Chairman Seibert Names Fund Drive Lieutenants

Ray Perkins, owner of Perkins hardware store, and Rex C. Stribley, chief of product development for Wyeth Laboratories Inc., have accepted the posts of vice-general chairman of the $500,000 Mason hospital campaign, according to Howard F. Seibert, general chairman. The announcement was made Wednesday.

These men, Seibert said, will be administrative assistants, and will also be available to assist chairman of other committees who are yet to be named to the various divisions of the campaign.

Stribley was born in Kent, Ohio, and was graduated in 1939 from Kent State university with a BS degree in chemistry. The following year he joined General Biochemicals, Inc., of Chagrin Falls, Ohio, as a laboratory technician. The company is a division of American Home Products Co., of which Wyeth Laboratories Inc. is also a division.

In 1941 Stribley was commissioned a captain in the parachute infantry of the 82nd Airborne division and served with it for 29 months, taking part in a combat invasion in various parts of the European theater.

In 1945 Stribley came to Mason to work as a research chemist in the Wyeth plant. In 1950 the U. S. army recalled him to active duty at Sandia base, Albuquerque, New Mexico, and at Los Alamos atomic center. After 15 months of service Stribley returned to Mason as chief of product development for Wyeth. He resides at 327 Steele street with his wife and 2 daughters, Heather, 10, and Holly, 5.

Stribley is also president of the Mason Community Council, a non-profit corporation, representing Mason civic and church groups and lodges. This organization has been active in backing the building of a new hospital.

Perkins, as vice-president of the hospital board, has also been a strong advocate of a new hospital to serve the entire community. He was born in Ontario, Canada, and came to Mason 9 years ago. Prior to that he was a sales representative of the Berry Bros. Paint Co. of Detroit for 10 years. Before that he was office manager of the Sherwin-Williams Paint Co. of Detroit.

He is past president of the Chamber of Commerce of Mason, and also past president of the Kiwanis club. He is a member of the Masonic lodge and the Knights of Pythias, a member of the district committee of the Michigan Hardware association.

Perkins resides with his wife and 2 children, Lee, 17, and Gary, 15, at 560 VanderVeen Drive.

Elected to the board of directors were: Herman Martin, Chellis Hall, Mike Wontner, Clarence Boles, Allen Frederick, Lloyd Wheeler, Ray Youtter, Paul Scherer, Lewis Wilson and Lyle Oesterle.

Scheduled for discussion at future meetings are community health, the hospital, zoning, taxes, drainage, schools, roads, water, growth and area development.

Voters Pick Own Judge, Hughes Wins by 10,279

Ingham voters and Governor G. Mennen Williams differ on the choice of a man to fill the unexpired term for circuit judge, Governor Williams and 14,903 Ingham voters wanted Judge Theodore P. Ryan. But 25,182 voters preferred Sam Street Hughes. So Hughes will relieve Judge Ryan as soon as county and state canvassers complete the official tally. That may take a couple of weeks. The term expires December 31, 1959.

Governor Williams appointed Judge Ryan in December to succeed Judge Charles H. Hayden, who retired on pension. The appointment came only a few days after Judge Ryan had moved to Ingham from Eaton county. Although Judge Ryan had lived just over the line in Eaton in a Lansing suburban area, the brevity of his residence in Ingham cost him votes. He had the support of the Democratic organization and labor, but it wasn't enough. He trailed Hughes 8,210 to 5,412 in the 5-man judicial primary February 18, in which 21,340 votes were cast.

It was the third try of Hughes for the office of circuit judge. He was first a candidate in 1936, losing by 240 votes. He served as judge of Lansing's municipal court and as Lansing's mayor. He resigned as mayor to serve in the navy during World War II. During his war service he was assigned to military government in the Philippines and in Okinawa. He is a lieutenant-commander in the naval reserve, on inactive duty.

Hughes was born in North Carolina and studied at Berea college, Kentucky. He was graduated from law schools at Harvard and University of Chicago. He is a former vice-president of the U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce. He and Mrs. Hughes have 2 sons and a daughter. One son is in the navy, the other at Michigan State. The daughter attends a college in Virginia.

Since the war the judge-elect has been in private law practice in Lansing, in partnership with Clay Campbell.

Judge Ryan is a graduate of Grand Rapids Union high school and the law school of the University of Michigan. He practiced law in Grand Rapids 9 years. In 1947 Governor Kim Sigler appointed Judge Ryan to the workmen's compensation commission. Governor Williams advanced him to the chairmanship of the workmen's compensation appeal board in 1955. In 1951 he was an unsuccessful candidate for the state supreme court.

Zimmer Enters Burma Hospital

Rev. Walter (Bud) Zimmer, son of Walter E. Zimmer of Mason, is in a mission hospital in Moulmein, Burma. Attending a conference in Rangoon, he was afflicted with a wracking cough. He was sent to the hospital for observation and rest. His condition was reported as improving, in a recent letter received by the father.

Mrs. Zimmer and the 4 children have now secured living quarters in Moulmein to be near the mission leader. He is expected to remain in the hospital for an extended period.

The Zimmer's first went to Burma in 1948. For months they were with Karens in the hill country behind the so-called bamboo curtain. They finally were rescued. They were in Mason in 1952 and upon their return to Burma, Rev. Zimmer was made supervisor of 200 native churches.

Wife Sets Sail To Join Husband

Mrs. William C. Bartley is aboard the USS General Rose on her way to North Africa, to join her husband, a lieutenant in the U. S. air force.

Mrs. Bartley left by train for New York Saturday. She went aboard the transport Monday. She was told that with several other ports to visit first, the ship was not likely to reach Tripoli, Libya, within less than 15 or 20 days.

Lt. Bartley is stationed at Wheelus air force base about 5 miles from Tripoli. Because of a shortage of housing on the base, Lt. Bartley has leased a house on the shores of the Mediterranean. It is called Villa ben Sasi. Mrs. Bartley attended the winter term at Michigan State while waiting for arrangements to be made for the trip abroad.

Career of Public Service Ends for Martha Thayer

To regain her health, Miss Martha Thayer is home resting up after 35½ years of continuous service as probate clerk and deputy probate register. She left the probate office Friday, under a combination county pension and social security program. When she gets rested up she may accept part-time employment, she stated, but she isn't looking for it just yet.

Miss Thayer is able to retire under a liberalized program that provides benefits before reaching the age of 65. She has several years to go before reaching that, and she intends to make the most of those years.

It is not that Miss Thayer suddenly took a dislike to the work in the probate office, she said. It is just that there is more of it to do than she is able to achieve in her present physical condition. In fact, she put off leaving for months, she explained, hoping vainly she would be able to continue.

There were a few tears sprinkled upon the best wishes which were spoken Friday when Miss Thayer said goodbyes to people with whom she had worked for many years. Mrs. Ruth Schilperoot has been on the staff since 1924, joining it 3 years after Miss Thayer started her career.

After graduating from Mason high school in 1914, Miss Thayer attended county normal for a year and taught a year at Currier school in Aurelius. She worked awhile in Wyandotte and returned to Mason to attend Acme Business college in Lansing. She worked at Michigan State for a few months and then returned to Mason to work in the bakery.

She was wrapping bread one morning, Miss Thayer said, when Judge Louis B. McArthur stepped back of the counter to ask her if she would consider a job in the probate office. She said she would. She did, and she took it. She filled it to perfection for 35½ years. For 15 years she worked under Judge McArthur, for another 20 under Judge John McClellan and since January under Judge Robert S. Drake. Under all of them she served with increasing responsibility. The work of the office has increased many times over during the long period of her service, she said.

During her long service practically all the inherited wealth of the county has passed over her desk. There are instances, she recalled, where family estates have passed from one generation to another 3 times during the 35 years. She has handled thousands of wills, but never, she said laughingly, did she ever find her name down for a bequest.

In recent years Miss Thayer and Mrs. Betty Lavton have made their home together. They reside at 225 East Oak. When spring finally arrives they expect to set forth to see and do things they have been planning. In the meantime Miss Thayer is trying to shed the responsibilities she has been carrying so long. By Wednesday she had been retired for 3 working days and she was wondering if she shouldn't have stayed for another few weeks to help clear up a backlog of work. But she kept on working. She realizes that she quit in time, in time to regain her health and to gain some added enjoyment from life.

The 35½ years of continuous service to the county in the one office is a record. She never set out to make such a record, she said, yet never could she have more interesting, more satisfying work, she stated. She has been able to help people, many of them troubled and worried. She has enjoyed working with attorneys and with the judges. She has a lot of memories to nourish her in retirement.

Highways Escape Breakup Damage

Damage to Ingham streets and highways by the spring breakup was practically zero, reported Frank K. Evans, county highway engineer, Wednesday.

Trucking limitations on the county primary system will be lifted at midnight Sunday, he said. While normal loading will be permitted on the county highway system, load limits may not exceed 15,000 lb per axle on interior residential and suburban streets, Evans cautioned.

Lack of frost in the ground and the absence of heavy spring rains resulted in the lightest spring breakup bill in many years, Evans stated.

City Delivery Begins in Holt

Five hundred Holt residents have availed themselves of the opportunity for city delivery mail service beginning Saturday. Andrew Farnsworth, Holt postmaster, said about half of the patrons have formerly received their mail in postoffice boxes with the remainder getting mail on rural routes. The expanded postal service will affect all rural routes and will probably be expanded to include more city delivery later, he said.

Farnsworth advised patrons who are in line for city mail delivery to have mail boxes in place before Saturday. He also requested postal patrons to notify senders of mail of street addresses.

Dale Hamlin, formerly distribution clerk, will handle the city delivery route. A substitute is yet to be named, the postmaster said.

Chamber Seeks More Members During Drive

Enrollment of members into the Mason Chamber of Commerce is the task facing Russell Bement and members of the Chamber membership committee this week. Plans for enlarging the scope of the chamber were announced at a dinner at the K. of P. hall Wednesday night.

Bement said there are an estimated 120 business and professional firms in Mason eligible for membership and that a sliding scale of dues has been established to spread the financial load as fairly as possible.

Four chamber committee chairmen, representing signs, solicitations, retail promotions and membership discussed accomplishments and plans for the year at the dinner. Al Rice, chairman of the signs committee, displayed

Jim Frew, chamber of Commerce committee chairman, announced at the monthly dinner Wednesday night that merchants will stage a pre-Easter sales event that week end. In addition the chamber will give away a bicycle and tricycle. Coupons for the drawing will be available in all Mason retail stores and in next week's issue of the Ingham County News. There's nothing to buy, Frew pointed out. And he said that each person can register as many times as he wishes. Coupons will be available beginning Thursday morning and the drawing will be Saturday afternoon.

Monday's Election Changes Lineup Of County Board

Elections in townships and cities Monday affected the board of supervisors.

Veteran Supervisor Fred Marshall of White Oak, a Republican, lost out by 6 votes to Delmar Carr, Democrat. Bernard Ward, completing his first term as Meridian supervisor, lost to James McClure, another gain for the Democrats. Burton Johnson, Wheatfield supervisor and a Republican, was not a candidate for re-election. He is succeeded by A. R. Allen, Democrat.

K. G. Brown of Williamston, veteran supervisor, lost out in a non-partisan contest. Dorr Eckhart, a Republican, will succeed Paul Rowe from Aurelius. Rowe was appointed to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Hubert Bullen. He was not a candidate for re-election. Eckhart is a Republican.

City Budget Is Pushed to Record High

Mason taxpayers will have to dig down deep and come up with a record amount in order to meet the budget submitted to and passed by the city council Monday night.

Budget Director Doris Austin presented a budget totaling $154,911. Of this amount Mason taxpayers will have to raise $67,021 by taxes. The rest of the city's anticipated expenditures will come from receipts and state funds.

This year's budget is $21,226 higher than the 1956-57 figure. Most of the increase is in the street department. Last year the actual expenditures were $30,000 under the actual expenditures.

The Mason budget is just about as high as it can legally go, according to Mrs. Austin. The city charter limits the amount to be raised by taxes to 2% of the city's assessed valuation. Based on the city's valuation of $3,381,450 the amount to come from taxpayers is $600 under the legal limit.

The council action of accepting the budget followed a budget hearing at 8 o'clock as is called for by the city charter. There were no taxpayers present to ask questions.

Building Begins At Parish School

Spalding Brothers of Okemos have been awarded the general contract for the remodeling of St. James church in Mason. Work on restoration of the former Nazarene church has meant removing interior partitions, installation of a new heating system, new boiler room and erection of classroom partitions and installation of windows. The job will be completed in September, according to Father Paul DeRose.

Father DeRose emphasized that it is still questionable whether or not the school will be opened in September. He said that the availability of nuns for teaching posts has not been determined. However, he said St. James parishioners are making every effort to have the school ready for occupancy.

An estimated 100 Roman Catholic youngsters in elementary grades will leave Mason and surrounding public schools and be enrolled in St. James when it is opened.

Continued Next Week

Because of election returns and other special features this week, some articles were crowded out. Many of them will appear next week.

Mayor and 2 Teachers Gain 3 Council Posts

Mason voters re-elected Mayor Alfred Forche and elected Abe Cohn and Gilson Pearsall to the council. Cohn and Pearsall are Lansing teachers. Forche is employed at Wyeth Laboratories Incorporated.

Robert Schaeffer was a close fourth in the 6-man contest. Both Harry Smith and Robert Tear did well in the third precinct but failed to keep up front in the other 2.

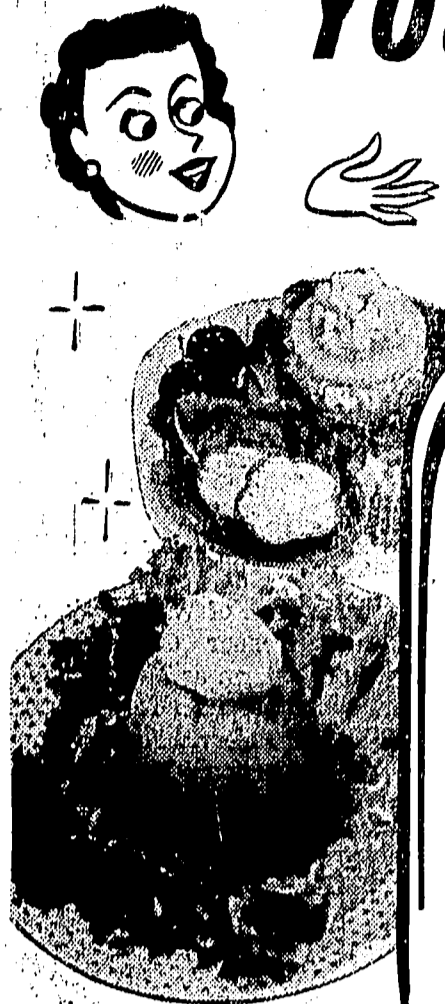

Cohn, former teacher and coach at Mason, repeated his primary victory of February 18 when he led the field of 7. Mordday he was out front in all 3 precincts. His unofficial total was 521. Mayor Forche was second with 418 and Pearsall third with 395.

New councilmen will take over Monday night, April 8. The council will pick a mayor at that time.

The unofficial totals were:

Council Denies Strobe Claim For $22,930

Ralph Strobe, guardian of Mrs. Jennie Strobe, will have to go to court in an attempt to collect $22,930.94 from the city for alleged negligence on the part of the city when Mrs. Strobe was hurt in a fall in December of 1953.

Councilmen went on record Tuesday night as denying the claim of Strobe.

Strobe has already filed the suit in circuit court.

According to Strobe, who was councilman at the time of the accident, his mother tripped over a pile of rods and sewer cleaning cables on the west side of Jefferson near Columbia. He also maintains that city employees gave his mother improper treatment when they tried to assist her.

Strobe's claim asks $22,930.94 for medical expenses which came out of his pocket, $10,000 for her pain and suffering and $10,000 for permanent disability.

Mrs. Strobe is a hospital patient.

The law firm of MacLean & Seaman of Lansing representing Strobe in the case.

Martin Outlines Interstate Plan On Milk Prices

Home Martin, organizer for the Dairy Farmers Cooperative association, held out the plum of a country-wide dairy farmers organization when he addressed about 250 farmers in Mason Friday night. In his talk which brought cheers from the crowd, Martin outlined a plan, which, if accomplished, would set price standards for wholesale milk all across the country. He explained that under the proposal, farmers in such states as Iowa, New York and Michigan would receive the same pay for fluid milk and would move in body instead of state by state and market by market in securing milk price agreements.

He declared surveys show there is only a 4% surplus of milk throughout the country. He defined surplus as milk over and above all processed dairy products.

The immediate inter-state organizational goal is the midwest and east from New York to Iowa. He announced that Sam Bailo, a former Fair Share officer, is temporary chairman of the inter-state group.

An Ingham county local of the DFC will be formed at a meeting in Mason Friday, April 12, when Leo VanBonn, present officer of the state organization, will attend. The group will elect local officers and a delegate who will be a representative to the inter-state council.

HAROLD PHILIP (right) of Philip Motor Sales, Mason, was among the nearly 300 Dodge dealers from all over the midwest who were on hand last week when the largest truck driveaway in the division's history was staged in Detroit. He is pictured above with D. A. Geil, Detroit area new truck manager.

Justice Court Actions

Roy W. Adams, Justice of Peace

Nate Conklin of Mason pleaded guilty to a drunk charge when he appeared before Judge Adams in Mason Wednesday. The judge gave Conklin his choice of paying fine and costs of $15 or serving 7 days in jail.

Traffic violation tickets reported settled in Judge Adams' court during the week were listed by him as follows:

Lester Swift, DeWitt, running stop sign, $4.

Edward Miller, St. Johns, improper passing, $5.

Harold Whitmore, Williamston, running stop sign, $4.

E. Guy Woodbridge, Grand Rapids, speeding, $10.

Joe Zaleski, Okemos, running stop sign, $4.

Robert C. Grosvenor, Lansing, speeding, $5.

Phillip E. Bannan, Jackson, speeding, $12.

Brengle Plans Dansville Talk

Members of Fair Share Bargaining association will hear Roland Brengle, South Lyon dairyman, when they meet at Ingham town hall in Dansville Monday night, April 8. The meeting is scheduled to begin at 8, according to Frank Trapp, Stockbridge, president of the Ingham local.

Brengle is president of the state association. He has not announced the topic, but will probably cover the proposed milk control legislation now before the legislature.

State Proposes Reconstruction Of City Streets

Michigan highway department officials dangled a $537,250 plum in front of the Mason city council Tuesday night.

Councilman Richard Morris presented an offer from the state highway department to re-build Columbia street from the bypass to State street, re-build Cedar street from Columbia to Ash, re-build and resurface Ash street from Cedar to the east city limits and do the same for Jefferson street from Ash to Lansing.

Included in the project would be a practically new bridge over the Sycamore on Ash street. The project is part of the state highway improvement program. These city streets carry M-36 through Mason.

There are lots of stumbling blocks in the path of the project, though, and most of them are the stately maple trees which line both sides of Ash street.

The highway department insists that the streets be widened to 46 feet if the project is adopted. Another item which stands in the way of the project is the city's share of the cost. The estimate presented Tuesday night calls for an expenditure of $105,700 by the city to help finance the project.

No action was taken Tuesday night by the council.

Delhi Woman Dies at Home

Rash has spent many years conducting Bible courses throughout the United States. The meetings start at 7:30 p. m.

Traffic Violators Keep Police Busy

Mason's police department had a busy month with traffic violators, according to the report submitted to councilmen Tuesday night by Chief Harry Chandler. Mason officers handed motorists 141 traffic tickets during the month. Of these 84 were for moving violations. The balance involved parking violations.

The reports indicated that Chief Chandler's law enforcement crew has a heart. The department handed out 214 warnings to motorists without presenting them with tickets.

If it weren't for traffic violators Mason's police force would have lots of opportunity to kill time. The department handled a total of 4 cases out of the traffic category, the report shows. There were 2 larceny and theft cases, one arrest for illegal possession of beer and one case of breaking and entering.

Speeding is the biggest problem in Mason, the report pointed out. There were 36 tickets issued for speeding or excessive speed and 49 warnings given. Nine collisions involving property damage were reported for March. There were no personal injuries or fatalities listed.

Mrs. H. J. Karm returned Saturday after spending 4 weeks in Bradenton, Florida.

Council Calls Public Hearing On Zone Change

Mason councilmen called for a public hearing Monday, April 22, to air a proposed amendment to the city zoning ordinance so that the Farm Bureau can move its offices to the former Slusser property at Jefferson and Okemos.

The planning commission recommended that Lots 1 through 11 stretching from the intersection of Jefferson and Okemos along both streets to Rayner creek be changed from A-residential to B multiple dwelling. A Farm Bureau office could be operated in the area under B zoning.

In other business Tuesday night councilmen authorized City Clerk George Kellogg to advertise for bids on 2 street projects. Bids on both jobs are to be in the hands of the clerk by April 15.

The first is for resurfacing West Columbia from State street to Cedar street with 2 inches of bituminous mat. The second project is the filling of 80,000 square yards of Mason streets and alleys to lay the dust.

The council tossed back to Realtor Carlton Kessler his plans for the proposed Brookdale subdivision off Kipp road. According to councilmen, Kessler has not complied with all the necessary steps in submitting the subdivision plans to the council for approval.

EOTC Plans Fund to Aid Polio Victim

Leslie EOTC club is forming a Marlene Beaumont Telephone fund account at the Peoples Bank of Leslie, by depositing $50. Past presidents of the club have added another $20. The Young Mothers club has voted $15 to be added.

Marlene Beaumont is the 11-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rex Beaumont, who was stricken with polio when 4. George, her brother, 15, was stricken at the same time but responded to treatment and was not left with paralysis.

Even though her schooling, officially consists of two 45-minute periods each week when Miss Louise Doty, the home-bound teacher goes to her, Marlene fall. Though paralyzed from her shoulders down, she wins blue ribbons in her 4-H county fair cooking, freezing and knitting. She has demonstrated her will to take her rightful place in society.

A home-to-school telephone service would allow Marlene to hear everything going on in class at the school, to recite just as the other students do, and to ask questions which might seem necessary to her. A system of 2-way speaker units would be used.

The EOTC club retiring president, Mrs. Ethelyn Brown and her special committee chairman, Mrs. John Gings, have made all tentative arrangements for furthering the plan.

They say the high installation cost plus the monthly service charge will be met only if many organizations and individuals contribute.

Money may be taken or sent directly to the Peoples Bank of Leslie, designated for the Marlene Beaumont Telephone Fund.

GM Presents Science Show

Magic performed in industrial research held the attention of audiences at 2 performances in Mason Tuesday. In the afternoon Conrad Vaughn of the General Motors public relations staff presented the GM Preview of Progress to high school pupils. Tuesday night he staged the show again for other children and parents. It was presented in the school auditorium. Both showings were enthusiastically received.

Vaughn was a guest at the dinner of Mason Kiwanis Tuesday night. The GM showing was sponsored by the Kiwanis club committee on vocational education.

Demonstrations included the making of synthetic rubber, jet propulsion, cooking with cold heat (induction), and operation of the GM sunmobile.

Vaughn came to Mason from Detroit and on Wednesday moved his demonstration to Jackson schools. There are 10 Preview of Progress units on the road for General Motors in the United States and Canada, Vaughn said. There are several in other countries also, he stated.

The object of the demonstrations, Vaughn explained, is to interest boys and girls to study mathematics and sciences. Scientific study and research must be developed, he said, if the United States is to keep its industrial and military supremacy. Russia is now turning out far more scientists than this country, he declared. Either American boys and girls must learn science or Russian, Vaughn asserted.

Mrs. Harry Silsby of Webberville spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Shultis. Mrs. Shultis is Mrs. Silsby's daughter.

Dansville Honors Coach and Champs

Coach Searl Briggs and his championship Dansville Aggies basketball squad, headed kind words Monday night. They and girl cheerleaders were guests of honor at a banquet staged at Walt's Grill on Grand River road west of Williamston. Dansville men were hosts.

Clarence (Sonny) Means, freshman basketball coach at Michigan State, lauded the play of the Dansville team which tied for the Ingham County league title, captured Class D district and regional titles and went to the state tournament. There Lady Luck frowned and the Aggies lost to Parma in the fleeting seconds of the quarter-finals.

George Alderton, sports editor of the Lansing State Journal, called Searl Briggs the dean of central-Michigan coaches whose teams always exemplify good sportsmanship. He called attention to the loyal support given Dansville athletic program by the community.

Nelson Brown of the Ingham County News pointed out that Dansville has a champion team far more frequently than most schools. He also praised cheerleaders and team followers.

Briggs, disclaimed personal credit for the success of the Aggies this season. He called this year's team one of his best, made up of boys who played "ball in every game. He thanked the townspeople for their support and expressed appreciation to all who had helped his cagers to win so many honors.

Gary Briggs and Francis Cappaert, assistant coach, won praise for the work they had done. Gary Briggs works with boys below high school age.

Means told of rule changes in basketball for next season. They will include the elimination of one-and-one foul shots on the first four in each half, and adoption of the "no slow, no foul" rule, which should slow down "blow-by" he pointed out that 3 of the 4 teams in the state high school "finals" lost even though they outscored opponents from the floor. Means prophesied that Michigan State will have another strong team next year. He showed movies of the Michigan State-Indiana game, where was present at Monday night's banquet. On that team were Lawrence (Bud) Swan, L. J. Swann, Jim Scripper, Keith Evans, Robert (Bud) Anderson, Charles Davis and Sam Williams.

Don Davis is on the traveling squad of Michigan State university's baseball team which has spent the past 10 days touring through the south. Davis is a junior pitcher.

Bulldogs Open Spring Season On Tuesday

Mason's baseball team hasn't had much of a chance to flex muscles with the spring weather until the past two weeks.

The season starts Tuesday night with a game scheduled for Athletic field with Howell.

Coach Bob Cone has had his boys outside for practice only 4 times so far. There are plenty of veterans back, so Mason's chances are not as bleak as some of the Capital Creek and Ingham County league teams which are starting fresh.

Mason's pitching staff is back for another session and should be the top one in the Capital Circuit. Dick Wheeler and Jerry Lumianski have served them up as regulars for the last two years. Behind this pair is Rod Calder, a fireballing left-hander.

Highest hope for Coach Cone to fill will be the receiver, Harry Hallenbeck was head and shoulderers above other candidates for 3 years. He went the way of all seniors, though. Right now Gary Calder is the top candidate. He has a little game experience and is a good hitter.

Mason is set at first base. Wheeler plays the position when he is not serving them up at the plate and Bruce Horton, though only a sophomore, broke into the lineup last year as a freshman.

Lumianski plays second when he is not pitching, and there are experienced players in the rest of the outfield Mike Holbrook and Dart Stone are back for another season.

The Bulldogs topped the league in hitting last year. Stone, Lumianski, Wheeler, Duane Clark and Tom Clipper all beat the ball often and far.

County Operational Costs Also Follow Upward Trend

Federal and state budgets are not the only budgets continuously going up. Frank S. Szymanski, auditor general, reported that the aggregate budget of Michigan's 83 counties climbed $16,000,000 between 1954 and 1955. For 1955 the counties spent $193,438,360.

Of that total, administrative and operating costs came to $30,177,242, maintenance and construction of highways amounted to $59,194,494, health and welfare totals were $65,804,253, drains cost $6,702,149, and miscellaneous county government expense reached $7,690,751. Capital outlay was $14,339,846 and interest on debt came to $529,626.

The revenue sources were: Property taxes, $94,354,286; state aid for highways, $57,313,364; state aid for welfare and health, $12,315,653; fees, licenses and permits, $6,502,249; state aid for miscellaneous items, $154,023; refunds, general, $1,713,361; refunds, health, welfare and medical assistance, $9,499,536; and miscellaneous county revenue $17,470,540.

Election Returns in 16 Townships Indicate Voters Know How to Split

Ingham voters find it easy to split their tickets. In several instances township party totals were as much as 100 votes up or down from township totals on the state tickets.

There were contests in 11 of Ingham's 16 townships. Unofficial totals are listed below:

Alaledon
Republicans were unopposed in Alaledon. Elected were Glen F. Watkins, supervisor; Lyle Oestert, clerk; Lewis Wilson, treasurer; Martin Allen, highway commissioner; George Butler, justice; Everett Thurston, and Loren Everett, trustees; Owen Smith, member of board of review; Lewis Wieland, member of board of review to fill vacancy; and Stanley Knopf, Harry Allen, Basil Fruin and Richard Schultz, constables.

By narrow margins, Alaledon voters approved 2 propositions to acquire a new town hall. They voted 164 to 126 in favor of bonding the township for $15,000 to finance the purchase of a site and building. They voted 164 to 151 to raise the tax limit by 2 mills for 4 years to pay off the bonds.

Aurelius
Republicans survived a Democratic threat in Aurelius. Dorr Eckhart, former township treasurer, was elected supervisor and all other Republicans on the ticket were elected. Aurelius lost both its veteran supervisor and clerk by death last year. Ray DeCamp, clerk, was killed in a tractor accident last summer, and Hubert R. Bullen, supervisor, died in November.

Unofficial returns in Aurelius with Republican victors listed first, were: Supervisor, Dorr Eckhart, 255; John B. Edgar, 198; clerk, Willis Droscha, 267; Cora Matthews, 181; treasurer, Robert Osborne, 280; Cleo Palmer, 170; trustees, Howard R. Smith, 263, and Dean Avery, 280; over Loren Spink, 184, and Walter Ganaway, 152; highway commissioner, Luman Klink, 251; Dorr Bateman, 198; justice, H. M. Sibley, 299; Duane Dagg, 151; member of board of review, Lyman Freshour, 248; Howard Clark, 200; constables, J. Arthur Klink, 263; Paul Simpson, 276; Cletus Strickling, 285; and Sam Cotton, 277; over Harold Strank, 167; Ernest Dalby, 165; Walter Weirauch, 160; and Edward Q. Daft, 173.

Bunker Hill
Democratic candidates took every office for which they had a candidate. They put up none against Mrs. Mareta Lawrence, Republican candidate for clerk. She polled 108 votes.

Democrats elected were: Supervisor, Austin Cavanaugh, 148; Francis Hamilton, 60; treasurer, Nella O'Brien, 128; Grace Herrick, 79; trustees, Ward Vicary, Jr., 118, and Sedgwick Lawrence, 125; over Rollin Rice, 77, and Robert Wilson, 85; highway commissioner, Reuben Knapp, 117; I. S. Batdorf, 86; justice, Bert Schertzing, 105; Almon Lathrop, 99; member of board of review, Edgar Artz, 110; Floyd Rice, 94; and constables, Everett Craft, 108; Thomas Cullen, 116; Arnold Jenkins, 114; and Clarence Tenison, 101; over James Zeitz, 94; Raymond Marz, 95; Willard New, 93; and Wayne Friernuth, 93.

Delhi
Delhi voters know how to split tickets. Democrats captured the majority of offices but there was a great variation in the vote. Republicans had to be content with election of the clerk, one trustee, member of board of review, 2 constables and a park commissioner.

By a vote of 1,840 to 441, Delhi voters approved a proposal to do away with caucus nominations in favor of township primaries. Delhi will be the third township to make the switch. Nominations by primary are now made in Lansing and Meridian townships.

Leroy
Leroy Republicans came through with flying colors Monday.

Ingham spends more of its revenues for welfare than either Macomb or Saginaw. Ingham 43.55% goes for health, welfare and medical assistance. In Saginaw the percentage for that purpose is 39.17 and in Macomb it is 26.77. In fact, according to the report of the auditor general, Ingham spends a greater percentage of its revenues for health, welfare and medical assistance than any of the so-called industrial counties except Muskegon.

Ingham spends a lower percentage on highways than other counties in its bracket—25.99% for Ingham, against 38.06 for Saginaw and 41.21 for Macomb. On administrative and operating expense, Ingham is lower than most industrial counties in percentage.

Wayne Vote Dooms State GOP Ticket

State Judicial Candidates Have Even Races in Ingham

While in the state at large, non-partisan candidates ran far apart, in Ingham the races were close. Ingham voters gave small margins to 2 Republicans and one Democrat for the 3 supreme court posts.

Ingham totals for the 4 candidates for 2 full terms were: O'Hara (R) 10,004; Smith (D) 18,062; Kavanagh (D) 17,073; Childs (R) 16,735. On the unexpired term the Ingham totals were: Moylan (R) 17,729; Voelker (D) 17,442. When it came to Ingham circuit judge, voters plumped for

Salt Firm Buys Picture Rights

Glenalle Titus, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melville Titus of Danville, may soon be seen in national magazine advertising. A picture, published in the Ingham County News last fall, of her and her Guernsey heifer calf, has been selected by the Carey Salt Co. of Chicago for advertising purposes. The calf won all honors in her class at the Southeastern Michigan Parish Guernsey show last fall and placed first in open judging and first in 4-H as a junior champion female.

The calf Enterprise and Glenalle were photographed by a Jackson Citizen-Patriot cameraman. Sam Street Hughes over the incumbent, Judge Theodore P. Ryan. The unofficial totals were: Hughes 25,182; Ryan 14,003.

Mason Postmen Win Safety Award

Postmen at Mason postoffice, who rack up more than 71,000 miles each year delivering mail, have been cited by the postal department for their safe driving record. Rural routes, plus city delivery of parcel post and the mounted route account for 5,185 miles of travel each week, according to Leslie Palmer, postmaster. Mason carriers went accident-free during 1956.

The citation from the postoffice department pointed out that Mason postal workers had a better driving record than the average throughout the Chicago postal region.

for a 2-year term as trustee. He had 96 to 91 for Henry Tobias. Unofficial totals on other offices, with Democratic victors listed first, were: Supervisor, A. R. Allen, 102; Alvin Launstein, 83; clerk, Norman Smalley, 106; Virgil Turner, 78; Lester Warner, 104; George Vandemark, 84; trustee, 4-year term, Harold Fisher, 101; George Elfert, 86; justice, George B. Frost, 107; Vern Bird, 80; member of board of review, Robert Mills, 100; Frank Elfert, 88; highway commissioner, Fred Dennis, 105, no opponent; and constable, Norman Rector, 104, no opponent.

White Oak
Last spring's milk strike probably caused the defeat of veteran supervisor Fred Marshall of White Oak. He lost to Delmar Carr, 132 to 126. Leaders in the strike staged a personal campaign against Marshall. Carr is a leader in the Grange and the 4-H program.

Republicans took other township offices. Results, with Republican victors listed first, were: Clerk, John Ward, 153; Maurice Felton, 105; treasurer, Charles Gauss, 155; Rae D. Collar, 103; justice, Milton Hudson, 143; Carroll Glynn, 110; trustees, John Osborn, 144, and Loal Townsend, 144; over Glen Walker, 113, and Orla Sheathell, 111; member of board of review, Lawton Votes, 161; Claude Laxton, 96; highway commissioner, Fred Smalley, 156; Arthur Harrison, 97; and constables, Merle Prude, 140; Art Lange, 160; Bill Nottingham, 158; and Glenn Sharland, 155; over Richard Wilcox, 103; William Bowen, 107, and Lawrence Oakley, 97.

Williamston
Republicans had around 80 votes to spare for township offices. Supervisor Earl Leeman and all his Republican ticket were elected. Unofficial returns, with Republicans listed first, were: Supervisor, Earl W. Leeman, 253; Fred Pesemmyer, 163; clerk, Glendora Bixby, 259; Ida Dmochowski, 160; treasurer, Harold Lockwood, 261; Willton Goetz, 158; highway commissioner, Kenneth Babbitt, 253; Louis Doby, 165; justice of the peace, Floyd Lockwood, 262; Wilbur Rykert, 155; trustees, Clarence Blossie, 254; Robert Brannan, 168; and Walter Koss, Jr., 146; member of board of review, Harold Powell, 253; Conrad Taschner, 166; and constable, Harry Marsh, 263; Dale Daly, 156.

Judge Adams Returns
Justice of the Peace Roy W. Adams returned to Mason Tuesday from a trip through the southwest. He encountered blizzards twice and had to change his route on one occasion. Because of the storm he had to skip a visit with a cousin in western Kansas.

Democrats Control Offices and Boards

Detroit and Wayne county's Democratic-Labor alliance doomed Michigan Republicans Monday. Republicans lost every state race — regents of the university, state superintendent of public instruction, state highway commissioner, members of the state board of agriculture (which governs Michigan State university), member of board of education and the 3 supreme court positions.

There was heavy voting in Detroit and in other industrial sectors. The outside Republican vote was comparatively light. With Democrats piling up margins of 125,000 over Republican rivals in Wayne county, Republicans faced too great a state margin down to 40,000, 60,000, 70,000 and 80,000, but that left them far outside the payoff circle.

The incumbent tags which grace the names of incumbent judicial officers on the non-partisan ballots and voting machines proved their advantage Monday.

In Ingham precincts where Republicans gained margins of 100 or more on partisan offices, Democratic candidates for non-partisan offices won out. Where voters do not know the candidates personally, they generally vote for the candidate with the office title printed below the name. Where candidates are known, the device, first cooked up by Republicans, fails to work its charm.

In Ingham county where voters knew Sam Street Hughes, they knew he was running for circuit court against Judge Theodore P. Ryan and they were not fuddled by the judge's title below his name.

When those elected Monday take state office, the entire 3 members of the state administrative board will be Democrats. The board of regents will be 4 Republicans and 4 Democrats and the state board of agriculture will be made up of 4 Democrats and 2 Republicans. The state board of education, which governs state colleges except Michigan and Michigan State, will be composed of 2 Republicans and one Democrat.

Democrats now have a majority on the state supreme court.

Mason Firemen Answer Alarms

Mason firemen answered 2 alarms for grass fires Saturday and Sunday and were relieved when rain began to fall Monday forenoon.

Delhi firemen also answered several grass fire calls Saturday and Sunday. On Saturday afternoon Mason firemen made a run to 454 Bond road in Aurelius to control a grass fire. The Sunday run was to a grass fire on Sandhill road.

Columbia Park Will Be Topic

Members of the Aurelius Garden club will meet at the town hall Friday night at 8 o'clock to discuss improvement and development of Columbia creek park. The project has been adopted by the club.

A representative of the parks division of the state conservation department will give an illustrated lecture. The meeting will be the regular gathering of the club. The president, Mrs. A. B. Ziegler, is urging all members to attend.

Crego Emerges As the Winner In Mayor Race

After one of the bitterest campaigns in Lansing's history, Mayor Ralph Crego apparently won re-election by 589 votes over a Democratic-Labor combination.

Frederick E. Tripp, who obtained a leave of absence from the governor's staff, has not conceded defeat. He said he is awaiting the report of the official canvass Thursday night. Some of his supporters have been intimating that a recount may be asked.

The unofficial tally gave Crego 12,681 votes against Tripp's 12,092.

It was Lansing's first election under its new charter which provides for election of 4 councilmen at large and 4 by wards. The number of wards has been slimmed to 4 from the previous 8.

Elected aldermen-at-large were Lucille Belem, Robert S. E. Books, Stanley G. Peck and Max E. Murningham. The first 3 carried the endorsement of a labor group. In ward contests Fred L. Kirchner of the first, Alvin S. Potter of the second, Horace J. Bradshaw of the third and Lawrence E. Heller of the fourth were elected.

A straw vote indicated that Lansing favors retention of bus services under private ownership but with a subsidy provided the company if its operations show losses.

Three women were elected to Lansing's board of education in a school election.

Rural Teachers Plan Convention

Bay county will be host to the Michigan Rural Teachers convention on April 11, 12 and 13. All sessions will be held in Bay City. Headquarters will be at the Wenonah Hotel.

Dr. Ernest O. Melby, visiting professor in the college of education at Michigan State university, will be the main speaker at the general assembly Friday morning. Dr. Melby joined the Michigan State university staff in September, 1956 and will serve on the faculty until August, 1957. He came to Michigan from New York State university where he was dean of education.

James Ten Brink, Muskegon county superintendent of schools, president of MRTA, will preside. Friday is the big day, with morning, afternoon and night meetings, panel discussions and banquets.

Rebekah District 13 Has 32nd Annual Meeting

The 32nd annual meeting of Rebekah district 13 was conducted at Lansing Friday. At the afternoon session, district officers introduced by the hostesses, Lodges, Cleaners 74 of Lansing, were: President, Gwen Walker of Cleaners 74; vice-president, Alice Catlin, Cedar 25, Webberville; secretary, Laurine Bailey, Eden 245 of Stockbridge; treasurer, Ardith Clark, Howell 345; and junior past-president, Lavisa Flower, Pride of Ingham 496, Lansing.

Several of the Rebekah Assembly of Michigan officers were present including Helen Gray, president, Ypsilanti; Hope Sheldon, secretary, Bay City; and Zelta Timpani, treasurer, Detroit.

Ardith Clark, treasurer of district 13, presented checks to Myrtle Page, treasurer of the camp board for the Odd Fellow and Rebekah camp at Big Star lake, and to Hope Sheldon, Assembly secretary for the Odd Fellow and Rebekah home at Jackson. The checks were the total of the collections taken at district visitations during the year. Additional checks were presented to Myrtle Page for the camp and to Lila Stoner, matron of the home at Jackson, by representatives of various district lodges. All checks to the home were to be used to furnish a room in the memory of Ada Gibson, past-president of the Rebekah Assembly of Michigan, who was killed on her way home from Assembly in 1953.

During election of officers for the district, presiding officers were advanced and Gay Broadway, was elected treasurer.

Assignments given in the afternoon were by Holt 446, Lansing 443, Eden 245 and Eureka 241.

The evening session was opened to the public for a time. A memorial was given by Capitol 274 of Lansing honoring those who were deceased since last district meeting. A vocal solo was given by Norman McCloud, and a tap dance by Nancy McCloud and Lee Parks, all of Lansing. Marching Gypsy drill team of Grand Rapids was on the program.

The meeting was then closed to the public. The attendance trophy was presented to Holt 446 by Gwen Walker. There were 200 registered for the afternoon and evening sessions, and 16 of the 22 past presidents of district 13 who are still living and active in the order were present at either the afternoon or evening session.

Helen Gray, assembly president, presented certificates of perfection to Margaret Hotchkiss, Esther Myers and Helen McNaughton, who qualified in the untried work.

The new district officers were seated by Cedar 25 of Webberville. They are: Alice Catlin, president; Laurine Bailey, vice-president; Ardith Clark, secretary; Gay Broadway, treasurer; and Gwen Walker, junior vice-president.

An invitation from Cedar 25 of Webberville to have the next district meeting in 1958 at Webberville was accepted.

The trial date is nearing

The accident which resulted in the death of a boy happened on March 1. That accident and resulting events also resulted in the greatest number of letters ever received by the Ingham County News upon one subject. The letters have been interesting and informative and have brought home to all of us the necessity to drive and ride and walk on highways with the greatest of caution.

Inasmuch as the dates for court proceedings are nearing, the best course would appear to be to permit the courts and lawyers to present and develop the facts without being handicapped with much more public expression of opinion. So let's conclude the main arguments in the case, leaving next week only for rebuttal.—The Editors

Letters to the Editor

A Reply

We had intended our last week's letter to be the last one concerning the accident in which Ronnie Strickling was killed last March 1, but we seem to be the ones addressed by the article signed just as "Another Driver." Although we don't have the privilege of saying Mr. or Mrs. or Miss, whichever the case may be, we do want to say that we do have a rocking chair in our home but we did leave it long enough to go to the scene of the accident and call on the sheriff's department. We have been to the scene of the accident not once but several times and I'm sure we have "a good clear picture in our minds of what happened," altogether too clear. Do you, "Another Driver," know for sure just how fast Mr. DeZeeuw was traveling when he hit Ronnie? How far the bicycle was dragged by Mr. DeZeeuw's car? Did he start for the other side of the road before or after he had already hit Ronnie? Those skid marks, their length, where they started, and the marks of the bicycle being dragged were all there to be seen and measured. Yes, these measurements are of great importance. Friends and neighbors did the measuring as you will know if you go to the hearing April 16 in Okemos.

As for the accident concerning the 18-year-old Kerry driver on M-78, we are sure that it is in capable hands as it was from the very beginning but we will admit we didn't quite understand how the length of time it took the Kerry boy to get from Okemos to M-78 and Abbott road would have any more bearing on that accident than if we asked how long it took Mr. DeZeeuw to come from Mason to the scene of the accident on Columbia road? But "Another Driver," we are interested in knowing why Mr. DeZeeuw didn't slow down, blow his horn, and perhaps, even stop if he thought those boys were not obeying their traffic rules. If the boys had been closer to the bottom of the hill we could well understand why Mr. DeZeeuw might not have had a chance to avoid the accident but from the top of the hill with nearly a half mile of good clear vision to see the boys in, as Mr. Doesburg says in his letter, "does anyone know of a greater danger signal than that?" Perhaps they were playing a game, as "Another Driver" suggests, and should a boy of 14 be doing this? We wonder if "Another Driver" has ever driven out through East Lansing and up by the college? Many of those young men are well past 14 but they will dash across an intersection on their bicycles and sometimes a group will be acting just as silly and careless as any 14-year-old could ever act, and we assume that they should be old enough to know better, too. You just have to watch out for them, that's for sure.

We hope "Another Driver" does not always pass any school children on the road riding bicycles with the assumption they will not ever make a turn out onto the other side of the road because sometimes when they look back they will wobble right toward you. Quoting from Mr. Doesburg's letter again, "It should mean slow down and toot, toot, your horn until you have passed through the bicycle danger zone."

Yes, "Another Driver," Mr. DeZeeuw is coming up for examination on April 16, not due to the original investigation conducted by the sheriff's department but due to the insistence of the people of the community it was finally brought to the attention of the prosecuting attorney. Yes, we agree and we do hope that when it comes to thank God that jury will be unbiased and will have a chance to hear all the facts before arriving at a verdict.

That is as it should be but no matter what the verdict, justice will prevail. But the sad part is that even so it can't stop these needless accidents before they happen. The only way for that to be is for all of us to "my brother's keeper be." We sign our names as usual and again thank the editor for our space.

GERALD & MARION ROBINSON, Holt

Views Are Set Forth

The person, whoever he is, who signed his letter, "Another Driver." What he does not know about the Strickling accident far outweighs what he might know. He didn't even read our letters straight. As far as the accounts in the papers, they print news as it is given to them and it isn't their fault if they aren't given the straight facts.

Who is sitting home in his rocking chair to criticize? We went to see the officers and did our criticizing to them. We live only a short distance from the scene of the accident and I was among some of the first to get to the boy. I feel that we know more of the facts than this writer thinks he does. I also feel that the needless death of a school boy is more than an accident. I also saw just how much upset emotionally this driver was over what he had done. Yes, I surely hope he will be tried by an unbiased jury, but one with a sense of justice, too.

Mr. and Mrs. Robinson's statements were all very true. Ronnie was struck down without warning. Even the driver admitted he didn't warn them. Ronnie was struck in the right lane of traffic—not the left. The car did not wind up 15 feet off the road. Had he gone that far off the road in the direction those skids showed he would have wound up wrapped around a fair-sized elm tree that stands there. He wouldn't have nonchalantly climbed into his car and driven to Kalamazoo that night. I have had people more upset over hitting my dog than he was over that boy.

Yes, the Kerry boy admitted he was speeding. He was honest. We know the measurements of his skid marks. We also know the measurements of the marks on Columbia road a week after the accident and some of them had been erased by traffic. They were just as startling as those of the Kerry boy.

We also know about the game that children play, but the boys said they weren't playing it. If they were, that would have been reason enough for the driver to have slowed down and to have blown his horn. As I see it, anyone who comes up behind children without warning at 45-50 mph should be held responsible for his negligence. If "Another Driver" had been over the scene of this accident he would have seen where all the room referred to was.

Another Driver must be one of 2 people—a friend or relative of the driver or the bungling officer on the case. At least, he either is not sure of his facts or is ashamed of his stand. I wouldn't write anything I didn't want my name printed under.

As far as the narrowness of Columbia road, I agree. However, if a road is not made for 90 mph traffic, why try to travel that fast? It only proves that the driver was driving too fast for conditions.

BERTHA BULLEN, Mason

Driver Is Blamed

This is in answer to the letter written by "Another Driver." If he drives as thoughtlessly as he writes, I hope that neither he nor Jacob DeZeeuw ever has the opportunity to drive up behind one of my boys.

He seems to be certain and determined as to his point of view. If he is so sure of his facts why did he hesitate to sign his name? Is it because he is not quite so sure? Or is it because he has a personal connection? At least the others were willing to sign what they had written.

As for comparing accidents, it is not necessarily so, but, the main difference is that one was a teenager while the other driver was a company executive. The teenage Kerry boy admitted that he was driving 60 mph and still they did not take his word, they made test skid marks to see, in the accident on West Columbia, DeZeeuw said he was driving 40-45 mph. They did not even bother to measure the skid marks until later.

Did "Another Driver" know how long those skid marks were? Was he interested to that extent? He seems to have all his facts about the Kerry boy. Does he by any chance know how long it took DeZeeuw to travel from Mason to the place on West Columbia road where he struck and killed my brother? That too is a fact which should not be discounted.

I will grant the fact that one boy did see the car which the boy said was about 2 car lengths behind then. This gave him no

Unsigned Letters

All letters to the editor must be signed. While the letter is less effective if the name of the writer does not appear in print, occasionally one is so printed. In all cases, though, the letter before it is printed must bear the signature of the writer. In the case of one letter which appeared in the Ingham County News last week, it was signed and the signature should have appeared. Somehow in the process of making up the page, the name and address of the writer was left out.

more than a couple of seconds, not enough time to even warn his companions, or do anything, but dive into the ditch. If DeZeeuw had blown his horn before he reached those boys and had given them any warning they most certainly would not have been in his way.

As for the game which they might have been playing, it has very little bearing on the case. As was stated, they were playing. If they were playing such a game DeZeeuw should have known it before he reached them. He had a half a mile of clear vision ahead to see those boys. If they were playing (a statement made by "Another Driver") all the more reason why DeZeeuw should have slowed his speed and given them all the warning and time they needed to get out of his way. This does not excuse him. Please remember, he drove up behind them. If he didn't like what they were doing, why didn't he stop his car, get out and give them a good talking to? Was he in that big a hurry? He would not have been delayed as long as he was by the accident, and a fine boy would not have had to have sacrificed his life so needlessly.

One day we drove over a hill and there were 2 small girls sitting in the center of the road playing in the snow. On another occasion we saw a small boy lying in the gravel in the center of the road, piled up by the scraper. But regardless of the facts, we felt responsible for those children. Just because we were right and they were wrong, it did not give us the right to run them down in the road. We merely gave them time to get out of the way.

You can never take a set of children's shoulders and put an adult head on them. Children are meant to play. They wouldn't be normal, healthy children if they didn't. If "Another Driver" has any children of his own he does not need to be told this.

I can not help but wonder what he would be doing, now if the victim had been a child of his and he felt such a tragic accident had been so unnecessary.

He thanks God that Mr. DeZeeuw will have a trial by jury. So do I. The jury shall hear all of the true facts, though they may not necessarily be the ones "Another Driver" has stated.

More than this though, I think God that most drivers are more careful and more considerate of our younger generation. Children are carefree, happy-go-lucky and maybe at times unthinking. That is why we must think for them and watch over them. After all, isn't this what makes us adult and them children?

Wonder Expressed

I have been reading with interest and wonder the letters concerning the striking boy who was killed on West Columbia road. I am wondering, indeed, Mr. and Mrs. Robinson of Holt would be young accoutions and condemnations if either of them hit an unpredictable child on the road. Yes, the children on foot, going and returning from school are as unpredictable as boys on bicycles and I have seen many drivers, some of the letter writers included, passing children much too fast to be able to stop within the required distance if a child suddenly dodged in front of their car.

I have also seen it necessary for cars to wait for a group of youngsters on unpredictable horses to cross to the other side of the road. I have seen them riding, some on one side of the road, some on the other, and running their horses on the road. Using as busy a road as ours for a bridge path is inviting accident, especially when traffic is heavy with Sunday drivers and men returning from work. Do you parents of these children recognize your selves and consider these good safety habits?

There has also been much discussion about blowing the horn when approaching children. Readers, how many of you have had disrespectful language, gestures, snarls, and so on hurled at you, because you blew your horn to alert them?

Also, wouldn't it be wise for parents to keep children on bikes off the road at peak hours of traffic, unless necessary? How many children do you see just riding aimlessly, nowhere in particular to go, but just riding, circling, averting and turning without a look back of them, to see if a car might be coming?

It seems that parents might better forbid riding, that way, make children know and obey safety rules, and teach respect for the car driver before being allowed to ride. That's better. Whenever a child is killed that way, too, many of us could say,

"There but for the grace of God, go I." We could either be the bereaved parents or the person who had killed the child.

The letter writers are not alone, I, myself, and many, many others could also say, "It could happen to me." But if I were the one to undoubtedly hit a child I would not like to be insisting on arrest and criticizing officers who had reported it unavoidable.

Nobody is going to hit anything, even animals, much less children, if he can help it, though we do drive too fast sometimes. My deepest sympathy goes to Mr. and Mrs. Strickling.

I also have sympathy for the man who hit the child. He will always remember that he killed a child and maybe he and his family will be paying with having a husband and father in jail.

INTERESTED DRIVER, Mason

Classmate Writes

I would like to know who wrote the letter last week. The one signed a driver. How does that person, whoever he is, know if Ronnie was counting to 3 and making a circle? He doesn't know and he has no right to say so.

At the scene of the accident the man who hit Ronnie said, "I didn't see him." And a little while ago he said he saw the boys making circles in the road. If he saw them then, why didn't he honk his horn or slow down?

I don't think he knows what he saw. Why didn't he go around them? There was nothing coming from the other direction.

There is no reason why that man couldn't have avoided hitting Ronnie. That man could have taken to the ditch. He wouldn't have hurt himself very much in that heavy car. Even at the speed he was going he should have been able to stop in time. He had all the way from the hill, about a half-mile to see them and stop. He should know he shouldn't go about 50 miles an hour in a school zone anyway. That man must not have much of a conscience if he can kill a boy and go about his business as if nothing happened.

The sheriff's department hasn't done much about it. At the accident scene they just listened to the man who hit Ronnie. Then they let him go free. They should have taken tests on the skid marks then. That man could have at least gone to Ronnie's parents and explained how it happened. And he could have also gone to the Eaton Rapids hospital and inquired how the boy's condition was at that time. But, no, he was already late getting back to Kalamazoo so he couldn't take the time.

JANET HARTENBURG, One of Ronnie's Classmates

Answers Are Sought

I would like to ask the person who calls himself "Another Driver," why he did not give his name. I am just a mother, but I would like to ask some questions. Did you read the driver's prayer? Well, you should. It's plain to see you never have taken a child from the highway, or put a child's clothes and school books away and know its forever. Nor have you seen a child's horse and dog waiting at a gate for a pal to come and play. Well, Mr. Driver, I have.

My child lay in bed for almost a year because another driver did not have time to slow down on the highway.

Who are you to sit in your rocking chair and ask if people knew the game Ronnie was playing? Only God in heaven can say. They tell about our teen-age girls and boys driving cars. What's happened to our older drivers? Our country children don't have sidewalks, that's why mothers pray drivers will watch over children playing along the highways.

If a driver doesn't have to sound his car horn or let up on the gas, then I say, please God in heaven, don't make mothers send their children on the highway, the drivers all have the right-of-way because the road signs say 55 and 65 miles per hour. A child in the city has 25-mile speed zones to help them. Is their no help for our country children on the highway.

Fishing, Too

I read the "Florida Sunshine" letter from Claude and Helen Smith of Coral Gables, and think that Mason people should know that we have as much or more sunshine on the west coast as on the east side of Florida, and that I think that we have better fishing. For proof I am sending a picture of fish I caught last week at Boca Grande which is about 40 miles south of Sarasota. It is an island between the gulf and Gasparilla Bay.

The fish was a red fish or channel bass, and weighed in at 21 lb., 10 oz. and measured 40 inches long. As I have many relatives and friends in Ingham county who would likely doubt such a story from me, I am having the fish mounted so I can bring it home. The meat of this catch is in the freezer, awaiting the arrival of our daughter, Mrs.

Howard Gill and family of East Lansing, also Dr. Malcolm Dolbee of Standish. They are coming to Florida in April for a visit and a little fishing.

We will be coming home in May after our children return to Michigan. Like Claude said, after spending a few winters in Florida, you learn to relax and enjoy the fine weather here, but it is nice to know we have a nice home in Michigan to go back to when it gets too warm here.

You must come to Florida some time in midwinter to see how nice it is out of the snow and ice.

Flood Control

Michigan won senate approval of 4 navigation and flood control projects last week—but they still have a long and bumpy road to travel before construction begins. Wrapped in the 1957 rivers and harbors bill were these proposed works: St. Joseph harbor, Kalamazoo river, Grand river and Saginaw river.

Believe it or not, a project of this type—with luck—can get under way after completion of 20 long legislative steps, involving hundreds of local citizens, army engineers, members of congress, and the president himself. Each step may require months for completion. It would take this entire column to thoroughly describe the process, but there's some satisfaction in knowing that the system was devised to protect the taxpayer.

The evening stone hallways of the U. S. capitol are thronged with visitors these days. They come to glisten, enjoy the fresh spring air, goggle the budding cherry blossoms, and visit their senators. Last week over 200 visitors from all corners of the state—as far north as Marquette and as far south as Barren—called at my office. Mr. and Mrs. Duane Baldwin of Stockbridge were among them. John Young, led 85 Detroit Free Press newsboys into my office Friday morning and the entire sixth grade of Maize School in Grosse Pointe, led by Mrs. H. G. Brilmeyer, solemnly marched through my office for an inspection.

Cat Rescue

Your brief news item about the firemen's rescue of the cat from the tree aroused my curiosity. That wasn't the way I heard the story.

Instead of any Boy Scout method of climbing the tree to get the cat, the firemen used the firehose to release it. This brutal method wasn't completely successful, because the cat fell only part way, and caught herself on a lower branch of the tree. More frightened than ever, she climbed back to the top again. This time the firemen turned forceful streams of water on her. Temporarily stunned, she fell to the ground, then ran away. Whether she will survive the birth of her kittens, if she is still alive, I haven't heard.

But don't be awarding any merit badges for kindness to animals, when the exact opposite is true.

Part 3

FOR MICHIGAN WEEK — Production workers in a Detroit plant are pictured as they work on the 1,000 Michigan flags which will be sold throughout the state by Junior Chamber of Commerce chapters in connection with the fourth annual Michigan Week celebration, May 19 to 25. The present flag, adopted by the Michigan legislature in 1911, has the state coat-of-arms on a blue field. Only a few flags were in existence when the first Michigan Week was observed in 1954 and this year it is expected that the number in use will more than double as Michigan Week committees urge widespread display of the banner.

Ingham County Cancer Crusade Opens

Medical science has scored great progress in control of cancer but the disease will claim 255,000 lives in the United States this year, it was announced as the ninth annual Ingham county Cancer Crusade opened Monday.

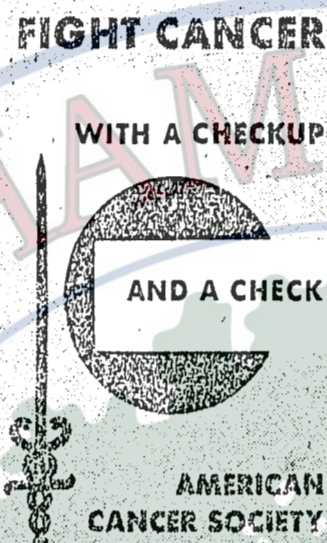

"Prompt treatment or surgery can now save one cancer patient in every 3 cases detected," was the hopeful word issued by Vincent McKouen, Lansing, chairman of the 1957 cancer drive.

The Ingham unit of the American Cancer Society will speak to cause $14,500 during the April drive to finance continued research and education and to provide local services to county cancer patients.

McKouen said recent advances can save about 75,000 persons from death by cancer each year. Last year 232 deaths in Ingham county were attributed to cancer.

The county cancer society operates a free cancer detection center, loans all types of sickroom supplies to cancer patients, and sponsors an extensive educational grants to Michigan State university.

The Ingham drive for funds to fight cancer was launched April with distribution of 70,000 letters to residents, urging them to be alert to dangers of cancer and to enroll in the public drive to combat the disease.

McKouen said the aid of hundreds of volunteer workers and organizations will be enlisted during the April crusade which also will include tag days in Lansing and East Lansing April 5-6 and sale of carnations for cancer April 25-26. Special events in out-county areas will be directed by Sheriff Willard Barnes.

"According to present rates, cancer will strike 1 in every 4 Americans now living," McKouen said. "Out of every 6 deaths from all causes in the United States, one is caused by cancer."

"In Ingham county, 16% of all deaths are due to cancer."

McKouen said a major function of the Ingham county society is sponsorship of a public campaign to encourage early detection and treatment of cancer. In addition, the society provides full data on research developments to local physicians.

"We are asking that Ingham county residents help fight cancer with a check and a check-up," McKouen declared. "The check will help continue the research now underway as medical science seeks new methods to effectively curb cancer and the check-up with a family physician will help early detection of incipient cancer at a time when there still is a good chance that it can be successfully cured."

Congress Proclaims Cancer Month

April is Cancer Crusade month by act of congress. The Ingham county unit of the American Cancer Society today reminded local citizens that the 7 "danger signals" of cancer are:

1. Unusual bleeding or discharge.
2. A lump or thickening in the breast or elsewhere.
3. A sore that does not heal.
4. Persistent change in bowel or bladder habits.
5. Persistent hoarseness or cough.
6. Persistent indigestion or difficulty in swallowing.
7. Change in wart or mole.

The Ingham county unit, now seeking $14,500 to continue the fight against cancer, maintains a free cancer detection center at 533 S. Grand, Lansing, and offers free information on cancer to anyone interested.

First Luke H. Kelly Award Goes to Allegan Student

Charles Kelsey of Allegan, a junior student at Michigan State, was the first recipient of the Luke H. Kelly award presented during a session of the Future Farmers of America convention at MSU last week.

The award is made in honor of the late Luke H. Kelly whose life was devoted to promotion and improvement of agricultural education and the Future Farmers of America organization. He had served as an agricultural consultant in the division of vocational agricultural education in the department of public instruction for 18 1/2 years. During that time, he served as secretary-treasurer of the Michigan Association of Future Farmers of America for several years and saw the organization grow from 6,000 to almost 11,000 members. Many of the activities in which Future Farmer members participated were the result of his efforts and inspirations.

Kelly was assigned to India by the foreign operations administration of the state department of Washington April 1, 1952. He returned to his position in the state department of public instruction on July 1, 1953.

He had direct association with 234 agricultural departments in his work from the state office and previous to going to the state office he was a teacher-trainer, supervising the training of teachers at Okemos. Previous to his work at Okemos he was at Hallett, taking care of the same kind of services of teachers. Nearly all teachers of vocational agriculture in Michigan, and many of the people in agricultural work of other agencies knew and were friends of Luke H. Kelly.

Former Resident Had Lodge Rites

Lloyd W. Ferguson, 72, who died in Tucson, Arizona, March 23, was buried in the Masonic cemetery there. He was a member of Epes Randolph lodge F&AM and of the Arizona Commandary No. 1, Knights Templar. He was also a patron of the Eastern Star. The pastor of the Tucson First Methodist church officiated at the funeral services.

The Ferguson family moved to Tucson from Mason 20 years ago. Surviving are the wife, Leola, 2 sons, Homer M. and Doren, all of Tucson; daughters, Mrs. Alice Fair of Holt and Mrs. Ardis Gabriel of Oklahoma City; a sister, Mrs. Alice Mosier of Whittier, Calif.; and a brother, Ralph, of Detroit.

The Luke H. Kelly award is presented to a student majoring in agricultural education and who is preparing to teach vocational agriculture. It is based on the need for financial assistance and is given to students who have outstanding leadership ability and worthiness. The award is $200 and is to be used by the recipient during the term he is taking his practice teaching. It will be given annually to a deserving student during the annual State Future Farmers of America convention.

DePauw Grads to Meet

Former students at DePauw university will gather at Kellogg Center Saturday at 12:15 for a luncheon honoring the DePauw president, Russell Humbert, and other university executives. Reservations may be made with Judge Earl E. McDonald in Lansing.

Harvard Awards Doctor's Degree To Mason Man

At a recent convocation Harvard university awarded a doctor of public administration to Frank W. Suggitt of 2828 Phillips road, Mason. Dr. Suggitt heads the department of resource development at Michigan State university. He is a graduate of Michigan State and in 1951-52 he earned a master's degree at Harvard. Last summer he received a 3-month leave of absence from MSU to write his thesis for the doctor's degree.

Before becoming head of the resource development department at MSU, Dr. Suggitt was an extension specialist in land use planning.

For 9 years the Suggitts have lived at 2828 Phillips road. There are 4 children, one who comes into Mason to school, 2 who attend Sandhill school and another of pre-school age.

Dr. Suggitt was one of 265 students to receive midyear degrees at Harvard. They were from 29 states and 8 foreign countries.

Since there were no ceremonies in March, midyear degree candidates are invited to the June commencement exercises, where they may march in the procession and receive their diplomas.

Internal Revenue Service Gets Income Tax Payments

Checks or money orders in payment of any taxes due in filing 1956 federal income tax returns should be made payable to the Internal Revenue Service, Assistant District Director James F. Deane of the Michigan office of the tax agency, cautioned.

He again reminded taxpayers that the federal tax agency dropped the title "Bureau of Internal Revenue" 4 years ago in favor of the new designation, "Internal Revenue Service." The change was one of several under a reorganization program designed to bring more modern business methods and efficiency to bear in the annual collection of federal revenue from more than 100 taxes—a total of more than $75 billion during the last fiscal year.

space normally provided on a check or money order. This, and a desire to obtain uniformity of designation, prompted the simplification, Deane explained.

For several years prior to 1956 such payments were made to the district director of internal revenue, and for many years before that to the collector of internal revenue. Many taxpayers, in filing their returns last year, failed to note the change of payee, Deane said.

It was recognized that it was difficult to write either of the 2 titles previously used in the

HE: Right! This J-2 Rocket* is really a new driving experience!
 FRIEND: Well, I've handled a Rocket Engine before, but nothing like this. They've always had pep, but this one's got that extra pep when you need it!
 HE: Don't forget economy.
 FRIEND: Yes, but you can't feel economy.
 HE: Feels pretty good to the pocketbook.
 FRIEND: Right! But it beats me how you get economy with a big car like Olds.
 HE: Easy. For cruising around, you just use one dual-barrel carburetor.

 HE: Not a bit. I've got regular Rocket performance right through the economy range. And believe me, that's plenty. But if you need more power...
 FRIEND: Then what?
 HE: Go to Stage Two. You just saw what that does. Give it three-quarters throttle and you've got three dual carburetors dishing up more power and torque.
 FRIEND: Tell you the truth, I've always liked an Olds. Thought we might get one ourselves some day.
 HE: Checked the price lately? You'd be surprised how easy it is to own.

Hog Farrows Remain Same as 1956

By CARL COLLIN

Hog raisers have been urged by Secretary Benson to hold close to their production plans as indicated by a March 1 report of 1957 spring crop intentions. Farmers in 9 corn belt states indicated in the report that they expected to have about the same number of sows farrow this spring as last. These 9 states account for about three quarters of the total output for the country.

The size of the spring pig crop will depend on the number of pigs saved per litter. A good record of pigs saved could boost number of pigs for market in the latter part of the year quite a bit. Some economists figure more hogs later this year and early next year is almost a sure thing. The favorable feed ratio in the last several months plus the prospect for plenty of cheap feed provide quite an incentive for boosting hog output. The failure to get new corn crops through Congress has made a large crop fairly certain, weather and other growing conditions being average or better.

The government's 1957 crop planting intentions report that came out a week or so ago showed the acreage planted to 59 different crops would be 15 million acres less than last year. However, that doesn't mean that production will be reduced by as large a percentage as the reduction in acreage. Most farmers will put their least productive land in soil bank yields, which are increasing all the time, and generally the spring planting season looks more favorable than at this time last year.

State by state reports on participation in the conservation reserve plan of the soil bank show that one out of five contracts signed was for a farm's entire eligible acreage. It looks like 5 to 6 million acres will be included in the conservation reserve for this year. Deadline date for signing up is April 15.

Over a half-million tons of farm commodities obtained with $70 million of foreign currencies were shipped abroad last month. Shipments for the first seven months of the fiscal year rose to almost 4.3 million tons worth, or about $1 billion.

Disposal of farm surpluses abroad at reduced prices and on special terms continues to evoke criticism from competing countries. They come chiefly from South Africa, New Zealand, Australia and Canada. New Zealand declares that survival in international trade is becoming difficult for small countries dependent upon exports of two or three commodities for foreign exchange.

There's a new red potato wax out for coating spuds. It's a specially compounded wax-in-water emulsion designed to reduce shrinkage through control of moisture loss. It also helps potatoes retain a natural appearance, increasing customer appeal. One gallon of the stuff will cover about 10,000 lb of potatoes.

Buying of stocker and feeder cattle and calves this winter is running the lightest in three years, down 6% from a year ago. All the decrease has been in Ohio, Illinois and Michigan. Most of the increases have been in Iowa, Nebraska and Minnesota. Iowa and Nebraska are the two big feeder states; they account for 54% of the total in the nine principal midwestern feeder states.

It's a question whether the recent heavy snows that came under blizzard conditions did more damage than good. Certain areas of the drought plagued southwest did get some moisture in substantial amounts. But cattlemen took a severe beating in New Mexico, and blowing snow hurt wheat crops in other parts of the area. The melting snow will help winter wheat get started this spring. The basic deficiency of moisture down in the subsoil hasn't been helped much.

Analysing the latest farm census figures, the National Livestock Producer magazine shows the trend in specialization on American farms. Farm life today is too complex for any farmer to be "Jack of all trades and master of all." The old cow-sow-hen operation is gone or going. The same holds true for owners of small inefficient herds and flocks. The trend is toward keeping enough animals for efficient and productive units, or not at all.

Since 1920, the number of U.S. farms raising hogs has declined 51%. The number raising cattle has gone down 32%. The vital force of economics makes it unprofitable to operate the small operations.

Miscellany. . . Largest payment to withhold production under the soil bank program last year was $61,354 paid in Kansas. . . More than a billion broilers were produced in 1956 in the 22 important producing states. The leader was Georgia, with 223 million. . . In less than a year the CCC has bought more than 140 million lb of butter to help support dairy prices. This is more than 10% of the butter produced. . . Canadian hog slaughter this year is expected to be down about 8% from 1956. During 1956 the U. S., which takes about 80% of Canada's pork exports, imported 51.2 million lb of pork and pork products from Canada. . . There are signs that ranchers in the southern plains are holding back more cattle because of improved moisture conditions. A break in the drought could start an increase in numbers of cattle, reversing the current trend.

Plant Food Yields Most Profits With Good Crop Policy

FERTILIZER returns the most profits per dollar invested when farmers use good crop production practices, reports the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee, in citing a recent statement by R. H. Blosser, Ohio State University farm economist.

"Corn yields were 35 bushels higher from an 800-pound fertilizer application than from a 200-pound application, when good production practices were used on both fields," says the committee.

"But the increase from the higher fertilizer application was only 20 bushels, when poor methods were used."

Fertilizer boosts crop yields cuts costs of production.

These yields came in tests at the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station.

Among "good production practices" listed by Blosser are: careful land preparation, prompt planting, soil-building rotations, liming where needed; the use of well-adapted seed varieties and enough stalks to make use of all the nutrients the soil can provide.

Poor practices include soil depleting rotations, insufficient liming, poor drainage, the use of low-yielding corn varieties, late planting and not enough seed.

In the Ohio tests, the 800-pound fertilizer application yielded $55 more profits than did the 200-pound application, when good production practices were used. The profit increase was only $15.

Wool Payments Await Reports On Marketing

Sales slips on wool or unshorn lambs must be turned in at the Ingham ASC office during April to qualify for 1956 payments. The marketing must have been completed by March 31. Those who didn't sell before March 31 must wait for payments next year.

Under wool program regulations, completion of marketing means the title of wool or lambs must have passed from the seller to the buyer. If there is any detail of the sale, such as weighing or results of care testing for shrinkage, which is not settled until after March 31, the sale will not be considered a transaction during the 1956 marketing year, which runs from April 1, 1956, through March 31, 1957. This means that wool must have been actually delivered or transferred through documents. This can be accomplished only after all the factors needed to determine the net sales proceeds, such as price per pound, weight, and yield, are known. Payments under the 1956 program will be made this summer when the payment rates are determined on the basis of average prices received for wool sold during the 1956 marketing year. Any marketings after March 31 will be eligible for 1957 program payments to be made in the summer of 1958.

Producers must have sold their lambs unshorn to be eligible for payments under the wool program. Unshorn lambs, for program purposes, means that they have never been shorn prior to the time of sale by producers.

In applying for lamb payments, producers must report the number and liveweight of unshorn lambs which were purchased after March 31, 1956, and included in the sales covered by the application for payment. In addition, any unshorn wool sold must be reported on the application for the shorn wool payment. This information is required to determine the necessary deductions from the producers' payments—to equal the amount of payment due the prior owner on the liveweight of unshorn lambs sold.

Unshorn lamb payments are made on a per-hundredweight basis. Payments which were made last summer for the 1955 program amounted to 77c per cwt of lambs marketed.

Lamb payments are determined on the basis of the shorn wool incentive payment; the average weight of wool per hundred pounds of lamb, and the value of lamb wool in relation to shorn wool. The payments on unshorn lambs are made to encourage the normal marketing of lambs with the wool on. If these compensating payments were not made, there would be a tendency toward unusual shearing of lambs in order to get the incentive payment on the shorn wool, said G. H. Alchin of the Ingham ASC.

Lambs sold between April 1, 1956 and March 31, 1957 are eligible for payments under the 1956 program. These payments will be made this summer when

"Band seeding," says the committee, "puts every seed directly above a band fertilizer where it will be able to take advantage of the plant food as soon as germination occurs."

"Each seedling can grow and develop in an area where the soil fertility is high."

"This new method is more efficient than conventional seeding practices where many seeds drop between the rows and are wasted because the young seedlings fail to survive since they can't reach the plant nutrients."

Tests in Ohio showed that band seeded legumes made a vigorous early start in spring and produced considerably more hay or forage than conventionally seeded fields.

The Ohio agronomists report that seeding rates can be reduced, thus cutting down costs of establishing the seeding.

The world's first lighthouse was built at the mouth of the Nile river—an open fire on an elevated platform.

the shorn wool incentive payment becomes known. Applications for payment under the 1956 program must be filed with county ASC offices not later than April 30, 1957. Lambs sold after March 31 will be eligible for payments under the 1957 program, which runs from April 1, 1957 through March 31, 1958.

Farmers Urged to Check Their Farm-Stored Crops

Now is the time for farmers to take a good look at farm-stored crops that are under CCC loan or price-support purchase agreements, said G. H. Alchin, chairman of the Ingham county agricultural stabilization and conservation committee.

He emphasized that the farmer is responsible for maintaining the quality of farm-stored grain under price-support. Alchin also declared that the farmer himself is the one who stands to gain the most from protecting his commodity with safe and sound storage. This is true because the quality and condition of the crop determines the money value the farmer obtains from his crop regardless of whether the loan collateral is redeemed and sold on the open market or whether it is delivered to CCC in payment of the loan.

"Damage by insects, rodents or weather to a stored crop due to the farmer's neglect might result owing CCC for a part of the money obtained as a loan even after delivery of his crop. In the case of a purchase agreement, damage to stored crops might result in outright rejection of the crop to be delivered. When the loan maturity date comes around, it will be too late to do anything about damage. The time to insure against reduced prices later is right now."

Cleanliness Is Important In Poultry Disease Warfare

"Most disease problems in poultry are due to doing things wrong," reports Dr. S. C. Schmittle at a recent meeting of Ingham poultry producers.

The first step in a disease prevention program, reports Dr. Schmittle, is to clean and disinfect poultry houses and equipment. Dr. Schmittle advises first removing all equipment and fixtures, then thoroughly brushing down and cleaning up the house. He suggests hot lye water prepared by adding one 13 ounce can to each 10 gallons of hot water for use in washing sills, lower portions of the walls, floors and any areas that show evidence of poultry droppings. After a thorough scrubbing wait and hour or so and then rinse with plenty of water under pressure. Remember, no disinfectant will take the place of a good cleaning.

Securing healthy chicks is another important factor in disease prevention. Poultry experts generally suggest buying local chicks to prevent shipping problems of chilling and going without feed. Of course after you get the chicks feeding an adequate ration is very important.

Keeping flocks separate is important. A poultry flock can have a mild outbreak of coccidiosis without the owner ever knowing it. It is especially important that flocks of different ages be kept separate. Diseases can also be spread by wild birds, rats and other carriers. Use of hardware cloth rather than screen wire mesh gets plugged up is recommended. Even a used feed bag can bring in disease from someone else's flock.

Ingham poultry raisers would do well to adopt a regular vaccination program, advises Schmittle. This would include vaccinating against Newcastle disease between 2 and 4 weeks of age. Then at 16 weeks vaccinate against infectious bronchitis and at the same time give a booster of Newcastle vaccine. There are certain precautions about vaccinating, however.

If you are going to vaccinate replacement pullets on a farm where you have susceptible layers do not use the following methods of vaccination as the vaccine may spread to the layers and affect egg production: Wing Web Newcastle disease vaccine; dust or spray method of Newcastle disease vaccine; and dust or spray method of infectious bronchitis vaccine. Be sure to always read and follow the directions enclosed in each package of vaccine.

The cooperative extension office has a supply of "Vaccination Recommendations for Replacement Flocks," available on request.

Our verdict had been given. With a word of commendation the Judge discharged us, the ladies and gentlemen of the jury. The completed duty brought little relief. Instead there was a burden, a spiritual weight. Days of testimony and hours of deliberation had given an oppressive sense of the world's sin and suffering.

The door of my church was open and I slipped inside. I was alone as the rays of the setting sun enhanced the rich colors of the windows. All was quiet. I dropped to my knees.

Gradually in the solemn beauty of that sacred place I found peace. Here was sanctuary for me and for all who would come in faith believing.

Thankfully I arose; my heart and mind felt calm and refreshed. I could go home now, but I would return often. In glad fellowship with God's people I would worship the Christ who died that men might be forgiven.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Tourist Boom Continues Both Winter and Summer

By ELMER E. WHITE
Michigan Press Association

More tourists and more competition for the tourist's dollar are predicted for Michigan's recreation trade in the near future.

Already drawing some five million out-of-state visitors annually, plus countless residents, the tourist industry foresees additional advantages developing of the horizon.

Most tangible factor is the announcement that construction on the Straits of Mackinac bridge is proceeding rapidly and, according to Director Prentiss M. Brown, should be open for deer season next November.

Elaborate dedication ceremonies planned for June, 1956, are expected to draw nationwide attention and thousands of tourists who want a first-hand view of the bridge.

Not to be overlooked from the tourist industry viewpoint: bigger and better retail business all along the line.

The continued success of the Michigan Tourist Council under Director Robert J. Furlong to promote winter sports and lengthen the tourist season is another big factor in expansion. Formerly, only the short time from the end of June through Labor Day could be normally counted on as the "tourist season."

Coupled with the longer season are the new developments which stimulate outdoor recreation and more travel. Boat trailers and water skiing, almost non-existent 5 years ago, are boosting summer water sports to new heights. Conventional winter skiing is proving so popular that 28 resort areas opened to enthusiasts last winter.

Put the kids to work on Michigan Week activities.

That's the opinion of a committee of public school, college and university officials that met recently to discuss plans for their participation in the Michigan Week celebration, May 19-25.

"School age boys and girls are not well enough acquainted with their own home communities," Don Weeks, director of the sponsoring Economic Development Department, told the group.

"Most of them don't know the color of the Michigan flag and few know the state has a motto or a song," Weeks said.

A state flag will be received by every school in Michigan for display during Michigan Week to help overcome this lack, and all teachers are asked to form classroom committees to arrange programs in conjunction with the celebration.

Dr. Clair L. Taylor, superintendent of public instruction, adds that school lunch menus will serve only Michigan grown foods one day.

A little too late in the school year, is the only objection heard against full educational participation. Education day is now scheduled for Thursday, May 23, when many rural classrooms are winding up activities before summer vacation.

Was 1956 a lucky year? Many persons point with pride to the fact that traffic deaths were down by 269 compared to 1955. But they overlook another fact: the actual number of accidents rose by 1,183.

This means there were 1,183 more chances that people would be killed during 1956 than in 1955. They were not, but was this just luck?

A possible answer may develop this year. Deaths from traffic accidents totaled 2,016 in 1955. Last year they dropped to 1,747. If the number of accidents can again be reduced, safety experts might then feel that people are beginning to drive more carefully.

The biggest decrease in deaths last year was achieved in rural areas. There it was down 15%, compared with only a 10% decrease in the cities.

Actually, traffic danger continues to grow due to increases in "exposure factors." An exposure factor is the number of chances or possibilities that exist for accidents.

The number of miles driven in the state is an important exposure factor. So is the number of drivers; the number of cars.

Last year drivers covered some 587 million miles more than in 1955. There was a substantial increase in cars and licensed drivers.

Whether 1956 was a luck year or not, the important fact is that the death and injury rate is improved.

An even more important fact: The death rate is still as high and the risk is so great that there can be no relaxing in the battle to save lives.

Present Vaccine Shortage Will Not Impede Campaign

Temporary shortage of vaccine for polio is not going to impede Ingham county.

Pharmaceutical houses have reported short supplies of commercial vaccine but have emphasized this situation will be corrected by mid-April.

With this information at hand, the fight against paralytic polio being sponsored by the Ingham County Medical Society in cooperation with schools, county health department and Ingham county chapter, National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, is going forward.

Mrs. Harold Cutler, coordinator of stop polio efforts, emphasized that the present lack of vaccine should not deter individuals and groups from planning clinics so they can get immunized.

Setting up of school clinics for children 1 to 14 is progressing, Mrs. Cutler said, and appeals for adult clinics in offices, plants, stores, churches and fraternal groups are being received in numbers and information is being supplied them on establishment of clinics. Until requests are received for adult clinics, Mrs. Cutler pointed out, there is no order placed for commercial vaccine. She said those organizing clinics must collect $3 per inoculation from persons signing for immunization. This sum covers clinic expenses. Physicians donate time.

Importance of early clinics was stressed by the coordinator, who said immediate action will enable adults to get their first 2 of 3 before school is out. The third shot would be ready in 6 to 7 months.

With one shot, physicians say protection will begin in 7 to 10 days. Protection increases with the second shot and the third inoculation provides long-lasting protection.

Shortage of vaccine at this moment results from similar campaigns the nation over, Mrs. Cutler said. Pharmaceutical houses did not anticipate such demand and their vaccine supplies were quickly depleted. It takes 120 days to process a batch of Salk vaccine.

Book Talk

Hours open to the public at Hall Memorial Branch Ingham County Library: Monday through Saturday, 2-5 p. m.; Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday, 11:30-12:30, (during school year); Tuesday and Thursday, 7-9 p. m.; and Saturday, 10-12 a. m.

The first book to be published in America was a book of psalms, printed in 1640. Besides their guns and tools, early American settlers brought with them their music, sacred and secular.

Church and folk songs had been part of their heritage for centuries, since long before the advent of the alphabet and written language. This part of our heritage does not survive by being preserved in books. It must be sung, played and listened to.

While our ears are constantly bombarded with representations of this fact, many of the tunes our forefathers knew have been dimmed out of existence by Tin Pan Alley, Troubadours, minstrelers, balladeers, musicologists and folklorists, have done the most in gathering and reviving the music of the folk.

Some of it is now made available at the Ingham county library. The library record collection, with some recent additions, can let you hear the songs and ballads sung by Americans in the Revolution, the War of 1812, on the frontier, and in the Civil War.

It must be emphasized that these records are the long-playing type, at 33 1/3 r. p. m., and to be played with microgroove needles only. Most of the collection is made up of high fidelity microgroove records.

The record collection also offers national airs and songs from every continent. One album is devoted to anthems of all nations. Among the folk songs and ballads are such records as: Cowboy songs, ballads and cattle calls from Texas; ballads of the War of 1812; songs from the Bible; great English ballads; French-Canadian folk songs—My Ireland; American folk songs of sadness and melancholy; the Glencoe Highlanders, etc.

Users of the records should keep in mind that some of them were made by professionals under studio conditions and some were made in the field, performed by non-professionals. Because of this, and the broad span of cultures represented in folk music, it is best to hear the records first.

These records may be borrowed like books, and under the same conditions. A list of the new records may be seen at the main desk of the Hall Memorial library in Mason.

Velocipedes were becoming a mania in this country in 1869. Even John D. Rockefeller used to ride for his health. A German game warden got the craze started in 1816. Tired of walking his rounds in the forests, he fastened 2 wheels to a bar on which he sat, then pushed with his feet. You will see all this plus the grandeur that was bicycling in the 1890's in RIDING HIGH, the story of the bicycle.

Keep that JUST PAINTED look long!

by Arthur Judson Palmer. There are more than 250 pictures.

Shortly after the arrival of the white man, most of the Indians in Michigan were Potawatomi. That was in this peninsula, according to a map in Oliver LaFarge's PICTORIAL HISTORY OF THE AMERICAN INDIAN. At that time, (1650) the Chipewas lived just north of Lake Superior. With text and 350 illustrations, the book covers the great events, notable chiefs, heroes of Indian history, and their various wars. We also see the Indian of today, and in greater numbers than before.

The state game farm at Mason is on the map in the SPORTS ATLAS OF AMERICA. This book is described as a guide to good fishing, hunting and other outdoor sports in this country and Canada. Besides the descriptive maps, the book answers questions like: Which state has more fishing lakes, Minnesota or Florida? Where can you play golf at an altitude of 9,000 feet? That's just in case you're playing over your head.

Don't judge the West Indies by the calypso you've been hearing lately. Bradley Smith has written a guide book entitled ESCAPE TO THE WEST INDIES. Well illustrated, the first part of the book gives descriptive and historical information about the islands, while the second part tells how to get there and where to stay.

Readers of military history will like BATTLES AND LEADERS OF THE CIVIL WAR, the one volume edition of the classic of the Civil War, selected and edited by Ned Bradford. The book was actually written by commanders from both sides.

Fairfax Downey's SOUND OF THE GUNS is the story of American artillery from 1745 to the Korean conflict. Bruce Bliven has written THE BATTLE FOR MANHATTAN, where Washington's troops lost a battle and gained in morale. H. A. Mason Student Wins Award

Freshman prize winner at the University of Michigan is Thomas L. Clark, son of Dr. and Mrs. William E. Clark. He was graduated as valedictorian at Mason high school last June and is enrolled in the college of literature, science and the arts.

The Mason student was one of 300 to win an Oregon E. Scott Freshman prize, presented for the second time to freshmen who ranked in the top 10% of their class during their first semester on the campus.

The announcement was made Sunday by the committee on university scholarships, which has prepared a list of about 20 books from which award winners may choose one to be inscribed with their name and stamped with the gold seal of the University. These books represent a wide range of subjects, including architecture, music, science, mathematics, history, education, philosophy, novels and poetry.

A special convocation of award winners and their parents will be conducted Friday, May 10, in the Michigan League ballroom for presentation of the books. It will be part of the university's yearly honors convocation, to be held the same day in Hill auditorium for parents and students receiving honors for high scholastic achievement.

Oregon E. Scott, philanthropist and leader in the Disciples of Christ church, was 84 years old at the time of his death in St. Louis, January, 1956. He established the Oregon E. Scott Foundation with $500,000 in 1950. The U.M. which granted him a bachelor of laws degree, was among the many college and church groups to receive funds from the foundation.

While a student at the U.M., Scott served as the Red Army from 1918 to 1945, with other opinions on the Soviet Army from 1946 to 1955. Hart was the editor of THE ROMMEL PAPERS.

Ingham Student Visits College

Janet Hills of Williamston was a member of the Michigan Nazarene Young Peoples' motorcade that visited the campus of Olivet Nazarene college at Kankakee, Illinois, March 28 and 29.

Led by the Rev. Paul Moore, Three Rivers, district Young Peoples president, 200 high school juniors and seniors and their sponsors from western Michigan Nazarene churches spent Thursday afternoon and Friday on the college campus.

The young people were the guests of the Olivet students from western Michigan at a dinner in Miller dining hall Thursday evening. With student host Ray Reglin, a senior from Lansing in charge, the visitors were entertained in an evening of social athletic events. Friday was spent in touring the campus and conferring with members of the college faculty concerning enrollment procedures. The group returned to Michigan Friday afternoon.

Olivet Nazarene college is one of the 7 colleges in America sponsored by the Church of the Nazarene. A 4-year liberal arts college, it has an annual enrollment of approximately 1,000. This year's student body comes from 26 states and 5 foreign countries and represents 24 denominations.

Scott published the first student directory. The Michigan Alumnus reports that this is believed to be the first such undergraduate directory to be published by any college or university.

In 1893, with his classmate, the late Charles Arza Denison, he promoted "To Wit," the first annual issued by any U-M law class. Scott served as president of his law class and of the University of Michigan club of St. Louis, and was a member of the National Alumni Advisory committee.

Sanctuary Has Many Meanings

Mason Methodists consecrated their new sanctuary Sunday.

Sanctuary as a word has many meanings. It is a place of refuge for birds and other game. It is a sacred and inviolable asylum where in some countries those who enter gain immunity from the law. It is a consecrated place, one devoted to the keeping of sacred things.

The definition which best fits the new Methodist sanctuary in Mason is: The most sacred part of any religious building, that part of a Christian church in which the altar is placed.

Bishop Marshall R. Reed consecrated the Methodist sanctuary Sunday by reciting and developing some of the greatest truths of Christianity.

Acceptance of those truths and the employment of them on an international scale would bring peace among nations and peace among neighbors and among families.

"He that killeth with the sword must be killed with the sword," is an admonition that has gone unheeded through the centuries, yet all history proves the truth of it. In our own time, the bishop pointed out, Hitler and Mussolini and the Japanese warlords and their peoples learned it to be true. Yet in spite of that demonstrated truth, the bishop said, there are men in high places in the United States today who rely almost entirely on the sword in international relationships.

If individuals used the golden rule, "All things whatsoever ye would that men should do to you, do ye even so to them," they would heal all individual feuds in families, in business, even in church groups, the bishop declared.

The sanctuary of the Mason Methodist church and all other churches both old and new will be no place of refuge against individual or world problems, no place to gain immunity from the law, nor one devoted to the keeping of sacred things. It is a place where the truths that men can live by will be expounded, where men and women and young people will be taught the truths that will guide their lives into useful channels, that will help them live better, that will help the whole world to be better.

A sanctuary can be and should be the most important place in any community. It is not built for saints, but for sinners. It is built to make us better individuals and, through better individuals, a better nation and a better world. Methodists intend to use their sanctuary for that purpose. Thus used, it will bring great benefit to all of us, regardless of what church we attend.

Federal Aid Means Less Aid

Michigan teachers and school administrators ought to be hollering the loudest against federal aid to schools. With their intelligence and education they ought to see at once the fallacy of federal aid to Michigan education. We don't need it. We don't want it. We can't afford it.

For every dollar which Michigan residents pay out in taxes, only 25c comes back to Michigan.

In Mississippi, Arkansas and some states with little industry and few resources federal aid is welcomed. Because in those states $1.00 in federal aid comes back for every 10c or 25c taken out of those states by federal taxation.

There is no state in the union that doesn't have resources enough to provide all the educational facilities needed. In Michigan we can provide more facilities with far less money if we provide them ourselves instead of getting only a quarter of our own money back from Washington.

Any school administrator in Michigan, any Michigan senator or representative, who demands federal aid for education is disinheriting Michigan children. He is penalizing them to help southerners who can well afford to help themselves.

Between the Drives

The greatest toll taken by any disease in the United States is one which has no annual drive for funds. There are continuous campaigns for funds to fight other diseases and afflictions. In fact, 2 or 3 such drives are in progress right now.

The disease which takes the greatest toll — greater than heart disease, cancer, tuberculosis — and yet has no one excited enough to do much about it — is alcoholism.

Leaving out the moral and economic angles and taking only the health angle, there are in the United States alone 4 1/2 million problem drinkers, more than 2 per cent of the population.

That figure was reported by Dr. William C. Menninger of the Menninger Foundation to the National Council on Alcoholism. It is based on accurate figures.

The problem drinker, said Dr. Menninger, loses 22 days work a year from the effects of alcohol. In addition he loses 10 days more a year from other sicknesses than does the average non-alcoholic employe. The alcoholic has twice as many accidents as the non-alcoholic and has a life expectancy 12 years shorter than the non-alcoholic.

The truth is stranger than fiction. In the case of alcoholism, unembellished facts are stronger than any piece of fiction which could be developed.

Apologists for the liquor business claim that alcoholism is a disease. If so, it should be treated as the scourge that it is. The state should not be spreading the infection. If alcoholism is a disease, it should be wiped out the way smallpox, diphtheria and scarlet fever have been wiped out. It should be fought as bitterly as polio is now being fought.

Between the drives for comparatively minor afflictions, a drive against the worst disease of all should be launched and continued.

It's More Fun to Spend

Senators and congressmen draw newspaper headlines on preachments for economy. They like that, but they hate to cut out the spending.

Michigan's senators and representatives are little different from others.

Senators McNamara and Potter have been preaching economy. Yet on Monday morning Senator McNamara gleefully reported that the senate has passed a bill to appropriate $16,085,000 for boondoggling on the Grand and Red Cedar and some streams in the Saginaw valley. Senator Potter, not quite so jubilant, nevertheless voted for the boondoggle. Now the bill goes to the house. Watch how house members now begin to preach economy but vote to squander public funds.

If you want to have the federal budget cut, write either of the senators or Representative Charles Chamberlain and set forth your suggestions. They find it fun to spend. Tell them it's not fun to pay.

Down by the SYCAMORE

Remember the good old days when Canadian money was discounted? A U. S. dollar spent in Canada would then pay for $1.03 in goods. Now the situation is reversed and then some. Last week it took $1.05 in U. S. money to buy $1.00 worth of Canadian goods. Inflation has hit both sides of the border, but here it's gone higher.

There was a Mason business man who tried to make 30c extra every day by palming off Canadian silver in change. He would buy $10.30 in Canadian coin for $10.00 U. S. and when his transactions were completed he was 30c to the good. Over a period of years his exchange transactions financed a trip to Florida.

Versile Baldwin and his son, Duane, of Jackson and Stockbridge are getting somewhere with their campaign to have futures trading in onions banned. Onions futures were $2.05 on February 1 and down to 85c March 22. Speculators who wouldn't step foot into an onion field have been pocketing fortunes from the losses of growers.

In the works is a billboard ban so that people riding on new interstate highways built with federal money can see the country. The billboards may be shoved back 750 feet on both sides of the road. Why not make a land owner forfeit his soil bank cash for a field if he raises a crop of billboards? He would lose it for his entire farm if he raised buckwheat on land placed in the acreage reserve, and buckwheat is prettier than most billboards.

18 Scholarships Offered Boys and Girls in 4-H

Hard work and a determination to make the best better will earn college scholarships worth $100 each for 18 national winners this year in the 4-H poultry, field crops and entomology programs, the cooperative extension service has announced. In addition, 48 state champions will receive an all-expense trip to the 1957 national 4-H Club Congress in Chicago early in December, and county blue award groups will get medals of honor.

The 4-H boys and girls who enroll in the poultry program will learn the latest methods in poultry and egg production, and in marketing. Last year 4-H club members handled 9 1/2 million birds. The Sears-Roebuck Foundation will continue to provide all awards.

Incentive awards in the 4-H field crops program will be provided by the Aradlan Products department of Allied Chemical and Dye Corporation. More than 800,000 acres were cultivated, planted and harvested by 4-Hers carrying the field crops project last year. Members are encouraged to demonstrate to others what they learn about soil nutrition and fertility, as well as recommended crop production practices for their particular locality.

Introduced to 4-H club only 6 years ago, the entomology project last year alone helped 28,000 members. Knowing the difference now between an ant and a termite could save many dollars in damage to homes and farm buildings later on, cautioned one entomologist. And this is one of the many valuable lessons taught in the 4-H entomology program. The Hercules Powder company is donor of awards.

Arrangements with the awards donors were completed by the National Committee on Boys and Girls Club Work, Chicago. Details about participation in these national 4-H awards programs and others can be obtained from the state or county extension service office.

LECTURER IN ITALY

Dr. Edward C. Cantino, professor of botany and plant pathology at Michigan State university, will deliver a paper at the International Congress of Photobiology in Turin, Italy, June 1-9. He will report on his extensive research with a small organism (Blastocladiella emersonii) which appears to have a unique way of using the sun's energy.

Country & Town

By Jim Brown

Weather is a major factor as to how we feel, what we do or what we don't do. That's why a retailer worth his salt attempts to tie in special promotions with appropriate weather. If it's ice skates to be sold, crisp skating weather is needed with an abundance of slick ice. If it's swim suits, then the waters ought to be plunge-comfortable with blue skies overhead. If it's garden tools, grass seed and flower seeds and if it's to be a spring sale, then there shouldn't be any snow or nasty winds. The weather should be sunny, the sky loaded with bouncy white clouds and spring should be definitely in the air.

Last week Ray Perkins had such spring items and he was willing to price them all for a spring sale. He confirmed his own opinion of the week end weather with U. S. weather bureau predictions. He was assured that week end weather would be warm and sunny. So Ray went ahead with the sale. Thursday afternoon the temperature dropped and by Friday morning a fresh 2 inches of snow seemed to set spring back another 6 weeks. The snow was gone by Saturday, but the gray overcast—very unspring-like—remained until stores closed Saturday night. Ray sez to tell them the sale will continue through this week end.

"Do you want another dish of corn flakes?" said my wife to our young daughter, Amy.

"You just bet I do," she returned. Amy, a 2-year-old who acts like it, comes up with stoppers regularly. Parenthood (if that's what you call it) was supposed to be a science with us. There were to be definite household laws. Justice was to be done, uncracked by mercy or sentimentality. But things don't work out that way because youngsters have their own ways of circumventing a situation. Tim, age 4, was unable to dodge the facts last week, however, when he slipped from his standing position on the toilet and plunged feet first. In this case, justice was done.

Congratulations to Mason Methodists for accomplishing their new sanctuary and Sunday school rooms goal. At the Sunday afternoon consecration services, Bishop Marshall R. Reed and Rev. Raymond Norton consecrated the church in the name of service to the community and Christianity. Bishop Reep pointed out that the new church building can be the springboard to a great future of instilling Christian ideals in all of us.

While congratulations are in order, best wishes to Ingham 4-H youngsters. They'll be in Mason Thursday, Friday and Saturday displaying more than 1,000 projects accomplished during the winter. Included in the display at the Mason school are clothing, handicraft and electrical projects. Youngsters showing such accomplishment are to be commended for having channeled the enthusiasm of youth into worthwhile activity.

I'm bored with talk about jet streams, rockets and moonbeams. For last week end, my knack for science propelled me far out into space. I flew a kite. Not that I haven't been asked to do it before, but this time, I was able to put a kite several feet into the air. In fact, it's still up there lodged in somebody's maple tree.

My success is probably due to the pressure of little eyes whose owners were looking to me to make a success out of this flight period. There could be no humiliating crash of balsa and tissue paper. So I read the directions real good, got wind directions from my wife and raced down the driveway letting the string out little by little. Sensing a master's control, the kite soared up and up till it roosted in the tree.

A trip to the moon is now very definitely a possibility.

Reforestation Plan Gives Benefits Under Soil Bank

More than 1,200 farms in the north central states are being taken out of farm crop production, and all eligible land on them will be planted to trees and other cover crops under the conservation reserve program of the soil bank. Most of these farms have light and sandy soil, highly suitable for growing trees.

Hold Alfalfa Seed Till Next August

Ingham county farmers should consider making alfalfa seedings in August using the band seeding rather than attempt to seed in wheat this spring, suggests Ken Brown, assistant county agricultural agent.

He points out that getting good stands of alfalfa in wheat has always been a problem. Alfalfa doesn't like the heavy shading of the wheat which has a head start in the spring. And the heavy application of nitrogen that's usually needed to get good wheat yields makes the shading even heavier. The competition is often just too much for alfalfa. However, this depends on the individual situation, Brown points out, and this year some of the wheat will not offer this competition, he said.

A good solution to the alfalfa problem may be to plow immediately after combining and prepare the soil for the August seeding, suggests M. B. Tesar, soils specialist at Michigan State university. With band seeding, alfalfa seedings made up to August 31 will usually be better than seedings made in wheat in the spring. If the August seeding idea doesn't fit in with the farming system, make the alfalfa seedings in oats or barley in the spring. Vernal alfalfa costs about $1.00 per acre more than Ranger when band seeded but will yield about a half ton more.

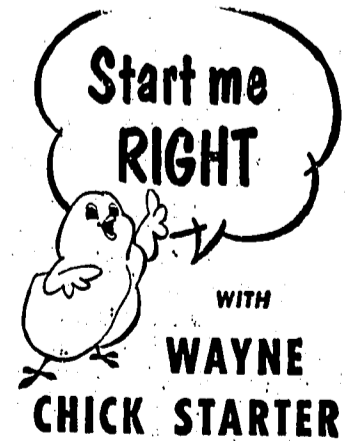

On the other hand, June or medium red clover doesn't seem to mind the heavy shading from heavily-fertilized wheat, he adds. Good stands can usually be obtained with red clover under conditions making alfalfa a failure or near-failure.

In addition, small acreages of hundreds of farmlands subject to erosion also are being planted to trees under the conservation reserve. These trees will not only stop erosion, but will provide wood products for the farm.

The conservation reserve program is part of the agricultural act of 1956. It is a long-term program designed to assist farmers in diverting agricultural cropland to soil, water, forest, and wildlife conservation practices. Tree planting is one of the acceptable practices. As knowledge of the program spreads, a responsive chord is being struck with farmers, declared Elton Twork, district forester.

April 15 is the deadline for signing a conservation reserve contract for 1957. Contracts are made through the local county ductivity of the land.

Who rates what for performance and smoother riding in the low-priced three? Chevrolet has laid the answer and the proof on the line!

First, Chevrolet won the Auto Decathlon over every car in its field, and over the higher priced cars that were tested, too. This rugged ten-way test (right, below) showed Chevrolet was the champ in handling ease, braking, acceleration, passing ability, smoothness of ride and other driving qualities you want in a car.

Then, Chevy won the Pure Oil Performance Trophy at Daytona (left, below) as "best performing U. S. automobile."

It's quite a feeling to know that you are driving a car that performs so well, responds so beautifully and is so finely built. You feel proud, of course. But you also enjoy a surer, smoother, steadier way of going, a keen cat-quick response of power, and the easiest handling you've ever experienced behind a wheel. Just try this Chevrolet (V8 or Six) and see!

Gardening Is a Good Hobby For Just About Everyone

There are garden activities to suit everybody, says Harlowe O. Whitmore, professor of landscape architecture at the University of Michigan.

"Let's suppose we're advising a vigorous busy man who has a fairly large piece of ground, say 5 to 10 acres, of rather poor soil. If this man has proper frost drainage, he could raise fruit trees and experiment with grafting them. He could raise flowering trees, cherries and magnolias. Or he could have a small woodland area and enjoy the birds and animals living in it.

For the man who has more interest in flowers and less space to work in—say a half-acre of fairly good soil—the answer might be flowering shrubs and hedges. Shrubs do not require rich soil and they do not need excessive attention. Once started, pruning would be the only problem.

A family with several children but not much money may have backyard space with quite good soil. For them Professor Whitmore suggests a small home vegetable garden. An area of 30 by 40 feet is usually satisfactory for the average family. They could harvest more than $100 worth of vegetables from an investment of $5 in seed.

"The landscape architect advises perennial gardening to express artistic temperament. In working a garden of this sort the foresight of an artist in visualizing colors and compositions is absolutely necessary.

Rock gardening is the solution for the man who has a well-drained sloping site of gravelly soil, artistic sense, and needs exercise. He would have activities such as thinning and transplanting and could take much pride in the finished results.

"Then there's the widow left with a number of small children and little time or money to spare. With shady grounds and rich soil she and the children could turn to wild flower gardening. The flowers used may be purchased very inexpensively from a farmer. The aim should be toward continuity of bloom.

Or take the case of apartment dwellers in the big city. Why not roof gardening? The planting is done in decorative concrete or cypress wood boxes containing about 17 inches of soil, which must be fertilized well and often. Bulbs of all kinds are fine in the spring; then later, pansies and geraniums, with chrysanthemums furnishing color in the fall.

For the little old lady who gets about the house with a cane, the answer is indoor gardening. Location is important. Flowering plants grow best in a south window. Plants grown chiefly for their foliage succeed better in an east window. Some of the most successful house plants are: ferns, sultana, clematis, geraniums, coleus and nectus," he says.

Usually people get up real early about it. It looks like the rooster—crow about it.

DONALD HILL, son of Mrs. Florence Hill, is already a successful sheep breeder. His 4 Hampshire ewes had 9 lambs. Donald is one 4-H member of 1,350 members in Ingham county starting their 1957 summer 4-H club work. He is a member of the Okemos 4-H club with Mr. and Mrs. Derwood Dickenson as the community 4-H leaders.

Michigan State Again Sets Annual Dairy Career Day

Second annual high school dairy career day will be on Michigan State university campus, April 27.

The morning of the one-day session will be devoted to registration, get acquainted and luncheon sessions.

N. P. Ralston, dairy department head, will explain to student dairy aspirants some of the opportunities that are ahead of them in their chosen career.

At the meeting, Harold Oztman from a Detroit dairy plant will explain the function of the Michigan dairy memorial scholarship fund.

Part of the session includes a complete tour of the university's new animal industries building where students will see research laboratories as well as processing plants.

Reservations to attend the meeting and luncheon are made by writing to N. P. Ralston, dairy department head, Michigan State University, East Lansing.

Small Shrub May Produce Needed Drug

A small shrub called Christmas Cherry, which will grow in Michigan, may be useful in producing the important drug cortisone and other steroidal hormones, a Michigan State university research team has discovered.

Chemical materials in root and leaf extracts from the plant possess a compound closely related to a raw material now used in cortisone manufacture.

Cortisone, rated one of the top drug discoveries of the last 20 years, is used in the treatment of arthritis and adrenal gland deficiencies.

Dependence on imported plant materials in producing valuable cortisone would be lessened if the Christmas Cherry plant extract could be used as a starting material, the scientists point out. The research team consists of Dr. Eugene H. Lucas, professor of horticulture, and Dr. James L. Fairley, Dr. Per M. Boll and Dr. Hans A. Lillevik of the chemistry department.

The scientists, working with Dr. R. Y. Gottshall of the Michigan department of health laboratories, previously discovered that the same substance is active against tuberculosis bacilli.

Summer Fun Soon Begins For 4-Hers

Over 61,000 4-Hers from both farm and city will be organizing in Michigan the remainder of this month and next, according to Mac McDowell, county 4-H club agent.

Whether a boy's interest lies in dairy, livestock, photography, gardening, gun safety, crops, conservation or any one of the 50 some projects, the 4-H member will develop his skill and experience through the local 4-H club, he pointed out.

Through projects in cooking, child care and home management, flower gardening and vegetable growing, 4-H girls learn how to improve family and community living, he said. These 4-Hers are now organizing and planning their projects for spring and summer, McDowell added.

In Ingham county over 1300 girls and boys will be joining or re-enrolling in their community 4-H clubs. They will be joining to have fun with other boys and girls to learn to make something for themselves, for their home or their farm; to make new friends; to exhibit at the fair; to go to camp; to be able to work for awards and trips; to help their families; to enjoy the 4-H program; to have fun with kids their own age and for recognition for hard work and jobs well done.

Any city or country boy or girl between the ages of 10 to 21 years of age may join.

Over Christmas and Easter vacations, parents find out why teachers enjoy and need a long summer vacation.

Pastures Suffer Big Loss When Fire Destroys Humus

Burning off fields to get rid of dead plant material is like pouring part of your wealth down 3 drains.

Farmers waste decaying plant life that supplies humus to the soil; they destroy wildlife; and make it easier for rain run-off to get away from the land.

It has been proved that burning off grasses can reduce regrowth yields by as much as 50 to 70 per cent—not enhance the new year's growth, claims Charles Shiek, game management specialist at Michigan State university.

Burning may be easy. It may get rid of last year's dead plant material. But, it also removes humus that supplies plant food for crops as it decays.

Allowed to grow back naturally, or plowed down, vegetation gives back to the soil some of the elements that have been removed. And, it increases moisture holding qualities of the soil.

Many farmers feel burning helps to control weeds. This is not always true, said Shiek. The results may be just the opposite—burning under some situation would develop a good seed bed for weed growth.

And, burning on steep hillsides is also a bad practice. When this is done, conditions are set up for the beginning or accentuating of soil erosion.

Spring fires, set to remove dead vegetation, often get out of control and cause damage to fence posts and wire fencing.

And, he said, each spring fire destroys wildlife food and cover, as well as wildlife itself.

Further, he added, burning requires a permit by law. Any time there is no snow cover on the ground, a permit must be secured from a conservation officer.

And, with or without a permit, should the fire get out of control, the person starting the fire is legally responsible for any damage caused by the fire.

Timber sales from state forests, totaling more than $48,700, were approved by the conservation commission at its March meeting.

The authorized sales include 16,586 cords of pulpwood, 30,000 board feet of sawlogs, 7,700 posts and 1,530 ties.

Loggers will bid for these timber offerings at public sales scheduled at conservation department district offices.

The latest sales approved include timber from 3 state forests—Fife Lake, Sturgeon River and Menominee.

The time to start planning for this landscape project is right now, declares McDowell.

The landscape project helps youth develop a feeling of pride and joy in their homes besides giving them an appreciation for happy family relationships through working with other family members in beautifying the home surroundings.

LYNN ADAMS, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Adams of Leslie, is one of 219 Michigan boys to be selected as a State Farmer by Michigan Future Farmers of America.

The award was presented to Adams at the state FFA convention at Michigan State university last week. It was given for his outstanding farm work.

His farming program, guided by the FFA, includes cows, hogs and crops. Adams has been active in the Leslie FFA chapter. He was vice-president of the chapter in 1956 and president this year. The Leslie young man plans to operate a farm after returning from 6 months of active service in the army.

Hog Market May Hit $20

Hog marketings will continue under last year's numbers until late spring, report Michigan State university farm economists.

The early-to-market hog will again bring the best prices this summer, which may reach a peak of $20 per hundredweight.

Indications are that farmers in the corn belt may increase farrowings later this spring and summer over last year. If this happens, hog prices next November may again drop below $15 per hundredweight.

Man Internationally Known Teaches Psychology Class

Prof. Wolfgang Kohler, an internationally known psychologist, will be the distinguished visiting professor spring term in the college of science and arts at Michigan State University.

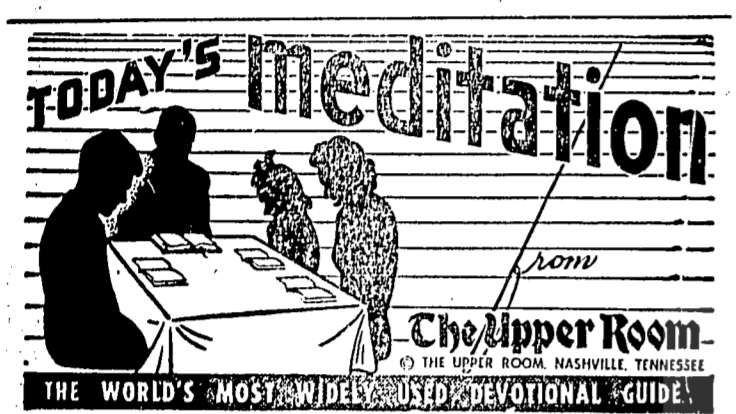

The visiting staff member is one of 3 founders of the Gestalt school of psychology which has altered much thinking in psychology in addition to stimulating new research in related fields.

Prof. Kohler will offer a graduate seminar in systematic psychology at Michigan State and is to present several public lectures and discussions.

He is the author of "Gestalt Psychology," published in 1929 and many other research papers devoted particularly to visual processes and animal mentality. The Gestalt theory, as explained by Dr. Louis L. McQuitty, head of M.S.U.'s psychology department, maintains that information is lost by analyzing subject matter, and that a better approach is to discover when possible the "meaningful whole."

Read Philippians 2:5-11. Let this mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus. (Philippians 2:5.)

Of all Paul's Epistles, it may be claimed that the letter to the Philippians, with its dominant note of joy, sums up the Christian life better than his other writings. Chapter 2 depicts the lofty ideal of that life. It is one of the great chapters in the New Testament.

Nowhere else in the Bible can we read a more profound statement on the humiliation and exaltation of God's only Son than in Chapter 2, verses 5-11. The passage is so important that many feel they should commit it to memory.

When He came to earth, Christ surrendered His glory, became mere man, lived a lowly life, and met with a cruel death. While He moved among men, Jesus was sometimes weary, was often misunderstood.

Christ exchanged His heavenly glory for a life of poverty, for death on a cross. He did it for us. When we reflect upon the fact, well may we ask, with Isaac Watts: "Did e'er such love and sorrow meet?"

PRAYER

O God, we ponder over the humility of Christ, who became man and died on a cross for our sins. Help us to accept afresh our Saviour's sacrifice and strive to grow more worthy of it. In the name of our Saviour who taught us to pray, "Our Father who art in heaven . . . Amen."

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

"Truly this man was the Son of God."

Starter Fertilizer in Band Gives Push to Corn Crop

CORN crops will get an important push this spring if farmers use the band fertilization method at planting time, reports the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee, in citing a recent statement by A. J. Ohlrogge, Purdue University agronomist.

Ohlrogge says that broadcast and plow-down applications of plant food are essential in building up the soil's fertility level. "But it takes starter fertilizer in the band to speed the corn plant's growth from germination to the knee-high stage," he points out.

"This seedling stage is probably the most important in the corn plant's life cycle. During this period there is a partial development of all the leaves, the root system, auxiliary buds, nodes, internodes and primordial tassels of the corn plant will ever have."

Band fertilization, according to Ohlrogge, involves putting the plant food in a continuous single band approximately 2 inches to the side of the seed and at seed level or about one to two inches below the seed.

Effective band fertilization, he says, feeds the root system so it can develop the maximum number of additional shoots and branches in the band of plant food.

While nitrogen and phosphate are essential nutrients in the starter fertilizer, potash may be needed on many soils to feed the young corn plants, he says. This can be added by broadcast and plow-down applications of potash mixed into the plow layer, or by including potash in the row fertilizer.

Best results in nutrient "uptake" are made by the corn plants when nitrogen and phosphate are put together in a single band, Ohlrogge reports.

If You're Like Me

Abduction is the farthest thing from your mind. Usually getting a wife isn't hard (getting rid of one isn't always so easy).

It used to be that the way you obtained a wife was to look over the female contingent of a neighboring tribe and then steal her. That "caveman" stuff is out, men. If you want to marry the gal—get on your knees, repeat the words "will you marry me" and you're in for life.

"Abduction," so say the law books, is the unlawful taking and the forcible marriage or defilement of a woman. It's a felony in Michigan and anybody foolish enough to do it can be punished by imprisonment in the state prison for life or any term of years, if he gets caught and is found guilty.

One of the things about this crime is that the use of force is not necessary. Any representation which induces a female to go away for immoral purposes is sufficient under the abduction laws. The supreme court has said, "A man cannot be suffered to evade the statute by artfully avoiding a direct proposition that she go off with him, when his conduct is equivalent to such a proposition and not only suggests it to the girl, but is calculated and designed to induce her to go."

It's interesting to note that abduction may be committed by persons of either sex, and may be the act of several persons. All of which proves that our laws are designed to protect Michigan citizens against the "law of the jungle" where might makes right. That's a comforting thought.

Montezuma had a palace in Mexico City, complete with gardens, zoo, art gallery, baths, dining halls, and even a harem, long before white man came.
