strani, ki jo ljudje ponavadi skrivamo.

The play Under the Snow uses a triangle between a daughter, her lover and her mother to tackle human relationships and the psychological shadows of every individual. It's an intimate story, full of passion and love that a person finds when they are not even looking for it.

Dialogues in the play are written in an elevated, verse form. Saša Pavček's playwriting is characterised by the motifs of stigmas, burying ourselves with strangers, adultery, the absence of a parent. These motifs show the important role of the family in Pavček's dramas; the male characters desire to be first in everything, and the female ones to have their work acknowledged. Her language is all but ordinary: at times, it carries a clear stylistic or dialectal mark; at times, it's elevated poetry. Her endings are at least partly open.

The performance focuses on the metaphorical, not naturalism. Through the contrasts in stage design, it indicates the difference between the inner and outer world of the characters; through the body, dance is used to express the intimate feelings of guilt and shame familiar to us all; and sound is used to enhance them, thus becoming one of the key elements of the performance's emphasis on inner states. The performance is an intimate, metaphorical presentation of inner human emotions, supported by movement and music – a presentation of that shadowy side people usually hide.

Kaj se je zgodilo od Majakovskega do danes? Kako se je posameznik, navadni stehernik, malo človek znašel in živel v velikih sistemih preteklosti in kako ga je vrtinec zgodovine peljal naprej, dokler ga ni izpljunil na obalah naše sodobnosti?

Aktualizacija Majakovskega narekuje improvizacije, pisanje novih monologov, prizorov, izmišljjanje situacij in iskanje poti v besedilo kolektiva. Prvi del predstave je umeščen v čas po drugi svetovni vojni, v čas skupne Jugoslavije in graditve socializma. Ta ni omejen na eno samo točko, oziroma na ozko povojno obdobje, ampak se razteza vse do razpada konec osemdesetih. Časovni preskok za 50 let in znajdemo se v sodobnosti oziroma bližnji prihodnosti.

Toda za sobivanje v družbi je vedno ključen odnos med posameznikom in kolektivom. Kako je bilo s posameznikom in svobodo pred 50-imi leti? In danes? Tako v socialismu kot kapitalizmu je posameznikova svoboda omejena. Kaj je včasih povezovalo kolektiv in kaj danes? Skupne ideje in solidarnost ali visljiva ideologija, ubogljivost in strah pred avtoritetami? V sodobnem potrošniškem kapitalizmu je na pohodu ekstremni individualizem, a je posameznik izjemno omejen, podvržen ekonomiji prostega trga, včasih se zdi izgubljen. Povezujejo nas potrošniške navade, pop kultura ter ob vzponu ksenofobije in desnih politikov tudi strah pred sovražnikom, pred tujim in drugačnim.

What has happened from the time of Mayakovsky till today? How has the individual, the ordinary everyman, the little man, made out for himself and lived in the great systems of the past and how has the whirl of history driven him forward until spitting him out on the shores of our contemporaneity?

The first part of the performance is set in the time after World War II, in the time of Yugoslavia and the construction of socialism. This period is not limited to merely a single point in time, or to the narrow post-war period, but rather extends until the disintegration of the country at the end of the 1980s. A 50-year time-leap, and we find ourselves in the present or near future. But for the coexistence in the society, the relationship between the individual and the collective is always crucial. What was the relationship between the individual and freedom fifty years ago? And today? Both in socialism and capitalism, the individual's freedom is limited. What united the collective once upon a time, and what unites us today? Common ideas and solidarity, or the intrusive ideology, obedience and fear of authorities? In the contemporary consumerist capitalism, extreme individualism is on the roll, but the individual is extremely limited, subdued to the free-market economy, sometimes even lost. We are united by consumerist habits, pop culture and, in the rising xenophobia and right-wing politicians, also by fear of the enemy, the foreign and the different.

Let's make some fun of human foibles and societal dystopia. At the same time, let's question the values, and search for utopia and connection.

Jovanovićeva »celovečerna enodejanka«, prvič uprizorjena v Drami leta 1989, je nenavadno, silovito besedilo na meji več žanrov, ki gledalca dobesedno p osika v svet svojih skrivnosti.

Dogajanje je postavljeno v dnevno sobo, ki staja zakonca. Rudi in Lidija že davno pregradila z zidom, zdaj pa vsak svojemu obiskovalcu pripovedujejo o dramatičnih dogodkih izpred štirinajstih let, ki so usodno zarezali v njuno življenje in ga za vselej spremenili. Pred štirinajstimi leti je namreč zgorela sosednja vila, v kateri je s svojo družino živel boemski slikar s precej nekonvencionalnim pojmovanjem svobodne ljubezni in odpriega zakona. Požar je povezan z zločinom, celo umorom otrok, dogodki niso bili nikoli povsem pojasnjeni. Zakonca, ki sta bila samo pasivni priči dramatičnemu doga- janju v soseščini, pa sta se zapletla v vrtinec strasti, ljubosumja, zamer in novih spoznanih, ki je oba pripeljal v svojevrstno norost. Jovanović v svoji psychodrami tako kombinira konverzacijsko igro z elementi napete kriminalke in erotične melodrame. Rudi in Lidija po svoje interpretaciji pretekle dogodke, »različnost« njunih pogledov pogosto učinkuje naravnost komično. Gledalci namreč spremljamo paralelno pripoved skozi dvojino optiko. V zabavnih razkorakih prepoznavamo tipiko nekega k hajočega se razmerja, a gre pri Jovanoviću za usodenje stvari; za ljubezen, seksualnost, norost, obsesije in ne nazadnje za postopno ugašanje strasti, s katerim počasi ugasja tudi življenje.

The play is set in a living room, partitioned by a wall that Rudi and Lidija, a married couple, erected a long time ago. When people come to visit them separately, they both tell their own story of the dramatic and fateful events that occurred four-teen years ago and irrevocably changed their lives forever. It was fourteen years ago when the next door villa, inhabited by a bohemian painter and his family, sporting a rather unconventional idea of free love and open marriage, burnt down. The events of the inauspicious night have never been fully explained, so the fire has been associated with crime, even infanticide, ever since. The couple, who were just passive witnesses to the dramatic events in the neighbourhood, ended up in a maelstrom of passion, jealousy, resentment and new discoveries that brought upon them a peculiar sort of madness. In his psycho-drama, Jovanović skilfully combines a conversational play with the elements of a nail-biting thriller and sensual melodrama. Rudi and Lidija interpret the events of the past "differently", which gives rise to the absurdity of their dissimilar views, while the audience follows their conflicting, and yet parallel, narratives from a dual point-of-view. One can easily detect the typical features of a disintegrating relationship in the couple's amusing discrepancies. Jovanović, however, is after more significant issues: love, sexuality, madness, obsession and, last but not least, the gradual fading of passion, marking the inevitable passing of life.

Človek, ki je gledal svet je avtorski projekt, ki za osnovo jemlje občutek, da konec sveta ni samo apokalipsa, ki tam nekje čaka, da se bo zgodila, ampak je vseprisoten v mikrokosmosih ljudi, družin, posameznikov brez glasu in mesta v svetu, ki se premika tako hitro, da praktično že miruje. Občutek, da se pelješ po dolgi dolgi cesti z avtomobilom, ki mu zmanjkuje goriva, avto vozi, goriva ni, cilja ni, postajališča ni. Avto pa kar pelje in pelje. Še malo potrpinjo pa bo bolje. Še malo, še malo pa bo bolje. Pa je apoka- lipsa resnično stvar prihodnosti?

»Ko človek počasi umira in je pred tem dolgo bolan, je najbolj grozno to, da je vsak dan čisto malo slabše, tako malo, da tega niti ne opaziš. Morda celo pomisiš, da mu gre na bolje. Nato se spomniš: pred tednom je lahko sam vstal, zdaj pa se lahko samo še obrne. Potem na to pozabiš in čez čas z grozo presečen opaziš, da se niti obrniti ne more več, da s težavo dvigne glavo. Takrat prvič sprevidiš neizbezno. Enako je s koncem sveta.«

The Man Who Watched the World is an a creative collaboration project rooted in the feeling that the end of the world is not merely an apocalypse waiting somewhere out there to happen, but an omnipresence in the microcosms of people, families, individuals without a voice and a place in this world which is moving so fast that it's actually standing still. The feeling that you're driving along a long long road in a car which is running out of petrol, the car is driving, there is no fuel, there is no end, there is nowhere to stop. And the car keeps going. Let's endure a little longer and it will get better. A little longer, just a little longer and it'll be better. Is the apocalypse truly a thing of the future?

"When a man is dying slowly and has been ill for a long time, the most horrible thing is that it gets worse just a little bit every day ... so little that you don't even notice. Perhaps you even think that it's getting better. Then you remember: a week ago he could get out of bed by himself, now he can only turn. Then you forget about it and in a while you notice, horrified, that he can't even turn anymore, that he lifts his head with difficulty. Then for the first time you realise that it's inevitable. With the end of the world it's the same."

Ljudožerci so verza drama enega najbolj samosvojih in izpovedno najmočnejših slovenskih pesnikov in dramatikov Gregorja Strniše (1930–1987). Sredi vojne vihre si revna družina, ki je na begu zaradi kanibalizma, poišče skrivališče in bivališče v zapuščeni kapeli. V božjem hramu jih sprejme duh nekdanjega prijatelja, ki beguncem odstopi samostansko kapelo »za mirendom, spokojno spanje« z željo, da ne hodijo v kripto in da pustijo mrtvim njihov mir.

A oče Pajot, mesar, ritual bogoslužja blasfemično zamenja za ritual služenja lačnim želodcem oz. egoističnemu služenju sebi. V priročno skriti kripti si uredi delavnico in tukaj z izgovorom, da je pač treba preživeti, pobija, kolje, razkosava, melje, prodaja in kupčuje s človeškim mesom. Dva groteskno-komična klovna, skoraj gluhui Pajot in njegov pojdaš, napol slepi kuhan Falac, se ujameta v peklenksi mehanizem ubijanja, ki jih s porogljivo kanibalsko logiko omogoča preživetje. Ples ironizirane ljuderske klovname, kjer plesalce za roke (in za vrat) držijo potrebe polnih trebuhor, izdaj, lazi, mesenega poželenja in grabežljivosti, konča Smrt s svojim rekvirom: »Kar ste gledali, bi lahko bilo. / Morda je bilo. / A eno drži kot kamenkost: / na mojo ples boste vsi prišli nekoč.«

Cannibals is a verse drama by one of the most individual and expressively strong Slovenian poets and playwrights, Gregor Strniša (1930–1987). In the midst of the winds of war, a poor family, on the run for cannibalism, finds a hiding place and a place to live in an abandoned chapel. In the house of God, the ghost of a former Prior receives the refugees and lets them use the monastery chapel “as a peaceful home, for a restful sleep”, with the wish that they don’t go down to the crypt and let the dead have their peace. But Pajot, the father, who is a butcher, blasphemically replaces the ritual of serving God with the ritual of serving hungry stomachs, in other words, the egotistical serving to oneself. In the handily hidden crypt he sets up his workshop and with the excuse that one must survive, kills, slaughters, dismembers, grinds, sells and trades human flesh. Two grotesque-comical clowns, the almost deaf Pajot and his crony, the half-blind cook Falac, are caught in the hellish mechanism of killing, whose scornful cannibalistic logic enables them to survive. A dance of this ironised cannibalistic clown show, in which the dancers’ hands (and necks) are grasped by the needs of full bellies, betrayals, lies, carnal desires and greed, is ended by Death with its requiem: “What you saw, could have been./Perhaps it was./Only one this is sure to be seen;/one day you’ll come to my ball, I’ll be your host.”

Postcards is a journey. Literally and metaphorically speaking. A lively carousel of adventures and insights observed during a life-long wandering of a woman - Everywoman.

In the centre of the text is the question of finding an alternative to today's mad rush through life in which most people take mechanically the same route between their home and a workplace, with occasional Sunday trips to a nearby hill. The average Westerner suffocates under the weight of shopping shelves, and laments the tininess of his wallet. Totally stressed-out because of his to-do-list, he deletes those lists that begin by I would like to. He looks over his neighbour's fence with a growing fear and anxiety. With weapons in hand; just in case. The search for other, untrdden paths that are not littered by the debris of our civilization seems almost a necessity and exoticism. Those few who walk these paths are admired and also despised. In Postcards, exploration and articulation of the world through a woman's perspective comes to life in fragmentary drama-turgy, in literary and genre maneuvering manner, and in correspondence with the story-telling tradition. Each station represents a new challenge, and each junction brings a new decision: which path to choose?

Sami ste
Kolikokrat ste si rekli, kako dobro bi bilo, če bi lahko zavrteli čas nazaj – in spremenili tok dogodkov po tem, ko enkrat že vemo, kako so se prvič iztekl? In kolikokrat vas je imelo, da bi tega ne storili z lastnim življenjem, temveč z usodo katerrega od literarnih ali filmskih junakov? Slavoj Žižek se ni prav nič obotavljal – in je to storil s paradigmatičnim likom antične tragedije, s Sofoklejevo Antigono. Nezadovoljen z njeno vnaprejšnjo mitologizacijo lastne geste pokopa bratovega tripla je kar dvakrat obrnil potek dogodkov – in prisel do dveh poskusov spremembe družbenega reda v 20. stoletju: fašistične vladavine razmnožice in komunistične vladavine razredne avantgarde.

Žalostna zgodba Antigone pa nas uči, da tudi če se čudežno povrnemo v času, da bi preobrnili potek dogodkov, ki so privedli do tega razdobja, bi novi iztek utegnil po grozi in obupu še prekosi starega.
Ko se boste odločali, ali je težje biti antigonski disidentski upornik ali kreonski režimski vladar, boste kaj hitro ostali usodno sami. Če pa boste dobro prisluhnili zboru, boste morda zaslutili skupnost, ki jo veže vez, močnejša od usode. In potem, ko se pogasio luči in glasovi potihnejo, kadar smo sami in se nič ne godi, nas nenadoma zadene življena mrmanje.

You are Alone
 How many times have you said to yourself how good it would be if you could turn back time – and change the course of events after you find out how things turned out the first time? And how many times did you wish you could do that, not with your own life, but with the fate of one of the literary or film characters? Slavoj Žižek did not hesitate for a moment when he did the very thing with Antigone, the paradigmatic character from the eponymous tragedy written by Sophocles. Dissatisfied with her ex-ante mythologization of her own gesture of burying her brother's body, Žižek turned the course of events around twice – and arrived at two attempts to change the social order in the 20th century: the fascist rule of the masses and the communist rule of the high class avant-garde.

That even if we could miraculously go back in time in order to turn around the course of events which have led to this mayhem, the new turn of events might actually surpass the old one in dismay and despair.

When you are deciding whether it's harder to be an Antigone-like dissenting rebel or a Creon-like regime ruler, you will quickly find yourself fatefully alone. But if you listen carefully to the Chorus, you may intuit a community that is bound by a bond stronger than fate. And then, when the lights go down and the voices fade away, when we are all alone and nothing is happening, we are suddenly hit by the murmurs of life.

Imaginarij antične Grčije, ki je voisan v nezavedno zahodne kulture, priča, da je ženska nevarna bodisi zaradi svoje privlačnosti ali grozljive moči. Je utelješenje drugosti in lahko postane del kulture le kot žena moškega. In mati. Angel domačegaognjišča. Veze in prede in plete in kvačka. In čaka. Njega, ki je premagal Kirkó in Kalipso, nečistost in smrt, noč in onkraj.

Transformacija iz dekleta v mater je iniciacijski obred, s katerim ne le v tradicionalnih družbah, ampak tudi nавidezno najbolj liberalnih, ženska še vedno najbolj gotovo potriuje svoj spol, svojo usodo in se v njem za družbo zares udejanji. Pristem Simone de Beauvoir izpostavlja dva splošno sprejeta predsdokta: »Prvi /je/, da je materinstvo že samo po sebi dovolj, da žensko izpolni: to nikakor ni res. /.../

Drugi, ki je neposredno zajet v prvem, je prepričanje, da otrok v materinem naročaju zagotovo najde srečo.« Nežna, čuteča, prijažna in mila. Dana za srečo in na veselje. Najčistejša cvetka raja. Ta idealna slika materinstva, ki jo prežema mitologija lepotе in mlinе, dominira in nadpisuje pogosto vse kaj drugačno realnost materijenja. Pri tem je zanimivo, da o težaškem skrbstvenem delu in ne vedno samo lepih občutkih ob pogosto izoliranim duženju s svojimi »pikicami« in »sončki« molčajo in jih zanikajo celo tioste, ki so vse to izkusile na lastnih plečih. Pri tem se ponuja vprašanje: Zakaj je materinstvo eden najtrdovratnejših mitov, povezanih z žensko?

The imaginarium of ancient Greece, inscribed into the unconscious of the Western culture, testifies that a woman is dangerous, be it for the attractiveness or her horrifying power. She is the embodiment of otherness and can become a part of the culture only as the wife of a man. And as a mother. An angel of the hearth. Embroiders and weaves, knits and crochets. And waits. Waits for him who defeated Circe and Calypso, the impurity and death, night and beyond. A transformation from a girl into a mother is an initiation ritual with which a woman – not only in the traditional societies, but also in the seemingly more liberal ones – still most certainly verifies her gender and her fate, and truly realises herself through the eyes of the society. With this, Simone de Beauvoir emphasises two commonly accepted prejudices: “The first [is] that motherhood in itself is enough to fulfil a woman: that is certainly not true. [...] the second, implied in the first, is the conviction that the child will certainly find happiness in her mother’s arms.” Gentle, emotional, kind and mild. Given for happiness and joy. The purest blossom in paradise. This ideal image of motherhood, imbued with the mythology of beauty and grace, dominates and overwrites the often very different reality of mothering. What is interesting in this is that even those who have experienced the brunt of it all keep silent about the hard parts of care-giving and the not-always pretty emotions regarding this often isolated hanging out with their “poppets” and “sunshines”. The question poses itself: Why is motherhood one of the most stubborn myths connected to women?

“Who are we, after all?”

The winner of the Grum Award 2016 for the best new Slovenian play, People's Democratic Circus Sakeshvili, is set in a tiny totalitarian state in which everything is restricted and regulated. A voucher is required even for masturbation, suicide or happiness. Equality is pushed to the extreme; the sexes are no longer existent, while love is one and only, that is, a love for the “life-long” president, called Sakeshvili (also the name of every other person in the country). However, the author is more interested in tackling the theme of the victims of a dictatorship, that is, the citizens who not only perform in a circus, but also live in it. It is a circus in which the performance and the audience are not separated. The people have lost their identity a long time ago, and when the news of the president's death spreads, no one can remember who or what they used to be. What is more, they are unable to become something else and start living a new life. Freedom is too daunting; it brings along risks with which they are no longer able to cope. People's Democratic Circus Sakeshvili presents a series of absurdly comic situations dealing with the topic of constant “brainwashing” which destroys one's personality, dignity and everything else that defines one as human.

Ne strečamo se pogosto z njim. A nekje med plastmi naše družbe je življenje, zelo drugačno od našega. Vesolje znotraj vesolja, iznikajoče se našemu razumevanju. Nismo ga vajeni videvati vsak dan. Tako kot smo vajeni popolnosti podobe. Z vseh strani javnega življenja nas povsem zapreda v svojo mrežo pričavnosti. S televizijskih ekranov, iz oglasov in osebnih profilov na družbenih omrežjih. Pri popevkah spektakel dosega vrhunce. Predvidene linije pogleda, premikov, barv. Prekrite pege, zlikane gube. Neobstoječe – vse tisto, česar nočemo videti. Ali se delamo, da ne obstaja. Ali tisto, čemur ne poznamo smisla. Samo to. Morda gre le za to.

Kaj pa se zgodi, če tisto samo-svoje vesolje stopi pred televizijski ekran?

We don't meet it often. But somewhere between the layers of our society, there is Life, very different from our own. A universe within universe, eschewing our understanding. We're not used to seeing it every day. Just like we're used to the perfection of the image. From all sides of public life, it enwraps us into its net of attraction. From television screens, adverts and personal profiles on social media. With pop songs, the spectacle reaches its peak. The expected lines of vision, movements, colours. Covered freckles, ironed creases. The non-existent – all that we don't want to see. Or pretend it doesn't exist. Or we don't see the point of. Only that. Perhaps this is all that it's about.

V novem besedilu Nede R. Bric se prepleta dva svetova, slovenski in bošnjaški; labirint zgodb iz obeh dežel, ki iščejo stičišča in razlike, na koncu pa se vedno zveje na isti imenovalec: človeška intima, ki je enaka na vseh koncih sveta. Besedilo je nastalo na povabilo Narodnega gledališča Tuzla (Bosna in Hercegovina) dramatičarki in režiserki, ki se v svojih delih obrača v zgodovino, raziskuje in odkriva zgodbe in ljudi iz preteklosti, da lahko išče primerjave in antipode v sedanjosti in tako sooča intimne zgodbe različnih posameznikov iz različnih časovnih obdobjij.

Kako so se dogodki polpretekle zgodovine odražali v življenju ljudi v obeh deželah: strahotna bratomorna vojna, ki se je najhuje razbesnela prav nad bosanskim ozemljem in narodnostno mešanim

The new text by Neda R. Bric intertwines two worlds, Slovenian and Bosnian, in a maze of stories from both countries.

Stories that are searching for junctures and differences and in the end, always come down to a common denominator: human intimacy, which is the same everywhere in the world. The play was written when the National Theatre Tuzla (Bosnia and Herzegovina) issued an invitation to Neda R. Bric, an actor and director who turns to history in her work, researches and discovers stories and people from the past, so she can look for comparisons and antipodes in the present.

How have the events of the recent history been mirrored in the lives of people in both countries: a horrible war that pitted brother against brother and created the worst maelstrom over the territory of Bosnia and its nationally mixed population, and the problems created by the succession to the Yugoslav property – but above all, the “erased” legal affair that targeted people who did not have Slovenian roots and which – in its extensiveness and cruelty – reminds of events of some other dark times, some other wars. The title of the play is written and understood the same in both Slovenian and Bosnian. It evokes the meaning of the name of Tuzla, as “tuz” means “salt” in Turkish, while at the same time, reminds us of the well-known adage cum grano salis – meaning that we should keep a distance to everything, look at things from afar, so we can see what is close. And salt is an ancient, eternal substance without which life on earth would not possible.

Njegova obsedenost s filmom Casablanca, ki ga hoče (znova in znova) gledati od začetka do konca, izhaja iz občutka, bolje rečeno zavesti, da mesto Casablanca v filmu spominja na njegov akvarij, v katerem kot počasi gnijoča riba nima ničesar, kar bi lahko zamenjal za prepuštnico za dostop do odprtega morja.

Konrad, a master of verbal aggression and a former opportunist with autocratic leanings that were not to his benefit, finds himself in this new world of market mentality without reliable political support. He retreats to exile in his own house in which he appears to want to be alone and undisturbed, but in fact leaves the front door unlocked because he needs company and hopes that something will pull him back into the centre of events. His obsession with the movie Casablanca, which he wants to watch (over and over) from beginning to end, originates in the feeling, or better, the awareness that in the movie the city of Casablanca resembles his aquarium, in which, like fish slowly rotting, he has nothing he could exchange for a pass that would give him access to the open sea. The feeling that he is still controlling things eludes him only with the arrival of a former school friend who comes to tell Konrad that he is the father of the man's grandson and that said grandson would like to meet his father for his birthday. The child's sincerity and the promise of pure innocence seduce him into hoping he can leave Casablanca after all. The message of the drama is thus positive: a genuine life is possible.

This is an exceptionally scintillating and witty text that continuously plays with the reader's/spectator's reception and subverts the situation created by four characters whose identity constantly changes. But the whole is not simply a farce built upon slapstick situational comedy, but a lucid presentation of the society and its authoritative relationships. The very beginning reminds us of our contemporary history with the recently departed dictator or with the many examples from the territory of the former Soviet Union, North Korea and similar. This earnestness and unity of the society, composed entirely of the colourless Sakeshvili's, continues to burst at the seams... The Haoci (Enajsti planet) je gledališka metafora, ki na kar najzanimivejši način razkriva absurdnost in krizo življenja v svetu brez sanj in želja. Tako trije protagonisti, v tem primeru trije večni potepuhi iz katerega kolik mesta ali katere kolik države, nočejo živeti v vsakdanjem svetu in si želijo poleteti na izmišljeni enajsti planet, kjer bodo lahko izpolnili svojo skupno željo – živeti idealno življenje. Da bi se nji hove sanje uresničile, se lotijo izumlanja vesoljske ladje, ki jih bo ponesla v tisti tuji svet. Gre za zavestno utopijo, katere preživetvena sredstva pa vseeno delujejo, zato je resnična.

Najbolj edinstven vidik te igre je, da postavlja eksistenčna vprašanja v obliki duhovitih dialogov, na pol farsičnih odnosov in situacijske komike, kar zahteva najvišje mojstrstvo igralskih sposobnosti.

Predstava Haoci – po motivih drame Enajsti planet Evalda Flisarja, ki jo je prevedel in za indijsko okolje pridelil Ratan Kumar Das, režiral pa Goutam Halder, je bila leta 2016 med predstavami 250 indijskih gledaliških skupin izbrana za uprizoritev na nacionalnem festivalu 11. Mahindra Excellence in Theatre Awards, kjer so njeni ustvarjalci prejeli štiri glavne nagrade – za najboljšega režisera, najboljšo igralko v stranski vlogi, najboljšega igralca v stranski vlogi in najboljšega scenografa.

To je predstava o razmerju moškega in ženske. Kaj pomeni biti moški? Kaj pomeni biti ženska? Kaj pomeni odnos med njima? Kaj mora biti? Mislimo, da o tem veliko vemo. Očitno je, da se jen in jang skladata in dopolnjujeta, kar mora voditi v harmonijo. A vsakič, ko pride do neskladja, ljudje ne pomislijo, zakaj je prišlo do tega, in živijo kakor po navadi, mehansko. Njihova življenja se pomini po tirih, ki so jih zgradili dan prej.

Prenehali so premišljevati o raznolikosti svojih poti. Ne razumejo, da jih bodo pripeljale v slepo ulico ... Prej ali sledje se poti razcepijo v različne smeri. In kadar imamo tako življenje, smo prepričani, da mora obstajati še ena cesta, »vzporedni svet«, v katerem ljubimo isto osebo, če

This performance is about the relationship between a man and a woman. What does it mean to be a man? What does it mean to be a woman? What does the relationship between them mean? What must it be? We think we know a lot about it. Obviously Yin and Yang must go well together and supplement each other in order to lead to harmony. But each time disharmony arises, people never begin to think why and they go on living mechanically, out of habit. Their lives move along the track they built the day before. They stopped thinking about the possibilities of this track. They can't understand that this track will lead them to a dead end ... Sooner or later the tracks diverge in different directions. And when we have such a life we are sure that there absolutely is another road, a "parallel world" where we have the same person we love, the only one that meets our requirements. And that's it. And then we finally find such a person and we change the track and everything must be ideal But again ... again.... delusion, and the situation repeats itself.

Nekje drugje je predstava, ki odpira temo, o kateri težko spregovorimo. Govori o deklici, ki se znajde v osrčju vojne. Skozi njene oči spremjam spreminjajoče se mesto, polno grozot, nasilja, strahu, atudi – upanja. Mesto preletavajo grozeča letala, ulice so izpraznjene, hrane na policah v trgovini ni več. Šola je zaprta. In vsake toliko se čisto blizu zasišjo strelji. Njeno okolje se je postopoma spremenilo. Postalo je nevzdžno. Deklica želi oditi v deželo, kjer bi ji lahko bilo lepše. Oditi želi nekam drugam, daleč stran od vojnih grozot. »Zjutraj sem se zbudila, si kot po navadi umila zobe, pojedla zajtrk in odšla v solo. Vse je bilo kot običajno. In še včeraj sem se na dvorišču igrala s prijateljicami. Zdaj je vse drugače. Na dvorišče ne simem več. Prenevorno je. In ko se zas-liši grmenje, moram z mami steči v klet. Tudi svojih prijateljev ne vidim več. In šole je konec. Zaprti so jo.«

Nekje drugje je pretresljiva zgoda o nesmiselnosti vojnih grozot dejstev. Kakšen je svet vojnih grozot, če ga gledamo skozi otroške oči? Šele v tej perspektivi lahko do konca dojamemo nesmiselnost vojne. Ker je takšna tema kočljiva in boleča, velikokrat ostane zamolčana. Vendar je o njej nujno sprogovoriti prav najmlajšim.

Somewhere Else is a performance that opens a topic about which we have difficulty talking. It talks about a little girl who finds herself in the midst of a war. Through her eyes, we follow the changing city, full of horror, violence and fear, but also – hope. Menacing planes fly over the city, the streets are empty and the shops have run out of food. Schools are closed. And every now and then, shots ring out really close. Her environment has gradually changed. It has become unbearable. The girl wants to go to a country where her life could be better. She wants to go somewhere else, far away from the horrors of war. Somewhere Else is a touching story about the senselessness of the horrors of war. What is the world of these horrors when we see it through the eyes of a child? Only through this perspective, can we fully grasp the pointlessness of war. Because such a topic is sensitive and painful, it often remains unsaid. But it is necessary to talk about it with the youngest ones.

14. delavnica dramskega pisanja Mentor Mateusz Atman

ORGANIZIRA

Kranj, v sodelovanju z JSKD
in KUD Krik

Že štirinajsta delavnica dramskega pisanja bo potekala pod vodstvom sodobnega poljskega dramatika Mateusza Atmana. Izhaja iz najmlajše generacije poljskih gledaliških ustvarjalcev, ki suvereno prehaja med različnimi ustvarjalnimi oblikami in pozicijami.

Prav vzpostavljanje in spreminjanje hierarhij v ustvarjalnem procesu je ena od tem delavnice. Dramsko besedilo je po mnenju mentorja Mateusza Atmana »pred-besedilo«, saj se dokončno oblikuje šele v gledališkem ustvarjalnem procesu. Med vsebinskimi izhodišči delavnice dramskega pisanja bo tako preizkušanje različnih hierarhičnih modelov avtorstva – pozicija pisca, režiserja, igralca ali kolektiva kot avtorja predstave, vzpostavljanje kolektivne komunikacije kot ključnega elementa gledališkega procesa ter spodbujanje fleksibilnosti vseh ustvarjalcev v procesu. »Ko se pisec odloči delati na odrnu, postane proces vaj podoben eksperimentu ali potovanju – nikoli ne veš, kje se bo končalo,« meni Mateusz Atman.

O mentorju

Mateusz Atman, rojen 1985 na Poljskem, deluje na področju kulture. Kot ustvarjalec uporablja različne medije in izrazna sredstva s področja uprizoritvenih umetnosti. Dela kot režiser, scenograf, avtor videov, pa tudi kot dramaturg, avtor scenarijev in besedil za gledališke in koreografske predstave, koncerte ter umetnosti na preseku instalacije in performansa. Sodeloval je z režiserji, kot so Wiktor Rubin, Weronika Szczawińska in Oliver Frljić. Redno sodeluje z Agnieszko Jakimiak, poljsko dramatičarko, dramaturginjo in režiserko.

14th Playwriting Workshop Mentor Mateusz Atman

ORGANISED BY

Prešeren Theatre Kranj, in cooperation with JSKD and KUD Krik

The 14th Playwriting Workshop will take place under the mentorship of the contemporary Polish playwright Mateusz Atman. He's a member of the youngest generation of Polish theatre artists who moves confidently between different creative forms and positions.

Indeed, establishing and changing hierarchies in the creative process is one of the topics of this workshop. A drama text is, in Mateusz Atman's opinion, a "pre-text", as it is only fully finalised during the creation process in the theatre. Among the concepts of the playwriting workshop is thus testing different hierachic models of authorship – the position of the writer, director, actor or collective as the author of a performance, the establishing of collective communication as the key element of the theatre process and encouraging the flexibility of all involved. "When a writer decides to work onstage, the rehearsal process becomes similar to an experiment or a journey – you never know where it's going to end," believes Mateusz Atman.

About the mentor

Mateusz Atman, born in 1985 in Poland, works in the field of culture. As an artist he uses different media and expressive tools from the field of performing arts. He works as a director, stage designer, video author, but also as a dramaturg, screenwriter and writer for theatre and choreography scripts, concerts and art forms at the intersection of installation and performans art. He has worked with directors like Wiktor Rubin, Weronika Szczawińska and Oliver Frljić. He works regularly with Polish playwright, dramaturg and director Agnieszka Jakimiak.

Dan nominirancev na Tednu slovenske drame je dogodek, namenjen celostni predstavitvi nominirancev za nagrado Slavka Gruma, sestavlajo pa ga bralne uprizoritve nominiranih dramskih besedil in vodenji pogovori o njih. Bralne uprizoritve pripravljajo obetavni mladi režiserji skupaj z igralskim ansamblom Prešernovega gledališča Kranj in študenti dramske igre UL AGRFT, na pogovorih pa sodelujejo avtorji, člani žirije za Grumovo nagrado, visokošolski profesorji, umetniški vodje, dramaturgi, režiserji ... Pomemben del zavzema aktivno sodelovanje publike, ki z avtorji in gosti deli svoje videnje besedila. Letošnje pogovore z avtorji bo vodila teatrolinjka Ana Perne (Slovenski gledališki inštitut), ob avtorjih pa se ji bodo za omizjem pridružili gledališki režiserji različnih generacij.

Nikakor ne smemo pozabiti, da je zasnova festivalskega (popol)dneva, ki je v celoti namenjen najboljšim besedilom nove slovenske dramatike, usmerjena v predstavitev avtorjev in odpira prostor za dialoško preizpraševanje stanja izvirne dramatike v slovenskem gledališkem prostoru, njenega uprizarjanja, interpretacije in razvoja.

Dan nominirancev je tekom let postal prepoznavna platforma, ki pomaga širiti zavest o pomembnosti (in aktualnosti) nove dramatike, tudi s spodbujanjem izmenjave mnenj, saj lahko v odprtosti in povezovanju bogatimo drug drugega – in slovensko dramsko pisavo.

“Live your questions now.”

R. M. Rilke

The Day of the Nominees at the Week of Slovenian Drama endeavours for a comprehensive presentation of the nominees for the Grum Award.

The reading performances are prepared by promising young directors together with the Prešeren Theatre Kranj ensemble and students of acting at the Academy of Theatre, Radio, Film and Television, with the authors, the Slavko Grum Award jury members, literary theorists, members of the Association of Theatre Critics and Theatre Researchers of Slovenia, artistic managers, dramaturgs, directors participating in the discussions. The audience, invited to share their vision of the texts with the authors and the guests, plays an important role. During this year's discussions, the moderator, theatre researcher Ana Perne (Slovenian Theatre Institute), will be joined by the authors and theatre directors of different generations.

We must not forget that the basic concept of the festival day, fully dedicated to the best new texts of the Slovenian drama, aims to promote their authors and to open the space for a dialogical questioning of the situation in the field of the original drama, its staging, interpretation and development.

Through the years, the Day of the Nominees has become a recognisable platform that helps spread the notion of the importance (and actuality) of the new drama, also by encouraging the exchange of opinions, because with openness and connections we not only enrich each other, but also Slovenian playwriting.

Alone in the Face of Death

ORGANIZIRA

KUD AA Zvezdogled

Sama pred obličjem smrti, tretja knjiga koprsko pesnice in dramatičarke Vesne Furlanič Valentinčič, se izmika čvrsto določenemu žanrskemu kontekstu: bistvo tega pisanja je zabrisovanje mej, ki ločijo liriko od priповedništva, poezijo od proze.

Knjiga Sama pred obličjem smrti ob posameznih pesmih prinaša najpomembnejša sklenjena dramska besedila (Mama, Nevidni dvojček, Vsakomurnekajnikomurnič, Osamljenosti Marije S.) in nekaj proznih fragmentov, ki z več plati podajajo strnjeno podobo avtorskega glasu Vesne Furlanič Valentinčič – začenši s Peščeno uro, že leta 1997 revialno objavljeno simbolno dramo, nekakšno avtoričino »intimno knjigo«, ki je izšla iz zadnjega verza pesniške zbirke Temni dvojček. Pogovor z avtorico Vesno Furlanič Valentinčič, avtorjem spremne besede Primožem Jesenkem in prevajalko Sonjo Dular bo vodil urednik Gašper Malej.

ORGANISED BY

Alone in the Face of Death, the third book by Vesna Furlanič Valentinčič, a poet and playwright from Koper, eludes a firm genre context: the essence of her writing is the blurring of the borders separating lyricism from narration, poetry from prose.

The book Alone in the Face of Death brings, along with individual poems, the author's most important complete plays (Mama, Nevidni dvojček, Vsakomurnekajnikomurnič, Osamljenosti Marije S.) and some later fragments that comprehensively present a complete image of Vesna Furlanič Valentinčič's voice – beginning with Peščena ura, a symbolist play published in a literary journal in 1997 and some sort of "intimate" book of the author that sprung from the final verse of the poetry collection Temni dvojček. This talk with Vesna Furlanič Valentinčič, the author of the introduction Primož Jesenko, and translator Sonja Dular will be moderated by the editor Gašper Malej.

Okrogla miza: Slovensko gledališče na robu in ob robu

Round table: Slovenian Theatre on and at the Edge

Društvo gledaliških kritikov in teatrologov Slovenije

Že bežen prelet slovenske gledališke zgodovine po letu 1950 ne more spregledati sistemski vpetosti »gledališče na robu in ob robu« v mrežo gledališkega ustvarjanja. Stanje je mogoče ponazoriti kot razcepljenost na kulturni center in provinco (obrobje) – v ospredju politike je prizadevanje za čim širšo vključitev ljudi v kulturo, poteka nenavadno hitro ustanavljanje gledaliških hiš, četudi brez polnega materialnega, kadrovskega in organizacijskega kritja. Kulturna politika v začetku 50. let tako ob osrednjih nacionalnih gledaliških hišah v Ljubljani, Mariboru in Trstu ustanavlja poklicna regionalna gledališča (Kranj, Celje, Ptuj, Koper). Dvomilijonski narod in njegov kulturni trg izoblikujeta mrežo slovenskih gledališč.

Šlo je za izgradnjo in utrditev temeljev, ki bi omogočali nadaljnjo rast in razvoj modernega gledališkega modela. Kaj se je z njim dogajalo prihodnja desetletja in kako je danes? Kako vpliva na situacijo v slovenski gledališki kritiki? Okroglo mizo bo vodil Primož Jesenko.

ORGANISED BY

Association of Theatre Critics and Researchers of Slovenia

With a simple fleeting look at Slovenian theatre history after 1950, we can already detect the systemic connection of the "theatres on and at the edge" into a network of theatre creativity. Its state can be depicted as a split into the cultural centre and the provinces (edge) – in the forefront of the cultural policy is an attempt to widely include people into culture; an unusually fast establishing of theatre houses is taking place, despite insufficient material, personnel and organisational support. The cultural policies in the beginning of the 1950s thus established – alongside the central national theatre houses in Ljubljana, Maribor and Trieste – professional regional theatres in Kranj, Celje, Ptuj and Koper. A nation of two-million and its market thus created a network of Slovenian theatres. Such construction and the reinforcement of foundations were to enable the further growth and development of the modern theatre model. What has been happening to it in the past decades and what is it like today? How does it influence the situation in Slovenian theatre criticism? The round table will be moderated by Primož Jesenko.

Gledališka maska dopolni in nadgradi igralsko kreacijo, saj skupaj s kostumom poleg vizualne plati predstave bistveno določa tudi izraznost igralca, plesalca, performerja.

Dramatični vsakdanjik, ki spremlja različne dogodke ali obdobja v življenju slehernika, se najizraziteje pokaže prav z lasmi in na odru zagotovo najde primerno umestitev v uprizoritvenih poetikah različnih slogov. Zato ne preseneča tema letošnjega srečanja – frizure, lasulje, lasni vložki, dodatki in nasploh oblikovanje vsega, kar določa videz las. Podjetje ksfh Hair atelje bo predstavilo izdelke, ki pokrivajo vse okoliščine, v katerih se znajdejo glave na odru – pod pokrivali različnih tipov in slogov, pod lasuljami raznih dolžin in oblik kot tudi s frizurami oblikovanimi z lasnimi vložki.

Theatre make-up completes and complements the acting creation, because together with the costume it essentially determines not only the visual part of the performance, but also the expressiveness of the actor, dancer, performer.

Dramatic everyday moments that accompany numerous events or periods in a person's life show most significantly through the hair, and the stage is certainly the spot for them to find their place in the performance poetics of different styles. So the topic of this year's meeting is not a surprise – hairstyles, wigs, pieces, accessories and in general styling anything that defines the look of hair. The company ksfh Hair Atelje will present products that cover all the circumstances in which heads on stage might find themselves – under hats of all types and styles, under wigs of different lengths and shapes and also hairdos using hairpieces.

PREŠERNOVO GLEDALIŠČE KRAJN kot organizator Tedna slovenske drame podeljuje priznanje za dosežke v slovenski dramaturgiji v preteklih desetih letih.

Grün-Filipičovo priznanje je dobilo ime po dveh pomembnih slovenskih dramaturgih, esejistih, gledaliških teoretikih in utemeljiteljih sodobne institucionalne dramaturgije na Slovenskem, Herbertu Grünu (1925–1961) in Lojzetu Filipiču (1921–1975).

Podeljujejo ga od leta 1979, od leta 2003 bienalno. Tokratnega dobitnika je izbrala ista strokovna žirija kot pre-

The Grün-Filipič Award for achievements in Slovenian dramaturgy in the past ten years

AS THE ORGANISER of the Week of Slovenian Drama, the Prešeren Theatre Kranj bestows the award for achievements in Slovenian dramaturgy in the past ten years.

The Grün-Filipič Award takes its name from two important Slovenian dramaturs, authors, theatre theorists and the founders of the contemporary institutional dramaturgy in Slovenia, Herbert Grün (1925–1961) and Lojze Filipič (1921–1975).

The award has been given since 1979, biennially since 2003. The winner jemnika Grumove nagrade in nagrade za mladega dramatika.

Grün-Filipičovo priznanje za leto 2017 je prejel dramaturg, teatrolog in eseist TOMAŽ TOPORIŠIČ.

Utemeljitev

Tomaž Toporišič je v slovensko gledališče vstopil na začetku devetdesetih let prejšnjega stoletja, ko se je zaposlil v Slovenskem mladinskem gledališču. Tam je najprej štiri leta deloval kot dramaturg, kasneje pa sedem let tudi kot programski direktor. Svoje delovanje v SMG je sklenil leta 2016 kot dramaturg. Bil je pobudnik in soustanovitelj festivala Exodus (1995), prvega mednarodnega festivala sodobnih scenskih umetnosti v samostojni Sloveniji, ki obstaja še danes. Prav Exodus je v svojih začetkih s soočenjem gledaliških praks iz različnih okolij omogočil neposredno preverjanje tokov v slovenskem gledališkem prostoru s primerljivimi praksami v tujini. Tako je Tomaž Toporišič dodatak zaznamoval dogajanje v slovenskem gledališču po osamosvojitvi, ko je to iskalo svoj novi raison d'être. Bil je dramaturg (v posameznih primerih tudi soavtor besedila) nekaterih prelomnih uprizoritev, ki so doživele velik mednarodni odmev in prejele številne domače in tujne nagrade. Posebej velja izpostaviti naslednje: Odisej in sin ali Svet in dom (1990, režija V. Taufer), Susn (1993, E. Miler), Družinski album (1994, M. Hočevar), Uganka korajže (1994, M. Hočevar), Kralj Ojdip (1998, T. Janežič), Učna ura (2004, V. Taufer), Zločin in kazen (2009, D. de Brea), Preklet naj bo izdajalec svoje domovine! (2010, O. Frljić), Razredni sovražnik was selected by the same jury as the Slavko Grum Award and the Young Playwright Award winners.

The Grün-Filipič Award for the year 2017 went to dramaturg, theatre researcher and author TOMAŽ TOPORIŠIČ.

Explanation

Tomaž Toporišič entered the Slovenian theatre in the beginning of the 1990s, when he started his job at the Mladinsko Theatre. There, he was their dramaturg for the first four years and then the programme director for seven. He finished his cooperation with the Mladinsko in 2016, as a dramaturg. He was an initiator and a co-founder of the Exodus Festival (1995), the first international festival of contemporary performance arts in the independent Slovenia, a festival that still exists. It was Exodus that, in its beginnings and via confronting theatre practices from different environments, allowed for the direct testing of the currents in the Slovenian theatre space with comparable practices abroad. Tomaž Toporišič thus significantly marked the events in the Slovenian theatre after the independence, while it was searching for its new raison d'être. He was the dramaturg (and occasionally, the co-author of the text) of some breakthrough performances that resonated internationally and received many awards at home and abroad. Particularly worth mentioning are: Odysseus and Son or the World and Home (1990, dir. V. Taufer), Susn (1993, E. Miler), Family Album (1994, M. Hočevar), The Puzzle of Courage (1994, M.

(2012, B. Šeparović), Pavla nad prepodom (2013, M. Pograjc), Glengarry Glen Ross (2014, V. Taufer), Kompleks Ristić (2015, O. Frljić). Toporišič se podpisuje pod dramaturgijo več kot štiridesetih uprizoritev, pri katerih je sodeloval z vodilnimi slovenskimi in nekaterimi tujimi režiserji. Pri svojem delu je veliko pozornost posvečal ustvarjalnemu in teoretskemu dialogu ne le z režiserji, temveč z vsemi ustvarjalci predstave, posebno skrb pa je namenjal dialogu z igralci, ki so v izpostavljenih projektih ustvarjali prelomne vloge. Slovensko mladinsko gledališče je v času njegovega umeštneškega vodenja vzgajalo tudi nove generacije gledalcev, saj je vzdrževalo repertoar raznolikih predstav, hkrati pa se je s programom odzivalo na žgoče teme, ki zadevajo mlade generacije.

Diplomiral, magistriral in doktoriral je na Oddelku za primerjalno književnost in literarno teorijo ljubljanske Filozofske fakultete. Nič čudnega torej, da se tudi profesionalno posveča premišljevanju o odnosu med tekstrom in odrom ter o spremembah v dramskem pisanju 20. in v začetku 21. stoletja. Njegova teoretična misel je pri nas uveljavila nekatere osrednje tuge teorije o postdramskem, ne več dramskem oz. rapsodičnem dramskem pisanju, ki so jih napisali Hans-Thies Lehmann, Jean-Pierre Sarrazac in Gerda Poschmann. Pri tem pa ne gre le za predstavitev tujih pogledov, ampak za njihovo uspešno aplikacijo na lastno raziskovanje slovenske in evropske dramatike in gledališča, kar dokazujejo številne analize, objavljene v gledaliških listih, in tri znanstvene monografije: Med zapeljevanjem

Hočevar), Oedipus Rex (1998, T. Janežič), The Lesson (2004, V. Taufer), Crime and Punishment (2009, D. de Brea), Damned be the Traitor of His Homeland! (2010, O. Frljić), Class Enemy (2012, B. Šeparović), Pavla Above the Precipice (2013, M. Pograjc), Glengarry Glen Ross (2014, V. Taufer), The Ristić Complex (2015, O. Frljić). Toporišič was the dramaturg of more than forty performances in which he worked with the leading Slovenian and some foreign directors. In his work, he focused his attention on creative and aesthetic dialogue, not only with the directors, but with all the creators of the performances, and particularly with the actors who created crucial roles in acclaimed performances. During his term as the artistic director, the Mladinsko Theatre also raised new generations of spectators, as it maintained a repertoire of diverse performances, yet at the same time used its programme to respond to the burning topics pertinent to young generations.

Toporišič obtained his bachelor's, master's and doctorate degrees from the Department of Comparative Literature and Literary Theory of the Faculty of Arts, University of Ljubljana. It is therefore no surprise that his professional life is dedicated to studying the relationship between the text and the stage and the changes in dramatic writing in the 20th century and the beginning of the 21st. His theoretical thought helped establish in Slovenia certain pivotal international theories about the post-dramatic, no longer dramatic or rhapsodic drama writing that were coined by Hans-Thies Lehmann, Jean-in sumničavostjo, Ranljivo telo teksta in odra ter Levitve drame in gledališča. Pomembno pa je tudi njegovo mentorско delo s študenti, ki so pri nastajanju predstav sodelovali kot asistenti dramaturgije, s čimer je prispeval k vzgoji strokovnjakov na tem področju.

Pierre Sarrazac and Gerda Poschmann. His work is not a mere transplantation of other perspectives, but represents their successful application to his own research of Slovenian and European drama and theatre, which can be seen in his many analyses, published in theatre programmes, and three academic monographs: Med zapeljevanjem in sumničavostjo [Between Seduction and Suspicion], Ranljivo telo teksta in odra [The Vulnerable Body of Text and Stage] and Levitve drame in gledališča [Ecdyses of Drama and Theatre]. An important part of his work is also mentoring students who participated in creating performances as assistant dramaturgs, which contributed to educating experts in the field of theatre.

2 Nagrada Slavka Gruma za najboljše dramsko besedilo

ŽIRIJA v sestavi literarna zgodovinarka in teatrologinja Mateja Pezdirc Bartol (predsednica), dramaturg Rok Andres, dramaturginja in teatrologinja Tatjana Ažman, literarni teoretičar Gašper Troha in dramaturginja Klavdija Zupan je izmed prispelih nominirala pet besedil, ki so se potegovala za nagrado Slavka Gruma.

Žirija je soglasno odločila, da nagrado prejme SIMONA HAMER za besedilo Razglednice ali Strah je od znotraj votel, od zunaj pa ga nič ni.

Utemeljitev

V naslovu nakazana tema strahu pred drugačnim, tujim, drugim je veskozi aktualna, zagotovo pa je svež kompleksen in hkrati izrazito osebno doživljajski pogled nanjo. Slogovno raznotero besedilo v širokem zamahu suvereno slika/orisuje/predstavlja/komentira odnos do drugačnega/drugega.

Avtorica se ob tako široko zastavljeni temi, kot so strahovi človeške vrste, ki ni zamejena ne časovno, še manj geografsko, ne omejuje s pravili klasičnega dramskega pisanja. Kljub ohlapni strukturi sta razvidna dobro poznavanje principov dramske napetosti in talent za sočen dialog. Razglednice se dogajajo zdaj v klasičnih dialogih dveh jasno določenih oseb, zdaj v notranjih monologih, spet tretjič zgolj kot komentar iz popotniškega dnevnika ali v kakofoniji glasov urbanega, potrošniškega. Tako se ob branju zarisujejo najrazličnejši karakterji – od zgodovinskih oseb, ki so zreducirane na suho-

The Slavko Grum Award for the best new Slovenian play

THE SLAVKO GRUM AWARD jury consisting of literary historian and theatre researcher Mateja Pezdirc Bartol (president), dramaturg Rok Andres, dramaturg and theatre researcher Tatjana Ažman, literary theorist Gašper Troha and dramaturg Klavdija Zupan, nominated five texts for the Slavko Grum Award.

The jury unanimously decided that the award goes to SIMONA HAMER for the text Postcards or Fear is Hollow Inside and Empty Outside.

Explanation

The theme hinted at in the title – the fear of the different, the foreign, the other – is perennially pertinent, but the author deals with it in a very fresh, complex and simultaneously very personal way. The stylistically diverse text sovereignly, in a wide stroke, paints/draws/shows/comments the attitude to the different/the other.

The author Simona Hamer does not limit herself by the rules of classical drama writing when tackling this vast topic – the fears of the human species – that is contained neither by time nor by space. Although Hamer's structure is loose, her knowledge of the principles of dramatic tension is obviously visible, as is her talent to write rich dialogue. The play takes place through classical dialogues between two well-defined characters, through internal monologues, and sometimes merely as a commentary from a traveller's journal or in a cacophony of voices of urban, parno funkcijo (Osvajalec, Oproda), do sodobnih popotnikov (Tinka, Luka, Fant, Punca, Njun novi prijatelj, Paqo, Emin, Lungelo ...). Dogajanje je popolnoma osvobojeno omejitve časa in prostora, zato se s komentarji zgodovinskih dogodkov vključujejo tudi personificirani predmeti (orlovo pero, drevo). Slogovna raznoterost omogoča prikaz različnih čustvenih stanj – radost, strah, žalost, empatija, simpatija, sovraštvo –, med katerimi pa je zagotovo najbolj vseobsegajoč smeh oziroma humor. Če je tema Razglednic prikaz strahov človeškega plemena, potem je humor najmočnejše orodje v boju proti njim. Posamezni fragmenti tudi zato vseskozi ohranjajo naravo in čar anahronistične razglednice – kako na omejenem prostoru povzeti čar popotne etape. Razglednice odpirajo široke uprizoritvene možnosti in zagotavljajo navdihujoče besedilno jedro, iz katerega bodo lahko črpali gledališki ustvarjalci najrazličnejših uprizoritvenih poetik.

consumerist. Very different characters thus emerge through the reading – from historic personalities reduced to a dry function (Conqueror, Squire) to modern travellers (Tina, Luka, Boy, Girl, Their new friend, Paqo, Emin, Lingelo ...). The events are completely liberated from the limitations of time and space, so personified objects (an eagle's feather, a tree) interfere with their commentary on historical events. The stylistic diversity enables the presentation of different emotional states – joy, fear, sadness, empathy, sympathy, hatred ... among which the most pervasive one is laughter or humour. If the theme of Postcards is a presentation of the fears of the human tribe, then humour is the strongest weapon in the fight against them. Individual fragments thus throughout retain the nature and charm of an anachronistic postcard – how to summarise the magic of a travel stage on a limited space. Postcards opens wide performative possibilities and provides an inspiring textual core, which theatre artists of different performative poetics and persuasions will be able to use.

3 Šeligova nagrada za najboljšo predstavo

ZA ŠELIGOVO NAGRADO so se potegovali predstave, uvrščene v tekmovalni program. Selektorica letošnjega programa je bila dramaturginja in kustosinja Tea Rogelj.

Mednarodna strokovna žirija v sestavi Marina Milivojević - Mađarev, dramaturginja in docentka na Umetniški akademiji v Novem Sadu, kritičarka in dramaturginja Niko Leskovšek in Ljudmil Dimitrov, profesor bolgarskega jezika in teatrológ, je kolektivno in soglasno podelila Šeligovo nagrado za najboljšo uprizoritev na festivalu predstavi Republika Slovenija v koprodukciji Slovenskega mladinskega gledališča Ljubljana in Zavoda Maska.

Utemeljitev

Predstava Republika Slovenija prejme Šeligovo nagrado za domišljen koncept uprizoritve, ki preizpravi odnos posameznika do političnega, za odpiranje javnega dialoga in za družbeni učinek njene sporočilnosti, ki gledalcu ne dopušča ravnodušne pozicije. Predstava ohranja funkcijo gledališča kot javnega foruma, ki jo je gledališče imelo vse od antike do danes.

Predstava o politični orožarski aferi, ki je tematsko usidrana v čas rojevanja nove slovenske države in na razpotje med razpadom starega političnega sistema, padcem berlinskega zidu in novo proevropsko usmerjenostjo, svojo občestvo nagovarja širše mednarodno občinstvo, saj omogoča univerzalno poistovetenje s problematiko politič-

The Šeligo Award for the best performance

COMPETING FOR the Šeligo Award were the performances selected into the Competition Programme. The selector of this year's programme was dramaturg and curator Tea Rogelj.

The international jury consisting of dramaturg and associate professor at the Academy of Arts in Novi Sad Marina Milivojević-Madjarev, critic and dramaturg Niko Leskovšek, and professor of Bulgarian language and theatre researcher Ljudmil Dimitrov, unanimously decided that the award for the best performance goes to The Republic of Slovenia, coproduced by the Mladinsko Theatre and Maska Institute.

Explanation

The performance The Republic of Slovenia wins the Šeligo Award for its concise concept, which questions the relationship of the individual to the political, for opening public dialogue, and for the social effect of its message, which does not allow the spectator to assume an indifferent position. The performance retains the function of theatre as a public forum, the role that theatre has had since the antiquity to today.

The performance about political implications of an arms trade scandal, thematically anchored into the time of the birth of the new Slovenian state and into the crossroads between the dissolution of the old political system, the fall of the Berlin Wall and the new pro-European orientation, addresses a wider international audience with its general nih afer, ki jih vladajoča nomenklatura preživi nedotaknjena; predstava razpira široko polje možnih interpretacij, ne da bi pri tem zašla v demagoškost.

Njena aktualnost ostaja tudi po umiku oznake tajno z magnetograma sestanka pri predsedniku Republike Slovenije iz leta 1993 nespremenjena. Predstava postavi tajne dokumente na oči javnosti in gledalcu omogoči, da (po)doživi svojo vlogo priče v aferi Depala vas ter skozi širšo zgodovinsko perspektivo uvidi politično stanje in svojo družbeno vlogo v njem. Gledalcu omogoči razrešitev vprašanja osebne in politične odgovornosti na način, ki premore katarzični potencial.

Predstava Republika Slovenija prejme nagrado za umetniški odnos do obdelave materiala v dokumentarnem oziroma verbatim gledališču in za specifičen igralski pristop pri oblikovanju vlog na osnovi realnih političnih akterjev, ki skupno situacijo ironizira. Predstava kot celota vseskozi priča o umetniškem konsenzu vseh sodelavcev ter o kolektivni pripadnosti ustvarjalne ekipe k projektu, kar prispeva k njegovi vrednosti in pomenu.

frame, as it allows universal identification with the issue of political scandals which the governing nomenclature weathers unscratched; the performance opens a wide field of possible interpretations without sliding into demagogic.

It remains topical even after the transcript of the 1993 meeting in the office of the Slovenian president has been declassified. The performance puts the secret documents into the eyes of the public and allows the spectator to (re-)experience their role as a witness in the Depala vas affair and through a wider historic perspective comprehends the political situation and their social role in it. It provides the spectator a solution to the question of personal and political responsibility in a way that has a cathartic potential.

The performance The Republic of Slovenia wins the Šeligo Award for the artistic approach to dealing with material or verbatim theatre and for the specific acting approach in creating roles based on real political actors, which ironises the entire situation. The performance as a whole testifies throughout about the artistic consensus of all collaborators, as well as the collective belonging of the creative team to the project, which contributes to its value and importance.

4 Nagrada za najboljšega mladega dramatika

O NAGRADI je odločala žirija v sestavi Mateja Pezdirc Bartol (predsednica), Rok Andres, Tatjana Ažman, Gašper Troha in Klavdija Zupan.

Žirija je izmed trinajstih prispevih besedil nagradila delo Nike Švab Ujeti trenutek.

Iz obrazložitve

Trpka komedija, napisana v maniri situacijske komike, je spretno izpeljano dramsko besedilo, ki se ne trudi z doseganjem (kvazi)umetniških klišejev, ampak se že v začetku izkaže za natančno, domišljeno in humorno umetniško delo, za katero bi lahko zapisali, da črpa navdih pri sodobnih slovenskih komediografih Zupančiču, Möderndorferju ali Partljiču. A vseeno v njihovo družbo prinaša svežino, ki je lastna mladi generaciji piscev, najsi bodo to aktualni družbeni problemi, porušeni družinski odnosi ali vpliv televizijskih žanrov.

Komedijski ritem pospešuje, preigrava hitre replike in vedno kraje dialoge, od prvotnih dialogov se deli na vedno manjše enote in razdrobljene replike med različnimi liki, vse v iskanju čim učinkovitejšega vrhunca. Najbolj nas presenetil konec, saj bi vnet bralec pričakoval srečen razplet s fotografijo, a se avtorica odloči drugače in za bolj grenak priokus (in nekakšno poanto) – komedijo zaključi s poslednjim monologom Neveste. [...] Omenjeni poudarek tej sveži komediji prinaša dodano vrednost, saj se tudi formalno, s koncem, noče podrediti standardnim, obrtniškim besedilom.

The Young Playwright Award

THE JURY CONSISTING of Mateja Pezdirc Bartol (president), Rok Andres, Tatjana Ažman, Gašper Troha and Klavdija Zupan decided on the Young Playwrights Award.

Among the thirteen entries, the jury awarded the play Ujeti Trenutek [A Moment Caught] by NIKA ŠVAB.

Excerpt from the explanation

A bitter comedy, written in the manner of a situational comedy, is a deftly structured play that does not strive to achieve the (quasi-)artistic clichés, but is, from the beginning, a precise, meticulous and humorous work of art. Yet it brings freshness pertinent to the young generation of writers, whether it tackles actual social problems, destroyed family relationships or the influence of television genres [...]

[...] The comedy rhythm accelerates and plays through the ever faster lines, ever shorter dialogues, from the initial dialogues, it fragments into smaller and smaller units and scattered lines of different characters, all in the search of a climax that would be as effective as possible. We are the most surprised by the ending, as an eager reader would expect a happy ending with a photo, but the author decides otherwise, for a more bitter aftertaste (and a point), closing the comedy with the Bride's final monologue. [...] Such an emphasis adds value to this fresh comedy, as it refuses to yield, even formally, with its ending, to standard, run-off-the-mill texts.

5 Nagrada občinstva za najboljšo predstavo festivala

ZA NAGRADO OBČINSTVA SO SE POTEГОVALE VSE PREDSTAVE IZ TEKMOVALNEGA, SPREMLJEVALNEGA IN MEDNARODNEGA PROGRAMA. OBČINSTVO JE PREDSTAVE OCENJEVALO NA GLASOVALNIH LISTIČIH Z OCENAMI OD 1 DO 5.

S povprečno oceno 4,82 je nagrada po izboru občinstva prejela predstava NIKA ŠKRLECA in ekipe Naj gre vse v π ali kako sem si zapomnil 3141 decimalk v produkciji Zavoda k. g. – Tovarna predstav, AGRFT UL in Zavoda Margareta Schwarzwald.

Opis predstave

Naj gre vse v π ali kako sem si zapomnil 3141 decimalk je izlet v domišljijo državnega prvaka v pomnenju in recitiranju števila π , avtorski projekt Niki Škrleca, gledališka predstava, ki uprizarja domišljijski svet, nastal pri pomnenju decimalk števila π . Je vpogled v absurden in duhovit del tehnike palače spomina, ki jo Nik uporablja, da si zapomni 3141 decimalk, in vabilo, da se mu pridružite v pomnenju, igrivi domišljiji in norosti. Je najbolj natančen, živ in mesen prikaz tega, kako si lahko vsak zapomni ogromno števil, hkrati pa je ta predstava zaključek magistrskega študija na AGRFT, in Nik je gotovo prvi igralec, ki je magistriral s številom π .

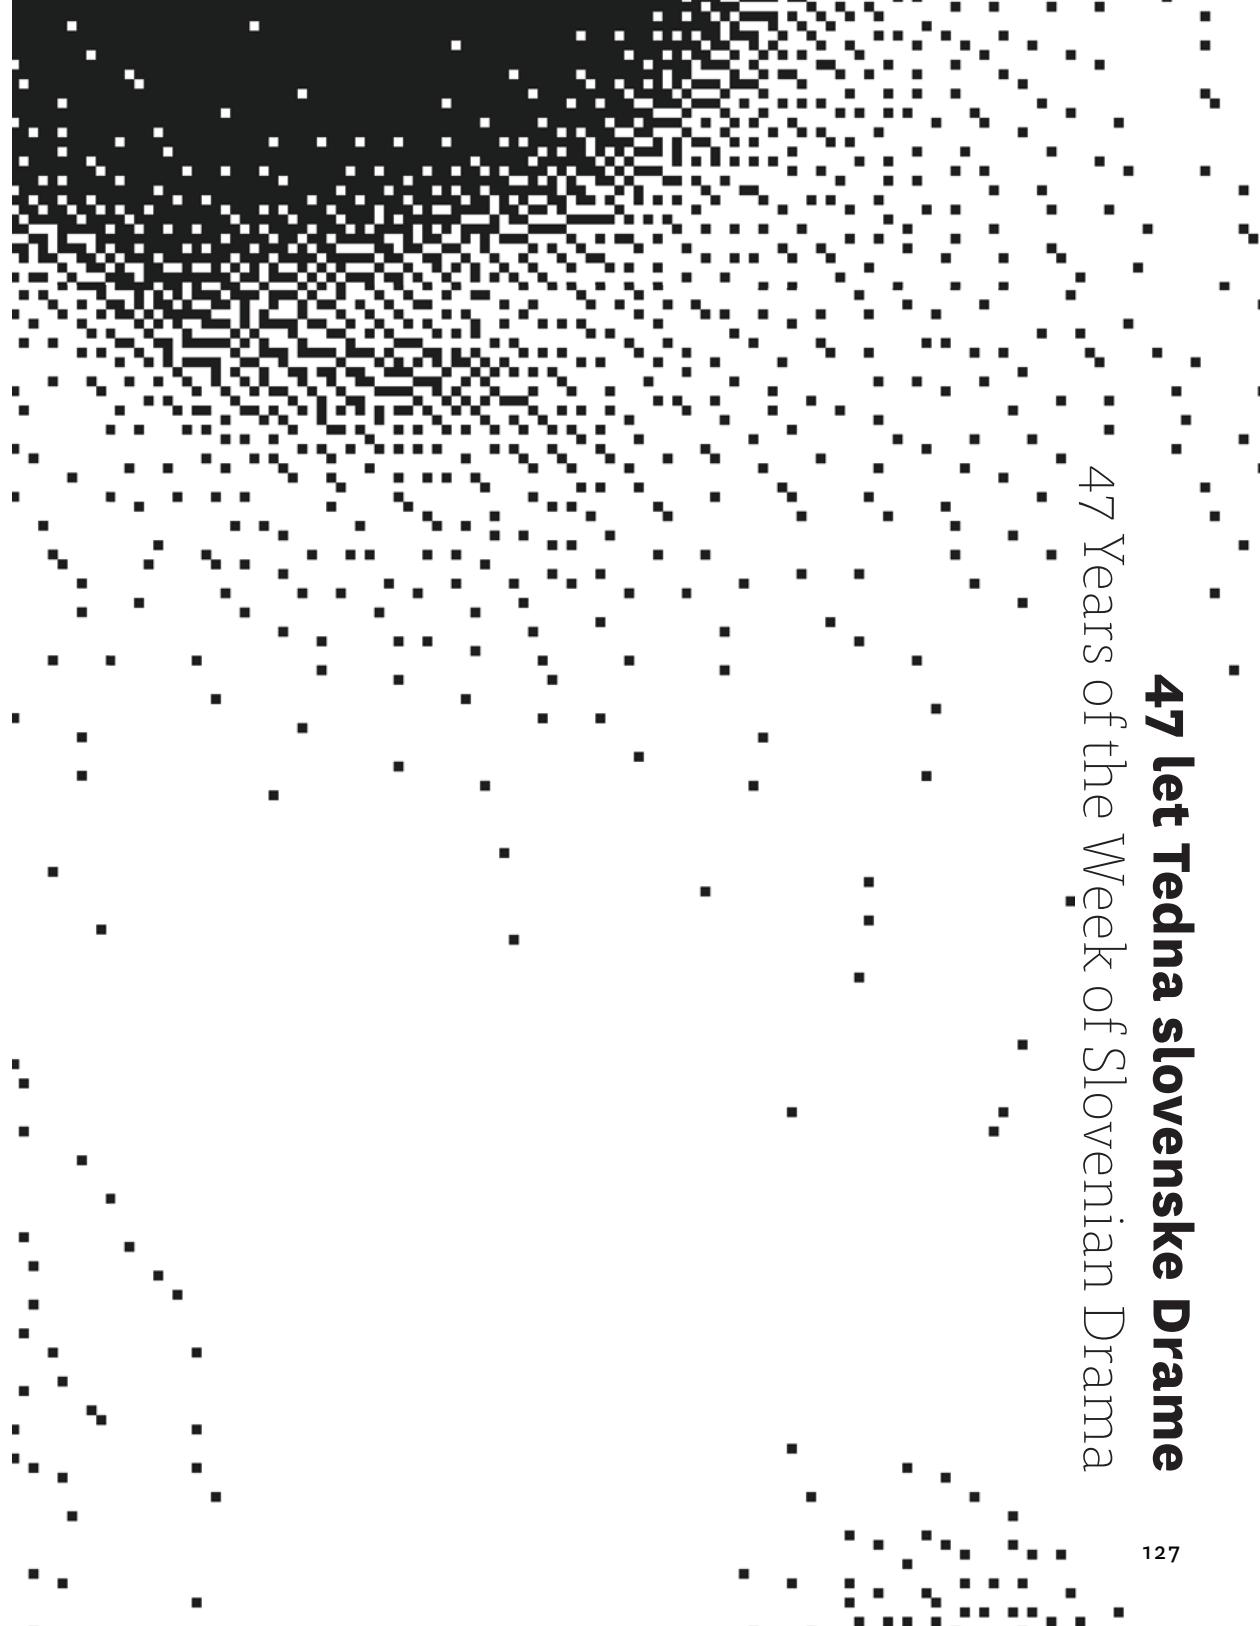

The Audience Award for the best performance of the festival

ALL OF THE performances from the Competition, Accompanying and International Programmes were eligible for the Audience Award. The audience evaluated the performances by filling in ballots with a score from 1 to 5.

With the average score of 4.82 the Audience Award went to the performance by NIK ŠKRLEC AND THE TEAM π off or how I Memorised 3141 Decimals, produced by k. g. Institute – Performance Factory, UL AGRFT and Margareta Schwarzwald Institute.

Description of the performance

π off or how I Memorised 3141 Decimals is an excursion into the imagination of the national champion in memorising and reciting the number π , an authorial project by Nik Škrlec, a theatre performance staging an imaginary world created while memorising decimals of π . It is an insight into the absurd and witty part of the memory palace technique that Nik uses to memorise the 3141 decimals and an invitation to join him in memorising, playful imagination and madness. It is the most precise, vivacious and physical presentation of how anyone can memorise a great amount of numbers; this performance is also the end of Nik's master's studies at the UL AGRFT and he must certainly be the first actor to get his master's by studying π .

TEDEN SLOVENSKE DRAME je osrednji festival uprizoritev slovenskih dramatičnih besedil, ki ga vsako leto s podporo ministrstva za kulturo in Mestne občine Kranj organizira Prešernovo gledališče. Spodbuja uprizarjanje nacionalne dramatike, njeno ustvarjanje in promocijo ter uprizarjanje v tujini. Pri tem sodeluje z gledališči in gledališkimi inštituti doma in po svetu. Pomemben prispevek k spodbujanju nastajanja slovenske dramatike predstavljajo vsakoletnie delavnice dramskega pisanja, ki jih vodijo ugledni slovenski in tudi dramatični, bralni uprizoritve in predstavitve nominiranih dram ter sodelovanje z Akademijo za gledališče, radio, film in televizijo, Slovenskim gledališkim inštitutom in Filozofsko fakulteto Univerze v Ljubljani.

THE WEEK OF SLOVENIAN DRAMA is the central festival for performances of Slovenian plays, organised annually by Prešeren Theatre Kranj with the support of the Ministry of Culture of the Republic of Slovenia and the Municipality of Kranj. It encourages the staging of performances of national drama as well as its production, promotion and presentation abroad. To achieve that, the festival cooperates with Slovenian and international theatres and theatre institutes. Important contributions to the encouragement of creating Slovenian drama are annual playwriting workshops, mentored by renowned Slovenian and foreign playwrights, reading performances and presentations of the nominated plays and cooperation with the Slovenian Theatre Institute, Academy of Theatre, Radio, Film and Television, and the Faculty of Arts, both of the University of Ljubljana.
